Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902 and the index thereto.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1879, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1829). Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, 10 cents postpaid. Special Numbers: Educational Number, in leatherette, 50 cents; Christmas Number, 25 cents; the numbers containing the three, six and nine months' Cumulated Lists, 25 cents each. Extra copies of the Annual Summary Number, to subscribers only, $1.00.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, $6.50 a year; single numbers, 20. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEVOPOLDT, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consumer is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

—, 1895-1900, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, containing yearly the monthly lists in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, cumulated, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by the latest volume. It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1902, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $3.00.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with index, 2 v., 8°, net, $7.00.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 2 v., 8°, cl., net, $5.00.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the coöperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°, cloth, $3.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo; leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, cloth, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE bound in one volume, cloth, $4.50.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. # Loyal Traitors

A Story of Friendship for the Filipinos

By RAYMOND L. BRIDGMAN

"The Master Idea," etc.*

THE story is one of quick and absorbing action from the first page to the last. Whether one agrees or not with the writer's viewpoint, no reader can begin the book without continuing interested to the end. If in its dramatic representations of deeds in the Philippines the story is, in a sense, a terrible story, it is terrible only as "A Tale of Two Cities" or "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is terrible. With both of those stories it will perhaps not fail to be classed.

SOME of the points made in the book are enforced by words of President Roosevelt, ex-Secretary Long, Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, Admiral Robley D. Evans, and others. The "quotations" are not indicated, but are left for readers to discover.

THE writer is no novice in literature. As bookmaker and newspaper correspondent he has already won reputation. This new work reveals the force and picturesqueness of long training. The soldier, the deacon, the minister, the lawyer, the philosopher, the business-man—all these characters in the story are faithful creations. The few quiet scenes of home and love in the United States are no less vivid and truthful than the chapters having to do with events in the Philippines, depicting battle, rescue, struggle, torture, escape, and defeat.

"A story of unusual power which opens in an obscure curio-shop in London, where Anna Solney, the sixteen-year-old daughter of an exile, is chafing bitterly against her enforced solitude and inactivity. When unexpectedly the opportunity so madly craved is offered her—the chance to take an active place in the busy world—she finds that the conditions which accompany its acceptance are only a degree less cruel than those involved in its rejection. Eight years later she returns, and to the girl standing in the shadows it seemed that the circle of life was complete. From the neutral tints she had passed through every graduated shade that existence can possess, revolving slowly past the faint light tones of hope and expectation to the vivid colours of actual fulfilment, then from the vivid colours steadily and inevitably forward, to be confronted once again by grayness and shadow. The shadows pass, however, and the constancy of her lover eventually brings to Anna the realization of a rarely perfect love."

NOTES IN SEASON.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish next week "Calvert of Strathore," by Carter Goodloe, a romance of the French Revolution from the American viewpoint, in which Jefferson and Morris are among the characters. They will also have a new book by Professor Van Dyke supplementing his "Art for Art's Sake," which will be entitled "The Meaning of Pictures," an explanation of, and a plea for, the beholder's point of view, which he deems as legitimate as that of the artist.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready the final and complete edition of Dr. A. Conan Doyle's "The Great Boer War." This is regarded as the first really accurate and complete history of the war in South Africa, and will no doubt be recognized for some time to come as an authority on the subject. The present edition is printed throughout from new plates and contains a large amount of new material and new maps—in fact, the additions comprise all the data which recent investigations have proved to be reliable and of importance.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "The Journal of Arthur Stirling," an unfortunate dreamer who died by his own hand last year. The book, whether authentic or not, will have a value as a human document quite apart from its literary merit. It is bound to attract attention and cause discussion. They have also just ready "A Virginia Girl in the Civil War," in which is related the experiences of a Confederate officer's wife who followed her husband into camp at the outbreak of the war and who followed the varying fortunes of the Confederate army until the evacuation of Richmond. The material has been collected and edited by Myrta Lockett Avery.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish this month "Robin Brilliant," a new novel by Mrs. Dudeney, author of "The Maternity of Harriott Wicken," also, "The Gold Wolf," by Max Pemberton, author of "The Garden of Swords." They will publish about the 15th of March, "The Circle," the first long piece of fiction written by Katherine C. Thurston. The story concerns a young Russian Jewess, the daughter of a dreamy collector of a London curiosity shop, who is discovered by a woman of wealth and transformed, after a period of training in Paris, into a successful actress. The idea of the "circle" lies in the return of the acclaimed artist to her humble surroundings when she hears of the effect her absence had had on her father. At about the same time they will bring out a novel by Josiah Flynt, to be entitled "The Redemption of Roderick Cloud."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready "London in the Eighteenth Century," by Sir Walter Besant, to which the author, shortly before his death, alluded as his "magnum opus." The present handsomely illustrated volume is neither in treatment nor in substance in any sense a repetition of his former books. They have also just brought out the second volume of the "Letters and Literary Remains of Edward Fitzgerald," "Watteau and His School," by Edgcombe Staley, an interesting volume in the Handbooks of the Great Masters in Painting and Sculpture; the first volume of Dr. N. G. Pierson's "Principles of Economics," translated from the Dutch by A. A. Wotzel; the third and completely revised edition of "The Dynamo, its theory, design and manufacture," by C. C. Hawkins and E. Wallis; "London Before the Conquest," by W. R. Lethaby; "A History of Philosophy," by Professors Janet and Seailles; "John Woolman's Journal," in the Pocket Classics, and "Millais," by A. L. Baldry, in Bell's Miniature Series of Paintings.

The combined note-book and scrap-book of a Socialist workman; he tells of the things which made him a Socialist, and of the things which he found most effective in teaching his fellow-workers to become Socialists. Along with these things he has put the arguments and thoughts which arose from his experience as labor and Socialist agitator.
- Carpenter, W: Boyd, (Bp.) The wisdom of James the Just. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1903. 19+253 p. D. cl., *$1.20 net.
A study of the general epistle of St. James, which the writer characterizes as "a frank, simple and earnest letter, addressed to his friends by a man of good and strong character."
- Cary, Clarence. The Trans-Siberian route; or, notes of a journey from Pekin to New York in 1902. N. Y., The Evening Post Job Printing House, 1902. c. 53 p. fold. map, O. pap., 50 c.
Discursive comments upon the Trans-Siberian and Chinese Eastern Railways—and their present passenger-service; written at such odds and ends of time of a recent journey from China as the distractions of novel travel-experiences, or the jolting of trains, would allow.
- Catterall, Ralph C. H. The Second Bank of the United States. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1903. c. 1902. 11+538 p. O. (University of Chicago Press, Decennial publications, 2d ser., v. 2.) cl., *$3 net.
The history of the Second Bank of the United States in its various aspects, particular stress being laid upon its relations to politics and upon its operations as a commercial bank. It is based upon the papers of Nicholas Biddle, who was elected president of the bank in 1823, and remained in that position until the bank's downfall in 1838. The writer finds both good and bad in Mr. Biddle's management.
- Chamberlain, Arthur H:, comp. Bibliography of the manual arts. Chic., A. Flanagan Co., [1903.] c. 1902. 2-100 p. D. cl., 75 c.
As this bibliography is intended for the use of the instructor not only in hand work, but for the grade teacher as well, the titles have been classified under several heads. The arrangement of authors is alphabetical.
- Cheston, H: C., Dean, Philip R., and Timmerman, C: E. A laboratory manual of physics. N. Y., Amer. Book Co., [1903.] [Jaz6] c. 128 p. D. cl., 50 c.
"The reason" the authors say "for adding this book to the large number of laboratory manuals is that those now in use either contain too much matter to be successfully covered by a pupil in one year or elaborate the principles chosen without regard to economy in time." Contains all the experiments, sometimes in condensed form, which are required by the College Entrance Board of the Middle States and Maryland, by Harvard University, and by the New York Board of Regents.

Opens with an interesting note upon the Done family of Cheshire, England, and with a sketch of the first John Doane, who came over from England and settled in Plymouth. The descendants of the latter are traced to the ninth generation. There are chapters upon, Unclassified Doanes, Late immigrants and two indexes under Christian names and surnames. The compiler says "the work does not purport to be a full genealogy of the Doanes, but rather a part of this numerous family. It has been impossible to reach all its members and of those reached several have preferred to withhold their data."

Presents in a consecutive form the principal features of abstract and substitution group theory. On account of the limited space at the disposal of the author all proofs have been omitted; but, with each theorem or definition is given a reference to nearly every source, original or secondary. In preparing the work the author has examined in detail all memoirs dealing with the group theory, and has constructed from this material a continuous treatise with uniformity of terminology and method.

Eggleston, G: Cary. The master of Warlock: a Virginia war story; il. by C. D. Williams. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1903.] [Ja.] c. 5-433 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Deals with the early stages of the Civil War, as witnessed from the Southern point of view. One of the typical family feuds of Virginia separates the lovers at first; but, when the hero goes to the war, the heroine undergoes many hardships and adventures to serve him, and nurses him back from death, and they are happily united in the end. The story is told without a touch of sectionalism.

- The author's two visits to Martinique were made after an interval of three months, in the latter part of May and again in August, and during these times he enjoyed unusual opportunities for the prosecution of his work. During the later visit he was a close witness of the second great eruption of Mont Pelée, having the advantage of being able to make his investigations in a newly-culled field. The illustrations are largely from photographs taken by Mr. Heilprin, and many of them represent, in a way that has probably not been possible before, the consecutive stages in the paroxysmal eruption of a very active volcano.

"The mediæval period of Indian history, though it does not exactly correspond with the Middle Age of Europe, is not less clearly defined. It begins when the immemorial systems, rule, and customs of Ancient India were invaded, subdued, and modified by a succession of foreign conquerors who imposed a new rule and introduced an exotic creed, strange languages and a foreign art. These conquerors were Muslims, and with the arrival of the Turks under Mahmud the Iconoclast at the beginning of the eleventh century, India entered upon her Middle Age. From that epoch for nearly eight hundred years her history is grouped round the Mohammedan rulers."—Preface.

The present book was intended to be a revision of the late Dr. Snow's 'Cases and opinions on international law,' published in 1893. The changes made in the course of revision were, however, so many and so radical that it seemed advisable to the publisher to issue it as an independent work, and it so appears. The arrangement closely follows Dr. Snow's; in fact, it is identical with it in many respects. His text has been utilized as far as possible; his notes have generally been retained and enlarged, and the syllabus has been thoroughly revised and remade. . . . The idea underlying the volume is that international law is part of the English common law. —Preface.

Smith, J. Talbot. The art of disappearing. N. Y., W. H. Young & Co., 1902. c. 4+367 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A novel written by a Catholic priest. The hero unexpectedly is confronted with the falseness of his wife, and is tempted to kill her. To keep himself from a crime he resolves to disappear forever from his home and old life. Under another name he comes to New York and finds a refuge with an Irish family, with whom he becomes identified. His residence in a Tammany ward brings in humorous delineations of Tammany politics, and kindly sketches of the Irish Catholics.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 7, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE APPRAISERS' RULING ON IMPORTED BOOK VALUES.

THE Customs Administrative Act of June 10, 1890, following legislative precedent, provides that the appraisal of imported goods shall be at "the actual market value and wholesale price . . . in the principal markets" of the export country. This is further defined as the price "in the ordinary course of trade, in the usual wholesale quantities." The United States Supreme Court has held that the act "does not contemplate two prices or market values." The Treasury Department, applying this to books, has decided (Treasury decision No. 23,374) that the prices at which the books are freely offered for sale to booksellers in England, if higher than the export price, constitute the actual market value. Taken together, these provisions and decisions seem to leave to appraisers no alternative—no matter how evidently unfair the result may be.

For some years past, nevertheless, imported books have been appraised at actual cost to the importer, unless such actual cost seemed to be the result of special circumstances, as, for instance, when an American agency invoices books at actual cost of duplication to the parent English house. Recently, the question having in some way been brought to the attention of appraisers, the law and the decisions have been strictly enforced, as illustrated in correspondence from Messrs. Brett, Wordin and others, recently printed in the New York Evening Post.

The remedy lies, not with the appraisers, who are bound to apply the law as defined by Treasury decisions, but, if at all, with the Treasury Department, and on the ground that the wholesale price of books is based essentially on quantity, because the first fixed cost of a book is distributed in decreasing quantity as larger editions are made possible, as in the case of an English book by an American purchase. Unfortunately, here the decision of the United States Supreme Court, following a general principle of economics, but overlooking the variation in the case of books and other duplicated articles, seems to stand in the way. As is pointed out, it does seem an injustice that the United States should collect a higher duty on a given article from one citizen than from another; but this is actually done, and on books themselves, for when a traveller brings books from abroad he is required to pay duty on the retail price. It is on this ground, we think, that the Treasury Department may fairly be asked to modify its ruling in respect to books by recognizing the fact that, in the case of books particularly, quantity is an essential factor in determining price.

This is indeed true throughout of the prices of manufacturing and dealing in books, and there seems no good reason why it should not be recognized by the Government.

If the Treasury Department cannot be brought to a "change of heart" in this respect there is no resource except to seek modification of the law, with special reference to this distinctive factor in the price of books, and this is likely to be met by vigorous opposition from other trades. Certainly, the law should be modified in the particular pointed out in the instance cited by Mr. Brett, where, after himself advancing the invoice value 15 per cent. above actual cost to his house, the duty was further advanced 50 per cent., and he was accordingly mulcted a second 50 per cent. for undervaluation under the hard and fast penalty of the law. This penalty was, of course, intended to punish and prevent fraudulent undervaluation, and should not be applied under other circumstances. The injustice of the provision as applied is so thoroughly shown up in this incident that it should in itself afford ground for a modification in the direction of common sense.

THERE are many rumors abroad to the effect that publishers are willing to close their eyes to the practice of some dealers who are reported to be giving cash rebates to large libraries, in order to weaken, or to overcome altogether, the opposition of the librarians in general to the net system inaugurated by the American Publishers' Association. What a few foolish or unscrupulous dealers in books may be doing it would be difficult to imagine. The movement for reform has uncovered some rare specimens of human nature in the book trade, among them a lot of "fourteen-to-the-row," as David Harum puts it, who were eager enough to have the whole book trade reformed, if only they could do as they pleased. These may be giving cash rebates to certain buyers, or, in making bids, take care of their customers, in quoting the protected books at the prescribed figures, by allowing an inordinate discount on the unprotected books so as to keep up the old discount to libraries. That this is done, in fact, that some are not so cautious but openly quote the protected net books at a cut price seems to be a fact, because the American Publishers' Association only recently had cause to put an important dealer in books, in Connecticut, on the black list for such practices. So far as the governing members of the American Publishers' Association are concerned, we know that they are opposed to cut-rate practices in whatever form they may be carried on, and are determined to punish every offender as soon as detected. Naturally, this is a most difficult and delicate matter to deal with, because neither the recipient of the extra favors in the way of discounts on the one hand, nor the offender against the rules of the American Publishers' Association, on the other hand, is likely to boast of his doings. It is therefore only by chance that the offense can be brought to book; but once the offender is convicted, the Board of Managers of the American Publishers' Association will feel inclined to deal with him rigorously.

HARDLY has the agitation over the Richardson-Barcus methods of booming a publication through government channels subsided when another, almost similar, case looms up. It is charged that General C. H. Grosvenor, member of the House of Representatives for Ohio, who wrote a work entitled "The Book of the Presidents," that is published by The Continental Press, of Washington, D. C., of which A. P. T. Elder is president, has made use of his public office to help its sale. General Grosvenor denies the charge, but his case does not look promising. The N. Y. Evening Post of February 6 contains further facts on this matter.

THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

REGARDING a new ruling in the Appraisers' Department, Mr. George P. Brett, president of the Macmillan Company, addressed the following letter to the New York Evening Post for January 23:

"Most of those of us who have paid any attention to the matter during the past few years would agree, I think, that the duty of 25 per cent., now levied on books printed wholly or partly in English imported into this country, is unnecessary either from the standpoint of revenue, as the total amount of duty collected is extremely small in gross amount, and as the expense of collection must amount to a very large percentage of the revenue, or for purposes of protection, as manufacturers are able without doubt, I think, to produce books as cheaply in this country as in Great Britain. Indeed many items of the cost of manufacture are in fact, I believe, lower here than abroad, and the standard of work done is for the most part, at any rate as far as ordinary commercial work is concerned, better here than abroad. Moreover, if any protection of our manufacturing interests is still needed it is already provided, and in a much more effective way, by the present International Copyright Act, which provides that in order to obtain copyright on a book it must be set up and published in this country, a provision which I think has done more to provide work for American printers than anything else that could by any possibility have been thought of.

"The business of the importation of books is, as a matter of fact, nearly at a standstill, the importation for the past three years being in round figures as follows:

$1,700,000	for 1901.

with about the same figures, so far as made public, for 1902. So that while there is no great discrepancy in the amount of importations from year to year it is perfectly clear that the business is not growing in comparison with the enormous growth of the country, and the enormous capacity of the country for the absorption of books, as is evidenced by the tremendous increase in publication interests generally, and in the distribution of books to the people; as a matter of fact, my company, which imports nearly one-eighth of all the books imported into the United States, is importing no larger number of books nor a greater amount in value than it imported a number of years ago.

"The facts given above are in a general way, I fancy, known to a great many people, but it is not perhaps a matter of general knowledge that our custom house officials are apparently endeavoring to throw in the way of importers of books a stumbling-block which is as unnecessary, as will be seen from the above figures, as it is unjust. A recent ruling of the appraisers decides, as I understand the matter, that, without any regard to the price at which the importer actually buys and pays for the books which he imports, he is not to be permitted hereafter to import them, for purposes of duty, at less than a certain given ratio of the price abroad, so that a set of books which my company has been importing for upwards of twenty years and has been paying a certain price for cannot in future, for purposes of duty, be invoiced at the price actually paid for it, but must, for purposes of duty, be advanced a considerable percentage above its actual cost, and this notwithstanding the fact that the price at which the set is sold at wholesale has been established by long usage, viz., the twenty years period of publication aforesaid; the increase in duty amounting, as a matter of fact, in this particular instance to the whole profit made by the company on its sale.

"This ruling of the customs officials will practically determine the price which importers shall pay for books published abroad, as no matter what price we may arrange to purchase at, the Government officials declare through this ruling that the duty shall be levied on a higher and specified proportion of the selling price abroad; and it takes no unusual acumen, I think, to see under these circumstances that the foreign seller of such books will speedily take advantage of the rate which the Government declares fair as given in the above ruling, and refuse to sell for export books at lower than the rate thereby established. I can imagine a British publisher under the circumstances saying, 'No, we cannot sell you even in the largest quantities these books at less than so and so. Has not your Government declared that that is a fair price for the books? And even if we did sell them to you for a lower price you would be obliged to advance the price for purposes of paying duty to the higher rate.' It appears, then, that our customs officials are establishing, for the benefit of the English manufacturer and publisher, prices higher than those now generally obtaining at which the British publisher may in future sell his books to the American importer.

"The business of the regular importer of books, which I may characterize, I think, without prejudice as being an honorable one and one conducted usually upon the very best traditions, and conducted, moreover, by some of the best-known names in the trade—names known to the entire business community as well as to readers everywhere—is already sufficiently handicapped by the exaction of unnecessary duties, i.e., unnecessary either for the purposes of revenue or protection, and in addition by a peculiarly hard (from the standpoint of the business importer) provision of the law, which declares that libraries shall have the privilege of importing books for their own use without payment of any duty whatever, and which, as the bulk of the books now imported are chiefly intended for sale to libraries, consequently tends to discriminate against the business importer by making his books cost him more than the library itself can buy them at. Of course, I am not unaware that the business importer may also import books for specified libraries without the payment of duty, but so much red tape is involved in this transaction that few if any of the business importers care to undertake importation along these lines, the importer being a business man, buying abroad commodities in bulk which he thinks he can sell in this country, and carrying them in stock after having paid, of course, duty thereon.

"I have no intention in this letter either to advocate the repeal of the duty on books, although for the purposes of protection or revenue it is, I believe, now unnecessary; nor do I advocate the repeal of the provision of the law which allows libraries to import their books duty free, as that provision is intended for the good of the entire community, even though this provision discriminates unjustly, as I have pointed out, against a very estimable body of our business men; but it does seem to me in common justice, and in accordance with established usage that the authorities should permit a book importer to pay duty upon his wares at the price at which he actually buys them in the open markets abroad in the country of manufacture and publication, the present ruling of the customs officials being tyrannical and arbitrary in every way, and tending to exterminate that part of the publishing and bookselling business which deals with the importation of books, a department which has a long and honorable history in the annals of the trade, and is, as I have said above, at present carried on as a part of their business by some of the best-known houses in the business."

This communication called out a number of others from correspondents who in the main agreed with Mr. Brett. The dissenting opinion came from Thomas Cooke Wordin, who pointed out that "the ruling to which exception is taken was an advance in value made by the local United States customs appraiser at New York on certain imported books which were invoiced at the price paid for them by the importer. But this price was for an unusual quantity, and was below the price at which the book in question sold in the usual quantities in the ordinary course of trade. The advance in value made by the local appraiser raised the value from the special price made for this unusual shipment to the price at which the book is commonly sold to dealers in London. It was not an arbitrary advancing of the value to a certain percentage, but was an advance to make the value equal to the actual market value and wholesale price of the book as bought and sold in the usual wholesale quantities. The Board of United States General Appraisers sustained the advance made by the local appraiser, and as this Board is, under the law, the highest authority on matters of value, its action was not only final in this particular case, but became a precedent and guide to local appraisers throughout the United States in similar cases.

"Neither the local appraiser nor the General Appraisers reached the conclusions herein briefly and informally indicated without the highest authority. The Customs Administrative Act of June 10, 1890, is the statutory basis for the enforcement of tariff laws.

Section 10 of this act provides in part as follows, viz.:

"That it shall be the duty of the appraisers of the United States . . . by all reasonable ways and means in their power to ascertain, estimate, and appraise (any invoice or affidavit thereto or statement of cost, or of cost of production, to the contrary notwithstanding) the actual market value and wholesale price of the merchandise at the time of exportation to the United States, in the principal markets of the country whence the same has been imported. . . .

"This provision of the law, while more fully expressed, is practically the same as that passed by the first session of the Forty-third Congress in 1873-74, to be found in section 2906 of the Revised Statutes, so that the authority or basis for making the appraisalment which is the subject of consideration is by no means new. Section 3 of the same act, providing for consulting invoices, thus clearly defines market value, viz.:

"That such actual market value is the price at which the merchandise described in the invoice is freely offered for sale to all purchasers in said markets, and that it is the price which the manufacturer or owner making the declaration would have received, and was willing to receive, for such merchandise sold in the ordinary course of trade, in the usual wholesale quantities.

"This language in substance is again used in section 19 of the same act.

"But the United States Supreme Court, in the case of the United States vs. Passavant et al., holds that:

"This act does not contemplate two prices or market values.

"And the Treasury Department in applying this principle to the appraisalment of book says in Treasury decision No. 23,374:

"If, as stated, the prices at which the books are freely offered for sale to booksellers in England are higher than those at which the same books are offered for sale for export to the United States, it is the opinion of this Department that the former prices constitute the market price or 'actual market value' in London of such books, within the meaning of section 19 of the act of June 10, 1890.

"Mr. Brett argues that the price paid for books in each instance is the legal market value, and that appraisements by the United States Appraisers should be made on that basis for the assessment of duty. If such a proposition should be carried out, we would see, in the various lines of commercial activity, the small importer, who buys in small quantities and therefore pays a higher price, paying duty to the Government on one basis, and the trust, or large corporation, controlling the output of many factories, or buying in large quantities at correspondingly lower prices, paying duty on an entirely different and lower basis of appraisalment. Thus a condition would exist in violation of one of the fundamental principles of our free Government—equality for all before the law.

"For one who is a lover of good books and in sympathy with the making, importing, and selling of books, it is no light matter to be accused of placing a stumbling-block in the way of a free course for publishers and importers of books. It is, however, a fact that books are a form of merchandise, and as such must be appraised under the same laws and in the same manner as other kinds of merchandise."

Mr. Brett in a late communication admits that "there is much to be said in defence of the new ruling of the appraiser's department in relation to the importation of books.

"Before this new ruling was promulgated I am told that it was the practice of certain consignment houses—i.e., houses that were merely agencies acting for parent houses in London, the ownership of the books not passing into new hands at all on importation—to invoice these books at about 15 per cent. of the London publishers' price. This practice was certainly illegal, and not contemplated by our laws. It was, moreover, unfair from the standpoint of the individual importer, who could not obtain by outright purchase his books at anything like this low rate.

"The new ruling has, so I understand, been put into effect to abolish this illegal practice, and it has been successful in accomplishing this result. Our laws, however, do not contemplate and should not countenance the punishment of the many for the illegal acts of the few; other methods must and can be found for dealing with such cases as those referred to above.

"The new rule is also unjust to the bonafide purchasing importer of books in that it applies rules relating to ordinary merchandise to something which must be judged by a somewhat different standard.

"If I import into this country from abroad linens, dress goods, or any one of a hundred other things which might be named, I am importing something which has a more or less well-recognized value, i.e., for which there is a known demand. On the other hand, in importing a new book I am importing something which has not yet a value at all in the ordinary sense of the word, but something to which a value may be given.

"For instance, if a sale of linen were to be advertised to-morrow at one of our stores at a fraction less than the usual price, the store in question would be mobbed by persons anxious to avail themselves of the opportunity of what would be called a bargain sale. On the other hand, if a new book by an unknown author were offered for sale in the same way, it could be sold only at a fraction of the usual price for such books.

"Again, if one of our very popular authors were asked as to why his book found such a multitude of readers, he would, I fear, in most cases answer that the public appreciated the value of the book, admired its many merits, and demanded it. If a similar question were put to one who knows from experience the publishing and bookselling trades he would tell you, and rightly, that the publisher was entitled to at least a share of the credit for the large sale which the book attained. This is the reason, I may say incidentally, why authors who publish their own books are rarely successful, and why Authors' Co-operative Publishing Societies never, in fact, succeed.

"Again, if I had offered for sale at auction, when I received them, the 500 copies of the book mentioned in my last letter, I could probably not have obtained for them their original invoice cost. If, however, I had held these books a month, employing in the meantime in their behalf the usual publishing methods to make them known and create a demand for them, I could sell them in the same manner, without question beyond their invoice cost at any rate, and most probably at a price greater than the original cost plus the legal duty.

"It is these facts that the publisher abroad recognizes when he names his price for export to the United States on books in quantity, which export price is and must be very much lower than the price at which he sells his books to local dealers, who supply the books only in response to a demand created by the publisher himself. This lower export price is, I may say, the price at which he also sells his books when purchased in similar quantities for export to India, Australia, etc., and is, in effect, the real 'market price' of Mr. Wordin's letter.

"If the customs officials really exacted the duty on imported books at the actual market price to dealers in London, most, if not all, of the shipments of books in quantity received in this country would be subject to confiscation under our present tariff laws and rulings, and the importation of books in quantity into the port of New York would at once cease.

"As a matter of fact, under this present ruling, the customs appraisers do recognize the fact of two market values for books, notwithstanding the Supreme Court decision to the contrary, quoted by Mr. Wordin, and I am only contending for the extension of this principle, already recognized by the department, so that bona-fide purchasers of books in quantity at first hand abroad may have their right recognized to have their invoices passed unquestioned at the actual purchase price of the books from the publishers abroad.

WHAT IS A CHAP-BOOK?

BY CHARLES WELSH.

THERE is growing up among the makers of second-hand booksellers' catalogues a looseness in the use of the word chap-book, against which I wish to raise a word of mild protest. The name is, I believe, the invention of a bookseller, and booksellers of all people should therefore be careful to use it in its proper application. It does not, I think, occur before 1824, when it was applied to the popular literature which was formerly circulated by itinerant dealers, (the "flying stationers.") chapmen, or colporteurs. Now, the making of chap-books ceased in the early part of the nineteenth century, as the chapmen went out of business, about the latest in date being, I think, those by Rusher, of Banbury: but these were sold also through the booksellers and were protected by covers. Those which preceded them were scarcely ever put into covers and were rarely stitched or cut. They were usually in 8, 12, 16 or 24 pages, folded in what used to be known as 12mo size.

Only the other day, out of half a dozen entries in a catalogue described as chap-books, I found but one which was really entitled to be so called. The others were tracts in crown 8vo size in glazed paper covers stitched and cut, and bore the imprint of a London publisher, who catered only for the regular booksellers.

The bona-fide chap-books, "once sold at the low and easy price of one halfpenny," are, as Sir Walter Scott said in "Ivanhoe," "now cheaply purchased at their weight in gold," and as I am sure the fraternity of second-hand booksellers would not deliberately mislead their customers, it occurred to me that this attempt to more particularly indicate what is a chap-book might not be inopportune. I have recently completed the cataloguing of the vast and unique collection of chap-books in the library of Harvard College and have collected many hundreds of examples myself besides, so that I may claim to have some knowledge of this out-of-the-way and curious class of literature, and I shall be glad if what I have written is at all useful to our cataloguing compilers.

COPYRIGHT IN POSTERS.

JUSTICE HOLMES, of the Supreme Court at Washington, D. C., on the 2d inst. rendered an opinion in the suit of Bleistein vs. the Donaldson Lithograph Company, holding that pictorial circus posters may be properly protected by the copyright law. Judge Holmes, who read the decision, said:

"We assume that the construction of Section 4952, Revised Statutes, allowing a copyright to the 'author, designer or proprietor of any engraving, cut, print (or) chromo' is affected by the act of 1874. That provides that 'in the construction of this act the words engraving, cut and print shall be applied only to pictorial illustrations or works connected with the fine arts.'

"These chromo lithographs are pictorial illustrations. The word 'illustrations' does not mean that they must illustrate the text of a book, and that the etchings of Rembrandt or an engraving of the Madonna di San Sisto could not be protected to-day if any man were able to produce them. Again, the act, however construed, does not mean that ordinary posters are not good enough to be considered within its scope. The antithesis to 'illustrations or works connected with the fine arts' is not works of little merit or of humble degree or illustrations addressed to the less educated classes; it is 'prints or labels designed to be used for any other articles of manufacture.'

"Certainly, works are not any the less connected with the fine arts because their pictorial quality attracts the crowd and therefore gives them a real use—if use means to increase trade and to help to make money. A picture is none the less a picture and none the less a subject of copyright that it is used for an advertisement. And if pictures may be used to advertise soap, or the theatre, or monthly magazines, as they are, they may be used to advertise a circus. Of course, the ballet is as legitimate a subject for illustration as any other. A rule cannot be laid down that would excommunicate the paintings of Degao.

"Finally, the special adaptation of these pictures to the advertisement of the Wallace show does not prevent a copyright. That may be a circumstance for the jury to consider in determining the extent of Mr. Wallace's rights, but it is not a bar. Moreover, on the evidence, such prints are used by less pretentious exhibitions when those for whom they were prepared have given them up.

"It is an ultimate fact for the moment, whatever may be our hopes for a change, that these pictures had their worth, and their success is sufficiently shown by the desire to reproduce them without regard to the plaintiff's rights. We are of opinion that plaintiff has rights entitled to the protection of the law."

Justice Harlan dissented for himself and Justice McKenna on the ground that mere advertisements were not such works of art as were contemplated by the copyright law.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE eighth annual dinner of the Booksellers' League, as already announced, will be given at the Aldine Association, on Wednesday evening, February 11, at 6 P.M. The Committee of Arrangements have planned to present a very attractive programme of speakers and music for this occasion, and hope to make it one of the most successful meetings in the League's history. Among the guests who have promised to speak are Will Carleton, Rev. Minot J. Savage, Rev. W. J. Long, Harry De Windt and Prof. John D. Prince. It is hoped that the members will all signify their hearty co-operation by responding, not only by their own presence on this annual round-up, but that they will earnestly endeavor to persuade their friends to participate also. It is generally conceded that no organization of its kind gives so much in return for value received in annual dues as the Booksellers' League. As a matter of fact, it has been furnishing thus far six monthly dinners at an actual expense to the League of nine dollars, free to its members, who are taxed only five dollars for annual dues, besides supplying excellent after-dinner speeches by distinguished guests.

The League has blossomed out from its humble beginnings into an association of strength and influence, and it is not easy to estimate the great benefits that have accrued to its members in bringing together into pleasant social relations so large a number of the bookselling fraternity and allied trades. It is for this reason that the Entertainment Committee emphasizes the importance of each member taking upon himself the responsibility of widening the usefulness of the League by gathering in new members. One of the best methods of accomplishing this is to induce as many persons as possible to attend this annual banquet.

Applications may be made for tickets (the price of which is $2.00) to any member of the Entertainment Committee, which is composed of the following gentlemen: C. E. Butler, 5 Union Square; Cass Richardson, 31 West 23d Street; Theodore Schulte, 132 East 23d Street; Frederick D. Lacy, 29 West 23d Street.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ALBERT VANDAM, the author of "An Englishman in Paris," etc., has in press a new volume entitled "Men and Manners of the Third Republic."

SIR LESLIE STEPHEN will contribute to the Atlantic Monthly during the ensuing year a group of reminiscent papers dealing with English men of letters of the last half century.

MISS ALICE CALDWELL HEGAN, the author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," was married on the 18th of December last, and is now Mrs. Cale Young Rice. Her new book, "Lovey Mary," will be issued under the name of Alice Hegan Rice.

SARAH BERNHARDT admits at last that she is really writing her memoirs. The name of the French publisher chosen for the book has not been told, but Mme. Bernhardt is reported to have said that she has refused a prodigious offer from an American publisher.

HENRIETTA CROSMAN is going to write next summer the story of her girlhood while roughing it in the Rocky Mountains. She was born at an army post in a hostile Indian country and was the companion of her father, Major Crosman, on many perilous expeditions. She has been noted among her associates for her thrilling stories on Indian war, prairie fires, etc., and a New York publisher has persuaded her to put her reminiscences into print.

CHARLES FRANCIS PIDGIN, the author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," was nominated, January 28, by Governor Yates to be chief of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor, to succeed Horace G. Wadlin, who resigned the office to become librarian of the Boston Public Library. Mr. Pidgin for the last thirty years has been in the service of the Bureau of Statistics, serving first as secretary and later as chief clerk. He is lecturer on statistics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

THE last work done by the late Julian Ralph, author and war correspondent, who died in New York the other day, was for Harper's Magazine, and has not yet been published. It consists of a number of articles on American subjects, undertaken for that magazine and to be printed during the present year. The first of these articles, entitled "The American Tyrol," will appear in the March number of Harper's. Another paper, to appear later, describes a trip made by the author through parts of New England in company with a tin-peddler. Mr. Ralph had but recently returned from a trip to Kentucky, made in the interests of Harper's for the preparation of an animated description of those lonely, remote "cabin" Kentuckians who seem to live quite apart from civilization. This will be illustrated by Lester Ralph, son of the author. Mr. Ralph's sound ability and cheerful enthusiasm made all his work as valuable as it is interesting.

CHARLES WELSH who, for the past four and a half years, has been with D. C. Heath & Company, for whom he prepared, among other publications, The Home and School Classics, a series of complete books for children of every age, of which he has had sole editorial charge since its inception, has withdrawn from that house in order to devote himself to more independent literary labor. He is at present occupied in preparing a supplementary volume to The Young Folks' Library, a comprehensive library of selected literature for children—a work which was originally his own conception and execution—to be called "The Key to the Treasure House," by means of notes, indexes, vocabularies, etc., this volume will accentuate the educational character of The Young Folks' Library. He hopes this year to publish his various contributions on the subject of children's books and children's reading in a volume to be entitled "Books of the Golden Age. Chapters on Children's Literature." Besides these he is writing an original book for children, to be called "The Little Wonder Shoes and their Wanderings" and his "Ten Tales of the Wise Men of Gotham," a new rhyming version of some of the little-known stories in the old chap books which recount the droll deeds of the Gothamites will be published as an illustrated toy book this fall. He is also preparing for fall publication by a New York house the first two volumes of "The Famous Battles of the Nineteenth Century," which will be complete in five volumes, and an edition of Lord Chesterfield's "Letters to his Son."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

EDMUND GOSSE has an article on Philip James Bailey, author of "Festus," in the Fortnightly Review for January.

The Contemporary Review has an article on James Martineau, by A. M. Fairbairn; on Robert Browning, by Philip H. Wicksteed; and on Tchaikovsky and Tolstoi, by Rosa Newmarch.

The Publishers' Journal, ein Katalog der englischen und amerikanischen Literatur, is announced to be published in March from 20 Potsdamer Street, Berlin, Prussia. The Journal will be published monthly for the use of the German book trade, to whose attention it will bring such English and American books as may be likely to find a market in Germany.

WITH the February issue The Book Buyer, published since October 15, 1867, will begin a new series—the third since its beginnings—under the title of The Lamp. This periodical is not a new magazine; it is rather the ripening of the older magazine, an inevitable development along the lines on which it has grown from a publisher's list to a literary magazine.

THE first number of the Journal of Comparative Literature, dated January-March has just been published and makes a favorable impression. The editor, George Edward Woodberry, professor of Comparative Literature in Columbia University, prefaces the number with an able statement of the trend of scholarship in America that deserves wide reading. There are three contributions—"Huguenot Thought in England," by C. Bastide, adjunct professor in the Lycée at Beauvais, who gives an account of the influence of the Huguenots who emigrated to England before and after the Edict of Nantes; "Unpublished Letters of an English Humanist," being some of the letters of John Tree, one of the English scholars who went to Italy in search of the New Learning about the middle of the 15th century, who gives a delightful picture of the social and academic life of Italy in those days, to which Dr. J. E. Spingarn, of Columbia, prefixes an informing introductory note; and "Molière en Italie," by Pietro Toldo, of the University of Turin, who traces Molière's influence on Italian drama during the 17th and 18th centuries. In the department of "Notes," Professor Francesco Torraca, of Naples, shows how the voyage of one of Chaucer's heroes to the "Drye Sea" has been misunderstood, because, as he claims, it should be "Adrye Sea," or the Adriatic; Professor Italo Pizzi, of Turin, briefly touches on the influence of oriental literature and legend on modern poetry; and Professor George P. Baker, of Harvard, illuminates a new source for Middleton and Rowley's Elizabethan play, "The Changeling." In the department of "Reviews," F. W. Chandler reviews a book that deals with the literature of the 18th century throughout Europe, and Hugo A. Rennert notices a Spanish work that sheds new light on Cervantes. One of the original features of the Journal is the fact that all contributions will be printed in the languages in which they are written. In the present issue there are articles in four languages—English, French, Italian and Latin. The greatest pains have been taken with the Journal on the artistic side and everything has been done to make it, so far as the publishers have been able, as attractive to the eye, as the editors have been intent upon making it appeal to the intellect of their readers.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE INSTITUT INTERNATIONAL DE BIBLIOGRAPHIE, which has for several years past carried on bibliographical work at its headquarters in Brussels has been merged into the Bureau Bibliographique de Paris, a new organization having been formed under the latter name. Members of both societies are continued as members of the new association, which will carry on the work previously done, in the preparation and publication of a universal card bibliography, bulletins, lists, etc. The headquarters of the Bureau are now at 44 Rue de Rennes, Paris.

A. FLANAGAN COMPANY have just ready a "Bibliography of the Manual Arts," prepared by Arthur Henry Chamberlain, professor of education and principal of the Normal School of Manual Training in the Throop Polytechnic Institute, Pasadena, Cal. The author has labored for five years to compile this bibliography, which he claims is approximately complete. He has brought together much matter covering the subject published in foreign countries, but his work shows a hand totally unpracticed, and the proof-reading has been very defective. Of all books known to him a short synopsis is given. (99 p. 16°, cl.)

D. APPLETON & Co. have about ready a freshly-edited, rearranged and entirely reset catalogue of their publications, issued from the new place of business, 436 Fifth Avenue, New York. The catalogue consists of an alphabetical list by authors (68 pages); alphabetical list by titles (15 pages); list of books out of stock at present (3 pages); chronological list of publications (covering from January 1, 1901, to January, 1903, including books issued under the rules of the American Publishers' Association; list of dictionaries and languages (3 pages); and Spanish books (3 pages). Prices on a large number of miscellaneous books have been reduced.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Dodd, Mead & Co., 372 Fifth Ave., New York, Autographs and manuscripts. (No. 66, 251 titles.)—Goodspeed's Bookshop, 5A Park St., Boston, Mass., Autographs, uncommon books and prints, etc. (No. 12, 716 titles.)—Karl W. Hiersemann, 3 Königsstrasse, Leipzig, Germany, West Indies, Central and South America, 1650 to present time. (No. 280, 1380 titles.)—Lubcke & Nöhring, 31 Breitstrasse, Lübeck, Germany, Early editions and rare books on all subjects. (No. 30, 2110 titles.)—Martinus Nijhoff, Nobelstraat 18, à la Haye, Political economy, 5th Parb, Todt-Typ. Supplement A-Z. (No. 320, titles 6183-7883.)—Probsthain & Co., 14 Bury Str., London, W. C., Oriental history, languages and literature. (No. 1, 1304 titles.)—John E. Scopes, 29 Tweddle Building, Albany, N. Y., Miscellaneous, many from the library of David Connell, containing bookplate. (No. 17, 107 titles.)—Henry Stevens, Son & Stiles, 39 Great Russell St., London, Bibliotheca oeconomica (No. 1, 28 p.); Historical geographical and biographical. (16 p.); Rare books relating to America (No. 83, January, 1810-1832 p., Keimer-Wood.)

BUSINESS NOTES.

LEXINGTON, KY.—B. E. King & Co., book-sellers and stationers, and E. B. Wrenn, dealer in wall papers, picture frames and novelties, have joined forces and will continue under the firm name of Wrenn & King in the quarters occupied thus far by Mr. Wrenn.

NEW YORK CITY.—Croscup & Sterling Company have removed their business office and salesroom to 25 and 27 W. 34th Street, between Broadway and Fifth Avenue.

NEW YORK CITY.—Isaac Pitman & Sons have removed to the new Bank of the Metropolis Building, 31 Union Square, northwest corner of Sixteenth Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—W. B. Saunders & Co., of Philadelphia, have opened a branch of their business in the Fuller Building, popularly known as "The Flatiron," at the junction of Fifth Avenue and Broadway, Twenty-second and Twenty-third Streets. Dr. Reed B. Granger, for many years managing editor of the New York Medical Journal, together with a representative who is thoroughly familiar with the methods of the Philadelphia house, will be connected with this new branch; and Mr. W. B. Saunders personally will divide his time between New York and Philadelphia.

NEW YORK CITY.—Frederick A. Wehner has succeeded Washburn & Wehner, book-sellers.

NEW YORK CITY.—Mrs. H. Williams has removed her stock of back number magazines, old books, prints, etc., to the ground floor at 118 East 17th Street, near Irving Place.

OAKLAND, CAL.—The Board of Trade of San Francisco has issued a notice to the effect that the establishment of Smith Bros.

was burned out. Their insurance has been transferred to H. L. Smith, the secretary of the Board, for the benefit of all creditors. As soon as the loss is adjusted and paid and all claims are filed a dividend will be declared. Mr. Smith desires that a statement of claims be made to him at the earliest possible moment.

SALEM, MASS.—Walter J. Stickney, bookseller, has gone into bankruptcy.

SELMA, ALA.—The acetylene gas plant connected with the store of the Wood Book and Stationery Company, which recently went into bankruptcy, exploded a week ago, totally demolishing the outhouse in which it was kept. Flames spread to the store, but were extinguished before any great damage was done.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—W. H. Watkins has succeeded to the book business of Browder & Watkins.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

PARISIAN publishers are excited over the announcement that Mme. Humbert is writing her story, and there will be great competition for the book.

EDWIN H. HALL, for some time travelling representative for Doubleday, Page & Co., has made arrangements to represent Charles Scribner's Sons on the road.

HAWTHORNE'S "Fanshawe" sold for $650 at Libbie's on January 28. Though having some minor defects it was nearly as good as the copy sold at Libbie's last October for $840.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, will publish at once a popular study of the general epistle of James, by the Bishop of Ripon, Dr. W. Boyd Carpenter, entitled "The Wisdom of James the Just."

C. L. ANDERSON PUBLISHING COMPANY, 701 Lucas Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., have in preparation the first national "Kindergarten Annual," containing a complete list of the Kindergartners of the United States and Canada with residence and school address.

It is not true that President Roosevelt has written an introduction to "The Woman Who Toils," by Mrs. John Van Voorst and Marie Van Voorst. The President read an instalment of the serial in Everybody's Magazine and wrote a letter to one of the authors. This letter is printed by way of a prefatory note.

IN time for the bicentenary celebration of John Wesley in New York this month, Fleming H. Revell Company will publish, under the title of "The Heart of John Wesley's Journal," a condensation, in one volume, by Percy Livingstone Parker, of Wesley's Journal, heretofore accessible only in four bulky volumes.

"THE PIT" has come into popularity with great bounds, and notwithstanding that the advance sale was very large, the publishers have not been able to keep up with the orders. In seven days the fourth edition was ready, and preparations were made to print a fifth edition of twenty thousand copies as quickly as several establishments could manufacture them.

BRENTANO'S will publish at once new editions of Volney Streamer's "What Makes a Friend," and "In Friendship's Name." Of the first of these books seven editions have already been marketed and of the second thirteen editions have been exhausted. This success is well merited because the work on these books has been done with care and rare literary discrimination.

ERASTUS DARROW, whose connection with the book trade of Rochester, N. Y., dates back to 1844, celebrated his eightieth birthday January 29. The octogenarian, who is in good health and as vigorous as ever, was the recipient of many congratulatory messages. We fully expect, now that Mr. Darrow can go it like "two-forty," he will certainly pass the century mark. We offer our belated congratulations and assure Mr. Darrow of our "most distinguished consideration."

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a book concerning life in Paris in the brilliant days of Napoleon III., by Mme. Northpeat, an English lady married to a Frenchman of English extraction. Mme. Northpeat lived in Paris from 1864 to 1870, and acted as correspondent of a London morning newspaper, and preserved her letters, selections from which are now being arranged and edited. Her book, it is promised, will contain a lively, gossiping account of political, social, literary, and artistic Paris before the catastrophe of 1870.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce a collection of stories by Sewell Ford, entitled "Horses Nine." Saddle horses, carriage horses, draught horses, circus horses and fire truck horses are some of the sorts which Mr. Ford describes. A favorite theme of the author's is the fate which befalls horses of high standing when their fortunes change and their habits and tastes remain the same. The heroes of these tales are Skipper, Chieftain, Pacha, Barnacles, Black Eagle, Calico, Old Silver, Blue Blazes and Bonfire. The book is illustrated.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish privately a monograph on Shelley: His Life and Works," by Thomas R. Slicer, author of "One World at a Time," "The Great Affirmations of Religion," etc. To increase the usefulness of this small book a bibliography, based on that of R. Buxton Forman, has been added, also facsimile title-pages of the rare first editions, making a practical work for Shelley collectors. Only a hundred and sixty-five copies are to be printed, and only a few of these will be sold to defray the cost of publication.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready "The Captain," a new novel by Churchill Williams, the author of "J. Devlin—Boss." Mr. Williams, who may be familiar to the trade as the head of the advertising department of J. B. Lippincott Company, has made General Grant the central figure of his new story, which promises to outrival his former work in the estimation of the critics and of the public. It is a conscientious piece of work carefully and masterfully done. The volume contains four excellent drawings by A. I. Keller.

At this time, when the revolution in Venezuela is attracting wide attention, many who desire to know something about the country may find full information in Frank G. Carpenter's "South America: Social, Industrial and Political." The publishers, The Saalfeld Publishing Co., Akron, O., have just brought out a new edition, handsomely bound and profusely illustrated. The work contains full information about the country in general—its size, population, government, products, means of travel, gold, silver, lead and asphalt mines, harbors, navigable rivers, cities of modern conveniences, etc.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready "Written in Florence," a collection of the last poems by Hugh McCulloch, the grandson and namesake of Hugh McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury under Presidents Lincoln and Arthur. He was a graduate of Harvard and remained at that college as instructor under Professor Wendell. In 1894 he went to Florence, Italy and lived there until his death. They announce for early publication an entertaining society novel entitled "A Detached Pirate," by Helen Milicete, a Halifax woman who has written for Lippincott, the Smart Set and other magazines.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish on the 28th inst. "Lovey Mary," the new book by the author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," who is a gay challenger to every pessimist, a general banisher of blues, and a rebuke to grumblers. They have in preparation a work on the results of the Syrian expedition sent out a few years ago to discover buried cities, understood to exist in Syria and Hauran. The work, which will be complete in four volumes, will be of interest to archæologists. It is being written by Howard Crosby Butler, lecturer at Princeton, whose "Story of Athens" the Century Company published a short time ago.

THE new and revised edition of "The Mystery of Sleep," which Harper & Brothers are publishing this week, reminds one that its author, John Bigelow, is one of the two surviving members of the famous Column. The Column was a New York literary club, founded in 1824, and had a most illustrious membership and a most interesting career. Mr. Bigelow, formerly Minister to France, and Parke Godwin are the old club's only living representatives, although the Column was saved from extinction by including in its membership the entire Century Association of New York, of which club Mr. Bigelow is a prominent official.

L. C. PAGE & Co. are in a dilemma concerning a new story written for them by Elliott Flower, the author of "Policeman Flynn," etc. The story is written, but up to the present moment neither author nor publisher have been able to find a satisfactory title. The story deals with municipal politics, and, while not attempting to depict exact conditions in any particular locality, shows a state of affairs common to practically all large cities. The love interest centres around a society girl of high ideals who inspires a wealthy young man to enter the local campaign. She thus becomes involved in the thread of the story which relates to the troubles and complications which follow an effort to be both upright and successful in municipal politics.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have in preparation three books of importance to preachers and theological students, viz: "The Unexpected Christ," being thirty evangelistic sermons, in which the central theme is man's relationship to Christ, by Louis Albert Banks, D.D.; "The Extra-Canonical Life of Christ," an exhaustive compendium of the apocryphal gospels, and every saying attributed to Jesus in the so-called uninspired writings, including the most recently discovered manuscripts, by Bernhard Pick, D.D.; also, "Introduction to the Talmud," a second and revised edition of the celebrated compendium of the principles of Talmudic interpretation, by M. Mielziner, Professor of Talmud in the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, O. They also announce a translation by Dr. Pick of Dr. Cremer's answer to Harnack's "What is Christianity."

THE SCOTT-THAW Co., 542 Fifth Avenue, New York, announce a privately printed series of classic works to be entitled The Chiswick Library of Noble Authors. This series will include the work of writers who have "nobly and joyously influenced the life of their own and succeeding ages," such, for instance, as Homer, Plato, Horace, Dante, Montaigne, Shakespeare, Locke, Milton, Walton, Swift, Landor and others. The text, whether in English or in the original, will be as complete and perfect as good editing can make, and the letter press, paper and general get-up of each volume as perfect as the resources of the Chiswick Press can produce it. The format of the volumes will be folio. The first two volumes will be Landor's "Pericles and Aspasia," and More's "Utopia," in Ralph Robinson's translation. The edition will be limited to 430 copies of which 200 are allotted to the United States.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just brought out volume VI. of "The New International Encyclopedia," which covers the subject from "Design" to "Ethical Culture Society." The volume is remarkable for the extraordinarily large number of articles and for the comprehensive manner in which many of them are treated. Among the more important articles are those on the devil, the diamond, dictionaries, digestion, diseases, distribution of animals and plants, divorce, dog, the drama, dynamo-electrical machinery, education, egg, electricity and the industries connected with it, encyclopedia, engines and engineering, engraving and English literature. In history and geography the volume covers Detroit, East India, Ecuador, Egypt and England, with remarkable fulness. There are 5 colored full-page plates, four colored maps, 25 full-page plates and a number of illustrations in the text. The house made arrangements to publish T. Edgar Pemberton's authorized biography of Bret Harte.

JOHN LANE has just brought out, in attractive style, "The Rubaiyat of Umar Khayyam," done into English from the French of J. B. Nicolas, by Frederick Baron Corvo, with an introduction by Nathan Haskell Dole. M. Nicolas lived his life in Persia, in the service of the French government, with the result that he became thoroughly imbued with the spirit of Persian life and thought. He held the theory that Omar's Rubaiyat conveyed an esoteric and allegorical meaning, to be interpreted religiously, as is the sensuous lyric, "The Song of Solomon." In that light his rendering of the famous rhymes are interesting and well worth considering. The English rendering, which faces the original French text, is readable and Mr. Dole's introduction enlightens the reader as to the text in a way which only one of his familiarity with the subject could do. Mr. Lane has also just ready the eleventh volume of the Handbooks of Practical Gardening, by the Rev. Dr. E. Bartrum, which deals with the cultivation of pears and plums. Mr. Lane will publish, next week, Zola's last novel, "Truth," the third in the "Four Evangelists" group, translated by G. A. Vizetelly.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation a work entitled "The English People, a study of its political, social and psychological methods," by Enile Boutmy, who has made an exhaustive study of men and things in England, and whose work comes at an opportune time, for the British nation is now passing through what will probably be regarded by posterity as one of the turning points in its history. The work has been translated by Elsie English. In the Stories of the Nations Series they have just issued "Medieval India under Mohammedan Rule, 712-1764," by Stanley Lane Poole, which will be followed by "Buddhist India," by T. W. Rhys-Davids. In the Heroes of the Nations Series the next volume will be "Augustus Cæsar and the Organization of the Empire of Rome," by J. B. Firth. They also announce the seventh and concluding volume of "The Writings of James Monroe," edited by S. M. Hamilton, of the Department of State, and the third and fourth volumes of "The Writings of James Madison," edited by Gaillard Hunt, in eight or nine volumes. The two volumes of "Madison's Writings," in preparation, with the editor's annotations, form the first complete and accurate text of "Madison's Journal of the Constitutional Convention."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 21st inst. a work entitled "American Diplomacy in the Orient," by John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, whose work, "A Century of American Diplomacy," is considered an authority. In his new book Mr. Foster points out the part which the United States has taken, and the position it now occupies, in respect to the political, commercial and race questions in the Orient.

reviewing our early commercial intercourse with China, the opening of Japan, the political history and annexation of Hawaii, and our relations to other countries of the Pacific. They will publish at the same time a story of life in a Lancashire mining town, entitled "A Daughter of the Pit," by Margaret Doyle Jackson; a work on "Human Destiny in the Light of Revelation," by Professor John F. Weir, who presents a devout and earnest study of the destiny of man as revealed in the Bible and especially as manifested in Jesus Christ; the fifth volume of "Poole's Index" covering the period from January, 1897 to January, 1902, edited by W. I. Fletcher and Mary Poole; a new edition of John Fiske's "Cosmic Philosophy," in four volumes, with an introduction by Professor Josiah Royce; also the 1903 edition of the "Satchel Guide for the Vacation Tourist in Europe."

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY have been announcing for publication in March a book by Edith Wyatt, under the title "What's Worth While." These notices brought out the fact that the title they had chosen for this novel was almost exactly the same as the title of a series of books published by a Boston house, and they have, therefore, thought it wise to change the title, although the book was almost ready for the press. The volume will now be issued under the title of "True Love, a Comedy of the Affections," perhaps a more felicitous title, since the sub-caption indicates the underlying humor and satire that characterizes the work, which the first title did not. The book will be ready about the middle of February. They will also bring out at about the same time a little volume by Dr. Felix Adler, now professor of political and social ethics at Columbia, under the title of "Life and Destiny," which is made up of selections from his discourses under the heads of "Immortality," "Moral Ideas," "Love and Marriage" and "Spiritual Discourses;" "The Posy Ring," a volume of short poems for children, edited by Kate Douglas Wiggin and Nora Archibald Smith; also, an interesting novel of Irish life by Shan F. Btillock, entitled "The Squireen," which deals dramatically with the struggle that the better instincts in the man makes against the lower ones.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready a novel of middle western life, entitled "The Pride of Tellfair," by Elmore Elliott Peake, a young Ohioan, who, as secretary to a member of Congress, and in the employ of the Census Bureau and several Southern railroads, had exceptional opportunities of becoming acquainted with the phases of life that he describes; "The New Boy at Dale," a book for boys, by Charles Edward Rich, a well-known New York newspaper man, who describes the interesting adventures of a boy who had been kidnapped when a baby, and who had some amusing experiences before he found out who he really was; also, a new and extensively revised edition of "The Mystery of Sleep," by the Hon. John Bigelow. They will bring out early in March Mrs. Humphry Ward's powerful story, "Lady Rose's Daughter;" "Putnam Place," by Grace Lathrop Collin, who writes the story of a very small town, in which everybody knows everybody else's business; also, a story of northern Georgia, by Will N. Harben, entitled "The Substitute." They have made arrangements to publish Austin Brereton's history of that historic old London play house, the Lyceum, entitled "Thirty years at the Lyceum." Though the work will give a preliminary history of the theatre from its origin in 1765 to its demolition in 1903, it will, as the title sets forth, deal principally with the period during which Irving and Miss Terry did their best work, from the production of "The Bells," November 25, 1871, down to the end of the season of 1902.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation "A Few of Hamilton's Letters," collected by Mrs. Gertrude Atherton with a view to give a very personal and intimate portrait of the hero of her novel, "The Conqueror;" "A History of the Confederate War," by George Cary Eggleston, whose aim it is simply to tell the story in such fashion that the least instructed reader may understand it throughout, without reference to documents and official reports; a "History of American Art," from the earliest settlement of the country to the present time, an authoritative work in a number of volumes by writers best fitted for each subject, under the general editorship of John Van Dyke; an American edition of Muir and Ritchie's standard text-book "Manual of Bacteriology," prepared upon the basis of the third and latest English edition, by Professor Norman MacL. Harris of Johns Hopkins University; a work on "Athletics and Outdoor Sports for Women," by a number of competent instructors or writers on the subject; "Mechanical Refrigeration," by Hal Williams, a practical introduction to the study of cold storage, ice making and other forms of refrigeration; also, "Problems in Astrophysics," by Miss Agnes M. Clerke, whose "History of Astronomy during the Nineteenth Century," "The System of the Stars," and other works have made Miss Clerke's writings so well known among those interested in astronomy. They also make the important announcement that they have in preparation new novels by James Lane Allen, Winston Churchill and Charles Major.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

[B] In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

[B] Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

A NEW NOVEL

Which Will Immediately Claim the Interest of American Readers

Ready February 28

The Socialist and the Prince

By Mrs. Fremont Older

A NOVEL OF CALIFORNIA LIFE during the days of the anti-Chinese labor agitation. The leader of the workmen, Paul Stryne, and his political actions were suggested by the career and character of Dennis Kearney, the sand-lot agitator. Stryne and an Italian prince are rivals for the hand of Theodosia Peyton, the daughter of a millionaire. Swayed now by the courtly grace and subtle class sympathy of the prince, now by the masterful will and altruistic purpose of the socialist, the impressionable girl, in a mood which overpowers her for the time, betroths herself first to one and then to the other. There are many situations of dramatic power, from the love scenes to the street riots, and from the altruist's lofty orations to the jealous lover's duel with Prince Ruspoli. Social conditions are strongly contrasted, and the interest is intense throughout.

The Annual American Catalogue

CUMULATED

1900-1902

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1902, is now in preparation, and will include in one alphabet the short-title lists of the books of 1900, 1901 and 1902, giving information of the books recorded by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. This form of catalogue has been generally accepted as a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

THE MASTER OF APPLEBY

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Vividly Illustrated by T. DE THULSTRUP

"It may be said with literal truth of 'The Master of Appleby,' that it does not contain a page without some incident, some adventure, and yet the author does not repeat once. Mr. Lynde's inventiveness is remarkably rich." —New York Mail and Express.

"'The Master of Appleby,' does for the South what 'Alice of Old Vincennes,' does for the West."

—The Philadelphia North American.

"To the reader who wants plenty of action, 'The Master of Appleby' is to be recommended—no reader will feel dull while reading its pages."

—New York Times.

"'The Master of Appleby' is a vigorous narrative. This novel is a thing apart and a joy for local color."

—New York Sun.

THE MOST POPULAR BOOK IN AMERICA

"Hearts Courageous," by Halle Erminie Rives, whose latest portrait is printed above, has led booksellers' lists as the best-selling novel during a longer continuous period than has any other novel published during the past year.

Its sale, already enormous, is still growing rapidly, and it promises to take its place as one of the really good books of the past decade. It holds a love story which has been called "as delicious as the great passion itself," and its tense dramatic plot centers in the greatest event in our history—the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Its great central figure is Patrick Henry. The mystery of its plot enthralls to the last page, and its combination of love and war is ideal. It is illustrated by engravings on wood from original paintings by A. B. Wenzell. Price, $1.50. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Publishers, Indianapolis, U. S. A.

THE THRALL OF LEIF THE LUCKY

By OTTILIE A. LILJENCRA NTZ

Universally conceded to be the most strikingly illustrated and ornamented novel published in 1902, and also declared by the Brooklyn Eagle to be "one of the best constructed historical romances that has appeared in America in years." It is quite unlike anything else in fiction, and will always have a steady sale.

Now Ready

"A story of unusual power which opens in an obscure curio-shop in London, where Anna Solney, the sixteen-year-old daughter of an exile, is chafing bitterly against her enforced solitude and inactivity. When unexpectedly the opportunity so madly craved is offered her—the chance to take an active place in the busy world—she finds that the conditions which accompany its acceptance are only a degree less cruel than those involved in its rejection. Eight years later she returns, and to the girl standing in the shadows it seemed that the circle of life was complete. From the neutral tints she had passed through every graduated shade that existence can possess, revolving slowly past the faint light tones of hope and expectation to the vivid colours of actual fulfilment, then from the vivid colours steadily and inevitably forward, to be confronted once again by grayness and shadow. The shadows pass, however, and the constancy of her lover eventually brings to Anna the realization of a rarely perfect love." "I"

NOTES IN SEASON.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just brought out "The Circle," the new story by Katherine Cecil Thurston, which was announced for March 15. The story is a strong one and will no doubt attract considerable attention both on account of its plot and its literary style. The book contains six illustrations drawn by Reginald B. Birch.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have in their People's Library a paper covered edition of the late Edna Lyall's latest and best stories, "In Spite of All: a Romance of Cavalier and Puritan During the Civil War." It might be well for the trade to bear this in mind in view of the renewed interest taken in this author's works.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have purchased all rights in "A Furnace of Earth," by Hallie Erminie Rives, whose "Hearts Courageous" is enjoying an extraordinary success. They have tried to present Christy's illustrations of Frederic S. Isham's new novel, "Under the Rose," in their original colors. The reproduction is by a special six color process, used, we understand, for the first time in books of fiction, and seems to have successfully retained the soft tints of the color crayons that the artist used in his originals.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just ready Justus Miles Forman's new story, "Journeys End," an ingenious and delightful romance of to-day, raising the question of human nature as to whether the real man is the man as he is born or as he makes himself. Those who have read the book claim that "not since 'The Lady or the Tiger?' has a tale been published so provocative of speculation and conjecture." The publishers were obliged to print two large editions before publication. They have also ready "The Woman Who Toils," by Mrs. John Van Vorst and Marie Van Vorst, who set out to discover by actual experience the conditions of American working girls in Pittsburg, New York, Chicago, Lynn, and in one of the Southern cotton mills; "The Life of James Madison," by Gaillard Hunt, the first volume in the Biographical History of the United States; "Principles of Home Decoration," a helpful book to decorators, by Candace Wheeler; also "Hand in Hand," a volume of verse, by Rudyard Kipling's mother and sister.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish at once an important work, entitled "The Principles of Money," by J. Lawrence Laughlin, Professor of Political Economy in the University of Chicago. This is the first of a monumental series of books planned by the author, perhaps the first American authority in this branch of economics, on the general subject of money. As its title implies, Professor Laughlin in this volume clears the field for discussion of practical details, such as metallic money and its history in the United States, paper money here and in foreign countries, and banking, by establishing the theory underlying them. His aim has been to make "a separate and orderly exposition of the principles of money quite independently of their countless historical applications," to quote his preface, and the book is an elaborately organized treatment of these principles, and constitutes an original and novel contribution to the science of political economy. There are many new points of view which are bound to create discussion and likely to modify materially current economic doctrine. They have just imported a thin paper edition of "The Diary of Samuel Pepys," in large clear type, but on paper so thin that the volume is but a trifle over three-quarters of an inch in thickness.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.: translations, c. tr.: n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Adamson, W.; D.D. The life of Joseph Parker, pastor of City Temple, London. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, [1903.] 16+387 p. il. por. O. cl., **$1.75 net.

This biography is not the product of a few months' hasty work. The author gives us the fruit of many years of preparation, in a careful, mature and authoritative work. In writing the life of Joseph Parker, Dr. Adamson has lifted the veil from much more than a series of facts and deeds. Long and intimate personal intercourse and friendship has qualified him in a peculiar degree to put in the forefront the forces in Dr. Parker's unique character, wherein lay the secret of his influence, power and success. The elements of romance and humor, together with anecdote and illustration which give a biography a vivid human interest, are skilfully interwoven with the narrative. While fully accomplishing his primary object, Dr. Adamson has made his book illuminating and informing on the religious history of England during the period he covers.

Bright, W.; D.D. The age of the Fathers: being chapters in the history of the church during the fourth and fifth centuries. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1903. 2 v., 8+542; 4+597 p. O. cl., *$10 net.

"The ground covered in these volumes is almost exactly the same as that traversed by Dr. Bright in his earliest work, 'The history of the church from A.D. 313 to A.D. 451.' But the treatment is very different; that book was written for students, and it was the work of an annalist aiming at completeness and verifying each statement by reference to the authority for it; this is intended to be more popular; the interest of the reader is not distracted by notes, the less important details are omitted, and attention is concentrated on the lives of the great fathers and on the great doctrinal controversies."—Preface.

- Browning, Rob. Rabbi Ben Ezra; with supplementary illustrative quotations and an introd. by W: Adams Slade. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., 1902. c. 4+50 p. 12°, cl., **50 c. net.

Keeler, C: A: San Francisco and thereabout. San Francisco, California Promotion Committee, 1902. c. 5+97 p. il. O. cl., 50 c.

Aims to give brief pictures of the stirring past of San Francisco, of the days of the Spanish missions, and of the pioneer days and the quest for gold. A chapter is devoted to the bonanza and railroad kings and the remainder of the book describes San Francisco as it appears to-day. The author takes us about the city streets, leads us through Chinatown and the Spanish quarter and journeys with us to Stanford University. The book concludes with a chapter on the great possibilities for growth in the city, industrially, commercially and from the standpoint of art, literature and culture.

Dr. Packard was born in Maine of old English stock. He was educated at Andover and Bowdoin, and after filling several other positions was elected to the Professorship of Sacred Literature at the Theological Seminary of Virginia. This was before the Civil War, and his autobiography gives graphic pictures of the easy-going life of the times with slavery in full play. Washington with its prominent figures and national gossip comes in for a share of attention. Many educational, clerical and religious questions are considered.

- Peake, Elmore Elliott. The pride of Tellfair. N. Y., Harper, 1903. [F.] c. 3+391 p. D. cl., $1.50.
In a framework of love, law, politics and gossip of a country town of northern Illinois, we have the story of a successful young western lawyer, who is as original in his love making as in his business methods. Tellfair is not very far from Chicago, and is a thriving, typical western town. With a good share of culture, it includes many odd specimens of unpolished human nature. The character sketching is admirable, and evidently from life. Morris Davenport the hero, is by no means a perfect type, but holds the reader's interest and liking. The two heroines are new studies in fiction.

Thurston, Katherine Cecil. The circle; il. by Reginald B. Birch. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903. [Ja.] c. 6+340 p. D. cl., $1.50.

That life is not a straight line, but a circle, and that fate or providence often brings us back to the starting point of our youth, is the author's text, illustrated in the life of a young Russian girl living in a London slum with an old bookworm of a father (an exile), the proprietor of a curio shop. Anna Solny is persuaded by a woman of fashion to desert her father and home to study for the stage. The girl has genius and in years becomes a great actress, acquires wealth and a social position. How and why her life turns back again to the little shop in Felt Street, there to find content and happiness in an honorable man's love, the story tells with much grace and sympathy.

Virginia. A complete index to all the reported decisions of the supreme court of appeals, high court of chancery and general court, from Jefferson's reports to 99 Va. reports, 1730-1902; with a complete table of cases, list of statutes cited or construed, etc.; being also an index to "Hurst's Va. digest," by Sam. N. Hurst. Luray, Hurst & Co., 1902. c. 1376 p. O. shp., $8.

Waddell, Jos. Addison. Annals of Augusta County, Virginia, from 1726 to 1871. 2d ed., rev. and enl. Staunton, Va., C. Russell Caldwell, 1902. c. 10+545 p. fold. map, O. cl., $2.50; ed. de luxe, $5.

Many errors of the first edition are corrected in this volume; it also includes a large amount of additional and interesting information relating to the history of Augusta County. Contains reminiscences illustrative of the vicissitudes of its pioneer settlers; biographical sketches of citizens locally prominent, and of those who have founded families in the southern and western states; a diary of the war, 1861-'65, and a chapter on reconstruction.

Weedon, G. Valley Forge orderly book of General George Weedon, of the Continental Army under command of General George Washington, in the campaign of 1777-8; describing the events of the battles of Brandywine, Warren Tavern, Germantown and Whitmarsh, and of the camps at Neshaminy, Wilmington, Pennypacker's Mills, Skippack, Whitmarsh and Valley Forge. Wesley, J. The heart of John Wesley's journal; with an introd. by Hugh Price Hughes, and an appreciation of the journal by Augustine Birrell; ed. by Percy Livingstone Parker. [Wesley bicentenary ed.] N. Y. and Chic., Revell, [1903.] 30+512 p. il. por. O. cl., **$1.50 net.

A condensation, into popular form, of John Wesley's journal hitherto published in four volumes; intended to mark the bicentenary celebration of the birthday of the founder of Methodism. There is no book that gives so exact and vivid a picture of eighteenth century England as this record Wesley kept of his daily experience.

West Virginia. Supreme ct. of appeals. Reports of cases, from Mar. 1, 1902, to June 7, 1902, by Romeo H. Freer, ex-off. rep. v. 51. Charleston, Charleston Daily Mail Pub. Co., 1902. c. 29+639+49 p. O. shp., $4.50.

Whitman, Sidney. Personal reminiscences of Prince Bismarck. N. Y., Appleton, 1903. [F.] c. 10+346 p. il. por. O. cl., **$1.60 net.

Mr. Whitman first gained attention as an authority on German affairs by a book he wrote in 1888, entitled "Imperial Germany." Mr. Whitman made the acquaintance of Bismarck shortly after he retired from office, and claims that he is now the only Englishman living who was in any sense intimate with the great Chancellor. During the last seven years of Bismarck's life Mr. Whitman visited him no less than ten times. He arrived at Bismarck's home for the last visit a few hours after Bismarck had breathed his last. Outside the family not more than a dozen persons saw the dead statesman, and of these Whitman was one. As a result of this intimacy with Bismarck and his family this volume contains matter which is exclusive and of historical interest.

Williams, Francis Churchill. The captain; il. by Arthur I. Keller. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1903.] [Ja.] c. 4-439 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A romance dealing with life on the eve of the Civil War and during it. Most of the people come from south of Mason-Dixon's line, and we see the struggle from their standpoint and sympathize with their difficulties in taking sides for or against the Union. The great figure of the captain, who will be at once recognized as General Grant, dominates the whole story, and offers the most striking portrait of that unique figure yet to be found in American fiction. The political events leading up to the great struggle and the battle scenes themselves are ably drawn.

Williams, H: Smith. Manuscripts, inscriptions and muniments, oriental, classical, medieval and modern, described, classified and arranged, comprehending the history of the art of writing; with more than two hundred facsimile reproductions in tone and color from the important languages of every age. In 4 portfolios. Portfolio 1. N. Y., Merrill & Baker, [1902.] c. il. f°, hf. cl., subs., for set of 4 portfolios, $100.

Contents: portfolio 1. (Lettered: The history of the art of writing. Oriental series.) Oriental series including Egyptian and Assyrian, and the story of the decipherment of these long-forgotten languages; the other scripts of Asia; and the ancient Mexican writing of America.

Wilson, H. Silverwork and jewelry: a textbook for students and workers in metal; with diagrams by the author. N. Y., Appleton, 1903. [F.] c. 5-346 p. D. (Artistic crafts ser. of technical handbooks; ed. by W. R. Lethaby, no. 2.) cl., **$1.40 net.

The second volume issued of the "Artistic crafts series," a series of technical handbooks intended for use in schools, workshops, and libraries. The book does not deal with the history of the jeweler's art. It is intended as a practical guide to some of the more simple processes of the craft. The author describes the operations of each process consecutively from beginning to end.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 14, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

WHAT AN INVENTORY SHOULD INCLUDE.

THE season of stock-taking seems to us a particularly appropriate time to extend the taking of the inventory all along the line, invading the counting room and including the account books as well as the books in stock and the fixtures. It is just as well, from time to time, to take the measure of the people with whom we deal as it is, once or twice a year, to become thoroughly well acquainted with the things in which we deal. In the rush of the busy seasons the modest, uncomplaining, prompt-paying customer is sometimes "con-founded" along with the blatant slow-paying "kicker," to the injustice of the desirable customer and the serious injury of the business. A careful, systematic sifting of the accounts will help to correct the recurrence of such mistakes, and help to restore the equilibrium of conducting the business. Moreover, it will assist in definitely separating the undesirable or questionable customer from the profitable one; and if the system is carefully followed up it should aid in eventually eliminating the "dead beat" altogether.

In every community there are three classes of buyers—those able and willing to pay promptly; those willing to pay as soon as able, and those who are neither able nor willing to pay for anything they get. The customers of the first class named, it is needless to say, should be allowed every latitude and receive all encouragement possible in the store, and be granted favors, even if the granting of them at times may involve transactions in which there may be little immediate profit.

The customers of the second class should be more carefully studied than the first, and kept within their means. To encourage such customers to extravagance in buying is to incur the risk of sharing in their bankruptcy. Their accounts, also, should be kept closely collected. This may be done unobtrusively and without fear of giving offense, if the system is begun at the start. It all depends upon how the customer is trained.

The third class should be frozen out as soon as detected. Even if the amount at the time his character is discovered should be considerable, the "dead beat" should be cut off at once. He will never pay, even when a judgment has been secured against him, because his only assets are liabilities; and even if he had attachable assets he would know how to secure them against creditor and minion of the law. Indeed, to paraphrase the "plain language from Truthful James," "for ways that are dark and for tricks that are vain the ['dead beat'] is peculiar."

In the future let care be taken in opening new accounts that the reports of the standing of the customer desiring credit are based on reliable data. A number of mercantile agencies throughout the country have reduced commercial ratings to almost a science, and money spent in this direction is as well applied as it is in insuring the stock against fire, and is precisely as legitimate an expense against the business, as it insures against loss of another kind.

Stock-taking, in conclusion, should show the bookseller his strong and weak points in selling as clearly as it may be made to show him these points in buying. If it fails to do either he should call in an expert to show him how it can be done, or shut up his shop ere the sheriff closes it for him.

PUBLISHING DIFFICULTIES IN TURKEY.

ALL printing establishments in Turkey, according to a new law just passed, may have only one door, and that opening on to the street. Windows must be covered with close-meshed wire netting, so that no papers can be handed through. A statement must be made a year in advance of the amount of ink required, which will be supplied by the state. A specimen of everything printed is to be kept, and must be shown at any time to a police inspector on pain of a fine.

FOR ABOLISHING THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

MR. GEORGE P. BRETT follows up his interesting letters to the New York Evening Post on the "Duty on Books," from which we quoted fully in our last week's issue, with a plea for abolishing altogether that duty as unjustified from every point of view that he may take. As the matter is of particular interest to the trade, we give below extracts covering the salient points:

"If it be conceded that duty on books was needed in the early development of our country, either for purposes of revenue or to protect the printing and allied trades, or, more important still, for the purpose of fostering and encouraging the original work of our native authors, it must be clear that such a duty is no longer for any of these reasons either necessary or expedient.

"For the purposes of revenue, even if our Government faced a yearly deficit instead of a large yearly surplus, the duty on books is unnecessary in that the amount of duty collected is very small in comparison with the costs of collection, which latter, in all probability, if exact statistics were obtainable, would be found to exceed the amount of the duty collected.

"The imports of books into the United States, in value, were as follows:

$1,487,297	$1,601,303	$1,705,102	$1,605,422

*Eleven months.

"As these totals include the value of books imported from France, Germany, and other foreign countries, it is clear that the gross amount of duty collected must be very small. It is interesting, also, to note that the removal of the duty on foreign books (other than English) has not apparently resulted in any considerable increase in the value of these books imported, the figures for Germany standing as follows:

$229,947	$251,209	$258,284	$261,464

$85,534	$99,808	$126,624	$76,201

"When we turn to the matter of protection for the printing and allied trades, the duty is unnecessary, as these important trades can no longer be called 'infant industries' in any sense of this much-abused term, and in the production of the cheaper classes of books this country may, without doubt, I think, claim to lead all other English-speaking countries, both in the amount of material produced and in the cheapness of its costs of manufacture.

"If protection to these trades, moreover, were still needed, it is already provided, and in a much more effective form, by the provision of our International Copyright Act, which makes a copyright in this country depend upon the manufacture of the article copyrighted within the limits of the United States.

"It may be pointed out, also in this connection, that we already admit into this country without duty books printed in other languages than English, and if the duty were levied for purposes of protection, our printers of books in French, German, Spanish, and other languages are entitled to more rather than less protection than our printers of books in our own language.

"Personally I am inclined to look with disfavor, if we are to have a duty on books at all, to the provision of the law admitting books in foreign languages duty free, if for no other reason than because it tends to make books printed in French, German, and other foreign languages cheaper than corresponding books in English, and our large foreign population should be encouraged, before all else, to read our native literature and become, by its aid, a part and parcel of the great American people rather than to remain for a day longer than is necessary foreigners in our midst.

"When we turn to the more important reason for the existence of the duty, the only reason if there be one worthy of our serious attention—i.e., the necessity of fostering a native literature, a literature which shall echo the needs and voice the sentiments of our national life—it still appears that we may with entire safety abandon the duty on books, a duty which has been often and aptly termed 'a tax on knowledge.'

"Here again the workings of our International Copyright Act, an act of 'justice to foreign authors,' has had results of great importance to our own people. Our younger and less-known authors have, since the passage of the act, found a much more ready welcome and appreciation at the hands of American publishers, who are no longer able to appropriate and exploit the works of foreign authors without payment or cost, the American author being thereby relieved from the burdens of competition with the productions of unpaid foreign writers.

"Who reads an American book?—a question asked first in scorn and derision in the early dawn of our literature—is often in these days made the caption for articles referring to our preëminence in production of books among English-speaking peoples.

"Few persons, however, I think, really know to what an extent our American books have in recent years taken possession of the booksellers' counters, the librarians' shelves, and the bookbuyers' preferences, in Great Britain and other foreign markets. Here, again, I may quote with advantage the statistics published by our Government. The exports of books and other printed matter from the United States were in round numbers as follows:

$2,700,000	$3,200,000	$3,600,000	$4,000,000

or a growth of nearly 50 per cent. in the four years, as compared with a growth in imports from $1,500,000 in 1899 to $1,600,000 in 1902, or less than 7 per cent. It is interesting, also, to note that our exports of books to the United Kingdom increased nearly $250,000 in the same period, and that our exports of books to Great Britain now almost exactly equal in value the books imported from that country.

"This is, however, a matter which has again and again been referred to in the English literary papers, which evidence a disposition to stem the tide by giving the greater prominence, wherever it is possible to do so, to books by their own authors.

"The fact is, that the supremacy of America, which has long been manifest in economic matters—in matters of trade and finance—is also becoming plainly discernible in matters literary, and it is rightly so. Out of the peoples that overran the British Islands and made, when amalgamated, the great English nation, rose a great literature, from which we must always borrow—as Shakespeare borrowed from the literature of Italy—and for which we must ever be grateful." . . .

FREEING DEPARTMENT STORES IN GERMANY.

AN important decision was rendered last month by the Prussian Supreme Court in Berlin, which declared the anti-department store tax as illegal and inconsistent with the laws governing free competition. This law was enacted in 1877 for the purpose of helping out the small shopkeepers, and in response to the clamour against the department store. Berlin went further than most countries in fighting the department store question, but the Supreme Court now labels the law as illegal, and it is a question if the authorities will not be obliged to pay back all the taxes collected from department stores in accordance with the graded tax regulation, paid under this law, for the last four years.

Gradually, but nevertheless inevitably, traditions in Germany, especially among the Prussian Yankees, as the Berliner is called, are being overthrown—sometimes unobtrusively, sometimes forcibly. Ten years ago every business man in Berlin predicted the speedy failure of a tentative attempt made by a dealer in dry goods on the Friedrichstrasse to carry three or four side lines. Five years later a half dozen department stores on the Leipzigerstrasse controlled the bulk of the retail trade in that section of the city. To-day one of these firms, Tietz, through its branches in Antwerp, Munich, Rome and other large cities, controls a considerable portion of the retail trade on the Continent. It is little wonder, therefore, that laws discriminating against department stores were bound to be attacked, and that, when fairly brought to trial, they would prove unconstitutional under a monarchy as they have been so declared in a republic.

WILL KIPLING MAKE THE AMENDE HONORABLE?

THE New York Times, commenting editorially on the recent decision of United States Circuit Court against Mr. Kipling in his suit against G. P. Putnam's Sons, says: "There was a peculiar unpleasantness about this lawsuit against this particular publishing house, because it was the American publishing house which, in the person of its senior partner, Mr. George Haven Putnam, had labored longest and most earnestly for a real and substantial international copyright. Nobody had done more to procure the enactment of the very law that gave Mr. Kipling any standing in an American court and enabled him to use. The decision is gratifying in this account. Since Mr. Kipling has failed to induce any expert and impartial person to agree with him that he had a case, it is to be hoped that he will accept the unanimous voice of such persons that he has not, and make such amends to a firm of honorable publishers as the circumstances admit."

A NEW DEPARTURE FOR THE TOWN TOPICS PUBLISHING COMPANY.

THE TOWN TOPICS PUBLISHING COMPANY has organized a trade book publishing department of copyrighted books in cloth and paper editions and expects to have ready for the spring trade a number of cloth copyrighted books. They have about ready for delivery an illustrated copyrighted 25-cent line, carrying 36 titles, with frontispieces in color, and covers illustrated in five and six colors from original drawings, made by some of the best artists in America, such as Bayard Jones, Archie Gunn, E. M. Ashe, and others equally well known. As there are a very few 25 and 50 cent copyrighted paper lines offered the trade, these lines will no doubt appeal to booksellers as a specially good addition to their stocks, the profit to the trade being ten cents on the copy, or forty cents on the dollar.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

A MEETING of the American Publishers' Association was held at the rooms of the Aldine Association, on Wednesday, the 11th, in the afternoon, at which there was a full attendance.

A communication from the American Library Association, presented through Mr. W. T. Peoples, was read by the President, as follows:

WHEREAS, The system of net prices maintained by the American Publishers' Association has resulted in an unexpectedly large increase in the price of books to libraries; and

WHEREAS, That increase has worked great hardship upon libraries in limiting their purchases of current books, diminishing their power of meeting the demands of the public, and narrowing their influence and opportunities as educational institutions; and

WHEREAS, The interests of the library and the bookseller should be closely allied;

Resolved, That the American Library Association urges the American Publishers' Association to make such arrangement that libraries may secure an increased discount over the present allowance on net books, and may not be unduly restricted in dealing with booksellers.

It was moved that, owing to the opposition of the American Booksellers' Association, it is impossible for the American Publishers' Association to make any changes in its rulings regarding discounts to libraries. The motion was seconded and carried unanimously.

The question of juvenile publications was considered, and it was decided that after March 1 "such juveniles as may be described as board books, flat picture books or toy books" might be published on the same basis as fiction, which means that they may be sold at retail at a discount not greater than 28 per cent. This is a class of books, it will be noted, that is sold principally at department stores, often on the toy counter, and one in which regular booksellers have little interest. It may be said also that few, if any, of such books are issued by the publishers who formed the Association, and the modification is made principally for the newer members and is no backward step.

A plan for regulating the discount given by jobbers on protected books was presented, and after discussion it was ordered that the plan should be printed and sent to all the members, to be acted upon at another meeting on February 25.

At a meeting of the Board the following officers were elected: Charles Scribner, president; Frank H. Dodd, 1st vice-president; George H. Mifflin, 2d vice-president; Frank H. Scott, treasurer; and George P. Brett, secretary. The following were elected to serve as directors with the officers: Daniel Appleton, Craige Lippincott, W. F. Zimmerman, and G. B. M. Harvey.

David McKay was elected to annual membership in the Association.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE EIGHTH ANNUAL DINNER.

THE eighth annual dinner of The Booksellers' League was given on the evening of February 11, at the rooms of the Aldine Association. Notwithstanding the heavy rain during the early part of the evening about 125 members and their guests assembled about the board when the dinner bell was rung. There were representatives of the trade from neighboring cities, the West even being represented—by Mr. Bray, of A. C. McClurg & Co., of Chicago. The excellent dinner of seven courses was eaten leisurely, and the hour hand of the clock pointed close to nine o'clock when the president, John A. Holden, arose to introduce the speaking of the evening, and the members of the League settled themselves in comfortable positions to enjoy the second part of the programme.

Mr. Holden spoke briefly, as follows: "The Booksellers' League celebrates to-night the rounding out of its eighth year of existence. Eight years is an old age for an organization so essentially bohemian as ours. An ordinary club makes money, while we appear to lose it, and yet thrive. An ordinary club seeks to settle in a permanent home, but we cheerfully wander about and stay only as long as we are pleased. An ordinary club saves from its income for a building fund; our dues when paid are joyously spent. An ordinary club is generally in debt; we never have been in debt, and probably never shall be—because the dinner bell will not ring out if the treasury is empty.

"There are few associations like ours. After eight years of knocking about in halls, restaurants, hotels and club rooms, always progressing to a simple ideal, the Booksellers' League to-day has a larger and more steadfast membership than ever. The League stands for good fellowship, is content with a quiet place in which to eat a good dinner and to enjoy the rare intellectual treats so bountifully provided on every occasion. This happy combination has been enjoyed without high taxes, or much red tape, and that is why we are all loyal to the League and enthusiastic in its maintenance. The League has been the means of forming and fostering many friendships among its members; and it is for this, if for no other reason, that it ought to have a warm place in the heart of the booktrade, since it has afforded an opportunity for its members to become better acquainted one with the other.

"The Booksellers' League, I claim, is a sane club, run on simple lines, and serves a good purpose. Let us continue steadfast to the League now, next year and for many years to come."

The president next introduced the Plectra Mandolin Club, who favored the League with several pieces.

Professor John Dyneley Prince, of Columbia University, who has made extensive researches among the Northeastern American Indians, was the first speaker, and gave a most interesting talk on the Indians whose customs he had studied. He recited very effectively several passages from "Kulóskap, the Master," which he brought out last fall, in collaboration with Charles Godfrey Leland, closing his talk with an imitation of a "Song to the Wind" as rendered by a tribe of South American Indians. Professor Prince was heartily applauded and every one regretted that his talk could not have lasted longer.

Will Carleton, the author of "Farm Bal-lads," spoke to the subject of "Books Chained and Unchained," in which he dwelt rather on bonds of pride, ignorance, jealousy, poor workmanship, etc., that prevents the diffusion of knowledge, rather than the physical bonds that kept knowledge from the masses centuries ago. Mr. Carleton gave many of his early experiences as teacher and journalist, all of which kept his hearers in good humor for some time.

William J. Long was to have spoken about "Animals and Men," but was prevented from being present on account of illness.

Dr. Minot J. Savage struck a serious note in his talk on "Sins of Booksellers," in which, however, he touched impressively on some of the shortcomings of authors, as well as of the booktrade. Dr. Savage's remarks were lighted up by flashes of good-natured satire and humorous references to his own weaknesses as a book collector.

After the Plectra Mandolin Club had rendered some more music, Mr. Carleton, to round out the evening, kindly deferred to a very general request that he recite from some of his works, which he did to the entire satisfaction of the company.

At about half-past eleven, the rain having ceased and the moon lighting up the skies, the members broke up and made their way towards home.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HUBBARD T. SMITH, author of "Listen to My Tale of Woe," a favorite college song, and several other equally popular songs, died in Genoa, Italy, on the 10th inst. Mr. Smith was a native of Indiana, and was in the Government service since 1876.

LEO E. BERLINER, music publisher of New York, died suddenly in a Pullman car of the Pennsylvania railroad train that arrived at Trenton, N. J., on Sunday evening, February 8. Mr. Berliner was about thirty-eight years old and was as well known as a writer of popular songs as he was as a publisher and maker of gramophone and phonograph records.

EDNA LYALL, the English novelist, died on the 9th inst., at Eastbourne, Eng. Edna Lyall, whose real name was Ada Ellen Bayly, was born at Brighton about 1860. Her father and grandfather had both been barristers. She early made up her mind to write stories. Her first published novel, "Won by Waiting," appeared in 1879, when she was less than eighteen years old, and was intended for girls. It failed to attract attention, and it was not until 1882, when "Donovan" appeared, in the regulation three volume novel form, that the name which the author had formed by transposing her real ones, became at all known. In 1884 she published "We Two," which established her popularity with a certain circle of readers, which was maintained by her subsequent novels. The names of these are "In the Golden Days," "Their Happiest Christmas," "Knight Errant," "Autobiography of a Slander," "A Hardy Norseman," "Derrick Vaughan, Novelist," "To Right the Wrong," "Doreen, the Story of a Singer," "How the Children Raised the Wind," "Autobiography of a Truth," "Wayfaring Men," "Hope the Hermit," "In Spite of All," and "The Hinderers," the last issued last year.

SIR CHARLES GAVAN DUFFY, the former Irish leader, and man of letters, died February 9, at Nice. He was born at Monaghan, Ireland, April 12, 1816, and when twenty became sub-editor of The Dublin Morning Register. Later he founded the Dublin Nation. In 1852 he was elected a member of Parliament. In the House of Commons he helped to found the Independent Irish Party. In 1871 he became Prime Minister of Victoria, resigning the following year. Sir Charles held many important official places in subsequent years, including that of Speaker of the Victorian Legislative Assembly, and took an active part in encouraging art, literature and industrial enterprise in the new country. He returned to Europe in 1880 and took up literary work. He published in 1880 "Young Ireland: A Fragment of Irish History, 1840-'50," and later "Four Years of Irish History, 1845-'49." In 1892 he published "Conversations with Carlyle," which had a remarkable success. Other works from his pen were "The League of North and South," "Life of Thomas Davis" and "Bird's-eye View of Irish History." He also contributed to periodicals on colonial and Irish subjects. In 1898 he published his memoirs, in two volumes. For ten years he had lived in Nice.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

WE regret to hear that Charles Godfrey Leland is seriously ill and not expected to live.

EDEN PHILLPOTT's new novel, "The Transit of the Red Dragon," is to be completed this month.

MRS. CRAIGIE is at work upon a story of life in a modern provincial town, to be entitled "The Vineyard."

RIDER HAGGARD's new novel "The Pearl of Malden," a story of the fall of Jerusalem, will be ready in a few weeks.

ANDREW LANG intends to bring out a collected edition of his works. Mr. Lang is also contemplating a visit to the United States.

ARTHUR MORRISON is at work upon a story to be entitled "The Painters of Japan," for which he has collected much valuable information from Japanese sources.

WILLIAM LE QUEUX's new story, entitled "The Closed Book," turns upon a chapter of the secret history of Cesare Borgia, discovered in a sixteenth century manuscript.

"ANGUS McNEILL," whose nationality and identity have been questioned, is said to come of a hunting family and lives near Evesham, in Worcestershire. He is said to be a sportsman himself, and to have been for a number of years a resident of England.

A FEW days ago Ferdinand Brunetiere gave a dinner in Paris for Mrs. John Van Vorst, to introduce to her several people interested to meet the "Esther Kelly" of the "Woman Who Toils." Paris has been stirred by the article in the Revue des Deux Mondes on "L'ouvriere aux Etats Unis." This article was a resumé of certain parts of the "Woman Who Toils." It was reprinted at length in the French daily papers. Mrs. Van Vorst was correspondent for the New York Evening Post and for the Commercial Advertiser for years. A year ago she wrote, in conjunction with her sister-in-law, "Bagsby's Daughters."

LEOPOLD MABILLEAU, who has been retained as official lecturer of the Alliance Française Federation, sailed from Havre last Saturday. His selection has been endorsed by the various branches of the association, and during his stay in this country M. Mabileau is to be entertained by the majority of them, besides delivering above a hundred lectures under the auspices of our universities and other institutions. M. Mabileau will deliver the Hyde lectures at Cambridge, under the auspices of the Cercle Française de l'Université Harvard. The general subject of this always interesting course is to be "The Fundamental Notions in French Politics Since 1870." He will also lecture in New York, Dartmouth, Baltimore, Princeton, Philadelphia, Chicago, and a number of other cities West and South.

"SEVENTY lyrical poets in Germany," according to the New York Sun, "have organized a union and established a minimum wage of half a mark a line for all union-made poetry. Obviously, this remuneration is not excessive: for a sonnet it means seven marks ($1.75), for the quatrain—a form much affected by the publishers—two marks, or fifty cents. Just how these Meistersingers intend to treat lyrical scabs, by precisely what application of the boycott the publishers are to be brought to book, whether a member of the poets' union may or may not do military service, finally, whether any unjustifiable limitation of poetic production and restriction of the number of apprentices are contemplated, does not as yet appear. It may fairly be assumed that, unlike our plasterers, the German poets will discipline no publisher for 'rushing his men,' and one may imagine also that the hours of labor will still be left to individual caprice."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Edinburgh Review for January (Leonard Scott Publishing Co.) contains an essay on "The Novels of Mr. Henry James"; and an essay on Zola's "Les Trois Villes" ("Lourdes," "Rome" and "Paris") both of which are models of scholarly criticism.

THE April issue of New Shakespeareana will contain the complete Morgan-Platt debate, "Shakespeare and Bacon: Can They be Reconciled?" which was withdrawn from the press in 1901 to await developments of the Gallup Cipher struggle. Dr. Appleton Morgan, for Shakespeare, and Dr. Isaac Hull Platt, for the doubters, arrive at a sort of protocol or consensus, which perhaps will be accepted as the nearest to a settlement this old controversy will ever admit of.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS announces that the first number of Modern Philology, a quarterly journal devoted to research in the modern languages and literatures, will be published June 1 this year. Philology will be interpreted in its widest sense, and contributions will be welcomed upon subjects in literary history, linguistics, culture-history, folk-lore, and international relations in literature and language. The board of editors consists of Philip Schuyler Allen, managing editor; Frederic Ives Carpenter, English; Camillo von Klenze, German; and Thomas Atkinson Jenkins, Romance. The editors will have the counsel and active co-operation of an advisory board of distinguished scholars, namely Professors Kittredge, Bright, Thomas, von Jagemann, Warren, Matzke, Hempel, and Gummere.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

ALFRED POLLARD, in his paper on the "Bibliography of English Poetical mss.," read before the January meeting of the London Bibliographical Society, estimated the number of these mss., exclusive of single poems, at 2000, of which the British Museum has about 500, the Bodleian about 400, Cambridge about 300, and so on. He urged his Society to make a rough list of these mss. for the use of students, which had never been attempted, although many excellent catalogues of printed books had been compiled.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOK.—Burrows Brothers Co., Cleveland, O., Clearance catalogue for 1903. (No. 34, 1006

BUSINESS NOTES.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—E. L. Whitney, of Florence, and A. E. Grimwood, of this city, who for the past seven years has been connected with the Low book store on North Tejon, have purchased the business from Mr. Low, who will retire from active business for the present. Mr. Whitney comes to Colorado Springs highly recommended. Prior to coming to this State about two years ago he was in the same line of business in the East. Mr. Grimwood is a well-known young man and his business capabilities are measured only by the scope of his business field.

ELDORADO, KAN.—J. A. Wiedemann, bookseller, is selling out.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y.—Willis E. Diefendorf, bookseller, has been succeeded by his brother, Fenton G. Diefendorf, and Theodore S. Waters, the name of the new firm being Diefendorf & Waters. Willis E. Diefendorf embarked in the book and stationery business in Fort Plain nearly a quarter of a century ago, during which period he worked up a business that has few equals in the State outside of the larger cities.

HAVERHILL, MASS.—Henry E. Ayer has moved his stationery and periodical store to larger and better quarters at 45 Washington Street.

LONG BEACH, CAL.—C. E. LeRoy has bought A. C. Malone's book business.

MEDICINE LODGE, KAN.—Robert Mounsey, bookseller, has sold out.

NEW YORK CITY.—Cassell & Company have removed their New York offices to 43 and 45 East Nineteenth Street.

PADUCAH, KY.—E. B. Harbour has purchased all the school books contained in the stock of John T. Powell, bookseller, that was bought as a whole a short time ago by William O'Brien, of Madisonville, who is selling the stock out. Mr. Harbour is having the books removed to his establishment on North Third Street, where they are being placed in the book department, which already holds all the music formerly carried by the Powell house.

SELMA, ALA.—The Rowell-Sterne Book Company has been organized and will conduct a general business in books and stationery. Its authorized capital is $10,000. T. J. Rowell and Jerome Sterne are the managers.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—Arthur Malone has moved his Twentieth Century book store to the old Merrill residence.

SPRING VALLEY, MINN.—M. G. Van Loan has bought Frederick Correll's book business.

TEMPLE, TEX.—J. E. Harvey has succeeded Harvey & Lucas, booksellers.

UNION, N. J.—The Co-operative Book and Supply Company has been incorporated, with its principal office at 46 Bergenline Avenue. The object of the company is to manufacture books. Capital, $10,000. Incorporators: Fred Atthner, John Schmidt, Aug. Wetterer.

UNIONTOWN, ALA.—G. W. Long, bookseller, has succeeded G. W. Long & Co.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish shortly in book form the address on Phillips Brooks delivered on the tenth anniversary of his death, January 23, in Trinity Church, Boston, by Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts.

The order of arrest obtained by David Belasco for Mrs. Bertram Babcock ("Onoto Watanna") was vacated on the 6th inst. by Justice Leventritt, in the Supreme Court because the proof by affidavit that a sufficient cause of action existed was defective.

THOMAS WILLING BALCH, 1412 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, will publish shortly a monograph on "The Alaskan Frontier," in which he gives, what he considers, some "absolutely conclusive evidence against Canada and England." Twenty-six maps, some reproduced from scarce specimens, will accompany the text.

JULIUS F. SACHSE, 4428 Pine Street, Philadelphia, announces another volume of his historical researches, entitled "Justus Falckner, Mystic and Scholar, Devout Pietist in Germany, Hermit on the Wissahickon, Missionary on the Hudson: a Bicentennial Memorial." An edition of 500 copies will be published by subscription.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "Personal Reminiscences of Prince Bismarck," by Sidney Whitman, who from 1891 to 1896 made frequent visits to Friedrichsruhe; "Silverwork and Jewelry," by H. Wilson, a textbook for students and workers in metal; and "A Whaleman's Wife," by F. T. Bullen, a novel dedicated to Theodore Roosevelt.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just published "The Truth and Error of Christian Science," by M. Carta Sturge, a Cambridge graduate, with a preface by Canon Scott Holland. Some of the conclusions are not altogether flattering to the cause of Christian Science, but they are of undoubted significance as the author has given the matter very serious study.

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK COMPANY announce in their Commonwealth Library, "The Wild Northland," by General Sir William Francis Butler; also, the "Life and Voyages of Americus Vesputius," by C. Edwards Lester, U. S. Consul to Genoa, 1845. They will add shortly to their Wittyman's Library a little volume of miscellaneous information, entitled "Curious Facts."

HENRY HOLT & Co. are sending Professor Kuno Francke's "History of German Literature" to press for the sixth time. One reason that may be found for the popularity of this work is the author's remarkable sympathy with and understanding of the great modern German dramatists, like Hauptmann and Sudermann, of some of whose works he gives unusually illuminating accounts.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have in preparation a volume of literary essays by Frank Norris. This will also be included in the Memorial edition of Norris's works, which Doubleday, Page and Co. contemplate publishing. They will issue in the spring a book of selections from the humorous lectures of Simeon Ford, edited by himself, under the title of "A Few Remarks."

LEONARDO DA VINCI's manuscripts have been scattered all over the world in public and private collections. The Italian Government has now decided to have all of them copied and to publish the complete works of Da Vinci for the first time. The books will present accumulated wisdom upon an amazing number of subjects, and the task of obtaining and editing them is a formidable one, but the Government will bear the expense.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish this month the long expected book on psychology, with special reference to solved and unsolved problems of mental or spiritual phenomena, by the late F. W. H. Myers. The work, which will be in two volumes, is entitled "Human Personality and Its Survival of Bodily Death." Hundreds of curious cases drawn from the archives of the Psychical Research Society and from other sources are discussed.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "The Mystery of Sleep," by John Bigelow, who argues that sleep is the period and the agency which ennobles man and makes him receptive for the flow of the divine spirit; "The Pride of Tellfair," by Elmore Elliott Peake, a story of Northern Illinois; and "The New Boy at Dale," by Charles Edward Rich, a story of a boy stolen from his home, who after many adventures comes to the Dale school and its healthy influences.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE DAVIS on the 7th inst. signed an order directing the Frederick A. Stokes Company to show cause why it should not be enjoined from publishing a calendar called the "Maude Adams Calendar," on which Miss Adams is portrayed in various scenes in the plays in which she has starred under Charles Frohman's management. Mr. Frohman says that he alone has the right to publish this calendar. He sells the calendars at a large profit for $1.50 apiece while the Stokes Company, he says, has reproduced them and sells them for 50 cents.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have just issued "The Church and the Ministry in the Early Centuries," by Thomas M. Lindsay. Principal of the Glasgow College of the United Free Church of Scotland, forming the eighteenth series of the Cunningham Lectures; "Biblical and Literary Essays," by the late A. B. Davidson, Professor of Hebrew, New College, Edinburgh, edited by his successor, Professor J. A. Patterson; and "Thirsting for the Springs," by J. H. Jowett, addresses originally published in The Examiner, which, yielding to many requests, are now put into book form just as first spoken.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish February 28 "Love Mary," "the new book about Mrs. Wiggs," the advance sale of which has been very large. In March they will bring out "When Patty Went to College," a novel dealing with the lighter phase of life at a girl's college, by Jean Webster, a new recruit to the ranks of story-writers the distinctive quality of whose work is spontaneity and humor. They are about to publish a new volume by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, who is said to be the oldest story teller now writing for the English reading public. The volume will be entitled "A Comedy of Conscience."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready a good serviceable handbook on "A Woman's Hardy Garden," by Helena Rutherford Ely, giving information about hardy perennials, biennials, shrubs and bulbs. The author has realized from personal experience that a simple description of the best hardy plants, with directions for raising them, will be useful to many people who want gardens but who are tired of, or cannot afford, the expense of bedding out plants. She tells how and when to sow, plant and transplant, and the conditions best suited to each variety; also how a small garden can be prepared and planted with bulbs and perennials at small expense so that one may have flowers in blossom continually from mid-April until well into November.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. announce in the American Citizen Series, edited by Professor Albert Bushnell Hart, a new volume on the "Financial History of the United States," by Professor David Rich Dewey, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, with charts, bibliographies, etc.; also, the fifth edition of Dr. Carroll D. Wright's "Outline of Practical Sociology" revised to include the results of the twelfth United States census. They have just ready "The Ramparts of Jezreel," a romantic novel, by Arnold Davenport, founded on the biblical narrative of events leading to the accession of Jehu to the throne of Israel and to the death of Jezebel. Jehu, the Prophet Elisha and a supposed daughter of Elijah are leading characters, and the siege and capture of Jezreel is the climax of the story.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish in a few weeks a volume of verse entitled "The Gates of Silence and Interludes of Song," by Robert Loveman whose former books, "Poems," (1896,) and "A Book of Verses," (1900,) were published by the Lippincotts. The new volume consists of fifty double quatrains of a reflective nature interspersed with lighter song. The Putnams have in press a timely work in two volumes on "The States of South America," by Thomas C. Dawson. The author, a Harvard graduate of the class of '87, is secretary to the legation in Brazil. The volumes, which will be made an addition to the Story of the Nations series, will consider the South American States severally, the first volume being devoted to Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil, and the second embracing the remainder of the South American States.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY publish this week "Two Heroes of Cathay," by Luella Miner. It is the story of two Chinese boys who came to the United States hoping to complete their education. Owing to an imperfection in their passport, they had very trying experiences in the hands of the immigration authorities. Their constancy and courage, in the face of disheartening and almost inhuman treatment, is well set forth. It is a narrative that shows how our exclusion laws sometimes work to our national disadvantage and dishonor. They have also just brought out "The Heart of John Wesley's Journal," an abridgment of Percy Livingstone Parker's classic journal, prepared for the celebration of the bi-centennial birthday of John Wesley, which is to be observed this year throughout the world; and "The Life of Joseph Parker," by the Rev. Dr. William Adamson.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will bring out in the near future a work of much interest to lovers of flowers, entitled "The Flower Garden," by Ida Bennett. It is essentially a practical book, written by a practical woman. Her aim is to tell everything that it is useful to know about the raising of flowers, and she begins at the very beginning with a chapter on the selection of seeds. Other chapters deal with "Soils," "Transplanting," "Fertilizers," "The Care of Household Plants," "Aquatics," etc.—every side of each subject being thoroughly and simply explained. The little volume is just the thing for the amateur gardener, and it will start him correctly on the way he should go. It is simple enough to be put into the hands of children who have gardens, but more experienced flower raisers will find the many original little tricks and schemes of the author profitable as well as interesting to read about. The book is adequately illustrated.

R. H. RUSSELL has just published a modern Rollo book, by John Kendrick Bangs, entitled "Emblemland," in which the author takes his protégé into a land peopled with the characters familiar to all Americans as emblems—the Republican elephant, the Democratic tiger, etc. C. R. Macauley, the cartoonist, contributes more than forty amusing illustrations. Mr. Russell has also just ready, "The Romance of Cinderella," an elaboration, by Miss Ella M. Boulton, of the old familiar story into a romance of poetic charm; "La Gioconda," Mme. Duse's text of D'Annunzio's play, translated by Arthur Symons; also, the text of James Jeffrey Roche's diverting romance of the Harem, "Her Majesty the King." Mr. Russell has in preparation a portfolio of "Twelve Portraits—second series," by William Nicholson; also, a large paper edition of "World Pictures," the superb book of travel by Mortimer Menpes and his daughter.

OSTERMOOR & COMPANY, 116 Elizabeth Street, New York, will publish February 16 a unique and delightful book called "The Witchery of Sleep," by Mr. Willard Moyer, who has been a student of sleep and its trappings for years. Besides running the gamut of the sentiment on the subject, its import and character, it contains much practical information regarding sleep, its mystery and phenomena, and treats at length of sleeplessness, its cause and effect. In addition to these features, the work contains a careful selection of the best poetry, together with many interesting sleep facts and fancies. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the book is the chapter on "Sleeping Places," and a wealth of illustrations showing the evolution of the bed. These illustrations consist of specially engraved half-tones in two colors, reproducing historic beds and interiors since the days of King Solomon. As many of these illustrations have not heretofore been published, the interest attached to them can be imagined.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready a Christian Science novel, "The Life Within," by an anonymous writer, which will no doubt interest believers quite as much as the general public, because of its dramatic value and vivid pictures of the wonders of the new faith. They will publish on the 20th inst. two novels: "Cliveden," Kenyon West's historical romance of Chew House, Germantown, in the Revolutionary days, and Frederick W. Eldridge's satiric novel of society life, "A Social Cockatrice," an arraignment of fashion and folly in plutocratic circles, with a heroine whose striking personality and brilliant, though heartless, adventures in climbing into the most exclusive circles, make good reading. They will bring out on February 25 Charles Warren Stoddard's book of essays, entitled "Exits and Entrances," containing a dozen and a half memories and sketches by the famous author of the "South Sea Idyls." They will bring out at the same time Richard Burton's latest volume of verse, "Message and Melody," representing his maturist work.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co. will publish on March 1st an epoch-making work in archaeology, entitled "Explorations in Bible Lands During the Nineteenth Century," edited by Professor H. V. Hilprecht, scientific director of the Babylonian Expedition of the University of Pennsylvania, and author of the leading article, "The Resurrection of Assyria and Babylonia," which takes up considerably over half of this important contribution on exploration work in Bible lands. Nearly ten years ago the publishers approached Professor Hilprecht with a request to prepare for the close of the century a brief historical sketch on the explorations in Bible lands. After much hesitation the professor consented to become responsible for the execution of their comprehensive plan, provided he were allowed to solicit the co-operation of other specialists for the subjects outside of his own investigations. His choice fell upon Licentiate Dr. J. Benziger, of the University of Berlin, for "Palestine;" on Prof. Dr. Georg Steindorff, of Leipzig, for "Egypt;" on Prof. Dr. Fritz Hommel, University of Munich, for "Arabia;" and on Prof. Dr. P. Jensen, University of Marburg, for "The Hittites." The recent munificent gift of $100,000 for the permanent endowment of Dr. Hilprecht's professorship has called new attention to him and his explorations. The publishers have made a very beautiful volume, including four specially prepared maps and nearly two hundred illustrations. The description of the great Temple Library at Nippur occupies 300 of the 900 pages of the book.

PICK-UPS.

AUTHORSHIP.—"Could you write as good a book as this Sizzers who has leaped into fame?" "I could write a better book," answered the self-trustful author, "but I couldn't write one that would sell as well."—Washington Star.

A WILD GUESS.—Little Clarence (who reads and ponders)—Pa, who was Pepys? Mr. Callipers—I don't know, my son—in fact, I do not know anybody who does know; but I fancy he was the man who first invented dyspepsia.—Judge.

THE impression is certainly bound to grow that there exists some wag in the remote regions of the undefined West who amuses himself by sending in unconscionable orders to staid publishers in the East. The latest instance is the receipt by Harper & Bros. of an order for "Napoleon, the Last Faze of Rosenberg," and "Heroine of Affection," by Howls.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five non-parallel lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a non-parallel line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a non-parallel line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

FOR LATE FEBRUARY PUBLICATION

Maxim Gorky

By E. J. Dillon. The story of the great Russian tramp-author's rise from the depths. A biography powerful because of its subject, and because of the way it is presented. It reads like a romance. The author is an authority on all matters relating to Russian character and customs. Net, $1.50

The Posy Ring

Edited by Kate Douglas Wiggin and Nora Archibald Smith. Poetry for little people—the very best of its kind selected from such authors as Stevenson, Eugene Field, and James Whitcomb Riley. The type is large and little children will find the book easy to read. Net, $1.25

The Squireen

By Shan F. Bullock. A strong novel of North Ireland life, dominated by a powerful character. It shows, in sharp and vivid scenes, the struggle of a man's best and worst impulses for the mastery of his conscience. $1.50

True Love

A comedy of the affections. By Edith Wyatt, author of "Every One His Own Way." A clever novel of modern life especially as it is lived in Chicago. Full of human people ruled by convincing human emotions. The author writes with ample appreciation of the humor in the life she depicts. $1.50

FOR EARLY MARCH PUBLICATION

The Rebellion of the Princess

By M. Imlay Taylor. A novel of adventure and intrigue in the Russian court. Each page leads irresistibly to the next, and the inevitable, or rushing quality of a "good story" is never lost for a moment. $1.50

The Blue Goose

By Frank L. Nason. A novel full-flavored with the stir, the excitement and the reckless gambling spirit that makes up the life of a Western mining camp. The story of the mine superintendent in his fight against his vicious employees, and his fight for his love, has the true ring of romance. $1.50

The Voice in the Desert

By Pauline Bradford Mackie (Hopkins). A novel of Arizona and the Desert. The subtle power of the Desert to work changes in character is the leading theme of the story. Because of this strange influence the hero, Liepenard, and his wife drift apart. It is a study of temperaments done with exceptional insight into human emotion and human nature. $1.50

The Better Way

By Charles Wagner. A companion volume to "The Simple Life." A book for the hurried and worried people of to-day. It contains thoughts of comfort and hope, of encouragement and counsel, expressed so broadly, so simply, so convincingly, and with such love of nature and humankind that they cannot fail to deliver their message. Net, $1.00

The Flower Garden

By Ida M. Bennett. A practical book on gardening by a practical woman. Its aim is to lay the basis of a complete garden education. Net, $2.00

JOURNEYS END

By

Justus Miles Forman

MOLLY

The English girl to whom young Calthrop was half engaged when he was an English gentleman of leisure, cousin to an Earl and a Duke, and heir to a vague "deal of money" (which presently turned out to be only a hundred pounds a year more than enough to pay his father's debts—sending him across the sea to America to seek his fortune by his own exertions.)

MISS EVELYN BERKELEY.

The charming and talented young American actress who helped to make young Calthrop famous by making a success of his play. The interesting problem presented by Mr. Forman in "Journeys End" is: Which girl would young Calthrop finally turn to, knowing that both cared for him, when he suddenly found himself both a celebrity and Duke of Oxbridge? That is to say—which goes the deeper: a man's inheritance and traditions, or the success he makes for himself?

A delightful romance of to-day, raising the question of human nature as to whether the real man is the man as he is born or as he makes himself. Not since "The Lady or the Tiger" has a tale been published so provocative of speculation and conjecture.

Charmingly illustrated $1.50

Making Clothing in Chicago
What It All Means

By MRS. JOHN VAN VORST

A Maker of Shoes at Lynn
The Southern Cotton Mills
Child Labor in the South

By MARIE VAN VORST

THIS remarkable volume contains the experiences of two ladies who set out to discover by actual experience the conditions of American working girls. In a Pittsburg pickle factory, in a mill town of New York, among the clothing makers of Chicago, the Lynn makers of shoes, the hands of the Southern cotton mills—the facts about the working women are given. The plain truth is set down without sensationalism; and the conclusions which follow inevitably from reading this record are far-reaching indeed.

THE LIFE OF JAMES MADISON

By GAILLARD HUNT

Throughout this narrative of one of our nation's builders the reader is kept informed of the important events and larger tendencies, so that he sees the man in his true relation to his time, and understands the time better for the personal insight gained.

Price, Net, $2.50

PRINCIPLES OF HOME DECORATION

By CANDACE WHEELER

Undoubtedly a helpful book to decorators, whose opportunities of study of decoration as an art, color as a science, and with reference to light and situation, have been necessarily limited, but its chief field will be among the thousands of home-seekers whose range of experiment has not been wide enough to warrant successful practice.

Price, Net, $1.80.

HAND IN HAND

A volume of verse by a mother and her daughter. A book of rare delicacy and charm, which will be of interest to all lovers of home life gracefully interpreted in literature.

Price, Net, $1.20.

Putnam Place By GRACE LATHROP COLLIN

The story of a small town. "Putnam Place" is a neighborhood where the dwellers are intimately acquainted and live in a rather exclusive circle. Everybody knows every one else, and the small happenings of the town become significant in the writer's skilful hands. The author shows that she knows well the new section which she has exploited.

The Substitute By WILL N. HARBEN Author of "Abner Daniel"

A story of Northern Georgia— of a man who loves a woman far above him socially. He finally wins her by his own character and ability. George Buckley's father having been convicted and imprisoned for theft, the boy is adopted by a well-to-do merchant and sent to college. George is heartbroken at his father's disgrace and abandons himself to drink. His reclamation is brought about, and he falls in love with Lydia Cranston, whom Governor Telfair wishes to marry. The denouement which follows is strongly told. There are many interesting minor characters: Mrs. Hillyer who calls a spade a spade, and Bascom Truitt, an ex-Confederate soldier and stanch friend to Buckley. Although Mr. Harben attained a great measure of success in "Westerfelt" and "Abner Daniel," in this new book he has done the best work of his career.

The Golden Rapids of High Life

A NOVEL

By Col. RICHARD HENRY SAVAGEAuthor of "My Official Wife," etc.*

NOTHING exceeds the glitter of our modern social whirl! The United States are rapidly reaching the Augustan age of Rome, where that which was "mud and brick" was replaced by "gold and marble!" The diplomatic and social life of America has its swirling rapids of Golden High Life in which the strong swimmer goes down, without a last bubbling cry. This intense novel portrays the theatre of the over-nervous social life of to-day, the heartless yet intelligent circle, which is a warning of some grave disaster yet to come! The thrilling epochs of the last four years are herein depicted by a master-hand. There are currents and counter currents in our national and municipal life which are not discerned save by those who are admitted to the inner circles.

The secrets of the last few years are frankly unveiled. We can see where the "Ship of State" has lumbered along past reefs, bars and rocks, any one of which would have caused a national disaster had the worst come to the worst. There is a lively human interest, a deep sincerity, and a prophetic patriotism in every page of this brilliant story, in which love and adventure, statecraft and pride, are mingled with a dexterous touch.

MILLIONAIRE HOUSEHOLDS

And Their Domestic Economy

With Hints Upon Fine Living

By MARY ELIZABETH CARTER

Cover Design by MARGARET ARMSTRONG

12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.40 net; postage, 14c. additional

More or less personality belongs to this book. It describes how the "butcher, the baker, and the candlestick-maker" receive their orders from famous families in the millionaire class; how parlors and bedrooms are taken care of; how preparations are made for balls, receptions, etc.; and how, in general, the domestic affairs, as regards the direction of servants, are administered. The author was for some time superintending housekeeper of one of the largest establishments in New York city. This book is decidedly interesting, and will appeal to women who preside over far less pretentious homes. What she has to say might be applied to houses with only one or two servants, where great show must be made on limited resources.

UNOFFICIAL

By the Hon. Mrs. WALTER FORBES

Author of "Blight," "A Gentleman," "Dumb," etc.

(No. 318, Town and Country Library) 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50c.

Justin McCarthy, writing from London to The New York Independent, says: "Among the works of fiction lately published, one novel stands out prominently for its originality and its striking situations. It is called 'Unofficial, A Two-Days' Drama,' and is by the Hon. Mrs. Walter Forbes, who has already written several successful novels. The story compressed into this two days' drama is thrillingly told, and there is one scene in especial which is conducted with so vivid a dramatic effect that it seems to stand before me as something told by the company at the table. This scene alone would give life to the novel. If there were nothing else, and indeed there is much else which is well qualified to hold the attention of the reader."

by

JOSEPH CONRAD

Author of "Lord Jim."

These stories represent the high-water mark of the author's fiction, and have been the success of the London literary season. One critic goes so far as to say that the title story alone is sufficient to place Conrad in rank with the foremost writers of fiction in any language.

The Glasgow Evening News says: "Youth"—one of the very best short stories in the English language."

The Chameleon

By JAMES WEBER LINN

Author of "The Second Generation."

This novel deals with a type of character common in modern life; the victim of introspection, whose sole concern in his actions or his motives is the effect they will produce on others. The struggle of his sense of sincerity against his in-born instinct to pose makes the story. The scene is laid in a new Western college town, and the side views of educational philanthropy as practiced by Western commercial barons are highly amusing.

True Love

A Comedy of the Affections

By EDITH WYATT

Author of "Everyone His Own Way."

A keen satire upon modern life, especially as it is lived to-day in Chicago. The qualities which W. D. Howells praised so highly in the author's short stories are even more notably present in this more important work.

A Truthful Star has Risen in the Literary Firmament

Albert E. Hunt, in the Philadelphia North American.

YOUR average novel-reader of these days has no inclination toward the story that does not "end happily." The argument is that our hurried modern life has enough of stress and vicissitude and that the chief aim and purpose of fiction should be to take us out of it.

Fortunately, these malcontents seem to forget that literature, to be worth the name, must be a transcript of life, and that life, in too many instances, does not "end happily." They are willing to accept a quantity of strife and struggle, but the last chapter, by all means, must reward the virtuous and destroy the wicked.

Indeed, so insistent has this demand become that only the ablest makers of books are daring enough to close their pages with a sigh or a tear. Men of the class of Thomas Hardy may do so, but, alas, his class is confined to himself.

A Surprising Production

It is surprising, therefore, to come upon a novel written by a person whose name is utterly unfamiliar, yet who has the temerity to follow her own theories and convictions as to "happy endings." The title of the book is, "What Manner of Man," the author is Edna Kenton and the publishers are the Bobbs-Merrill Company, of Indianapolis.

In its theme, "What Manner of Man" is distinctly unpleasant but the power of the book, in its thought and treatment, is undeniable. It is a study of two characters, a man and a woman, and the exposition and development are done with such penetration and skill that one can scarcely believe the work to be that of a beginner.

Kirk Thayer is an artist. His art is his all and he sacrifices everything to it. Says one of the other characters to him: "Sometimes I think you could do what those fearful artists of the Middle Ages did—crucify a man and paint him while he was dying, so that all the death strain of the muscles might be absolutely flawless."

Thayer is looking for a model for what he feels will be his greatest picture. He finds her during a visit to a little island, lying dreary and almost inaccessible, off the north coast of Scotland. She is a superb creature named Clodah Rohan, daughter of a sturdy stock, but primitive and natural.

Love at First Sight

At first sight she loves Thayer, though she has never before known even an intimation of the feeling.

Thayer is determined to have her at any cost, and he goes so far as to marry her solely that she may become the model for his great picture. There the story really begins. The simple-minded girl's heart is broken to serve his art.

Repentance comes to him, but it is too late. Indeed, the reader feels that were it all to be acted over again this man would do no differently.

In the hurried limitations of a brief review, it is hard to convey a sense of the strength of this remarkable first book. No doubt, the same story is enacted among us every day, but the pity of it is none the less for that.

If she maintains the high plane of this book in her future productions, the name of Edna Kenton will have to be reckoned with in our literary considerations hereafter.

—Philadelphia North American.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY will publish on the 28th inst. "Under the Rose," by Fred-eric S. Isham, with illustrations by Christy.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "Six Trees," a new collection of stories by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, in all of which the trees are potent factors in the tragedies or comedies of the lives the author writes about; also, "In the Garden of Charity," a new story by Basil King, author of "Let No Man Put Asunder."

D. APPLETON & Co. will bring out shortly "Unofficial, a Two-Days' Drama," by the Hon. Mrs. Walter R. D. Forbes, author of "Blight," etc., of which Justin McCarthy has said: "Among the works of fiction lately published [this] novel stands out distinctly in my memory because of its clever portraiture and its striking situations;" also, Millionaire Households and their Domestic Economy, with hints upon fine living," by Mary Elizabeth Carter, who describes how the "butcher, the baker and the candlestick-maker" receive their orders from the Astors, the Goulds and other famous families in the millionaire class, how parlors and bedrooms are taken care of, how preparations are made for balls, receptions, etc., and how, in general, the domestic affairs, as regards the direction of servants, are administered.

ARNOLD & COMPANY, 420 Sansom Street, Philadelphia, have just ready Mrs. Rorer's "New Cook Book." This book has no connection with Mrs. Rorer's other cook book of which 100,000 copies have been sold, nor is it in any sense a new edition of an old book. It is entirely dissimilar, and constructed along different lines, so that her two books do not in any way conflict with each other—but rather supplement or complement each other. One who has used her former book will also want this. It is not a mere recipe book but a work on domestic science, telling the things one needs to know about cooking, living, health and the easiest and best ways of house-keeping. It covers all the departments of cookery, giving an abundance of new recipes in each. The illustrations are valuable in their practical application. There's a full set on the proper method of carving meats, poultry, game, etc., and a set of tables showing the correct way to lay a course dinner.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY's first publication day this spring will be February 25. On that date they will bring out a number of interesting books, most of them fiction. The most important in the list are "Lees and Leaven," a clever novel of the cosmopolitan and panoramic life of New York, by Edward W. Townsend, author of "Chimmie Fadden;" "The Chameleon," a story of a man's experiments with his emotions and the unhappiness they bring, by James Weber Linn, author of "The Second Generation;" "The Squireen," a strong novel of temperament, the scene of which is laid in North Ireland, by Shan F. Bullock, author of "Irish Pastorals;" and "True Love," a cleverly written, satirical and humorous novel of life of today in Chicago. Two books on their list bear the stamp of a London success—"Youth," by Joseph Conrad, author of "Lord Jim;" and "Anna of the Five Towns," by Arnold Bennett, author of "The Great Babylon Hotel." "Youth" contains three stories of adventure on sea and land, and critics have said that to have written "Youth," places Conrad in rank with the best short story writers of any language. "Anna of the Five Towns" tells the story of a sincere girl's life and her pathetic struggle for the right to be happy, amid the cant and hypocrisy of a non-conformist community in Staffordshire, England.

This volume may be considered to some extent as a sequel to the earlier volume on Julius Caesar in this series which was written by W. Warde Fowler. It also inevitably overlaps to a certain degree the volume on Cicero by J. L. Strachan-Davidson. Mr. Firth has aimed to give a clear account of what Augustus achieved in the establishment of the Roman Empire, and at the same time to reveal the man, in so far as he reveals himself by his actions.

a consideration of its fundamental principles and of its relations to the states and territories. N. Y., Putnam, 1903. [F.] c. 5+410 p. O. cl., **$2 net.

It is the purpose of this book and of its companion volume (by the same author), "Political parties and party problems in the United States," to attempt an addition to the works designed for the encouragement of the study of American politics. This volume has to do with the original principles of the republic as announced by the fathers in the struggle for independence, and with the principal institutions and organs of government created by the constitution. In preparing his work the author acknowledges himself largely indebted to Bryce's "American commonwealth." He is professor of American history and politics, Indiana University.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYFOLDT.

FEBRUARY 21, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

TO PREVENT FROSTED WINDOWS.

HOWEVER poetic one might grow at the sight of frost—on the pumpkin, for instance, or on the chestnut burr—no storekeeper, that is, no particular storekeeper, at any rate, hails the appearance of frost on his store windows at this season of the year, with any other poetic outburst than that of the Kiplingesque "cuss word and the damn."

How to prevent frost forming on store windows has been the study of storekeepers and window dressers for years, and many theories have been spun out on the subject, all of them more or less satisfactory to the one who evolved the theory, but less so to the one who attempts to put into practice the theorist's ideas.

"Frosted" windows, as every one who has paid any attention to the subject might know, result from unequal temperatures on the outside and inside of the glass. The glass, cold from its contact with the outer air, condenses and eventually freezes the moisture of the warmer air within, forming the frost coating. So the secret of treating with the frost question is one of maintaining equable temperatures.

This is more easily said than done, however. It is safe to say that no system is wholly successful in the coldest weather. The best window trimmers differ on methods. Some insist that a system of ventilation between the outside and inside is the proper method of preventing frosting, while others advocate the air-tight window as the most successful.

The system of ventilation between the outside and inside has one serious drawback, namely, that it admits dirt and dust. As a rule it is better adapted to small windows, and to windows already constructed, than to larger windows. There are various ways of ventilating; but in general it consists of cutting a space or a number of small holes through the window frame at the bottom and top of the window that fronts on the street. Then the back of the window from the store proper is closed up. In this way a current of cold air is kept circulating inside the show window that keeps the interior at the same temperature that prevails in the street. The air holes need not be large, and should be covered with fine wire gauze to allow as little dust as possible to enter. As has been said, the difficulty of keeping out dirt is a serious drawback to this system, but it is in very general use.

Another method of ventilating is to run a tin or metal tube about an inch in diameter along the bottom of the pane. This is pierced with holes along the top and one end is extended downward and shaped like an inverted funnel. Under this a lamp or gas jet is kept burning, and out of the perforations the heat passes up along the window and prevents the formation of frost. There is danger, however, of cracking the glass by this method.

The air-tight method is in favor chiefly in stores with large windows or those of newer construction. The air-tight method requires a window built as carefully as a separate room. In fact, in the large stores each window really is a small room. It is sealed carefully, and the entrance is a small door, padded and sealed to prevent any circulation of air through it. The heating apparatus is removed as far as possible from the window to prevent the air inside becoming overheated. By this means some of the larger stores have been quite successful in preventing frosted windows.

For the storekeeper who has no back-ground to his show window no cure can be offered. His case is hopeless unless he goes without heat in his store, or stops breathing.

Much depends upon keeping the window glass in good condition. If the services of a professional window cleaner are not available, the storekeeper should remember that in cleaning windows in winter time water must be eschewed, as water is bound to steam the window. Dry, cold air is necessary to prevent freezing. Moisture and heat are causes of window freezing. Alcohol is the best liquid with which to wash windows in winter. A very weak solution cleanses the windows and will not add to the humidity of the air circulating near the window. Some recommend rubbing the windows two or three times a week with a cloth dipped in glycerine, polishing afterwards with tissue-paper or old newspapers.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS AND E. & J. B. YOUNG & CO. AMALGAMATE.

AN important amalgamation has recently been arranged, by which two of the largest and oldest Bible publishing concerns trading in America and Great Britain have been consolidated.

In the United States the businesses formerly carried on by Thomas Nelson & Sons and E. & J. B. Young & Co. have been absorbed by an American corporation, organized under New York State laws, and styled Thomas Nelson & Sons, which will combine all the publishing and manufacturing interests of the respective firms.

As early as 1848, Eyre & Spottiswoode (the Queen's Printers), realized the importance of the American market, and established a branch house in New York. This branch house, popularly known as "The London Bible Warehouse," was continued until 1868. It was among the early settlers of the book colony in Nassau Street, and, when the up-town movement began, it moved to 626 Broadway, and then to Cooper Union. In 1868 its ownership passed by purchase into American hands, having been bought by Pott & Amery, who in 1871 were succeeded by Pott, Young & Co. From 1881 until 1903 the business was owned and conducted by E. & J. B. Young & Co.

Thomas Nelson & Sons, of Edinburgh and London, established their American branch house in 1855, which has been continuously maintained, building up a name and reputation of the highest character that is now handed down to the new American corporation.

The American corporation of Thomas Nelson & Sons will be an important factor in the Bible business. It will produce American-made Bibles and Prayer Books, manufactured at its own manufacturing plant in New York, equipped with the most approved modern appliances. At the same time it will have all the advantages of close association with the great printing plants of Eyre & Spottiswoode in London and Thomas Nelson & Sons in Edinburgh. These great printing and publishing firms employ in the aggregate over 3000 men; their works are equipped with the most up-to-date machinery, and their imprint is a guarantee of excellence in manufacture.

The American corporation will thus be in a position to offer a comprehensive and attractive line of Bibles, and Testaments (both Authorized and Revised Versions,) Prayer Books, Hymnals and devotional books, their special publications being "The American Revised Bible," (copyrighted;) "The New Marginal Readings Bible of the Protestant Episcopal Church," (copyrighted;) "Nelson's Popular Teachers' Bibles;" "Nelson's Self-Pronouncing Bibles;" Nelson's "Royal" India Paper Bibles and Prayer Books; Eyre & Spottiswoode's "Universal Teachers' Bibles," and Eyre & Spottiswoode's "Variorum Bibles." Its line of Episcopal Prayer Books and Hymnals will embrace every liturgical requisite conforming to the authorized standard of 1892.

The present officers of the new corporation are: President, Samuel Barling, who has been identified with Thomas Nelson & Sons in New York for thirty-five years, and for Vice-Pres., Frederick E. Hafely, who has been connected with the London Bible Warehouse in New York for thirty-five years, and for sixteen years as a partner of the firm of E. & J. B. Young & Co.; Treasurer and Secretary, Mr. William Thomson.

The services of the travelling representatives of both houses will be retained by the new corporation, and all outstanding contracts of both houses will be assumed. All agencies for imported books will be continued as at present.

The new corporation is happily equipped with publications of established merit; its future management will maintain the prestige attached to the retiring houses, and it will be in a position to transact its business with strengthened efficiency.

Concurrently with the formation of the American corporation, the Bible businesses of Eyre & Spottiswoode and Thomas Nelson & Sons in Great Britain have been amalgamated in a limited company called The Eyre & Spottiswoode Bible House, Limited. The other departments of the British businesses of these firms will be continued independently as at present, but all their Bible interests will henceforth be transferred to the new company. New premises will shortly be opened by the company at No. 33 Paternoster Row, London which will contain elegant show rooms and writing rooms, in addition to ample office and warehouse accommodation.

Mr. George M. Brown, manager of the firm of Thomas Nelson & Sons, and Mr. W. Hughes Spottiswoode, son of the late William Spottiswoode, representing the firm of Eyre & Spottiswoode, are at present in this country, and assisted in perfecting and completing the amalgamation.

AGAINST ABOLISHING THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Mr. George P. Brett, president of a "company which imports nearly one-eighth of all the books imported into the United States" would have the duty on books wholly repealed. Of course he would; it being a tenet of the religious belief of the typical Briton, that our entire tariff system which keeps him out of our markets, here fosters monopoly, raises prices, and is generally destructive to our best interests, and should as an immoral thing be sine die abolished.

But in a circular letter accompanying his "A Plea for the Abolition of the Duty on Books" and asking co-operation in his little scheme

Mr. Brett, the representative of the "company which imports nearly one-eighth of all the books imported into the United States," says: "It should be born in mind that The Macmillan Company, of which I am president, has very little pecuniary interest in this matter, The Macmillan Company's business comprising for the most part the publication of books by American authors and the sale of such books in this country as well as their sale and exportation to foreign countries."

Further, the genesis of Mr. Brett's "Plea" seems to have been in a recent ruling of the customs officials of New York that 500 copies of a certain book which he imported, it was claimed were undervalued, caused such an advance in the valuation, with penalty, that the duty levied was nearly 90% instead of 25% on the actual price paid in England.

Here I might with propriety leave Mr. Brett; for on his own showing he is wholly out of court as a witness. His "Plea" will not stand the ordeal of the searchlight, for as importer of "nearly one-eighth of all the books imported," he has, in despite of his disclaimer, a deep interest in this subject and has also a special personal grievance, which would not have been, had there been free foreign trade in books.

But "The Duty on Books" stands upon firmer and on justifiable ground, irrespective of Mr. Brett's interests and his grievances. It is a part of that great national system of Protection, which from 1861 to 1865, in conjunction with the greenback, caused the edict to go forth that this nation "shall not perish from the earth." Without protection and the greenback the Battle of Gettysburg would never have been fought and the noble name of Meade would have been unknown in our history. Our banner, to the perpetual joy of "our kin beyond sea," would have gone down in dishonor and disgrace, months before July, 1863.

For now, forty-two years (1861-1903) we have in war and in peace lived under protection. During the years immediately following the war—1865-1893—through the efforts to reach the gold standard of payment, by contraction of the currency, both paper and silver, protection was subjected to one of the most trying financial ordeals in history, but to-day "the fact," even according to Mr. Brett, "is the supremacy of America which has long been manifest in economic matters—in matters of trade and finance—is also being plainly discernible in matters literary."

Not only is protection an enlightened policy which has vindicated itself as a policy to us, and to all mankind who are not judicially blind, but it is just. No man can in these United States raise wheat, corn, oats, or sheep, make iron, mine coal, raise cotton or make cotton or woolen fabrics, make paper or type, print or bind books or publish them without taxes entering into all these products and processes as a part of their cost. Therefore, the government that permits foreigners to enter the markets and the country created and maintained by these producers, without paying taxes, equal to those paid by its own, has abdicated all moral right to exist and should for pure wickedness or stupidity be abolished.

In 1885 Mr. William J. Harris, M.P. for one of the divisions of Devonshire, demonstrated by elaborate calculation, that the English farmer paid 15½% of his gross product in taxes; and yet his government has long permitted all sorts of barbarians, on the plea of cheap food, to enter untaxed into British markets in competition with these 15½% taxed subjects, and unmoved sees its own agriculture destroyed. God forbid that we should ever take one single economic lesson from such a people!

But Mr. Brett's own figures vindicate our entire policy of protection; for our own publishing industry could only have developed as it has but amid other highly developed industries. He shows that while in 1899 we imported books of the value of $1,489,297, we imported in 1901 no more than $1,705,102 and that while in 1899 we exported $2,700,000, in eleven months of 1902 we exported $4,000,000 and "that the supremacy of America which has long been manifest in economic matters—in matters of trade and finance—is also becoming plainly discernible in matters literary." Yes! and because we have done justice to all of our own producers. While taxes are levied on our own people so are they levied on "the company which imports nearly one-eighth of all the books imported into the United States," and on all other comers, whether they import books, iron, steel, calico, crockery or wheat.

The lesson taught by Mr. Brett, his facts and his figures, is to let the tariff on books and on all other commodities alone. These duties have justified their right to exist, even to "the tax on knowledge." In civilization nothing whatever having value can be had without taxation and the more civilized we become, the more does taxation enter into and be appreciated in our lives. But in these United States, "the taxation on knowledge," stands not in the way of more "knowledge" than the people seem to want. If there were not to-day, in New York City alone, tons upon tons of good books which do not find a compensating market, the last "Annual Summary Number" of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY and the offering of "net" subscription books at 30% off, payable in dribs—equal indeed to 50% off cash down—would demonstrate conclusively that we, at home, are making too many books.

Therefore, in the name of justice do I, for one, protest against letting the Englishman untaxed, into this already over supplied and American-taxed market, with his literary wares and products. Before March 3, 1861, we were long made "the swill tub of the world." Let it be impossible for this expression to be, after forty-two years, again applicable to us. Let us maintain unbroken, even by a single file, our industrial line of battle and this will form a necessary and a solid foundation for that Monroe doctrine which we have so recently and so proudly vindicated, and must ever stand to and vindicate against all comers, whether they be small or great, among the smallest or the greatest of the powers of the earth.

Yours very truly,

HENRY CAREY BAIRD.

PHILADELPHIA, February 16, 1903.

"MESSAGES AND PAPERS" AGAIN DENOUNCED.

A HEARING was given last week in the House of Representatives by the House Committee on Printing on the resolution introduced by Representative Henry C. Smith, of Michigan, for an investigation into the matter of the printing of "The Messages and Documents of the Presidents" by a private concern.

Mr. Smith explained that in November last the Secretary of the so-called Bureau of National Literature, that is now publishing the work, Mr. Lamson, wrote to A. B. Bragdon, Monroe, Mich., inclosing a certificate entitling him to "an option on one copy of the supplemental volume of the 'Messages and Papers of the Presidents.'" The letter added:

You will be pleased to know that this volume makes complete all the messages of the late President McKinley, including his last public utterance at Buffalo, which ranks as one of his ablest addresses. It also embraces the messages of President Roosevelt to date. . . . There was no appropriation made by Congress for the publishing of the supplemental volume, therefore, on account of many requests for the same, the work was taken up by the Bureau of National Literature and Art and a small pro rata charge made for each volume. Therefore, should you desire a copy, immediate action is necessary in order that your printing and binding order may be placed immediately. If you wish to secure this volume return application cards with amount, $3.40, before date of expiration of option.

A number of other instances were recited by Mr. Smith of persons receiving this circular letter of the Bureau of National Literature. It is regarded as singular that this bureau has been able to obtain the names and Post-Office addresses of the persons who were furnished the volumes under the direction of the Senators and Representatives in accordance with the law providing for the distribution of the work.

Mr. Smith made an argument in favor of the resolution and submitted a statement in which he declared that the matter contained in the book is not legally copyrighted. He urged that Congress should so declare. He said that the language of the federal statutes forbidding the copyrighting of government publications is strong enough to warrant interference by the proper authorities. He further said that the government should republish the papers for public distribution. No action was taken by the committee.

COMMUNICATIONS.

PLEASE HELP THE "SHUT-IN."

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: The other day I received a letter from a cultured gentlewoman of Mississippi, whose mother has been a "Shut-In" since this girl's birth in 1860, the mother never off her bed since that year. The daughter writes: "I would be pleased to have a book entitled 'The Princess of Glendale,' it is a story of Southern home life on a big plantation. It will help to brighten some sad moments." Any one having such and willing to mail to this lady of culture who so heroically endures so much privation to nurse the suffering mother, kindly communicate with

1100 Green St., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

A NEW MANAGER FOR THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

EDWIN H. LOVELESS has resigned his position as secretary-treasurer of the Stationers' Board of Trade to become manager of the American Publishers' Association. Mr. Loveless has been connected with the Stationers' Board of Trade since 1881, first as a clerk in the Information Department, and since 1898 as secretary and treasurer. To his aggressive enterprise much of the success of the Board is due, and these qualities also will be of immense service in his new position. Mr. Loveless will take charge of his new office on March 1.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

FRANCE proposes to commemorate the genius of Renan not only by a statue, but also by a "Golden Book." All the great writers and statesmen of the day are being asked to contribute testimonials to the book, and the response has been enthusiastically eulogistic.

RICHARD BAGOT is much disturbed because certain literary reviews have stated that the characters of his "Donna Diana" are modelled upon living persons, prominent in Roman society, and have in some instances named the alleged originals. Mr. Bagot denies absolutely that any of his pictures are portraits.

THE author of "The Youth of la Grande Mademoiselle," recently published in an authorized English version by G. P. Putnam's Sons, is Mme. Charles Vincens, who took her pseudonym of Arvède Barine, because she believed that a man's name attached to the title-page of historical biography bore more weight than a woman's.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ATLANTA, GA.—The Reliable Book Company, after having been in business a little over a week at 809 Austell Building, went into the hands of a receiver, who will sell out the business at the earliest possible moment.

BANGOR, ME.—O. Crosby Bean, who in the past six years has built up a large periodical and bookstore on Exchange Street, has removed to a better location on State Street, where he will carry a larger stock and a better class of goods.

BOSTON, MASS.—The Milton Bradley Company have opened an office at 120 Boylston Street, where they will keep a stock of their kindergarten material and school supplies.

BRUNSWICK, ME.—J. E. Davis has bought a book and stationery business and placed his son, Ernest Davis, in charge.

BUENA VISTA, COLO.—J. W. Hunt, bookseller, has been succeeded by John S. Halsey.

LONGMONT, COLO.—John Wold has bought the book business of Bovee & Son.

NEW YORK CITY.—R. G. Sherwood, with book stores at 144 Fulton Street and 9 Cortlandt Street, and branches in Providence, R.

I., and Washington, D. C., has just opened another store at 371 Broadway.

NORTH BEND, NEB.—D. M. Dodge has bought the book business of J. L. Hanks.

TACOMA, WASH.—William E. Theodore has sold his interest in the Central News Company.

YORK, NEB.—W. C. Flickinger, bookseller, has sold out to George A. Howe.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

P. F. COLLIER, of Collier's Weekly, will establish a branch of his publishing business in London.

J. RAY PECK, formerly with the Burrows Brothers Company has taken charge of the book department of Loeser in Brooklyn, N. Y.

WM. R. JENKINS has made arrangements to publish Miss K. N. Steele's "Simple Rules for Bridge." Beginning with the first of January they have made the retail price of the book 25 cents.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE PUBLISHING CORPORATION, Manchester, N. H., announce that they have just brought out the second edition of George Franklyn Willey's "Solitaire," a romance of the Willey slide in the White Mountains. The first edition was entirely exhausted a week after publication.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish in this country the complete library edition of Ruskin's works edited by Cook and Wedderburn. Every original illustration will be included in this edition, together with a number of unpublished plates already engraved. The edition will be complete in thirty volumes, the price of each of which will be seven dollars.

WILLIAM C. EDWARDS, who has been connected for upwards of ten years with Scrantom, Wetmore & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., has resigned his position there and joined the staff of Loring, Short & Harmon at Portland, Me. Publishers and others are requested to note the change and hereafter to send their book announcements, notices and catalogues to Mr. Edwards at Portland.

A. H. BULLEN, London, has in press a volume on the subject of copyright law by Henry A. Hinkson, of the Inner Temple. The work is intended to be a vade mecum, from an Englishman's point of view, for authors, editors, publishers, and others who are commercially or otherwise interested in the statutes relating to copyright. The volume will contain the latest decisions on the subject.

FREDERICK J. DRAKE & Co., 352 Dearborn Street, Chicago, have just brought out Frederick T. Hodgson's work, entitled "Common-Sense Handrailing." They will publish on March 15 the author's life work, a treatise on the "Practical Uses of the Steel Square," which will be in two volumes. Mr. Hodgson's work on "Modern Carpentry," published last September, has gone into the 30th thousand.

JOHN LANE announces a novel entitled "Cornet Strong of Ireton's Horse," an episode of the Ironsides, by Dora Greenwell McChesney, author of "Beatrix Infelix," etc., with eight full-page illustrations by Maurice Grieffenhagen. The author is well known as a contributor to the New York Evening Post. Her story opens in New England, in the early settling days, and the plot is cleverly veiled leaving the reader in doubt almost to the very end.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Ralph Waldo Emerson, which occurs on May 25, will publish a final edition of his works to be known as the Centenary edition. Considerable new matter will be added to the text of the Riverside edition, edited by J. Elliot Cabot, which forms the basis of the new edition. An introduction has been prepared for the Centenary edition by Edward Waldo Emerson who has also prepared the notes.

JAMES POTT & Co. have just published in The Bookman Biographies Series a monograph on Carlyle, by G. K. Chesterton and J. E. Hodder Williams, and one on Robert Louis Stevenson, by an anonymous writer. These volumes are brought out here by arrangement with Hodder & Stoughton the publishers of the London Bookman, and are very fully illustrated. They will publish shortly a volume on "The Gowrie Conspiracy," by Samuel Cowan, author of "Who Wrote the Casket Letters," etc.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY announce that the third and concluding volume of Chambers's "Cyclopædia of English Literature" is now in active preparation and that in the distinction of its contributors, and especially in the interest which it should have for this country by reason of the fact that it deals comprehensively and contemporaneously with American literature, it will be the most important of the three volumes of that unique work. Among the contributors are mentioned Mr. Swinburne and Mr. Watts Dunton.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have in preparation a work on "The Real Benedict Arnold," by Charles Burr Todd. While emphasizing Arnold's services to the Colonies, Mr. Todd does not condone Arnold's treason. He shows that it was the influence of the traitor's wife and his fear of losing her should her own treasonable correspondence with the British officers be discovered which induced Arnold to betray his country, and not the gross injustice of Congress nor the calumnies of paper generals—the motives generally ascribed.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish shortly a beginner's history of the United States, by Professor Edward Channing, of Harvard, entitled "First Lessons in United States History;" "Pure Sociology," a treatise on the origin and spontaneous development of society, by Lester F. Ward; Israel Zangwill's new book, "The Grey Wig," a collection of stories of life among the London Jews; a volume on "Heredity and Social Progress," by Professor Simon N. Patten, of the University of Pennsylvania; also, a new volume in the American Sportsman's Library, edited by Caspar Whitney, on "Waterfowl," by Leonard C. Sanford and T. S. Van Dyke, with illustrations by L. A. Fuertes, A. B. Frost and C. L. Bull.

BRENTANO's announce new editions of "The Confessions of a Young Man" and Hamilton's "Modern Scientific Whist." They have also issued a "What Shall We Eat To-day" card, which can be hung up in the kitchen. By suggesting dainty dishes for each day in the week, this card should make life bearable for both cook and mistress. They will publish on April 1st an unabridged translation of Senancour's "Obermann." It will be remembered that Senancour was the Frenchman who died with the famous saying, "Eternity, be thou my refuge!" on his lips, and as for the remarkable series of letters gathered under the title of "Obermann," since the first appearance of the book in the early years of the nineteenth century, its author has been almost as widely discussed as "Hamlet." Not inaptly, one critic refers to "Obermann" as a book of the sorrows and aspirations of the soul.

WITH the publication early this spring, by McClure, Phillips & Company, of a "Memorial Volume" on George Douglas Brown, the curtain will be rung down upon brief and poignant literary tragedy. The sum of the young author's contribution to the world of letters will be complete—sadly small as to quantity, but great in promise and quality. This new volume will give to the admirers of the ill-fated young author's "The House with the Green Shutters" an opportunity to know how great was the breadth of his literary craftsmanship. It will contain his more serious efforts, most of them never before published, among other things, essays on Hamlet, on Burns, on Meredith, short stories and verses. The volume has been edited by an old friend of Mr. Brown's, D. S. Meldrum, who has also furnished the memoir which prefaces it. There will be a frontispiece portrait from an etching by William Strong. Brown's "House with the Green Shutters" has just gone into its eleventh edition.

HERBERT S. STONE & Co., Chicago, have in press a book by a new writer, Richard P. Greaves, to be entitled "Brewster's Millions." The hero is a New York fellow of good parts who, to save an inheritance of ten millions, starts out to spend a fortune of one million in a year. An eccentric uncle, ignorant of the slightly earlier legacy, leaves him seven millions to be delivered at the expiration of the year on the condition that at that time he is penniless and has proved himself a capable business man. The problem that confronts Brewster is to spend his legacy without proving himself either reckless or dissipated. He has ideas about the disposition of the ten millions which are not those of the uncle when he tried to supply an alternative if the nephew failed him. His adventures in pursuit of poverty are not of the usual kind, and his disappointments are funny in quite a new way. They will also publish in the spring a new book by the author of "The Story of Mary MacLane." It is said to be quite different in character from the first one, and to be written with more reserve.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready F. T. Bullen's first actual novel, entitled "A Whaleman's Wife." The South Sea whaling fishery of New England is his theme, and new pictures of that industry are presented. A love story beginning in Vermont is the thread on which are hung many stirring incidents. A rustic Yankee from the Green Mountain State is an interesting central figure. They have also nearly ready "Appleton's Annual Cyclopædia for 1902," which will have among its special features articles on aerial navigation, submarine navigation, and wireless telegraphy, by Charles Coleman Stoddard, formerly connected with the U. S. Geological Survey; also, another volume in their Novelettes de Luxe Series, entitled "The Stirrup Cup," a story, by J. A. Tyson, of Aaron Burr before he became involved in the tumultuous course of his later career. They will bring out in the near future an American edition of "A Century of French Romance," which has been prepared under the superintendence of Edmund Gosse. It will include twenty representative French novels, only one volume being chosen from the works of a single author. The price of the series, which will be published by subscription, will range from $80 to $1000.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have in preparation a romance of the Danish Conquest of Britain, entitled "The Ward of King Canute," by Otilie A. Liljencrantz, author of "The Thrall of Leif the Lucky," with illustrations in color by the Kinneys; "Felicitas," by Felix Dahn, the second volume in the author's trio of historical romances based on the early struggles between Germany and Rome, translated by Mary J. Safford; "A Selection from the Best English Essays," with a historical and critical study of English prose style, by Sherwin Cody, which will be brought out uniform in style with his "Selection from the World's Greatest Short Stories;" "The Souls of Black Folk," an unusually earnest and able plea for the spiritual uplifting of the negro, by Professor William Burghhardt Du Bois of the University of Atlanta; "Reflections of a Lonely Man," by A. C. M., an entertaining and original little volume, in which humor and philosophy are judiciously mingled; "Cartoons by McCutcheon," including those made for the Chicago Record-Herald on the occasion of Prince Henry's visit, with an introduction by George Ade; "The Law of Mental Medicine," by Dr. Thomson J. Hudson, of whose former work, "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," nearly 60,000 copies have been sold; also, "An Index to Poetry and Recitations," edited by Edith Granger, who has indexed over 300 standard and popular collections comprising nearly 30,000 titles arranged alphabetically under title, author and first line.

THE BIBLIOPHILE SOCIETY, of Boston, has in hand for publication (for its members only) the original manuscript journal kept by Major André while serving on the staff of Major-General Grey in the American Revolution. This journal was recently discovered by Earl Grey, of Howick, Northumberland, in opening an old chest of books and papers inherited from his ancestor, General Grey. It had not seen the light for more than a hundred years. The diary opens in June, 1777, the British forces then being under General Sir William Howe, and ends at the close of 1778, with the forces under General Sir Henry Clinton. It follows closely the operations of the British army within that period, particularly that part of it in which Major-General Grey was actively engaged. There are forty-four maps of States and towns; plans and sketches of fortresses, military posts, battlefields and encampments. The manuscript is unpublished, not even extracts from it ever having been printed. It was recently purchased from Earl Grey at private sale by a wealthy American—a member of the Bibliophile Society—for a sum well up in the thousands of dollars. The forty-four maps are all to be reproduced in facsimile, and will appear with the entire text some time during the present year. The work will be prefaced with an introduction by Senator Lodge. The Bibliophile Society, it may be well to state, is a book club, and should not be confused with the "International Bibliophile Society" organized for the purpose of exploiting the sale of subscription books.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce an interesting book by H. E. Parkhurst, author of "How to Tell the Birds," etc., entitled "Trees, Shrubs and Vines of the North-Eastern United States." The book gives a general account and explicit botanical details of all the trees, shrubs, and vines of this large area. It is especially designed for those who have never studied botany, the plants being so classified that, with the assistance of a few pages of plant structure and without a microscope, the non-botanical reader can easily familiarize himself with all the tree, shrub, and vine life around him. It also contains descriptions, sufficient for identification, of our most important hardy foreign growth of the same sort, nearly all of which is found in that most notable specimen of extensive landscape gardening in the country, the New York Central Park. As a thread on which to string the account of that remarkable display, four short routes are indicated, each accompanied by a map, where one will find most of the arboreal species, the descriptions being no less useful for those beyond reach of the park. This is the first complete list of the park since that of 1875, which was a mere botanical catalogue. The volume will have upwards of 100 illustrations and several maps. They will publish next month a novel by Annie Flint, to be entitled "A Girl of Ideas." It is a story of the business career of a girl whose imagination is her only capital. The heroine at first tries to make a living as a writer, but failing in this she opens an office and sells her ideas to writers of established reputations. Her scheme meets with instant success and she becomes a distinguished author by proxy. All goes on swimmingly, until she makes a business mistake, seriously injuring the literary reputation of a well-known writer. Many apparently complex situations occur. How she extricates herself and her patron from the most embarrassing of all, when it has become unbearable to both, makes the climax of the book.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just issued a volume on "Augustus Cæsar and the Organization of the Empire of Rome," by John B. Firth, in the Heroes of the Nations series; also, a work on "The American Republic and its Government," an analysis of the government of the United States, with a consideration of its fundamental principles and of its relations to the States and Territories, by Professor James Albert Woodburn, of the Indiana University. They announce the second part of Professor Leo Wiener's "Anthology of Russian Literature," which will cover the subject from the close of the eighteenth century to the close of the nineteenth century, the first part having included Russian literature from the earliest times to the close of the eighteenth century; "In Piccadilly," a new novel by Mr. Swift, who tells a story out of the general run of fiction; "Sociology, the Science of Human Society," by Dr. J. H. W. Stuckenberg, which will be brought out in two volumes; "Political Parties and Party Problems in the United States," a sketch of American party history and of the development and operations of party machinery, together with a consideration of certain party problems in their relation to political morality, by Professor James Albert Woodburn, whose work on "The American Republic and its Government" has just been brought out; also, a new and revised edition of Stephen Paget's work on "Experiments on Animals," with an introduction by Lord Lister, which will form one of the Science Series volumes. They have also in preparation a new series to be brought out under the general title of Little French Masterpieces, under the general editorship of Alexander Jessup. The series will include the most noteworthy work of these French writers who have produced "little masterpieces." The first group will be six volumes devoted to fiction—including Mérimée, Flaubert, Gautier, Daudet, Maupassant and Balzac. Each author will be introduced by a writer best equipped for the task. For instance, Grace King will furnish the introduction to Mérimée's stories; Frank T. Marzials that to Flaubert's stories; Gautier's stories will be introduced by Walter Herries Pollock; Daudet's by William P. Trent; Maupassant's by Frédéric César de Sumichrast; and Balzac's by Ferdinand Brunetière. The translations for the first group will be made by George Burnham Ives. Each volume will contain a bibliography and a photogravure frontispiece.

HARPER & BROTHERS have in preparation the North American Review articles on "Christian Science," in which Mark Twain gives a humorous exposition of that cult, full of laughable quips and sallies of wit, based partly on fact and partly on exaggeration of facts; a collection of speeches delivered on various occasions by Emperor William, which will be entitled "The Kaiser's Speeches," translated by Wolf von Schierbrand, whose recent work on Germany commanded respectful attention here and abroad; a book on "How to Keep Household Accounts," a handbook of family finance, by Charles Waldo Haskins, late Dean and Professor of Auditing and of the History of Accountancy in the School of Commerce, Accounts, and Finance of New York University, who gives suggestions to housekeepers on how to save time, money, and worry, in a manner that is very clear and readily understood, requiring no previous knowledge of bookkeeping; also, "New Conceptions in Science," in various fields, by Carl Snyder, with illustrations. In the department of fiction they have a long list among which we note "The Redfields Succession," another Virginian story, by Henry B. Boone and Kenneth Brown, authors of "Eastover Court House"; "The Bishop," by Cyrus Townsend Brady, stories of a militant unmarried bishop, whose work among the rough-and-ready men of Western camps, forts and villages, results in his sharing in many incidents of frontier life; "The Love of Monsieur," a dashing romance of the 17th or 18th century, by George Gibbs, author of "In Search of Mademoiselle"; "The Substitute," a story of the South, by Will N. Harben, author of "Abner Daniel"; "Questionable Shapes," by William Dean Howells, a work of fiction in which the author makes incursions into the unknown; "Waldia," by Mary Holland Kinkaid, a story of a religious community in which love and marriage are tacitly discouraged; "The Triumphs of Life," by William Farquhar Payson, author of "John Vytal," the scene of which is laid in Washington Square, New York, and Bristol, R. I.; "Semper Idem," by Howard Pyle, who brings home to the reader a realization of how Christ would probably be received were he to come now; "Sinful Peck," by Morgan Robertson, a funny story of an unintentional sailing voyage to Singapore; also, Mrs. Ward's new story "Lady Rose's Daughter." Two new juveniles just ready are "Pearl Island," a story for boys of the Robinson Crusoe kind, by Andrew Caster, and "The New Boy at Dale," by Charles Edward Rich, both of which are illustrated by Florence Scovel Shinn. Harper & Brothers write us that they have not, as was announced in our issue for February 7, made arrangements to bring out here Austin Brereton's "Thirty Years at the Lyceum."

COOK BOOK

Large 12mo, 736 pages, abundantly illustrated

This New Cook Book of Mrs. Rorer's has no connection whatever with her other Cook Book. It is not a new edition of the old book. It is entirely dissimilar, and constructed along different lines. The two do not in any way conflict with each other.

It is far above the ordinary cook book, and bound to become popular. It will have a quick and steady sale. There is every reason to believe it will far surpass the remarkable sales of her former cook book.

BY

Grace Lathrop Collin.

Post 8vo, Ornamented Cloth, .

$1.50.

Putnam Place is a neighborhood where the dwellers are intimately acquainted and live in a rather exclusive circle. Everybody knows everything that happens to everybody else, and small happenings become significant in the skillful hands of this author. The quarrel between Mrs. Hooper and Miss Lattimer, for instance, though the only victim was a speckled hen, is nevertheless a momentous affair to the participants, and when it is over and they are reconciled the satisfaction is keenly shared by the reader. It is all in the way it is written.

A Novel of California Life

THE scenes and action are in the days of the anti-Chinese labor agitation. Paul Stryne, leader of the workingmen, and Ruspoli, an Italian prince, are rivals for the hand of Theodosia Peyton, the daughter of a millionaire. Swayed now by the courtly grace and subtle class sympathy of the prince, now by the masterful will and altruistic purpose of the socialist, the impressionable girl, in a mood which overpowers her for the time, betroths herself first to one and then to the other. There are many situations of dramatic power, from the love scenes to the street riots, and from the altruist's lofty orations to the jealous lover's duel with Prince Ruspoli. Social conditions are strongly contrasted, and the interest is intense throughout.

1900-1902

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1902, is now in preparation, and will include in one alphabet the short-title lists of the books of 1900, 1901 and 1902, giving information of the books recorded by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. This form of catalogue has been generally accepted as a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

"It belongs to a group of financial novels. . . . I think Frank Norris has outstripped them all."

"The novels he left are sufficient for his fame."

The Leopard's Spots

A powerful and absorbing novel of the white man in the South, pronounced the only offset to "Uncle Tom's Cabin" ever written. The best selling book for months in the South and West. Eastern readers will probably soon realize that here is the Southerner's view of the "negro problem," which is attracting so much attention, and then it will not take long to circulate the second hundred thousand. # THE SPOILSMEN

By ELLIOTT FLOWER

Author of "Policeman Flynn," etc.

$1.50

A story of municipal politics depicting conditions common to practically all large cities. The political methods employed, however, are in most instances taken from the actual experiences of men who have served the public in some capacity or other and the stories told of some of the characters are literally true. The love interest centers around a beautiful girl of high ideals who inspires a wealthy young man to enter the local campaign. She thus becomes involved in the thread of the story which relates to the troubles and complications which follow an effort to be both upright and successful in municipal politics.

A ROMANCE OF THE DANISH CONQUEST.

By Otilie A. Liljencrantz, author of "The Thrall of Leif the Lucky."

Few young writers have been so exceptionally successful as Miss Liljencrantz in obtaining the elusive quality called "atmosphere." It is the one absolute essential in a romantic novel, and it was the presence of this quality that made her first book, "The Thrall of Leif the Lucky," so successful. This new book is a romance of the Danish Conquest of England, with pictures by the artists who made the famous illustrations for "The Thrall." ($1.50.)

FELICITAS

By Felix Dahn, author of "A Captive of the Roman Eagles." Translated by Mary J. Safford.

The second volume in the great German author's trio of historical romances, based on the early struggles between Germany and Rome. The third volume is in preparation. ($1.50.)

A SELECTION FROM THE BEST ENGLISH ESSAYS

WITH AN HISTORICAL AND CRITICAL STUDY OF ENGLISH PROSE STYLE.

By Sherwin Cody.

Uniform with Mr. Cody's "A Selection from the World's Greatest Short Stories."

What Mr. Cody did so successfully for the short story in his earlier book he aims to do in this volume for the masterpieces of English style. "The Greatest Short Stories" has now been adopted by twelve large universities and over twenty smaller institutions. ($1.00 net.)

THE SOULS OF BLACK FOLK

By William Burghardt DuBois.

An extraordinarily vital and interesting book by an able advocate of his race's spiritual rights. Mr. DuBois is a graduate of Harvard University and a professor in the University of Atlanta, and himself a man of great culture, he has always contended for the spiritual uplifting of the negro as opposed to Mr. Booker Washington's practical and material theories. He is for right and justice to his people: Mr. Washington for policy and expediency. Altogether the book is a human document quite unlike anything that has appeared in years. ($1.20 net.)

REFLECTIONS OF A LONELY MAN

By "A. C. M."

A delightfully entertaining and original little volume, in which humor and philosophy are judiciously mingled, and distinguished by an unusual lightness of touch. ($1.00 net.)

CARTOONS BY McCUTCHEON

With an Introduction by George Ade.

When Prince Henry was covering this country, the Chicago Record-Herald followed his movements with a series of cartoons that would have made the artist famous had he not been so already. The originals now hang in the Prince's palace at Kiel, but their reproductions, and seventy-five or eighty others, political, humorous, and always delightful, will be found in this portfolio. ($1.25 net.)

THE LAW OF MENTAL MEDICINE

By Thomson J. Hudson, LL.D., author of "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," etc.

Nearly sixty thousand copies of Dr. Hudson's previous book have now been sold, and his new book, which deals in a bold and original way with a subject which is attracting universal attention, will prove an even greater success. ($1.20 net.)

AN INDEX TO POETRY AND RECITATIONS

BEING A PRACTICAL REFERENCE MANUAL FOR THE LIBRARIAN, TEACHER, BOOKSELLER, ELOCUTIONIST, ETC.

Edited by Edith Granger, A. B.

This will undoubtedly prove to be one of the most useful reference books ever published. Over 300 standard and popular collections have been indexed, comprising nearly thirty thousand titles, arranged alphabetically under three heads—titles, authors, and first lines. ($5.00 net.)

WHAT MANNER OF MAN

By EDNA KENTON

New York Commercial Advertiser:

"'What Manner of Man' is a daring story, written with an unconventionality and a sincerity that compel attention. It is a book that is sure to provoke discussion."

New York World:

"'What Manner of Man' is a study and a creation. It stands the test."

New York Telegram:

"A searching, critical, knowing story of one of the artistic craft that must be praised for its power and insight. The winsomeness of the little elf princess is beautiful—she is a creation."

"'What Manner of Man' will certainly stand out as one of the most notable novels of the year."—PHILADELPHIA PRESS.

New York Mail and Express:

"It is worthy of being taken seriously—it will need more condemnation than praise, but it makes a decided impression."

Philadelphia Record:

"It has a genuine value in its recognition and able discussion of a serious topic—a topic not often intelligently and clearly considered."

NOTES IN SEASON.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just brought out "Marty," a new novel of London life, by John Strange Winter, whose long list of books since "Bootle's Baby" was written have won her wide audience. They call attention to the fact that with the issue of the second volume—"Europe"—of Stanford's "Compendium of Geography and Travel," the price of each volume has been increased to $5.50 net.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish early in March a novel entitled "The Spoilsman," by Elliott Flower, author of "Policeman Flynn," etc. The story is one of municipal politics, depicting conditions common to practically all large cities. The political methods employed, however, are in most instances taken from the actual experiences of men who have served the public in some capacity or other, and the stories told of some of the characters are literally true. The love interest centers around a beautiful girl of high ideals who inspires a wealthy young man to enter the local campaign. She thus becomes involved in the thread of the story which relates to the troubles and complications which follow an effort to be both upright and successful in municipal politics. They announce the second edition of "The Philadelphians," by Katherine Bingham.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just issued the general introduction to the "Elizabethan Shakspeare" in advance brochure, and they promise "Macbeth," the first volume of the work, by the middle of March. They will also publish early in March "Veronica," by Martha W. Austin, which is said to be a love story from a woman's point of view about a Louisiana girl. Miss Austin herself is a New Orleans girl, now living in New York City, and "Veronica," though her first novel, was enthusiastically accepted by the publishers. They will publish shortly "How to Build and Furnish a Home," a book by William L. Price and W. M. Johnson, which is intended to be a suggestive study of home-making inside and out for those who are limited in expenditure. The building plans range in price from $1000 to $4500, and the many illustrations are full of ideas for those who are about to build.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have just added to their Famous Authors' Series a new edition of Charles R. Sherlock's popular novel, "Your Uncle Lew," which had such a tremendous success two years ago. The volume is attractively printed and bound and is offered to the trade at a special net price, which will enable the dealer to retail it for fifty cents. They will publish shortly Agnes and Egerton Castle's new story, "The Star Dreamer," which is described as the most romantic novel that has yet come from the pens of these authors; "Letters of an Actress," which cover the career of a successful actress of our time, who went on the stage as a child, but who chooses to remain incognito to the present; "The Fern Collector's Guide," by Willard Nelson Clute, which will enable the novice to learn without much difficulty the name of any species of fern, or to find all species in his locality; also, "The Book of Old China," by Mrs. N. Hudson Moore, well known through her contributions on the subject in Leslie's and in the Delineator. "The Magnetic North," promised to the many admirers of "The Open Question" for recent publication, has been postponed by the Stokes Company, as Miss Elizabeth Robins has been unable to complete the story as soon as she expected.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The success of Prof. Classen's work in the original together with the fact that the English edition published in 1878 is now out of date, seem to make a new English edition of this valuable work desirable. Prof. Classen's arrangement of the matter in the work—advancement from simple crystallizable salts, to alloys, minerals, ores, slags, metal waters, etc., of increasing difficulty—makes it admirably adapted to the needs of the beginning student. The work is no less suited to the practical chemist. A few additions have been made to the German text. Also an appendix added on the qualitative analysis of minerals, ores, slags, metals, alloys, etc., including the rare elements, by Norman F. Harriman, Assistant in Chemistry in the University of Michigan.

The volumes of "Cosmic philosophy" appear in this edition in an entirely new form, inasmuch as they are prefaced by a scholarly introduction written by Professor Josiah Royce of Harvard University. This introduction in quite extensive, covering 129 pages, and aims to set forth in some detail what was most characteristic about Fiske's method as a thinker and most notable and distinctive about his position as a student of philosophical problems. It further discusses what modification was made in Fiske's position as the result of his study in later years and how as a result of these changes the original form of matter of these volumes would seem to need revision.

The hero is a young Englishman, cousin of a Duke, who is left almost penniless by his father's death. He comes to New York to seek his fortune, and from clerking in a photograph establishment, becomes a successful dramatist. The crisis in his life seems to come all at once, when his cousin the Duke dies suddenly and he inherits an English dukedom. The question with him then is shall he go back to England and to his first love "Mollie," or remain in America and marry the young actress who has done so much for his play? The reader is left to guess his decision.

The heroine is the daughter of a Lancashire coal-miner; when first introduced she is a pupil-teacher under a hard mistress in the board school of a Lancashire mining school. She is naturally refined, her struggle with poverty and with the sordidness of her surroundings being full of pathos, and her love for the hero, an American mining engineer, full of charm. Mrs. Jackson grew up among the scenes she describes.

The outcome of ten years' experience in teaching large classes in the University of Wisconsin. The book's subject is modern currency, and it aims to analyze and explain the complex media of exchange of the great nations of the present day in such a way as to reveal the nature and workings of each element and the relations between them all. Besides money in the ordinary sense, therefore, it includes a discussion of banks in their relation to the currency, of the various forms of government notes, and of the machinery and methods of international exchange. Lists of references given at the end of each chapter.

- Smith, C. Sprague. Barbizon days: Millet-Corot-Rousseau-Barye. N. Y., A. Wessels Co., 1902. c. 232 p. il. O. cl., **$2 net.
The little hamlet of Barbizon on the edge of the Forest of Fontainebleau was the haunt or home of a group of French artists who gave rise to the name of the Barbizon school. The most notable of the group were the four artists that Prof. Sprague celebrates in this volume—Millet, Corot, Rousseau and Barye. He gathered the delightful facts and reminiscences that he has embodied in four sketches in a summer spent near Fontainebleau some ten years ago, and also made the photographs there which adorn the book. These charming lectures have been given from time to time to the public—but have only just now appeared in book form.

Contains the experiences of two ladies both trained writers, who set out to discover by actual experience the conditions of American working-girls. In a Pittsburgh pickle factory, in a mill town of New York, among the clothing makers of Chicago, the Lynn makers of shoes, the hands of the southern cotton mills—in these diverse surroundings the facts about the working-women are given from the standpoint of a more fortunate fellow woman. The conclusions are most interesting and without sensationalism.

- Zola, Emile. Truth [Vérité;] tr. by Earnest A. Vizetelly. N. Y., J. Lane, 1903. [F20.] c. 596 p. D. cl., †$1.50.
The third in the group of novels called "The four evangelists" of which "Le tor" and "Fruitfulness" were the first and second volumes. This is the last work from Zola's pen. The Dreyfus case figures in the present volume, or rather serves as the basis of one of the narratives unfolded in it. The work is really a powerful attack upon the Roman Catholic church, its teachings, influences, etc. It illustrates the keenly antagonistic condition of the Jesuitical and secular parties in modern France, instanced in the recent educational troubles.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

"THE Bibliography of Co-operative Cataloguing and the Printing of Catalogue Cards, with incidental reference to international bibliography and the universal catalogue, (1850-1902)," prepared by Torstein Jahr and Adam Julius Strohm, for the Report of the Librarian of Congress for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, has been reprinted in separate form. This bibliography is an elaborate piece of work, and useful in its record of the evolution and successive variations of the co-operative cataloguing scheme. The arrangement is chronological, the first entry being the report made in 1850 by the commissioners appointed to inquire into the constitution and government of the British Museum, in which suggestions for the use of separate stereotyped titles are considered. In all 366 titles are given, which are made further accessible by a very thorough index. (116 p. 8°, pap.)

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 28, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

A NEW TRAP WITH OLD BAIT.

We have at different times, during the past ten years, called attention to schemes of disposing of book treasures, in unlimited editions, among which those claimed to have been brought out by the Society of English Bibliophiles always figured conspicuously. Once it was the stock of a bankrupt bookbinder, or the patron of a bookbinder; then it was a "relict" who wished to dispose of a lot of books left by her late husband, a ubiquitous book collector, who, strange to say, seemed to have died in different parts of the United States possessed of dozens of sets of the works of the same author, brought out in sumptuous style by the English Bibliophiles. We might multiply such cases, but those cited are fair examples of the rest.

After having buried the collector who bought up all the editions published by this society, and bankrupted the bookbinders who bound in such a rich manner its magnificent literary output, we were not surprised to hear that the Society itself had been forced to the wall. At least so the unsuspecting were led to infer from the following letter sent out by the "receiver" of the Society of English Bibliophiles, at 116 Nassau Street, New York City:

DEAR SIR: After a career of fifty-six years, the Society of English Bibliophiles was forced to assign for the benefit of its creditors. This society is renowned in the publishing line in England; they operated their own paper mills, printing presses and binderies, with sales branches in almost every prominent part of the globe. The New York branch (as per inventory) contains thousands of dollars' worth of books—standard authors' fine de luxe editions.

I, as receiver of the above corporation, am compelled to offer the entire stock to individual book-buyers, for the reason that the holiday trade is now over—book dealers and auction rooms have no means to dispose of it and do not buy goods, when they have to carry the stock until next season's trade. In justice to the creditors, the stock must be closed out and money realized, even at a sacrifice.

The books are printed from de luxe plates on fine deckle-edge paper, with etchings and photo-etchings as illustrations. The bindings are exquisite three-quarters Persian morocco, hand bound and tooled.

If you knew what an exceptional opportunity this is to secure one or more of these fine de luxe sets, you would check off the authors interested on the inclosed card, return same to me, and I will send, without any cost or inconvenience to you, odd volumes or text pages, etchings, photo-etchings and water colors for your examination at your leisure, and if desired, you can have on the same terms as sold to book dealers (six or nine months) and at a figure that will surprise you. An immediate reply is therefore advisable before the list is broken up.

This letter was written on paper with the heading "Society of English Bibliophiles, 6-11 Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, London. Capital, £350,000." In one corner at the top of the sheet was "Printers, Publishers and Binders;" in the other, "Printers to Her Majesty, the Queen." The letter was accompanied by a card containing the names of about thirty-five standard authors, whose works the "Society" published.

A New York Sun reporter called at 116 Nassau Street to obtain information about the affairs of the embarrassed society, but the "receiver" refused to discuss them. In his search elsewhere after information concerning the Society the reporter was unable to find any one in booktrade circles who knew anything of it. One publisher, however, according to the Sun, had run on to the "receiver," or at least on to some of his work, a few days ago. A friend of his in Forty-ninth Street had bought 100 volumes of a limited edition of the classics at $3 a book. The binding, according to this informant, "was good, and the paper and printing also were first class, but I could see that the title-pages were of a different paper from the rest of the book and concluded that they had been inserted. These pages contained the announcement that the books were printed privately for the members of the 'Society of English Bibliophiles,' and that the edition was limited.

"It may be true that the edition was limited, but limited only in the sense that there were only a certain number of copies that had the doctored title-pages inserted. . . . I concluded that this receiver must have bought up a batch of what we call 'remainders' and edited and bound them 'bibliophilistically.'"

When these facts were presented to the party representing himself as the "receiver" by the Sun reporter, he is said to have "admitted that the 'Society of Bibliophiles' never existed; that he was a "receiver" only in the sense that he received books with this society's name in them; that the whole thing was an advertising scheme, and that he had bought up remnants from reputable publishing houses, bound them and put in the title-pages.

"But," said he, "I've a good, established business—everybody knows me—and I don't need any boost in the papers. All publishing houses put themselves before the public in this way. I would have told you all about the thing the first time you were here, only I wanted to see just how much you could find out."

Books lead men to crime by strange and by devious ways. The dime novel, we have been told again and again, leads our promising youth to commit piracy, murder and other horrible crimes, and helps to fill our reformatories and jails. Now comes the alarming news of the downfall of the confidential clerk of an important and well-known Philadelphia banking house, who defaulted in a large sum and then committed suicide. His employer explains the cause of the young man's "error" as follows: "Mr. Goodwin was a book lover. As nearly as we can trace, he first took money to procure for himself rare and expensive editions of books. Soon finding himself several thousand dollars behind, he tried speculation in cheap securities to try to recover himself." There you are; according to the extremists, the young man can't escape. If he evades the ten-cent "Red-handed Bandit" on the one hand, the "Bay Psalm Book" a "Gutenberg Bible" or some other high-priced bibliopolistic rarity will surely undo him. The young man in this matter as well as in others had better keep to the main-travelled road. That may be more commonplace than the others, but it will also be decidedly safer.

METHODIST BOOK CONCERN MAY GO WEST.

THE Book Committee of the Methodist Book Concern in New York last week received a report of a sub-committee on the consolidation of the publishing interests of the Eastern and Western branches of the Book Concern, but decided to make no recommendation at this time, since only the General Conference of 1904 can act.

As is well known the Methodist Episcopal Church North has two Book Concerns, one in New York and the other in Cincinnati. For years the New York concern was the more important and did a much larger business than the Western Concern; but during the four years from 1892 to 1896 the Cincinnati concern took the lead and has kept it, its business during the four years ending 1900 being $4,143,000 compared with the New York concern's showing of $3,714,000. The Cincinnati branch is the central office of the Western Methodist Book Concern, and has control over branches situated at Chicago and Kansas City. The total capitalization of the Western branch of the book concern is $1,600,000, and of this about $800,000 is used in Cincinnati.

The proposition now is to remove the manufacturing plants away from both New York and Cincinnati, to some small town in the Middle West, probably just outside Chicago.

It is proposed also to ask the churches themselves to support the supernumerary preachers, which the Book Concern now does, and stop asking the book agents to make a profit for this purpose. It is argued that the duty of the Book Concerns is to manufacture literature at as low a price as possible, and so secure the largest possible distribution of it, to the benefit of Christianity and of religion. The partial endowment of the ministers' fund may make the change possible.

It is not likely that immediate action will be taken. The change proposed is a very serious one and will be carefully considered by the Methodist Church North as a whole.

GERMAN PUBLISHERS REFUSE TO EXHIBIT AT ST. LOUIS.

THE Stuttgart Publishers' Society, at a special meeting held January 29, passed a resolution recommending that its members decline to exhibit their publications at the St. Louis Exposition. The reason assigned is that the manufacturing clause insisted upon by the United States Government in its copyright treaty with Germany is prohibitive to the reproduction of German books and lithographs in the United States, and therefore seriously injures the interests of the German publisher, author and artist. The publishers say that exhibiting at St. Louis would simply be "showing the Americans what is available for them to reprint."

The Stuttgart publishers have begun an agitation with the object of inducing the German Government to insist on a revision of the copyright treaty when the new commercial treaty with the United States is negotiated, and if they cannot be better protected, they demand the repeal of the copyright treaty.

THE CONSOLIDATED RETAIL BOOKSELLERS.

THE following is an official statement of the plans of the Consolidated Retail Booksellers, which held its annual convention this week at its offices, No. 30 East Twenty-first Street, New York:

The Consolidated Retail Booksellers is a mutual co-operative corporation, organized under the laws of the State of New Jersey. Its authorized capital stock is $1,000,000, of which $250,000 is preferred and $750,000 common.

The preferred stock is sold only at par and for cash. Of this $68,600 has already been firmly subscribed for by wholesale and retail booksellers; $100,000 has been subscribed for or underwritten by successful business men and capitalists of New York and vicinity, under an agreement by the terms of which the credit of each of these gentlemen is pledged to the amount of his subscription, the organization committee having reserved the right to sell a part of the stock so underwritten to such publishers and booksellers as may desire financially and actively to join as co-operative members.

At the expiration of the limited time the balance of unsold underwritten stock will be divided pro rata among the underwriters in proportion to the amount each has subscribed, and will be paid for in cash at its par value by the subscribing underwriters; $60,000 has been sold to outside subscribers at par value; $21,400 still remains in the treasury, (which amount will be offered in small blocks to retail book merchants,) making a total of $250,000, and thus disposing of the preferred stock.

The corporation has purchased and now publishes the Book-Lover, (with which the Home Magazine was merged,) and the Book and News-Dealer. . . .

The corporation is now beginning business as a general jobber and distributor of books through the medium of its 200 local distributing agents, (who are also stockholders,) and who are located in good distributing locations in as many prominent cities and towns.

There has been a desire on the part of retail booksellers in cities and towns remote from the centres of publication to have books delivered to them by publishers with carrying charges prepaid. It is felt by booksellers who are remote from New York City that such an arrangement would place their business on a par with that of booksellers located near the publishing houses.

A serious and insuperable objection to this proposition was the great expense that would be incurred in prepaying express charges to each of the numerous dealers located in various cities and towns. To meet this objection the Consolidated Retail Booksellers has established distributing agents in the most prominent cities and towns, to each of whom they will ship collectively the books ordered of each of the publishers; and they, the distributors, in turn, will wholesale to other local dealers at such quantity and jobbing discounts as may be established by the individual publishers for the purpose of regulating the sales.

By this means local dealers will be able to obtain from our distributing agents advance shipments of new copyrighted novels and pick-up orders of such standard works as dictionaries, encyclopædias, histories and other standard sets of books, for which all dealers have more or less demand; and they will be able to obtain the same from our local distributing agents, at practically the same price as they would have to pay therefor at the warehouses of the publishers, thus saving to each the great expense of shipping by mail or express at a long distance, which usually absorbs more than half of the sales profit after the books leave the hands of the publisher, and before they reach the retail bookseller. It is believed that by this means alone the Consolidated Retail Booksellers will work out a great economy, by which all members of the trade will be greatly benefited.

The small profit that will be made on each shipment by buying in large quantities collectively, (as is done by other jobbers and by the purchasing syndicates of the dry-goods stores throughout the country that handle books,) will in the aggregate, during the first year, be sufficient at least to meet all expenses at the home office, and to pay the seven per cent. cumulative dividend guaranteed on preferred stock.

It should be distinctly understood that this is not a close corporation in the sense of benefiting only a few stockholders; but instead it is intended to be constructed on the broad plan of the "greatest good of the greatest number," in the publishing and bookselling trade, and must eventually prove of great value to authors and bookbuyers by assuring better stability to the bookselling business.

Several publishers and many booksellers are already stockholders in the corporation; and other publishers and booksellers who desire to co-operate upon a reciprocal basis will be welcome to membership by becoming subscribers to the stock of the company, which is necessarily limited in amount, in order to insure all stockholding members that the business of the corporation will be conducted for the mutual interests of all concerned.

The breadth and scope of the future business of the Consolidated Retail Booksellers is practically unlimited, and can be extended to the stationery, leather goods, and all branches of business associated with the book-selling and stationery trade, as well as to the sole agency of typewriters, office supplies, etc., etc.

Careful, practical management is assured by the experienced officers and directors of the company, who are as follows: Chas. W. Burrows, Cleveland, O.; Hon. W. Millard Palmer, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Albert C. Walker, of Scranton, Wetmore & Co., Rochester, N. Y.; Clarence W. Sanders, of the St. Paul Book and Stationery Co., St. Paul, Minn.; Joseph H. THE CONSOLIDATED RETAIL BOOKSELLERS, per J. W. Nichols, President.

The officers of the Consolidated Retail Booksellers are J. W. Nichols, president; F. F. Hansell, vice-president; William Rickey, secretary; and George E. Green, treasurer. The Managing Directors for 1903 will be George E. Green, William Rickey and J. W. Nichols.

In notifying the trade of its control of the Book and News Dealer, the Consolidated Retail Booksellers make the following announcement:

"Beginning with the March issue, the Book and News Dealer, which is the official journal of the American Booksellers' Association, will be published by the Consolidated Retail Booksellers. The magazine was acquired by this corporation several months ago, but it has been published by Mr. Price and conducted in his own name until the corporation should be prepared to begin business.

"It is our purpose to introduce a new department in the magazine under the heading New and Forthcoming Books from the Publishers' Point of View; and we would be pleased to receive from you announcements of your new and forthcoming books. Anything for this department should be addressed to the editor.

"The individual members of this corporation especially desire to hear promptly from all publishers with reference to all new books that they are publishing at their own expense, as we wish to make a fair trial of the sale of such new books as are brought out by competent publishers, after the manuscript has been recommended by skilled readers and subsequently examined by the publisher, provided the publisher has manifested his confidence in the book; but we desire hereby to give notice in this circular letter to all publishers that we do not wish to notice in the Book and News Dealer any book that is published at the expense of the author. If a publisher hasn't sufficient confidence in the book to warrant the investment of his own money in it, the individual members of the Consolidated Retail Booksellers do not wish to be called upon to buy it nor to give it shelf room in their stores. We do not know that any member of the Publishers' Association issues what is known as 'authors' books;' but we take this occasion publicly to announce the policy of the Book and News Dealer, and we will further add that if it shall subsequently come to our attention that a publisher's note of an 'author's book' shall have been furnished to us and printed in this paper without our knowledge of its true character, the pages of this magazine will be closed to such publisher for a period of one year."

DAVID McKAY ABSORBS GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS.

DAVID McKAY, of Philadelphia, has purchased the entire American business of George Routledge & Sons, Ltd., including stock, sheets, plates and accounts. The business will be removed at once to Mr. McKay's Philadelphia quarters, at 1022 Market Street, and as early as possible new editions of some of the books will be issued. The prices will be revised and the stock will always be kept up.

David McKay has also secured the American market for the Handicraft Series, twenty-one volumes, and of the Technical Instruction Series, five volumes, published by Cassell & Co., and all now ready.

Mr. McKay, since he established himself in business, has absorbed the businesses of five publishing houses, all of them of considerable importance in their day, namely, E. Claxton & Co., Charles De Silver & Sons, H. C. Watts & Co., Edward Meeks, and now that of George Routledge & Sons. By the acquisition of the plates of these concerns Mr. McKay has been enabled to build up a list that is as strong in the direction of technical and text books as it is in the line of standard and miscellaneous literature.

CONVENTION OF NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS.

THE American Newspaper Publishers' Association held its seventeenth annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria, February 17-19. One hundred and thirteen newspapers were represented. The principal action of the convention was to raise the limit of membership of the Association from 200 to 400 shares raising its nominal capital to $2000. On the second day N. W. McKinney, of Philadelphia, read a paper on "The Relations of Newspapers to the Trusts," and the following officers were elected: President, Charles H. Taylor, jr., of The Boston Globe; vice-president, A. A. McCormick, Chicago Record-Herald; secretary, W. C. Bryant, Brooklyn Times; treasurer, Edward P. Call, New York Mail and Express; commissioner, Frederick Driscoll, Chicago. The executive committee was made up as follows: Charles W. Knapp, St. Louis Republic; W. L. McLean, Philadelphia Bulletin; S. P. Weston, Seattle Post-Intelligencer; F. E. Whiting, Boston Herald; Joseph T. Nevin, Pittsburg Leader; C. W. Hornick, St. Paul Dispatch; H. H. Cabaniss, Atlanta Journal.

The convention ended with a dinner given at the Waldorf-Astoria on the evening of the 19th inst. Among the speakers were Mayor Low, Henry D. Esterbrook of the Western Union Telegraph Company; Simeon Ford of the Hotel Men's Association; William McAdoo, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Navy; Samuel W. McCall and Charles W. Hornick.

CINCINNATI BOOKTRADE SUFFERS BY FIRE.

THE historic Pike's Opera House, in Cincinnati, and the business block of which it was the centre was for hours on the morning of February 26 a raging furnace, the result being one of the heaviest losses by fire in the history of that city. The total loss will reach fully $2,000,000, with insurance of about one-third that amount. The fire began about 2 o'clock in the morning. From the front of the Pike Building in the centre and directly over the theatre entrance the flames spread south, east and west. At 6 o'clock the fire had worked south to Baker alley and across this narrow thoroughfare to the telephone building and that of the American Book Company. Westward they seized successively upon the Strauss cigar store, White's restaurant, the United States Express Company, and then to the Seagood Building, at Fourth and Vine Streets. East the flames swept through the quarters of Joffe, Pike's Opera House, the Adams Express Company, Martin's restaurant, Empson's confectionery, and then into the big building of the Robert Clarke Company, the well-known booksellers and publishers, everywhere carrying almost total loss in their wake. The loss of the American Book Company alone will reach $300,000.

The front stone walls of the Pike building, and those of adjoining structures owned by the Robert Clarke Company, and the Duhme Brothers' jewelry store, and of the Seagood building withstood the heat and did not fall. The rear walls of these structures, however, which were of brick, gave way with the falling floors. John Keenan, night watchman of the American Book Company, was caught by the falling walls and fatally injured.

SIX BEST-SELLING BOOKS, JANUARY-FEBRUARY.

6. The Blue Flower. Van Dyke. Scribner. ....	50

AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE American Publishers' Association held a meeting in the afternoon of February 25 at the rooms of the Aldine Association to consider a plan for regulating the discount given by jobbers on protected books. The resolution submitted to the meeting when finally passed with amendments and corrections, reads as follows:

(1) That the members of the American Publishers' Association agree to sell new books first issued by them after April 1, 1903, and already subject to the Association's rules for the regulation of prices of net copyright books and copyright fiction, Sections 1 and 4, to those jobbers and booksellers only who will not undersell, when selling to retail dealers, during the first year after publication, a schedule of quantities and discounts to be fixed by the publisher and communicated by him to jobbers and booksellers.

A jobber may be defined as one who carries in stock a miscellaneous assortment of books of various publishers who buys in bulk with capital owned and controlled by him, and sells chiefly to other retail dealers.

(2) That the members of the Association agree to adopt and to furnish to the Board of Directors, when required, a schedule of quantities and discounts at which their copyright books may be sold by jobbers and booksellers when selling to retail dealers, and they agree not to undersell when selling to retail dealers, during the first year after publication, the schedule of quantities and discounts fixed by them; but nothing in this paragraph shall prevent a publisher from selling, at a greater rate of discount, larger quantities of his books than those quantities for which he arranges his schedule of discounts for his own observance and the observance of the jobber.

(3) That any violation of the provisions of the foregoing articles shall be reported to the Association and shall be considered by the Board of Directors. If, after investigation, the Board finds that a jobber or bookseller has intentionally undersold the schedule of quantities and discounts fixed by the publisher on any book, the members of the Association and the trade shall be notified, and until further advised shall decline to sell such jobber or bookseller books published by members of the Association. If, on investigation, the Board finds that a member of the Association has intentionally undersold the fixed schedule of the quantities and discounts, he shall be deemed to have violated the rules of the Association, and the Board of Directors shall prefer charges against him in the manner prescribed by the By-laws.

(4) That the members of this Association agree to furnish on request to all jobbers and wholesale booksellers copies of all schedules adopted by them and all revisions thereof.

(5) That the schedules filed with the secretary of the Association under Section 2 above, shall be regarded as confidential and not as public instruments, but as memoranda to be used for the purpose of effectuating the objects of the resolution.

AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the American Booksellers' Association it was decided to hold the annual convention in or near New York on Monday and Tuesday, June 8 and 9. The convention will convene at 9 o'clock in the morning of the 8th of June, and the annual dinner will be given at 7 o'clock in the evening of June 9.

The Association is beginning arrangements for its next convention early in the season before its members make other plans for the summer, trusting that, if not every member, at least as many as possible will make it a point to be present at the third annual convention, and contribute something of value to the advancement of the profession of book-selling.

OBITUARY NOTES.

LEWIS SYLVESTER HOUGH, author of "America and Her Tariff" and "The Principles of Coinage and Currency," died at Media, Pa., eighty-two years old.

THE BISHOP OF SOUTHAMPTON, the Rev. Hon. Arthur Temple Lyttleton, died at Petersfield, Hampshire, Eng., February 20. Bishop Lyttleton was born in London, January 7, 1852. Among the best-known of his published works is the volume entitled "The Place of Miracles in Religion."

JOHN FORBES-ROBERTSON, Sr., art critic and journalist, died in London, February 25, aged eighty-one, having been born in Aberdeen, January 30, 1822. He was connected with a number of art journals as editor and critic, and published "The Great Painters of Christendom," "A Life of Samuel Phelps, Player," and lives of Doré and Rosa Bonheur.

PROFESSOR EDWARD RICHARD SHAW, Superintendent of the Public Schools of Rochester, N. Y., and until recently Dean of the New York University School of Pedagogy, died in St. John's Hospital, Yonkers, on the 11th inst. Dr. Shaw was born at Bellport, L. I., in 1855. He was graduated from Lafayette College and at once adopted teaching as his profession. In time he became an acknowledged authority in pedagogical circles. He was the author of a "National Question Book," "Inventive Geometry," "Physics by Experiments," "Outlines in the Study of Literary Composition," "English Composition by Practice," and "Legends of Fire Island Beach."

GEORGE BIRBECK HILL, the author, died in London February 25. Dr. Hill was born at Tottenham, June 7, 1835. He was graduated from Pembroke College, Oxford, after which from 1859 to 1870 he was head master of his old school—the Bruce Castle School, of which his father had been head master for years. Since 1876 he devoted himself entirely to letters. He was the greatest living authority on Johnson, and in the last days of his life edited letters of Rossetti and Swift. Dr. Hill's most celebrated contribution to literature is the definitive edition edited by him of Boswell's "Life of Johnson." His other books include "Dr. Johnson: His Friends and Critics," 1878; "Footsteps of Dr. Johnson in Scotland," 1890; "Wit and Wisdom of Dr. Johnson," 1888; "Harvard College by an Oxonian," 1894; "Memoirs of the Life of Edward Gibbon," 1900.

CHEVALIER KARL VON SCHERZER, a well-known traveller, died on February 20 at Görz, Austria. Chevalier von Scherzer was born in Vienna, May 1, 1821. He was at first a printer and worked at the case in Leipzig and Paris. In 1852 he came to this country and travelled through the west and in South America with the idea of gaining material for publication. In 1865 he was put at the head of an expedition for exploring Eastern Asia, having before that been a member of the Austrian Novara expedition which made a journey around the world. Among several published books by von Scherzer are "Travels in the Free States of Central America," which when brought out was at once declared to be a standard work; "Descriptive Parts of the Voyage of the Austrian Frigate Novara Around the World," "The World's Industries," and "Economic Life of the Nations."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

UNDER head of "Some Remarks," by Simon Ford, Everybody's Magazine will soon begin the serial publication of a collection of humor and wisdom gleaned from the speeches of one of New York's most famous after-dinner speakers. Later Doubleday & Page will publish in book form the speeches which Mr. Ford has selected to represent him.

WITH its March number Country Life in America ambitiously undertakes to help its readers through the mysteries of all kinds of gardening the year round. This is the second double number of this magazine dealing with a special subject, the "Christmas Annual of Winter Sports" being the first. A new feature of the magazine is a "Traveler's Calendar," which is to tell each month of the places most attractive to the country lover, and information for reaching these places will be furnished by a new and well worked out plan.

A COPY of the first newspaper ever published on the Atlantic Ocean through the advantages offered by the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy was brought to New York by the Cunard liner Etruria on February 22, on the eastward voyage of which vessel, on the 7th of February, the publication was issued. The paper was a small affair, but the news was admirably condensed, and when the saloon passengers of the big ship got up they found awaiting them a condensation of the principal events that occurred in the world during the previous twenty-four hours.

The Medical Library and Historical Journal is the title of a quarterly magazine devoted to "the interests of medical libraries, bibliography, history and biography." It is edited by Albert Tracy Huntington, librarian of the Medical Society of the County of Kings, Brooklyn, and John Smart Browne, librarian of the New York Academy of Medicine, and is published as the official organ of the Association of Medical Libraries, under the business management of George A. Shepard, from 1313 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. The first number, dated January, 1903, is an attractive looking one, and contains articles of historical and practical value besides book reviews and bibliographies. ($2 a year; 75 cents the single number.)

PERSONAL NOTES.

HOMER METCALF, for a number of years with James Pott & Co., has resigned his position and expects to go into business for himself.

T. E. COMBA has severed his relations with the firm of John Lane by mutual agreement. Mr. Comba's address for the present will be 337 West Fourteenth Street, New York.

OGDEN TREVER MCCLURG, son of the late General A. C. McClurg, on the 24th inst., married Miss Marion Winifred Ewen, of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. McClurg will go abroad for several months on a wedding journey.

GEORGE W. NOBLE, who is well known to the trade through his long connection with A. C. McClurg & Co., and who for some time has been in business for himself in the Lakeside Building, has become general assistant to Mr. Lee, of Laird & Lee, and will be in charge of certain departments during Mr. Lee's absence. Mr. Noble's business is now conducted under the direction of his son Howard.

E. H. CONDIT has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the Stationers' Board of Trade, to succeed Mr. Loveless, who has been appointed manager of the American Publishers' Association. Mr. Condit served the Stationers' Board of Trade under Secretary Charles H. Hunter. About seven years ago he resigned to become secretary of the Jewelers' Board of Trade, which position he has held until the present. Mr. Condit through his long association with the two associations, is well acquainted with the trade, and it is expected that he will make an efficient officer of the Stationers' Board of Trade.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BALTIMORE, MD.—The J. W. Bond Company, an old-established firm of booksellers, stationers and publishers, have purchased the business of Cushing & Company, and will continue it at the old stand under the firm name of The Cushing Company.

BALTIMORE, MD.—J. Edward Nunn, for twenty-three years with Cushing & Co., has established himself in the book and stationery business under the firm name of Nunn & Company, at 227 N. Howard Street, between Lexington and Saratoga Streets. Theodore Arnold, who also was associated for twenty-three years with Cushing & Co., will be associated with Nunn & Company.

BOULDER, COLO.—Mrs. R. W. Clark has sold out her bookstore to F. M. McDaniel.

MACON, GA.—T. A. Coleman, bookseller, has taken C. B. Lawton into partnership. Mr. Coleman began business in his present store two years ago, and has steadily developed it on much broader lines than at first contemplated. The style of the firm will be T. A. Coleman & Co. The new concern will extend its wholesale business.

MADISONVILLE, KY.—Lawrence Pratt has succeeded W. C. Hollinger & Co., booksellers.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Bodleian Society has been incorporated to do printing and publishing. Capital stock, $50,000. Directors, I. H. Blanchard, of Orange, N. J.; F. H. Woolfall, of Yonkers, and A. J. Brower, of Hempstead.

NEW YORK CITY.—R. F. Fenno & Company on February 18 were adjudicated bankrupt, with estimated liabilities at $21,307 and assets at $21,342. The business was started in 1894 by Robert F. Fenno, and was incorporated September 10, 1895, with a capital stock of $25,000. A meeting of the creditors will be held at the office of Peter B. Olney, referee in bankruptcy, 68 William Street, March 2, at 10 A.M.

NEW YORK CITY.—Henry W. Knight Company has been incorporated to do a publishing business. Capital stock, $200,000. Directors, Willis McDonald, H. S. Haskell and J. D. Thomas, of New York.

OAKLAND, CAL.—Smith Bros., whose store was completely destroyed by fire on December 30, are about to open permanently in a brick building at 462 Thirteenth Street. They would be pleased to receive publishers' catalogues and manufacturers' lists.

SHERIDAN, WYO.—Thomas J. C. Mitchell, bookseller, has been succeeded by A. L. Stephens.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Hall & McChesney have dissolved partnership, Mr. Charles C. Hall retiring. The business will be continued by the remaining partners, Albert E. and Francis H. McChesney. About fifty years ago, last September, Mr. Hall established himself in the book business in Elmira, being one of nine brothers, who were all engaged in the book business. In 1878 he began publishing Graves Printed Index in Syracuse.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A. WESSELS COMPANY have made arrangements to take over the publications of Lentilhon & Co.

FERRIS & LEACH, Philadelphia, will publish shortly an illustrated book on "The Doukhobors," by Joseph Elkinton of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting.

THE MUTUAL BOOK COMPANY, Boston, has just issued a satirical squib on a clever book, entitled "Mrs. Piggs of the Very Old Scratch," by Frank C. Voorhies, author of "Love Letters of an Irishwoman."

THE CAMERA AND DARK ROOM Co., 108 Fulton Street, New York City, will publish on March 1st a booklet on "Bromide Enlargement," by Louis Allen Osborne, a well-known amateur photographer.

JAMES POTT & Co. will publish about the end of March "Women Authors of Our Day in their Homes," which will form the third volume in their series devoted to the homes of contemporary authors, edited by Francis W. Halsey.

CHAPMAN & HALL, at Mr. Swinburne's suggestion, are preparing a supplementary volume to the Biographical edition of Dickens. It contains all of Dickens's prefaces and many of his short papers and addresses never collected in a single edition.

D. APPLETON & Co. have made arrangements to publish next summer the "Memoirs" of the late M. de Blowitz. The book will no doubt be rich in anecdotes of the sovereigns and statesmen who played a leading part in the history of the latter half of the nineteenth century.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish a volume of "Letters from the Holy Land," by Elizabeth Thompson the painter of "The Roll Call." The book will contain pictures of the site of the Last Supper, Gethsemane, Bethlehem, Bethany, Galilee, Nazareth and other scenes drawn by the author.

EMERSON HOUGH's novel, "The Mississippi Bubble," will be brought out in England by Methuen & Co., Ltd. The English publishers will bring out a large first edition in the autumn. Besides the book's success in the United States, McLeod & Allen, the Canadian publishers, report that it has run into many editions.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have just added to their People's Library a paper-covered edition of Justin Huntly McCarthy's romantic novel "If I were King," in the dramatized version of which Sothorn is scoring one of his most distinguished successes. The American News Company controls this entire special edition.

THE Bureau Scandinave de Litterature et d'Art, with S. Prahl as manager, has been formed to act as agent for native and foreign publishing concerns in the protection of their works in Denmark, Norway and Sweden, in purchasing plates and making arrangements with authors. The address of the Bureau is 9 Lundsgade, Copenhagen.

THE ABBEY PRESS, New York, have in press "Stories of Old New Haven," by Ernest H. Baldwin, lecturer in history at Yale University. Being a descendant of one of the original settlers of Quinnipiac, the author has spent most of his life among the scenes which he describes. Dr. Baldwin has made many contributions to historical literature, the most important being the biography of "Joseph Galloway, the Loyalist Politician."

W. T. KEENER & Co., Chicago, have taken over from Cassell & Co., Ltd., the American market of Henry Morris's "Surgery of the Kidney and Ureter," including injuries, malformations and misplacements, of which they have just brought out a new issue in two volumes, with a number of illustrations. They will publish in the spring a new edition of J. Bland Sutton's work on "Tumors, Innocent and Malignant, their clinical features and appropriate treatment," with illustrations.

ROBERT NEILSON STEPHENS's new novel, "The Mystery of Murray Davenport," to be published in the spring by L. C. Page & Company, is the first book put forth by that author in a year and a half. Mr. Stephens limits himself to one novel a year, at most, although novel-writing is his only occupation. He is at present in Bermuda, being one of that somewhat numerous band of novelists who are regularly "ordered South" every winter. He thinks he has embodied that very rare thing, a really new story, in "The Mystery of Murray Davenport."

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will publish shortly a new story by Pauline Bradford Mackie, author of "The Washingtonians," etc., entitled "The Voice in the Desert," the scene of which is laid in a little town on the Arizona desert, the spirit of the desert being a leading influence in the story. They will bring out at about the same time a novel entitled "The Rebellion of the Princess," by Imlay Taylor, author of "On the Red Stair Case." The tale deals with the Russian Court, and the scene is laid in Moscow at the time of the election of Peter the Great, when the intrigues of rival parties overturned the existing government, and made the city the scene of a hideous riot.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish in March a novel entitled "The Stumbling Block," by Edwin Pugh, of which a competent critic who has read the manuscript, says, "Everything in and about the work is unusual, and comes very near bearing the 'hall mark' of genius." They will publish this spring "The Child Housekeeper," by Miss Elizabeth Colson and Anna G. Chittenden, who in a practical manner give instruction to small children for performing intelligent work in their homes, using the materials and utensils there provided; also, "Life's Common Way," by Miss Annie Eliot Trumbull, better known, perhaps, by her pseudonym, "Annie Eliot," whose New England stories, "A Cape Cod Week" and "Mistress Cradock," have won for her many friends and readers.

THE Boston Ruskin Club invites subscriptions to the Ruskin Memorial to be erected at Bournville, near Birmingham, by the Ruskin Societies of Great Britain. This is to consist of a library, museum, classes to encourage the revival of handicrafts, village lectures, exhibitions of pictures, and the publication of reproductions of great pictures at low rates, etc. The project has the approval of Earl Grey, Dr. Boyd Carpenter, Dr. C. W. Stubbs, Prof. Edward Dowden, Dr. J. F. Furnivall, John Oliver Hobbes, Mr. J. A. Hobson, and Mr. J. G. Holyoake. Those interested in the work done by John Ruskin, and who are desirous of seeing his principles applied wherever possible, may send their subscriptions to George Willis Cooke, vice-president Boston Ruskin Club, No. 16 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY has made a venture of much importance, both because of its extent and cost and because of its interest to those admirers of the world's art whose desire to possess excellent reproductions of masterpieces has not been equalled by their financial ability to collect them. This is to be a series entitled "The Most Famous Pictures in the World," and is to comprise copies of the most renowned examples of the art of all periods and nations, with brief explanatory and critical notes by Augustus

Van Cleef and others, and with biographies of the great painters. The famous paintings of the world are, in this collection, to be reproduced in a suitable manner and published at a price which brings them within the reach of all. The first six parts are ready, and two will follow each month until the series is completed.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just brought out that much-talked-of biography, "The Life and Times of George Joachim Goschen," by Viscount Goschen; also, "The Great Siberian Railway from St. Petersburg to Peking," by Michael Myers Shoemaker, author of "Islands of the Southern Sea" and "Palaces and Prisons of Mary Queen of Scots." Both volumes, which have already been fully described by us, are liberally illustrated, although naturally in a different manner. The Putnams have secured the American rights to Lord William Nevill's book, on his experiences of prison life, which they will bring out within the fortnight under the title of "Penal Servitude, by W. B. N." Aside from the humor, pathos, and dismal romance of the book, the American publishers believe that it contains much valuable information for specialists in criminology.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY publish this week "Mary North: a Life Lost and Regained," by Lucy Rider Meyer, a novel which strikes home on a species of tragedy that finds its way into the press almost weekly. The new opportunities for women to take part in the world's work brings to the cities intelligent, refined girls who are yet more or less ignorant of some of its dangers. It may be said that Mrs. Meyer draws an exaggerated picture, but she took as the basis of the story personal observations gained while working in Chicago for just such girls. They have also just ready "Dwellers in the Mist," a story of life among the fishermen of the Hebrides, by Norman Maclean, a new and very promising candidate for literary honors. They announce a book entitled "India's Problem—Krishna or Christ," by Dr. John P. Jones, who has had twenty-five years' experience in missionary and educational work in India; "The Turk and His Lost Provinces," by William Ellery Curtis, whose letters in the Chicago Record-Herald on current events have given him a reputation not confined to the American continent; also, a new book by Margaret E. Sangster, entitled "When Angels Come to Men," containing messages of comfort to bereaved ones.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 times a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Kent Fort Manor

By William Henry Babcock, author of "The Tower of Wye" (Griffin Series). Illustrated by W. Sherman Potts. 12mo, Cloth, $1.00

The scene of Mr. Babcock's new novel is laid in the Chesapeake Bay, and several of the chief characters are descendants of the William Claiborne who figures in his former book, but the time is that of the Civil War. There is a curious psychological problem of inherited memory involved in the plot which is sure to attract attention and interest.

The Archierey of Samara

A Russian novel. By Henry Iliowisi, author of "The Weird Orient," "In the Pale," etc. (Griffin Series). Illustrated by Stephen J. Ferris. 12mo, Cloth, $1.00

This is a thrilling story of some very interesting phases of Russian life by one who knows his subject thoroughly, having been born and passed his early years in the Russian province of which he writes. It will be found of absorbing interest and of much sociological value.

Songs and Stories of Tennessee

By John Trotwood Moore, author of "A Summer Hymnal." Illustrated by Howard Weeden and Robert Dickey. 12mo, Cloth, $1.25

This volume contains the story of "Ole Mistis," which has attained a wide celebrity from its use by professional readers and reciters, and which first brought the author into notice; together with "Gray Gamma," "Miss Kitty's Funeral," and a number of others in Mr. Moore's inimitable view of mingled pathos and humor. The illustrations are notably excellent.

TO BE PUBLISHED EARLY IN APRIL

ROBERT NEILSON STEPHENS' NEW BOOK

The Mystery of Murray Davenport

In his latest novel, Mr. Stephens has made a radical departure from the themes of his previous successes. Turning from past days and distant scenes, he has taken up American life of to-day as his new field, therein proving himself equally capable. Original in its conception, striking in its psychological interest, perplexing in its love problem, "The Mystery of Murray Davenport" is the most vital and absorbing of all of Mr. Stephens' novels, and will add not a little to his reputation.

THE SPOILSMEN

By ELLIOTT FLOWER

$1.50

This story of municipal politics told from "the inside" by a prominent Chicago newspaper man is especially interesting in its delineation of modern political methods. While no attempt has been made to depict existing conditions in any particular locality, the methods employed are, in most instances, taken from the actual experiences of men who have served the public in some capacity or other, and the stories told of some of the characters are literally true.

MARCH PUBLICATIONS

The Principles of Money

By J. Laurence Laughlin, Professor of Political Economy in the University of Chicago. 8vo, $3.00 net (postage 21 cents).

The first of a truly monumental series of books planned by the author, perhaps the first American authority in this branch of economics, on the general subject of money. The book is an elaborately organized treatment of principles, and constitutes an original and novel contribution to the science of political economy.

Development of Muslim Theology, Jurisprudence and Constitutional Theory

By Duncan B. MacDonald, Professor in Hartford Theological Seminary. $1.25 net (postage 11 cents).

Literary Landmarks of Oxford

By Laurence Hutton. Exquisitely illustrated by Herbert Railton. 12mo, $1.20 net (postage 12 cents).

The Southerners

By Cyrus Townsend Brady. Beautifully illustrated in colors by George Wright, with vignettes by Louis D. Arata. $1.50.

A vigorous love story. The scenes are laid in and off Mobile during the Civil War.

Horses Nine

By Sewell Ford. Stories of Harness and Saddle. Strikingly illustrated by Frederic Dorr Steele and L. Maynard Dixon. $1.25.

A Girl of Ideas

By Annie Flint. $1.50.

This very unusual novel details the business career of a girl whose imagination is her only capital.

The Julia Marlowe Edition of The Cavalier

By George W. Cable. Illustrated with many photographs of scenes in the stage version of the novel, reproduced in color. $1.50.

This edition of Mr. Cable's celebrated novel is rendered especially interesting and beautiful by the charming photographs picturing Miss Marlowe in the role of Charlotte Oliver, the heroine of both novel and play.

The House on the Hudson

By Frances Powell. $1.50.

A very remarkable first novel, blending the characteristics of a detective story with those of a passionate and forceful drama of love.

THE TRAITORS

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Is an unusually clever, vigorous and engrossing novel of love and adventure, with all the glamour that hangs about great events and high personages of uncertain identity. The heroine, an American girl, has a typical breezy freshness and vivacity of manner which contrasts strongly with the more sombre charms of her European rival.

THE TRAITORS

THE PLOT.

THEOS is one of the oldest, smallest, most conservative and aristocratic kingdoms in Europe. In spite of these facts, the people had deposed their king and elected a president, who proved to be a mercenary wretch and plotted to sell Theos to Russia. His plans were discovered in time and he fled. Having had more than enough of republican government, the people call the Duke of Reist to the throne. Disregarding his sister's protests, the Duke persuades the people to restore the ancient line, and as their representative goes to London to find and offer the crown to Prince Ughtred. He accepts, and an exciting race for the capital follows, in which Walter Brand, an English journalist, plays an important part in outwitting the Russian spies and agents. Foiled in her attempt to prevent the coronation of Ughtred, Russia next tries to make a cat's-paw of Turkey, the ancient enemy and neighbor of Theos, and only too glad of the supposed opportunity to annihilate the brave little nation. The Countess of Reist, the sister of the Duke and the highest lady in the land next to the Queen, led by pride and ambition, goes to the very verge of becoming a traitor to her King and inducing her brother to join her, but sees her horrible mistake just in time and sacrifices her pride to her love for Walter Brand. The King, by his statecraft and his soldierly qualities, saves his kingdom, and wins the right to depart from a constitutional principle and share his throne with the woman he loves, beautiful Sara Van Vecht, the daughter of a wealthy American, who brings to him a dower few European princesses could command.

NOTES IN SEASON.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish early in April "The Mystery of Murray Davenport," a story of American life of to-day, by Robert Neilson Stephens, author of "Philip Winwood," etc.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "Richard Rosny," a new novel by Maxwell Gray (Maria G. Tuttiert), the author of "The Silence of Dean Maitland," etc. They will bring out shortly "The History of Puerto Rico," by R. A. Van Middlebury, with an introduction by Professor M. G. Brumbaugh; also, Lavignac's "Musical Education," translated by Esther Singleton.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just brought out "Before the Dawn," a story of the Civil War, by Joseph Altsheuler, the scene of which is laid in Richmond just before the surrender of that city; "Veronica," by Martha W. Austin, a love story from a woman's point of view, the principal scenes of which are in Louisiana; also, "How to Make Money," edited by Katherine Newbold Birdsall, a helpful little book containing more than eighty detailed suggestions to untrained women for adding to their income.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready Mrs. Humphry Ward's masterly story "Lady Rose's Daughter," an event of unusual importance in the literary world. It is issued in three editions—the popular one-volume edition in red and gold binding, with eight illustrations by H. C. Christy; the two-volume edition, in sapphire blue and gold binding, with sixteen illustrations by Christy; and the two-volume autograph edition, in dainty light blue and gold binding, with sixteen illustrations by Christy and the autograph of the author. They have also just ready "Putnam Place," a story of New England life, by Grace Lathrop Collin.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready Israel Zangwill's new book "The Grey Wig," which illustrates the characteristic range of pathos, humor, keen sarcasm and wit of a writer who holds a curiously individual place in English literature; "From the Unvarying Star," a novel of a Yorkshire parish, with touches of such tragedy as now and then underlies the quiet of country life; also, "A Few of [Alexander] Hamilton's Letters," including his description of the great West Indian hurricane of 1772, the Andre letter and others, selected by Gertrude Atherton. They will bring out at once "An Introduction to Philosophy," by Walter T. Marvin, of the Western Reserve University, which deals with the chief problems of philosophy, theory of knowledge, and, very briefly, those of the philosophy of religion, ethics and aesthetics.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish this month Professor J. Laurence Laughlin's work on "The Principles of Money;" Cyrus Townsend Brady's new story of the Civil War, entitled "The Southerners," with illustrations in color by George Wright and vignettes by Louis D. Arata; "Development of Muslim Theology, Jurisprudence and Constitutional Theory," an important work by Professor Duncan B. Macdonald, of Hartford Theological Seminary, who for the first time visualizes the great Moslem world for modern readers; "Horses Nine," stories of harness and saddle, by Sewell Ford, with illustrations by Frederic Dorr Steele and L. Maynard Dixon; "A Girl of Ideas," by Annie Flint; the Julia Marlowe edition of Cable's "The Cavalier;" "Literary Landmarks of Oxford," by Laurence Hutton, with illustrations by Herbert Railton; also, "The House on the Hudson," by Frances Powell, a remarkable first novel by a new writer.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ☞

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A north of Ireland story.

Burgess, E: Sandford. Studies in the history and variations of asters. pt. 1, History of pre-Clusian botany in its relation to aster. N. Y., Torrey Botanical Club, 1902. 12+447 p. O. (Memoirs of the Torrey Botanical Club, v. 10.) cl., $3.

This first volume of aster studies is confined to the general historical treatment—leaving the description of species to a volume soon to follow. It traces the history of aster to 1600, or through the continuance of the ancient monotype conception of aster; that is, until Clusius' polytype conception came into full dominance as embodied in the series of aster species set forth by him in 1601. The writer has aimed to present the history of aster from Greeks to Clusius in such a way as to show its relations to other botanical thought and writing, and to disentangle the constantly recurring confusions with other blended genera. This involves notice of all important plant-writers before Clusius, constituting this volume a sketch of the history of pre-Clusian botany.

Collin, Grace Lathrop. Putnam Place. N. Y., Harper, 1903. [Mr.] c. 5+262 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Some thirteen sketches make up this volume; they may be read separately or as a continuous story. They all relate to the dwellers of "Putnam Place," a neighborhood where the people are intimately acquainted and mix little with other circles. The events are of every day occurrence, but are very cleverly written and most amusing.

Conant, T. Life in Canada. Toronto, Can., W. Briggs, 1903. c. 2-290 p. il. por. D. cl., $1.50.

Some contributions towards the history of Canada and of the manners and customs of its inhabitants during the hundred years beginning October 5, 1792. On that date the author's ancestor, Roger Conant, a graduate of Yale University, and a Massachusetts landowner, set foot on Canadian soil as a United Empire Loyalist. From him and his descendants have come to the writer certain historical particulars, which he regards as a trust and which he herewith gives to the public.

Figgis, J. Neville. English history; illustrated from original sources, 1660-1715; ed. by G: Townsend Warner. N. Y., Macmillan, 1903. 14+207 p. il. 12°, ci., *75 c. net.

Forbes, Mrs. Walter R. D. [Mrs. Evelina Louisa Michell Farwell Forbes.] Unofficial: a two-days' drama. N. Y., Appleton, 1903. [F.] c. 3+275 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 318.) cl., †$1; pap., †50 c.

The scene is chiefly Paris. An innocent young English girl is trapped into marrying a gambler, who aims to use her as a decoy in his unprincipled schemes. She is the centre of a dramatic episode, which is most skillfully depicted, and in which her good name may possibly suffer. How she is rescued and protected by an English Duchess is the story.

Frazer, N. L. English history; illustrated from original sources, 1307-1399; ed. by G: Townsend Warner. N. Y., Macmillan, 1903. 8+128 p. il. 12°, cl., *75 c. net.

Goschen was a man of striking originality and great intellectual powers, who rose from the position of a destitute orphan boy to the summit of fame as a publisher and printer and the friend and counsellor of far-famed writers. Extracts are given from his correspondence with Goethe, Schiller, Klopstock, Wieland, Körner, and many other leading authors and men of letters of the time. His own life was full of romance, covering one of the most exciting periods in German history.

Gregg, Fred Marion. An outline of anatomy, physiology and hygiene, arranged topically, and furnishing a condensed summary of information on each topic; to which is appended a list of practical and suggestive questions. Hayden, Eleanor G. From a thatched cottage. N. Y., T. Y. Crowell & Co., [1903.] 309 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A simple story of English middle-class life, telling of two neighboring families and a powerful, sombre shadow which hung over them. This tragedy occurs in the early pages of the book, but its influence—hidden and terrible—is skillfully traced out to the third generation. Against the secret cloud shines out the loves of the boy and girl, the innocent victims of the curse.

Hayward, J. K. A rebuttal of spiritism et al. N. Y., P. Eckler, 1903. c. 2-457 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Leon, Fray Luys de. La perfecta Casada; texto del siglo 16; reimpression de la tercera edición, con variantes de la primera, y un prólogo, por Elizabeth Wallace. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1903. c. 27+119 p. O. (University of Chicago Decennial publications, 2d ser., v. 6.) cl., *$1.50 net.

A reprint of the third edition (1587) of the most popular prose work of Fray Luys de Leon. In the article, which is written in the form of a homily, the author takes as his text the chapter in Proverbs that describes the perfect wife and elaborates on the theme, showing for a priest an intimate knowledge of the frailties and weaknesses of woman and his noble conception of what the perfect wife should be.

Letters of an actress. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1903.] [F.] c. 5+325 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The writer's name, evidently a pseudonym, is given as Miss Gladys Luttrell. It is said to represent an actress who has been on the stage for years. Her letters show the loves, trials and tribulations of an actress' life, the daily routine of the stage, and the hard work necessary to make a good impression upon the audience. A thread of narrative runs through the epistles.

Linn, Ja. Weber. The chameleon. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1903. [F.] c. 6+418 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A novel of modern life, being a study of that interesting type, the sentimentalist, "the man whose emotions are interesting to him merely as a matter of experience," showing the development of such a character when he comes into contact with normal people. The action passes in a college town, and the hero comes to his grief through his attempt to increase his appearance of importance by betraying a secret.

Monroe, Will Seymour. The educational labors of Henry Barnard: a study in the history of American pedagogy. Syracuse, N. Y., C. W. Bardeen, 1893. c. 35 p. por. 12°, (School bulletin pubs.) leatherette, 50 c.

Older, Mrs. Fremont. The socialist and the prince; frontispiece by Harrison Fisher.

- N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1903. c. 8+309 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- A novel of California life. The scenes and action are in the days of the anti-Chinese labor agitation. Paul Stryne, leader of the workmen, and Ruspuli, an Italian prince, are rivals for the hand of Theodocia Peyton, the daughter of a millionaire. Swayed now by the courtly grace and subtle class sympathy of the prince, now by the masterful will and altruistic purpose of the socialist, the impressionable girl, in a mood which overpowers her for the time, betroths herself first to one and then to the other.
- Osgood, Harry O. Mrs. Compton's manager: a comedy in three acts. Bost., Walter H. Baker & Co., [1903.] c. 1902. 58 p. D. (Baker's edition of plays.) 15 c.

- This edition goes back to, and reproduces, the famous First Folio text of 1623, the one which gives Shakespeare in the original spelling and punctuation. The text is thus freed from the editorial changes of three centuries, which, however, are indicated by abundant notes.
- Smith, Arthur Cosslett. The turquoise cup and The desert. N. Y., Scribner, 1903. [F.] c. 4+209 p. D. bds., $1.25.
- Two short stories. The first relates to a turquoise cup, in the treasury of St. Mark's, which a beautiful Irish girl insists shall be hers before she will consent to marry the Earl of Vauxhall. His attempt to get it makes a picturesque story. The second has its scene in the desert of Sahara.
- Smith, E. W., M.D. Electro-therapeutist: the modern treatment of stricture, prostatitis, urethritis, cystitis, fistula and ulceration of the rectum, by electrolysis and cataphoresis. Terre Haute, Ind., E. W. Smith, 1903. c. 1901. 2-125 p. por. D. cl., $2; leath., $3.

- "The lover's world," the author says, "is in its entirety, a treatise on love and the appropriation and mastery of sexual energy, the use of passion and creative force."
- Tennyson, Alfred, Lord. The Princess; with an introd. and notes by E: Everett Hale. N. Y., University Publishing Co., [1903.] c. 29+112 p. por. D. (Standard literature ser., no. 54.) pap., 12½ c.; cl., 20 c.
- Tilton, Dwight. On Satan's mount; il. by C: H. Stephens. Bost., C. M. Clark Pub. Co., 1903. 5+450 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- By the author of "Miss Petticoats." A love story, finding its background in the social and economic situation in this country, and culminating in a possible peril at Washington, arising from the present craze for the centralization of wealth. The hero, through a national crisis, finds himself President. The reins of government are completely in his hands. A word from him and he may become Dictator. Does he? That is the supreme temptation.
- Townsend, E: Waterman. Lees and leaven: a New York story of to-day. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1903. [F.] c. 7+299 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- A novel of New York City, portraying vividly, the seething, rushing New York of to-day. The titan struggles in the world of finance, the huge hoaxes in sensational newspaperdom, the gay life of the theatre, opera, and restaurant, and then the calmer and comforting domestic scenes of wholesome living, pass, as actualities, before our eyes.
- Triana, Pérez. Down the Orinoco in a canoe; with an introd. by R. B. Cunningham-Graham. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., 1903. 15+253 p. D. cl., $1.25.
- The author, son of an ex-President of Colombia, describes a hazardous journey on mule-back from the Andine Plateau of Bogota to the upper watershed of the Orinoco River, and from thence by canoe from one river to another, striking the Orinoco above its rapids and following it to the sea. The book describes landscapes of primeval forest and plain, habits and customs of savage tribes, and deals with a region seldom visited by civilized man.

- The character around whom the events of the novel revolve is the natural daughter of an Englishwoman of rank. Brilliantly educated in France, she is introduced into London society after her mother's death by Lady Henry Delafield, a woman of assured position, who makes her her companion. Fascinating and highly intelligent, full of tact and ambitious of social success she quickly wins appreciation and admiration. Her story has to do chiefly with her relations to two men, who both ardently love her. The scenes and characters are taken from the most exclusive circles of London's social life, and are presented with unusual power.

They will sell in April the library of the late Edwin P. Whipple, of Boston, containing many presentation copies and a collection of autograph letters of New England authors.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 7, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE PASSING OF THE HEAVY BOOK.

SINCE the introduction of the modern processes in making paper, one of the great burdens the reader has had to bear has been the heavy book. We do not refer to the dull book, but to the book that is heavy, weighed by the standard of avoirdupois. The illustrated book, printed on coated paper of extra thick quality, has long been abominated as an arm-breaking temper-destroyer. In many cases, we doubt not, the material used in the making of such books deterred the fastidious collector from buying them at all, because, aside from their weight, the books were difficult to handle, defying every contrivance of reading desk and ingenious mechanism of the bookholder to keep the books open or to hold their pages down. Exasperating as this was in the case of books of large size, the books that were doomed for interment in the cabinet or for show on the center table, it was particularly annoying in the case of the smaller books that were intended for study or for edification. We have tried to handle textbooks, scientific books and novels, for instance, that weighed about half a stone each, and whose leaves were as pliable as sheets of tin. Had the paper worn as well as tin one might have become reconciled to the weight; but the contrary was the rule.

The reader, and the bookseller, who also bore his share of the burden, will therefore have marked with satisfaction the steady improvement, during the past year, in the make-up of the books of certain publishers, especially in the introduction of feather-weight papers. Until recently the English book manufacturers have been far ahead of the American in this respect, and most light-weight paper used by publishers had to be imported from England. But about five years ago American publishers began the agitation in this country for a home-made light-weight paper. The model to be imitated here was the English esparto-paper, made from esparto grass, a rush-like grass growing only in Northern Africa and Southern Spain. This paper is made in limited quantities even in England, because of the scarcity of this grass. At the repeated instigation of publishers, several American manufacturers commenced experiments in making light papers. At first little progress was made. The American product, though light, lacked the necessary cohesiveness—a fatal defect. The work was persisted in, however, until success was achieved, in the last year or so, and the American light-weight paper is now coming into general use. Made of it, a book weighs between thirty and forty per cent. less than one of equal size made of the old smooth, heavy paper. The light weight paper is not smooth, and to the uninformed it appears to be rougher, and supposedly cheaper, than the old smooth paper to which readers are accustomed. But, as a matter of fact, the light, rough paper is decidedly more expensive to make. It is to be hoped that this long-sought improvement in book-making will be strenuously persisted in by the publishers.

GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS CANNOT BE COPYRIGHTED.

THAT a publication authorized by Congress cannot be copyrighted is the conclusion of the House Committee on Printing. This is a direct blow at the publication by a private concern of the "Messages and Papers of the Presidents." Representative Heatwole, the chairman, on the 2d inst., submitted the following report to the House:

Your committee are of the opinion that publications authorized by Congress cannot be copyrighted. Your committee are further of the opinion that all messages and papers of Presidents of the United States of America are public documents, and therefore not subject to copyright. In order to prevent the use of government names or terms liable to confuse and mislead the public your committee respectfully present the following bill and recommend its adoption:

A bill to prevent and punish the misuse of the copyright privilege of the United States, to prevent and punish the misuse of names, signs, symbols and other things concerning Government publications and for other purposes.

SECTION 1.—Be it enacted that any person who shall in any manner without lawful authority insert or impress any statement, notice, or words in or upon any book, map, chart, print, cut, engraving, photograph or other article which is a United States publication, book, map, chart, print, cut, engraving or photograph or other article, to the effect or purport that the same is "entered according to act of Congress" or the word "Copyright" or any other act or thing which might indicate or tend to indicate that the same is copyrighted, or that any part thereof is copyrighted, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 2.—That any person who shall without lawful authority use or cause to be used in any manner, on any envelope, letter or letter-head, advertisement, scheme or device for advertising, any word, sign, symbol, or thing, which will or may in any manner tend to indicate that any book, map, chart, print, cut, engraving or photograph or other article, the same being a United States Government publication, book, map, chart, cut, engraving or photograph, or any other article as printed, published, sold or distributed by the Government or any department, bureau, agent or officer thereof, or shall in any manner claim, represent, or indicate that such person has the exclusive right, authority to vend, to sell or distribute the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days or both, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 3.—This act shall take effect immediately.

TRADE OPINIONS ON THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

WE give below the opinions of a number of publishing houses on the subject of abolishing the duty on books advocated by Mr. Brett, of the Macmillan Company, and discussed by Mr. Henry Carey Baird in our issues for February 14 and 21:

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO.

THE case against abolishing the duty on books it seems to us is so clear that we cannot persuade ourselves that it is a practical question for discussion. To tax all the parts entering into the "make-up" of a book manufactured in the United States, and then to admit foreign made books in English free, would be an amazing act of injustice, quite independent of any general principle of protection which we favor.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS.

THE matter results simply to the questions of protection versus free trade, and of tariff for revenue only. Tariff removed from imported articles requires increased taxation upon domestic products. When foreign manufactures threaten the growth and development of home industries a protective tariff should be applied sufficient to aid our people to successfully meet competition, not only at home but abroad. When no longer threatened, assessment should be levied to meet the requirements for revenue, and for revenue only. Books are manufactured articles—the product of the mind is protected by international copyright—and there is little reason for discriminating in the tariff in the favor of the manufactured book more so than for other manufactured articles. Perhaps the proportion of tariff levied compared with that of other products is large. Books, however, should share the burden to some extent. The importation of books in foreign languages into this country is almost entirely for the use of schools and colleges and for the general student of languages. To increase their cost would be almost entirely a hardship, because they are mostly required for teaching and learning foreign languages. Books in foreign languages are of little menace to home industries, and their importation and circulation likewise to the institutions of our American people. Though I do not believe it is required, I would not urgently oppose a fair tax for revenue purposes upon books entirely in foreign languages. The duty upon English books does not seem too large, less so now than years ago when we needed them most. The manufacturing of many books in Great Britain is better and less costly than could be done in a similar way and of similar material, such as paper, etc., in this country. To entirely remove the duty would give English publishers the freedom and advantage of both markets, overload ours, and through making it possible to supply a better made book at a price as low and lower than many of our own, would bring about results injurious to the book trade and to labor interests generally in this country.

IRVIN MURRAY, Jr.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS.

I BELONG myself to the group of citizens who hold that the authority of the government in connection with taxes should be restricted to the securing of such amounts as are requisite for the expenses of the government, and that the collection of further moneys is a misuse of functions of government. Such collections constitute a tax upon the larger portion of the community for the advantage of certain favored groups. I should, therefore, be in favor of abolishing the duty on books, the receipts from which are not required for the national income.

It is my judgment further, however, that before this duty is abolished, the duty should be taken off from the articles that are utilized in the manufacture of books, such as paper, binders' cloth, binders' thread, etc.

It is, I believe, the contention of the more intelligent or scientific protectionists that the duties should be highest in proportion to the extent of the skilled labor going in the production of the article, and lowest on the articles which can be described as constituting to a greater or less extent raw material, or material for manufacture.

It is also probably the case that the duty on the material used in book manufacture constitutes a larger addition to the burdens upon the readers and buyers of books than that which is imposed through the duties placed upon the imported book, as imported books constitute at best but a small percentage of the books that are utilized for the community.

The matter does not impress me, however, as belonging to pending questions. It would appear that a majority of our voters are at present in favor of the Republican policy, a policy which maintains protection not for revenue, but for the furthering of certain business interests.

I doubt, therefore, the wisdom of giving at this time any special attention to the issue.

GEO. HAVEN PUTNAM.

WILLIAM WOOD &amp; CO.

WE would unhesitatingly say that we are in favor of a duty on books.

We believe that the duty is of the greatest benefit to all concerned, whether author, printer or publisher, and that the public is really better served, although perhaps at higher prices. That feature is, however, characteristic of this country in general.

We also feel that concerns doing business on untaxed foreign capital should be restrained as far as possible in competition, and the duty on books is one such restraint.

By all means let us hold fast to the duty.

SALES OF POPULAR NOVELS.

The Bookman has been making a canvass to obtain authoritative information from the publishers direct as to the sales of some of their more popular novels, with the following results:

The Century Company reported that they had not announced any figures concerning the sales of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" further than that they had considerably exceeded 200,000, and that they are going merrily on.

The Bobbs-Merrill Company wrote that they had not for nearly two years either advertised nor given out for publication the sales of any of their books. "As you probably know," they went on to say, "we are credited with having rather large ideas of what the sale of a successful novel should be, and, admitting this, we are perfectly willing to say that in 'Lazarre,' 'The Mississippi Bubble,' 'Hearts Courageous' and 'The Fifth String,' these being the books you ask about, we have been in no way disappointed. In regard to 'An Old Sweetheart of Mine,' we understand that it is to-day the best-selling book of verse in the country. We expected a large demand, and prepared for it accordingly, but the 'Sweetheart's' popularity was so great that the supply was wholly inadequate."

A letter from Harper & Brothers was withheld from publication at their request.

OBITUARY NOTES.

PIERRE-MARIE-ANATOLE LEBAS DE GIRANGY, Baron de Claye, better known by his pen-name, "d'Eylac," one of the editors of the Revue Biblio-Iconographique, died recently in Paris, aged fifty-one. He was a frequent contributor on political subjects to the Monde, Moniteur Universel and Gaulois, and published several bibliographic works, notably an "Essai de Bibliographie."

HENRY P. IVES, formerly a well-known bookseller in Salem, Mass., died in Chicago March 1. He was born in Salem, April 15, 1830. His father was Stephen B. Ives, and one of his brothers was the late Stephen B. Ives, Jr., the famous lawyer. Henry Ives left the public schools to enter the bookstore kept by his father and uncle, William. He remained until 1862, when, at the age of thirty-two, he became proprietor of the business and continued until 1891. This store for more than thirty years was "The Old Corner Bookstore" of Salem.

JOSEPH HENRY SHORTHOUSE, the author of "John Inglesant," and other novels, died at Lansdowne, Edgbaston, Birmingham, on March 4. Mr. Shorthouse was born in Birmingham in 1834, and was educated at Tottenham. For years he was engaged in the manufacture of acids. In 1881 he brought out "John Inglesant" in a privately printed edition as a present for a few of his friends. Mrs. Humphry Ward saw a copy, and after reading it recommended it to the Macmillans, who brought it out in a two-volume edition. The book, on which Mr. Shorthouse was engaged for twenty years, at once attracted the attention of cultivated readers; but, although brought out in cheap editions, and still enjoying a steady sale, it never in any sense of the word became a popular book. Mr. Shorthouse also published "The Little Schoolmaster Mark," "The Countess Eve," "Sir Percival," "A Teacher of the Violin, and Other Tales," and "Blanche, Lady Falaise." He also wrote articles on Wordsworth, George Herbert and F. D. Maurice; also, a preface to "The Spiritual Guide of Molinos."

COMMUNICATIONS.

"WHAT IS A CHAP-BOOK?"

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: Under this heading there is an article by Mr. Charles Welsh in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for February 7, 1903, complaining that "there is growing up among the makers of second-hand booksellers' catalogues a looseness in the use of the word chap-book." The "growth" cannot be very extensive, for I doubt if the total number of entries under that heading in all the booksellers' catalogues in the country, "second-hand" or otherwise, exceeded fifty during the past year.

Occasionally an old pamphlet may be classed wrongly as a "chap-book." Sometimes it is done on account of the vagueness of the meaning of the word. There are in the United States many collectors of chap-books; indeed, I should not be surprised to hear that there are nearly twenty of them. I know of at least one who is at variance with the "generally" accepted definition of a "chap-book," for, among other items of itinerant booksellers, he includes Weems's books in his collection. There may be other dissenters. Sometimes the "looseness" is caused by ignorance. Every bookseller that issues catalogues cannot keep an expert for each branch of literature. I do not know of any having a "chap-book" specialist; but as all, to avoid extra work, desire to give correct title, imprint, size, and condition of a book, it cannot matter very much if the headings, or catch-words, do not fit every individual's system.

Collectors, as a rule, know their business, and books can be inspected before being purchased, and returned if not correctly described. A bookseller's catalogue is a commercial publication and necessarily cannot be as neat and elegant as a disputatio pro gradu, much less as well sifted and as correct as those permanent catalogues made by Mr. Welsh for the universities.

Now, of course, I believe that Mr. Welsh's fatherly advice to the young compilers of "second-hand booksellers' catalogues" is genuine. Yet, taking into consideration the fact that the "chap-book" trade forms but an almost infinitesimal part of the total American book business one may readily be forgiven should he at first look upon his article as either the outcome of a bargain-hunter's special disappointment, or an attack of the disease known as "writing to the Times."

Mr. Welsh speaks in his article of "second-hand booksellers' catalogues," and of "the fraternity of second-hand booksellers." I may perhaps be pardoned for asking "What is a second-hand bookseller?"

As an apology, or for the benefit of anyone whom it may concern, I quote B. F. Stevens's well-known saying: "If a man suffers from a pride of accuracy and would have it thoroughly knocked out of the system, let him make and print a catalogue."

JOHN SVENSK.

Compiler of ("Second-hand"?) Booksellers' Catalogues.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THERE seems to be little doubt, says The Critic, that "The Journal of Arthur Stirling" is the work of Mr. Upton St. Clair, and that any one who has read his contributions to the Independent needs nothing further to prove that he is "Arthur Stirling."

JUSTUS MILES FORMAN, author of "Journeys End," was an artist and contributor of short stories to Harper's and McClure's before he discovered he could write an unusual sort of a novel. He graduated from Yale five years ago, and studied two years with several of the best painters in Paris.

AFTER a careful study of "What Manner of Man," just published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company, a well-known critic comes to the conclusion that Edna Kenton is a name that has been adopted to hide the personality of a man who has talent, power and insight into human character. Edna Kenton is, however, the name of a young woman living in Chicago who is known to magazine readers by her own name and by some very clever stories which have appeared from time to time in The Century, McClure's, The Smart Set, The Ladies' Home Journal and other magazines. She has, besides, been a newspaper woman, and wrote her novel while on the staff of one of the Chicago evening newspapers.

MR. JAMES L. FORD, who, according to Mr. Huneker, the dramatic critic of the New York Sun, is an author who has raised literature to the dignity of a sport, was a working journalist for many years, and first burst forth upon the amused literary world with his delightful satire "The Literary Shop." This was quite successful, although it appealed to a small class, and the first edition was soon exhausted. Its publishers failed at that time, and, as Mr. Ford was afraid that his book would fall into undesirable hands—most publishers were unwilling to handle the book, as it made fun of either themselves or their friends—three of his friends purchased the plates. They published the book with the imprint of "The Chelsea Company," and it has run through several new editions. Every year the three friends make Mr. Ford give them a sumptuous dinner out of his royalties, in return for rescuing the plates.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

A NEW art magazine—The American Connoisseur—is to be published in New York under the editorship of Charles de Kay, managing governor of the National Arts Club, art editor of the New York Times and director of the National Sculpture Society.

The Library, which a few months ago announced that it would suspend publication, has not been allowed to go out of existence for another year at least. The first number of the fourth volume has just been issued and presents a goodly table of contents, in which the names of such of its old friends as Plomer, Garnett, Andrew Lang and others figure.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have a number of attractive novelties for the Easter season ranging in price from ten cents up to twenty-five cents.

J. F. TAYLOR & Co. will publish about Easter Mrs. Amelia E. Barr's new story "Thyra Varrick," with illustrations by Lee Woodward Zeigler.

T. J. CAREY & Co. are about to issue a compilation of humor in verse under the title of "Wayside Rhymes, Epigrams, and Parodies," by J. R. Hartman.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have just ready H. Rider Haggard's new book "Pearl Maiden," a story of the fall of Jerusalem, with twenty-six illustrations by Byam Shaw.

EDWARD J. GOLDBERY, representing Laird & Lee, of Chicago, is in town, making his headquarters at the Broadway Central Hotel. He expects to be in Boston early next week.

WILLIAM H. MINER, in charge of the old book department of The Burrows Brothers

Company, of Cleveland, O., has sailed for London, to be gone several months, accumulating items of interest for his department.

ALTHOUGH Harry Leon Wilson's very popular story of the West and of New York life, "The Spenders," appeared nearly a year ago, it is selling more briskly than ever. Two thousand copies were sold in one day this present week.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on March 23 "The Traitors," by E. Phillips Oppenheim, described as "an unusually clever novel of love and adventure, with all the glamour that hangs about great events and high personages of uncertain identity."

THE HOBART COMPANY, 114 Fifth Avenue, New York, will publish on the 15th inst. a new novel by General Charles King, entitled "A Daughter of the Sioux," a tale of the Indian frontier, with illustrations by Frederic Remington and Edwin Willard Deming.

JOHN LANE has just ready the third volume of the new edition of Sir Arthur Helps's "The Spanish Conquest in North America," edited by M. Oppenheim. The fourth and concluding volume will be published in the fall of this year. Zola's "Truth" has gone into a second edition.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE will give its March dinner on the evening of the 11th inst. at the rooms of the Aldine Association. This will also be the occasion of the annual meeting, at which a president and trustees will be elected. Mr. James L. Ford, Harry De Windt and Mr. Vivian are expected to be present.

THE SCOTT-THAW COMPANY, New York, will publish shortly a volume of sketches of the Jewish quarter in the lower part of New York City, by Bernard G. Richards, entitled "Discoveries of Kaidansky." In his sketches, which are twenty-four in number, the author attempts to show the real life of the quarter from the inside, and as it appears to its dwellers. Aside from the threads of narrative which are here and there caught up, only to be lost again, his work appears as a series of essays, humorous and philosophical.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have in preparation "The Triumph of Count Ostermann," by Graham Hope, a Russian story, closely founded on fact, of the last days of Peter the Great and the beginning of the succeeding reign, which may be expected shortly; a translation of Auguste Fournier's "Napoleon I." under the editorship of Professor E. G. Bourne of Yale, with a critical bibliography of Napoleonic literature; "An Atlas of European History," by Professor Earle W. Dow of the University of Michigan; "Variations in Animals and Plants," by Dr. H. M. Vernon of Oxford; Tarde's "Law of Imitation," translated by Elsie Clews Parsons, Ph.D.; also, an Italian grammar by Professor Mary V. Young.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready a novel by a southern writer, Mrs. Mabel S. Clarke Pelton, entitled "A Tar-Heel Baron," a love story of North Carolina life, in which has been created one character which is likely to create wide attention. This is a German baron, proud and courteous, who went to North Carolina as a refuge and there becomes the central figure of a romance. The first volume of the Variorum edition of Shakespeare, to be issued under the editorship of Horace Howard Furness, Jr., is also just ready. It is a revised edition of "Macbeth," and contains besides the usual notes a collation of all the texts. It is based upon the text of the first folio. Horace Howard Furness, Jr., has had the collaboration and advice of his father, the famous editor of this edition of the work.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS announces the following works: "Oxford Art Collections," reproductions of drawings by the old masters preserved in the collections of the University and of Christ Church, with introductions and annotations by Sidney Colvin; "The Letters of Horace Walpole," edited by Mrs. Paget Toynbee, in sixteen volumes, with numerous portraits; "Elizabethan Critical Essays, (1570-1603)," edited by G. Gregory Smith, in two volumes; "The Mediæval Stage," by E. K. Chambers, also in two volumes; "The Early History of Baptism," by Clement F. Rogers; "Sources of Roman History," by A. H. J. Greenidge and A. M. Clay; "French Versification," by L. K. Kastner; "Napoleonic Statesmanship—Germany," by H. A. L. Fisher; also, the third series of Dr. Moore's "Studies in Dante."

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have in press a novel of Canadian life entitled "The Sacrifice of the Shannon;" "The Correspondence of Wilhelm I. and Bismarck," edited by Horst Kohl, including letters from 1862, when the grandfather of the present German emperor was still a prince, to 1887, with portraits of the old emperor and his chancellor; "Travels in Space," a history of aerial navigation, by E. Seton Valentine and F. L. Tomlinson, with an introduction by Sir Hiram Maxim, with a number of illustrations covering the subject from the devices of Leonardo da Vinci to those of Professor Langley and Santos-Dumont; also, "His Last Journey," a volume of letters by Wilbur O. Chamberlain who represented the New York Sun during the recent hostilities in China, and whose correspondence was closed by his death.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY are announcing among their books that will be brought out this month "The Blue Goose," by Frank L. Nason, author of "To the End of the Trail." It is a story of mines and miners in the gold regions of the Rockies. Since Bret Harte wrote of the "Forty Niners" in California and along the transcontinental trail the mining world has completely changed. New characters and new conditions have arisen, but no writers strong enough to present them adequately. This novel of Mr. Nason's is the first worthy presentation of the life in the mining camps as it is to-day. It is a thrilling story of a mine superintendent's fight against his rebellious employees, reaching its climax in a splendid scene of a strike and riot, where the infuriated miners attempt to blow up the mine. A graceful love story interweaves itself with these scenes of excitement and violence. Mr. Nason was for years a mine superintendent and knows every inch of the ground of which he writes.

DANA ESTES & COMPANY announce for Spring publication a book for girls entitled "The Girl Rough Riders," which relates the adventures of a party of school girls who make a scouting and exploring trip, under military escort, through the Grand Canon of the Colorado, and along the Old Mormon Trail, through Arizona and Utah—1000 miles in the saddle. The author, Colonel Prentiss Ingraham, is a son of the famous novelist, Rev. J. H. Ingraham, author of "Prince of the House of David," and is a widely-known soldier, story-writer, scout and poet of the plains, whose life reads like one of his own romances. He has himself made the trip which he describes in this story in company with Generals Miles and Baldwin and Colonel W. F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill"). Appreciative letters from these gentlemen are included in the introduction to the book. They also announce new editions of their well-known line of Sterling sets, which will include the works of Scott, Dickens, George Eliot, Ruskin, Thackeray, Dumas, Schiller, Goethe, Irving, Bulwer-Lytton, Carlyle, Hugo, Balzac, in 18 volumes, and Guizot's "History of France." Balzac's "Complete Works" will also be brought out in the Cabinet edition, in 36 volumes.

LAIRD & LEE, Chicago, will publish on the 15th inst. "The Danger Line," a new detective story, by Lawrence L. Lynch, with illustrations. They will bring out next month a new edition, in paper binding, of "The Starbucks," one of Opie Read's most popular books, with eight full-page pen drawings. They have in preparation for the spring "Knapsack Ballads," humorous verses and drawings, by G. A. Thompson; "Coon-ah-Town Sassiety," comic stories in picture and verse, by "Uncle Nic;" a new issue of "Michael Carmichael," by Miles Sandys, a popular seller, with eight full-page illustrations, and new issues in attractive get-up of the popular stories of Opie Read, W. H. Thomas, Dr. N. T. Oliver, Lawrence L. Lynch and others. Their chief lines, of course, consist of handy books and popular reference manuals for mechanics, engineers, electricians, bookkeepers and the general reader, practical enough for present use and advanced enough to prepare the reader for the more scientific literature on the subjects they cover. Laird & Lee have obtained medals and diplomas for these publications at the Pan-American and Charleston Expositions. They are about to open an exhibit at the Industrial Exposition at Osaka, Japan.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY has in preparation a large and interesting list of spring publications. It includes a book of essays entitled "Exits and Entrances," by Chas. Warren Stoddard, author of "South Sea Idyls;" and two books of verse, one by Irving Bacheller entitled "Candle Light," and Richard Burton's "Message and Melody." The fiction showing is very strong, including besides the recently published stories "The Captain," by Churchill Williams; "The Master of Warlock," by George Cary Eggleston; the Christian Science novel by an anonymous author, entitled "The Life Within;" "Cliveden," by Kenyon West; and "A Social Cockatrice," by F. W. Eldridge; Mr. Bacheller's new novel, entitled "Darrel of the Blessed Isles;" the historical romance, "Return," by Alice MacGowan and Grace MacGowan Cooke; "A Parish of Two," by H. G. McVickar and Percy Collins; and "Andy Barr," by Willis B. Hawkins. The juvenile list is an attractive one, and includes Mrs. Alden's new Pansy book, "Mara;" Mr. W. O. Stoddard's "Ahead of the Army;" Mr. S. T. Clover's "On Special Assignment;" "Defending the Bank," by Edward S. Van Zile; "A Japanese Garland," by Florence Peltier; "The Mutineers," by Eustace L. Williams; "Ethel in Fairyland," by Edith R. Bolster; and "A Partnership in Magic," by Chas. Battell Loomis.

BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY will publish this month a complete history and discussion of "Reciprocity," by Professors J. Lawrence Laughlin of Chicago University and H. Parker Willis of Washington and Lee University, which will contain statistics and bibliographies never before published; also, a history of home missions, from a non-sectarian standpoint, entitled "Leavening the Nation," by Dr. Joseph B. Clark, Secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary Board, with the assistance of the secretaries of the other boards. They have in preparation a series of brief church histories under the title of The Story of the Churches. Each volume will be written by the leading historian of the denomination and will aim to give the average church member a simple account of the various churches. The books will average only about forty thousand words. They are designed to answer the general question, "What is a Baptist?" and "What is a Presbyterian?" to give the cardinal points in the belief of these churches and a brief history of their origin and development. "The Baptists," by Professor Henry C. Vedder, D.D., Professor of Church History in Crozer Theological Seminary, and "The Presbyterians," by Dr. Chas. L. Thompson, Secretary of the Board of Home Missions, will be published early in March. They also announce for an early date "God and Music," a scholarly study of the relations between God and music, by the Rev. John Harrington Edwards of Brooklyn, and "Social Ethics," a treatise on the social phenomena showing that science and philosophy cannot ignore spiritual facts, by Professor J. M. Coleman, of Geneva College.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 14th inst. "Phillips Brooks," a little volume by Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts, which contains a study of Phillips Brooks's more permanent contributions to the religious thought and life of the time and a sketch of his theological position, of his attitude towards the intellectual and spiritual movements of the nineteenth century, of the leading features of his own thought and of his relations to the church; "William Ellery Channing," by John W. Chadwick, who draws the career of the great Liberal leader with the sure touch and full mastery of material that have already given distinction to Mr. Chadwick's portrait of Theodore Parker; "The Poets of Transcendentalism," an anthology, edited, with an introductory essay and biographical notes, by George Willis Cooke, who has collected, for the first time, the best verse produced during the most extraordinary period of American literature—that which saw the rise of the transcendental movement; "The Constitutional Ethics of Secession," and "War in Hell," two recent speeches by Charles Francis Adams; "The Lieutenant-Governor," by Guy Wetmore Caryl, a story of the present day, which deals with a strained situation between the forces of labor and those of law and order in the imaginary state of Alleghenia; "John Percy-field, the Anatomy of Cheerfulness," by C. Hanford Henderson, a delightful story, which has something of the full-bodied appeal and the vivid, persuasive touch of personality which have made "John Inglesant," "The Reveries of a Bachelor," and "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," so successful; also, a new edition of "Elsie Venner," by Oliver Wendell Holmes, in the Cambridge Classic Series. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. also announce a limited edition of "Instructions Concerning Erecting of a Library," by Gabriel Naudé, translated by John Evelyn. Naudé was librarian successively to Henri de Mesmes, president à mortier in the parliament of Paris, the Cardinal de Bagni, Cardinal Barberini, Cardinal Richelieu, Cardinal Mazarin, and Queen Christina of Sweden. He had the fortune while in the service of Cardinal Mazarin to fulfil his ambition of collecting and founding a public library—the fourth public library to be founded in Europe, being preceded only by the Ambrosian at Milan, the Bodleian at Oxford, and the Angelique at Rome. It was on the occasion of his appointment as librarian to Henri de Mesmes in 1627, when he was twenty-seven years old, that Naudé produced the work which Houghton, Mifflin & Co. will present in the English version—"Avis pour dresser une Bibliothèque." The first edition of the original—Paris, 1627—is rare, but it was re-edited and published in 1644. It was translated into Latin by J. A. Schmidt in 1703. The English translation—the only one in that language known—was made by John Evelyn, whose diary is valued not only as literature, but as one of the sources of knowledge upon the English Civil War, in which he was for the King against Cromwell. The text is an exact reprint of the edition of 1661, and is accompanied by a brief introduction by John C. Dana.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BALTIMORE, MD.—The Cushing Company has been chartered by A. Y. Dolfield, R. W. Graves, W. Eason Williams, H. M. Hebden and E. C. Wollman. The capital stock of the company is $100,000, and it will engage in the general book, stationery and printing business. The new corporation absorbs the J. W. Bond Company, located at 14 West Baltimore Street, and Cushing & Co., 34 West Baltimore Street. On April 1 the two concerns will be brought together in the building at 14 West Baltimore Street. A number of improvements will be made in this building, and the plant of the new corporation will embrace a full line of modern printing machinery. The company starts business with ample resources and will aim to hold in Baltimore a number of large contracts for printing which have been going to other cities, as well as to enlarge the book and stationery importance of the city. A number of unique features will be introduced in the latter department. The officers of the new company are: President, W. Eason Williams; vice-president, A. Y. Dolfield; secretary and treasurer, R. W. Graves, and general manager, H. M. Hebden. The firm name of J. W. Bond Company has been discontinued.

BOSTON, MASS.—The Pemberton Law Stationery Company, (Samuel A. Bordfsky,) had its stock of books and stationery damaged by fire last month.

DIXON, ILL.—The College Supply Store has made an assignment.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—Articles of incorporation of the Charles A. Rogers Book Company, with a capital stock of $20,000, were filed for record on February 26 in the County Clerk's office. The stockholders are: John J. Caffrey, three shares; Matt O'Doherty, three shares; M. A. McGee, three shares, and M. A. McGee, trustee, 191 shares. The highest amount of indebtedness which can be incurred is $10,000.

MANTON, MICH.—W. C. Long has succeeded to the book and stationery business of the W. M. Sterling Company.

NEW YORK CITY.—At the first meeting of the creditors of R. F. Fenno & Co. the following schedule of liabilities was presented: Taxes, $398.07; wages, $373.74; unsecured claims, $20,535.24, making a total of $21,307.03. The assets are reported to be: Cash, $883; bills and promissory notes, $238.16; miscellaneous, $10,478.26; machinery, tools, etc., $300; copyrights, plates, etc., $5000; outstanding accounts due, $5273.81; cash in bank, $44.25; total, $21,343.31. Mr. Fenno stated that if the business were continued the open accounts and stock would be worth considerable more than the figure at which these items had been appraised. Attorney for R. F. Fenno & Co. suggested that the firm be granted the following extensions of 100 cents on the dollar, namely, 33 1-3 per cent. each in twenty-four, thirty and thirty-six months, and the appointment of a committee of three to manage the business until such time as the extension notes were paid off. Most of the creditors seemed to be favorably inclined towards granting the extensions and will probably make arrangements to continue the business.

NEW YORK CITY.—The estate of Henry Miller is offering to close out the business at 1 Barclay Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Neumann Brothers, bookbinders, are removing their plant to the Hallenbeck Building, 497 Pearl Street.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line, for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

[C] In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

[C] Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

JUST OUT

BEFORE THE DAWN

By JOSEPH A. ALTSHELER

Author of "In Hostile Red," "A Herald of the West," etc.

The scene of this tale is laid in Richmond just before the surrender of that city showed the Confederacy to be tottering to its fall; and the figures of Jefferson Davis, his Cabinet; and several of the Southern generals loom large in the story. The contrasting pictures of the brilliant social gaiety of Richmond and the grim, bloody battlefield of the Wilderness are impressive; while the love story centres in the resourceful heroine, suspected of being a Union spy, and her ardent worshiper, Captain Robert Prescott, C. S. A.

$1.50

VERONICA

By MARTHA W. AUSTIN

An intimate and delicate love-story from a woman's point of view, the principal scenes of which are in Louisiana. A charming woman whose beautiful character is delicately unfolded is the attractive heroine, for it is a story of feeling and not a tale of adventure. The author's style gives it literary distinction. The intimate subject, the good taste and the unusual excellence of style—these are the characteristics of the novel.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY

Edited by KATHARINE NEWBOLD BIRDSALL

An unusual and valuable little book, containing more than eighty detailed suggestions to untrained women for adding to their income. All the ideas are drawn from actual experience, and in consequence they attracted much attention when published serially. A number of women are now successfully working out the ideas thus brought to their notice. The thousands of women who are anxious to work and have some capacity, but lack the knowledge to make use of it, will find the book extremely helpful.

JOURNEYS END

By
Justus Miles
Forman

An able young novelist writes: "Congratulations to you all on 'Journeys End.' I've read enough of it to see what a clever, alluring and mystifying story it is. Speaking commercially 'it should be a sure winner.'" He's right. We've a few hundred copies left of the second printing and 5000 more going to press.

Since "The Lady or the Tiger" there's been no story so stimulating to conjecture.

(CHARMINGLY ILLUSTRATED. $1.50)

"In the story's telling lies a persuasive charm akin to that of Barrie."

The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft.

By GEORGE GISSING. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 net.

This last book of Mr. Gissing's is in the form of autobiographical papers of an imaginary writer. As to how much of this is the author's actual experience is left to the reader to decide. The papers are of one who has known hardship and the life of the literary hack and then has retired to the country and the companionship of books and nature.

Social Germany in Luther's Time

Being the Memoirs of Bartholomew Sastrow, translated by ALBERT D. VANDAM. Introduction by HERBERT A. L. FISHER, M.A. Illustrated. 8vo, $2.50 net.

These memoirs, written by a German Burgo-master in the sixteenth century, give a marvellously vivid picture of Germany under Charles V. Sastrow attended the Imperial Court at Augsburg, Spire, and elsewhere, and gives an astonishing account of the austere Charles and his corrupt surroundings.

The New America

A Study of the Imperial Republic. By BECKLES WILLSON. 8vo. $2.50 net.

"In these pages it will be my aim to point out broadly some of the new conditions and tendencies which appear to me to prevail in the United States of America. . . . Commentaries on conditions which pertained a decade or two ago bear an almost ludicrous disparity to the facts of 1902."

—Author's Preface.

Side-Lights on the Georgian Period

1900-1902

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1902, is now in preparation, and will include in one alphabet the short-title lists of the books of 1900, 1901 and 1902, giving information of the books recorded by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. This form of catalogue has been generally accepted as a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

THE SUBSTITUTE

By WILL N. HARBEN

Author of "ABNER DANIEL"

A story of Northern Georgia—of George Buckley, who loves a woman far above him socially. Though of humble birth, he has a natively fine character. He is adopted by an old man who desires to atone for a past sin by so educating and training Buckley that he may become his moral substitute in the eyes of Providence. Hence the name. Finally, interest centres in a love affair that has a noteworthy effect on the young man's character, and the end is a happy one. This story is full of the wit, philosophy, and quaint humor that made the author well known through "Abner Daniel."

WALDA

By MARY HOLLAND KINKAID

A love story placed in a religious community where love and marriage are tacitly discouraged. Into this community comes Stephen, a man of the world. He falls in love with Walda Kellar, who has been singled out as the coming prophetess of the community. Finally, after much difficulty in meeting her, he declares himself, and she struggles between her religious belief and the instinct of her heart. The love story is one of great beauty, and in some ways suggests Hawthorne's romances.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have secured the latest book by Anna Katherine Green, (Mrs. Rohlf), which they will issue on March 25 under the title "The Filigree Ball." This is the first detective story on the list of Bobbs-Merrill Company, and it is said the author of "The Leavenworth Case" has written it with all her old cunning and command of mystery.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish next week a new book of New England ghost stories, by Mary E. Wilkins, entitled "The Wind in the Rose-Bush," with illustrations by Peter Newell; also, "House Building and Furnishing," which is a combined new edition of "Model Houses for Little Money," by William L. Price, and "Inside of 100 Houses," by W. M. Johnson, two little books that met with much success when first published.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co will publish about the last week in March a new novel under the title of "Conjuror's House," by Stewart Edward White, author of "The Blazed Trail." In his new book Mr. White is not only a poet of the forests, as in his past successes, but also a teller of a love tale. It is the story of a young free trader who, trespassing on the land of the Hudson Bay Company, being caught, and being sentenced to death, braves the power of the company and wins the love of the fair Virginia, daughter of the company's factor and commander of the "Conjuror's House" post. As a background is the delightful life of the voyagers.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. announce a new popular edition of "Truth Dexter," by Sidney McCall, to be ready early in April. This edition will contain for the first time a frontispiece. Fifty thousand copies of the regular edition of "Truth Dexter" have been already sold. They will publish this spring a romance of Mexico in the times of Montezuma, entitled "The Spoils of the Empire," by Francis Newton Thorpe, a well-known lawyer, lecturer and writer on historical subjects, whose "Constitutional History of the United States is a recognized authority; "Love Thrives in War," a romance of the War of 1812, by Mary Catherine Crowley, author of "A Daughter of New France," etc.; also, a new revised and cheaper edition of "Nuttall's Birds," in one volume, brought down to date by Montagu Chamberlain, with 172 engraved figures, including drawings especially made for the work by Ernest E. Thompson and twenty colored plates.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day "The Principles of Money," by J. Laurence Laughlin, Professor of Political Economy in the University of Chicago; "The Southerners," by Cyrus Townsend Brady, illustrated in colors by George Wright, with vignettes by Louis D. Arata; "Development of Muslim Theology, Jurisprudence and Constitutional Theory," by Duncan B. MacDonald, Professor in Hartford Theological Seminary; and "Horses Nine: Stories of Harness and Saddle," by Sewell Ford, illustrated by Frederic Dorr Steele and L. Maynard Dixon. They have in preparation a popular, a complete and a truly constructive work entitled "Old Testament Criticism and the Christian Church," by Professor John E. McFayden, of Knox College, Toronto, author of "The Messages of the Prophetic and Priestly Historians." In a conservative manner the author presents the "Higher Criticism" controversy in a nutshell for lay as well as clerical readers.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price. ☞

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A character study of Kirk Thayer, an English artist and a great genius. He lives solely for his art, his supreme selfishness counting no sacrifice too great of friends or those near and dear to him in his pursuit of fame. To obtain a model for a picture he has conceived, he marries an innocent young girl he meets while on a yachting cruise on a wild island on the northern coast of Scotland. He brings her to London, and breaks her heart in his selfish indifference to her happiness. Two other characters figure in the book, an American woman and her husband, the woman having been one of his models.

Amy Alden, a young American girl, falls heirress to a fortune in France, left her by an uncle whom she has never seen. The only condition is that she shall go to France to receive it. There she is met by a Mademoiselle Merlet, a connection by marriage of the dead man, who, however, left her only a small legacy. She feels that she has been cheated and conceives the bold scheme of keeping Amy secreted and palming herself off as the real heirress. Fortunately Amy has made friends on the voyage over who come to her aid at this juncture, and with their assistance she manages to escape.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY P. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 14, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

THE DIFFICULTIES OF THE REFORM.

THE following is a fair sample of several complaints that have come to our notice within a month from booksellers regarding certain measures recently adopted by the American Publishers' Association:

I desire to call your attention to two recent pieces of legislation by the American Publishers' Association. One the removal of the postage regulation on books, thus allowing any bookseller to compete for business in any part of the U. S.; the other the regulation of jobbing discounts. The effect of both these measures is once more to centralize the trade in the hands of the large dealers, and to rescind as far as possible the conditions previous to the formation of the Association so far as the country dealer is concerned. Have the publishers given us up as a hopeless case?

The complainants are clearly unaware of the difficulties that beset the directors of the affairs of the American Publishers' Association in strengthening their position and perfecting their organization. In taking any steps to protect the trade through any of its actions, the American Publishers' Association is obliged to weigh and consider every point, legal and economic, that may have bearing on such action. What may appear as a compromise, or a backward step, to the uninformed observer, upon closer examination, and in the light of full knowledge of the reasons that made the measure necessary, is likely to prove to be simply another step in the direction of progress, and is made to strengthen the position of the trade against attacks from the enemy. In such a light the repeal of the rule requiring that the postage be added to the price of a book published by the members of the American Publishers' Association must be regarded. This step was not taken without due consideration of the best interests of the trade; and the repeal was voted only after the legal adviser of the Association—an eminent corporation lawyer—had declared that the rule was positively untenable, and that its retention was liable to involve the Association in litigation which would end in the inevitable defeat of the Association.

It was found, on going into the matter thoroughly, that it was impossible to frame a rule that would bind every dealer in books who undertook to deliver books to his customers free of charge, to demand the cost of transportation. Every bookseller, as every other merchant in these days, will undertake to deliver books without charge to such of his customers as may live within reach. This reach may be short; or, as in the case of large department stores, it may extend in a radius of forty or fifty miles. It would be clearly impossible to dictate to a large buyer how far his free delivery of books shall extend. The houses whose free-delivery reach was not so long as that of their more fortunate competitors, as soon as they became aware of this fact, were ready to point out to the publishers that it was an unfair discrimination to permit one class of booksellers to make deliveries by wagon or rail and to restrain others from using the mails as distributing agents. To adhere to such a course was to provoke an attack on the Association, in which the courts would be asked to decide whether such a discrimination against the United States mail was legal. There was therefore but one thing to do, much as the necessity for doing it was regretted by a number of the publishers, and that was to rescind the rule. A way may be found in the future to accomplish what the Association hoped to accomplish in adopting the postage rule; but until such a way is discovered the booktrade must make the best of the condition that confronts it in this direction. As it is, the publishers themselves still charge postage on their books, so that they are doing whatever they can do legally to aid the bookseller.

Referring to the matter of regulating jobbing discounts, all we can say is that we cannot see why country dealers, any more than their urban brethren, should suffer from a move in the direction towards employing legitimate methods of selling books to the trade by both jobbers and publishers, which will bring with it certainty to the retail dealer that he is buying his supply at the lowest market price, and that there is no danger that his competitors may be tempted to give away part of their margins. The new jobbing rule is not calculated in practice to work any hardship to the bookseller. The rule, logically carried out, was meant only to provide a small part of the protection to the jobber that has been so freely granted by the other rules of the Association to the general bookseller. Should this prove a fallacy, the rules of the Association are not immutable. They are subject to as many changes in the future, as they have already been subjected to in its short career, when the need for a change becomes apparent or imperative.

THE AMENDED PLAN OF THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE following plan to correct evils connected with the cutting of prices on copyrighted books was adopted at a meeting of the American Publishers' Association, held February 13, 1901. The amendments referring to fiction were adopted at meetings held January 8, 1902, and May 27, 1902:

1. That the members of the American Publishers' Association agree that all copyrighted books first issued by them after May 1, 1901, shall be published at net prices, which it is recommended shall be reduced from the prices at which similar books have been issued heretofore: Provided, however, that there shall be exempt from this agreement all school books, such works of fiction, (not juveniles,) and new editions as the individual publisher may desire, books published by subscription and not through the trade, and such other books as are not sold through the trade.

2. It is recommended that the retail price of a net book, marked net, be printed on a paper wrapper covering the book.

3. That the members of the Association agree that such net copyrighted books and all others of their books shall be sold by them to those booksellers only who will maintain the retail price of such net copyrighted books for one year, and to those booksellers and jobbers only who will sell their books further to no one known to them to cut such net prices or whose name has been given to them by the Association as one who cuts such prices or who fails to abide by such fair and reasonable rules and regulations as may be established by local associations as hereinafter provided.

A dealer or bookseller may be defined as one who makes it a regular part of his business to sell books and carries stock of them for public sale.

4. That the members of the Association agree that on all copyrighted works of fiction, (not net,) published by them after February 1, 1902, the greatest discount allowed at retail for one year after publication shall be 28 per cent.; and all the rules for the protection of net books shall apply to the protection of fiction to this extent.

The conditions governing the sale of fiction are such that the Association does not attempt to fix a uniform price at which works of fiction (not net) shall be sold, but only to name a maximum discount which, however, it is hoped will rarely be given.

When a work of fiction published under this rule is sent postpaid the price to the purchaser shall be not less than the minimum price, plus the postage.

5. The only exceptions to the foregoing rules shall be in the case of libraries, which may be allowed a discount of not more than 10 per cent. on net books and 33 1-3 per cent. on fiction.

Libraries entitled to these discounts may be defined as those libraries to which access is either free or by annual subscription. Book clubs are not to be entitled to discount on net books, nor to any special discount on fiction.

6. That the Association suggests a discount on net copyrighted books of 25 per cent. to dealers as a general discount, leaving the question of discount, however, entirely to the individual publisher.

7. That after the expiration of a year from the publication of any copyrighted book issued under these regulations dealers shall not be held to the above restrictions and may sell such book at a cut price; but if on learning of such action the publisher shall desire to buy back at purchase price the copies then remaining in the dealers' hands they must be so resold to him on demand.

8. That when the publisher sells at retail a net book published under the rules it shall be at the retail price, and he shall add the cost of postage or expressage on all books sent out of the city in which the publisher does business.

9. That for the purpose of carrying out the above plan the directors of the Association be authorized to establish an office and engage a suitable person as manager, and endeavor to secure from all dealers in books assent to the above conditions of sale. Under the direction of the Board the Manager shall investigate all cases of cutting reported, and when directed shall send out notices to the Association, jobbers, and the trade of any persons violating the above provisions.

10. That it shall be the duty of all members of the Association to report immediately to the said office all cases of the cutting of prices which may come to their knowledge.

11. That the Association through its agents and members aid in the formation of booksellers' associations in the important centres and cities in the United States, the object of which associations shall be to assist the Publishers' Association in maintaining prices on net books as aforesaid, and to establish such lawful rules and regulations respecting the conduct of business in their locality as will tend to secure fair, honorable and uniform methods of business in each important centre or section of the country. That the Association pledge itself to support such local associations by every means in its power in maintaining such lawful rules and regulations as may in this way be agreed to.

ANOTHER TRADE OPINION ON THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & CO.

No doubt we all agree that the Law of Penalties on (assumed) undervaluation of imported sheets and books, as now administered by the Custom House authorities, is very objectionable, and that the methods in practice of assessing penalties without redress, should be discontinued. But it is quite another matter to abolish the tariff on books simply to do away with the evil referred to.

Among some of the objections to this form of remedy I would point out that books can be made much cheaper in England than in this country.

For example, take the matter of binding, which is the largest item in the cost of manufacturing books. The minimum wage to journeymen in this country is not less than $18 a week, while in England $12 is the average, just two-thirds of the cost here.

The best grades of cloth or muslin used for the covers pay a duty of 30 to 40 per cent. Much of this cloth is now made in this country; but, as is well known, the largest factory is controlled by an English manufacturer, who thus practically controls the price here.

The gold leaf used on the covers and edges is also subject to a tariff of $1.75 per pack of 500 sheets.

On leather there is also a duty of 20 per cent. In regard to type, paper, ink, etc., and press work, suffice it to say that the same principle applies to a greater or less extent.

I am confident that I can establish the point clearly that there are very good reasons why the present tariff on books should be retained.

The fact that skilled labor is paid 50 per cent., (or even 25 per cent.,) more than for the same work in England—that much of the cloth used costs the binder 30 to 40 per cent. more than his English competitor, his leather from 20 to 25 per cent. more, his gold leaf from $2 to $3 per pack more, is sufficient to give the English manufacturer such an advantage that even with 25 per cent. tariff against him he is able to send over an increasing number of books to be disposed of in this market.

Any proposition to remove the tariff on books should also carry with it the removal of duties on all the materials that enter into the manufacture of books.

The probability of any tariff modification would seem to be doubtful when one considers the army of allied trades engaged in this industry, such as compositors, electrotypers, printers, binders, manufacturers of book cloth, leather manufacturers' gold beaters, paper makers, and others.

All the labor organizations throughout the country would enter a vigorous protest, to say nothing of the majority of strictly American publishers, and insist that the present tariff on books and the materials pertaining to their manufacture be retained.

I think that they would not only have a fair argument, but a most convincing one if the subject should be brought before Congress for consideration.

FOR A PRINTER'S PENSION.

MR. W. HUGH SPOTTISWOODE, who is at present in this country assisting in the perfecting of the consolidation of the interests of the London Bible Warehouse, E. & J. B. Young & Co. and Thomas Nelson & Sons, has published the following letter that should meet with a hearty response from the printing trade as well as all those allied with it:

I hope to have the honor of presiding at the seventy-sixth anniversary festival of the Printers' Pension, Almshouse and Orphan Asylum Corporation, which will be held at the Hotel Metropole, London, on Wednesday, June 10.

An important feature of this institution, which was founded in 1827 and was granted a royal charter in 1855, is that those who desire to become recipients of its benefits must themselves have been contributors to a nominal extent to the pension funds.

It may probably be known to your readers that Benjamin Franklin worked as a compositor and pressman in England in the years 1725-26. The actual handpress at which he worked was carefully preserved in England until 1841, despite many offers by United States citizens to purchase it. In that year the press was handed over to an American visitor in England, with a free hand to present it to the American nation, as he might think best. At the same time the donors expressed a hope, which was cordially reciprocated, that some form of subscription might be organized in the States for the foundation of a special Benjamin Franklin Pension to be devoted to the less fortunate members of the printing trade in England, to which any citizen of the United States of America would naturally have first nomination.

The recipient of the press exhibited it in Liverpool before it was shipped, and about £300 out of £750, required to found a pension of 10 shillings a week, was subscribed in England to the Franklin Pension. The press was handed over to the United States Patent Office in 1842, and in 1883 was transferred to the National Museum in Washington. There, however, the matter seems to have dropped.

So, as president of the anniversary festival for this year, I venture to take the opportunity of a short visit to the States to bring these facts before your readers, in the hopes that I may receive some contributions, however small, which will be duly acknowledged at the dinner, to augment the Franklin Pension, and make it more worthy of the great name which it bears. I am, yours faithfully,

W. HUGH SPOTTISWOODE,
King's Printer.

New York, March 10, 1903.

THE ERRORS OF BOOKSELLERS.

A CORRESPONDENT of the London Publishers' Circular calls the attention of Mr. John Skalkeld, the dealer in old books who, in the Publishers' Circular, recently told some interesting stories of the up and downs of old books,) to the fact that less than three years ago he saw in one of his periodical catalogues a little book marked at half-a-crown, the identical price Mr. Skalkeld paid for a "dumpy quarto" that he sold directly, in the next street, for £20—a transaction over which he was inclined to crow. What price this particular book offered by Mr. Skalkeld at half-a-crown would fetch now or in a year or two it would be difficult to estimate; but it would be at a considerable advance over the price set by Mr. Skalkeld, for the reason that the other few existing copies are all in public and college libraries and will never be for sale. The little book was "Nova Solyma," the newly-discovered romance by Milton, recently published in this country by Charles Scribner's Sons.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING.

THE March meeting and annual election of The Booksellers' League, held on Wednesday evening, the 11th, at the Aldine rooms, was not as largely attended as usual, presumably because it had been announced merely as a business meeting, no mention having been made of expected speakers. Those who stayed away, however, lost the rare opportunity of listening on the same occasion to the intrepid young traveller, Harry De Windt, and to the veteran "Poet of the Sierras," Joaquin Miller. Dr. L. T. Chamberlain was also present as a guest, but did not speak.

When every one present had done his full duty by the excellent dinner, President John A. Holden called the meeting to order to listen to the annual report of the Board of Trustees read by the Secretary, Francis Gilman.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

To the members of The Booksellers' League.

GENTLEMEN: Your President and Board of Managers take pleasure in presenting you their annual report, as follows:

The Booksellers' League, at the end of its eighth year, is in a very prosperous condition, the membership having increased during the year, the latest count being 138. The Board of Managers have held frequent meetings, at which the average attendance has been eleven.

Seven dinners have been given, including the annual dinner, and the interest in these dinners is shown by the large attendance, averaging fifty. The speaking has been of a more than usually high character and was intensely interesting. The names of the speakers in part are as follows:

At the March dinner, in 1902, which was a tribute to Mr. James S. Baker, we heard from Messrs. George Haven Putnam, Simon Brentano, Nelson Taylor, J. H. Dingman, and A. Growoll.

At the April dinner Mr. Everett T. Tomlinson, author of several well-known books for young people, spoke on the subject of "Reading for Young People;" Mr. James Barnes, assistant editor of Harper's Weekly, told a number of interesting stories, and Dr. I. K. Funk spoke on the subject of the "Higher Order of Books."

At the May dinner Mr. Ernest Thompson-Seton entertained the members with a talk on nature books; Mr. J. Hamblen Sears spoke, in a humorous vein, upon "Angling for Authors," and Mr. Louis Burgess gave several excellent recitations of sketches in negro dialect.

In October we had an interesting talk from Mr. Francis H. Nichols on "Hidden Shensi," and Mr. Robert P. Woodward described his travels on a donkey's hurricane deck, from New York to San Francisco.

At the November dinner the Rev. Thomas Dixon spoke of "The Development of the Anglo-Saxon Race and its Destiny;" Dr. Thomas Slicer referred to "The Foibles and Follies of the Book-buyer." Dr. Canfield talked of "The Mission, Duties and Responsibilities of the Bookseller," and I. W. Mackay performed feats of ventriloquism.

We will not soon forget our enjoyable evening in January of this year with Messrs. Charles G. D. Roberts, Henry Harland, W. H. Drummond and Homer Davenport, whose stories were very entertaining.

At our annual banquet, held February 11 last, Professor John Dyneley Prince, Will Carleton and the Rev. Minot J. Savage delivered interesting addresses, and the Plectra Mandolin Club kindly furnished the musical entertainment.

The Employment Bureau, during the past year, has maintained its reputation for assisting our members, and also some outsiders, in finding suitable positions, as the following report from Mr. C. E. Bonnell, the manager of the Bureau, will show:

REPORT OF THE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU, MARCH 7, 1902, TO MARCH 3, 1903.

Calls for help..... 53

This is about the same number as last year.

Applications for positions..... 67

A falling off of about 40% from the previous year, which seems to be a good sign of improvement in the trade.

Received from those obtaining positions..... $3.75

Some have paid their dues, others have not. It might be well to exact a fee upon registering a name, as the applicant frequently asks if there is anything to pay. A nominal entrance fee of twenty-five cents might be well to consider, with a further payment of from fifty cents to $1, according to the position, to be paid, say, within a week, after the situation is obtained. C. E. BONNELL.

The Treasurer's report will show that the money received has been well spent—the greater part in feeding the inner man—and that there is a sufficient balance on hand to carry us along.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER, MARCH 11, 1903.

Finance Committee.

It has been decided to attempt during the coming year the introduction of a new feature, namely, a "Roll Call" at each meeting, the idea being that some topic of interest to the members be selected, and that in answering to his name each member may speak on the subject briefly, giving his ideas and views. If unable to attend, and he so wishes, he may be represented by a written note. By this means it is hoped to further intensify the interest in our business and to get points that may be mutually helpful in conducting it.

If every member of the Booksellers' League, during the coming year, would induce one of his friends to join, we need have no fear for our future, and next year might be the banner year of the League, so far as membership is concerned.

The election of officers for 1903 then took place, resulting in the unanimous choice of Cass Richardson, of E. P. Dutton & Co., as President, and the following as members of the Board of Trustees: J. B. Brigham, John Briggs, J. A. Holden, F. D. Lacey, W. H. Parker and Samuel Reis. The President is ex-officio a member of the Board. At the request of President Richardson, retiring President Holden presided during the evening.

Harry De Windt then described his recent journey by land from Paris to New York to ascertain the feasibility of a railroad over that route, and by means of a stereopticon showed many actual scenes from this thrilling trip.

De Windt left Paris on December 19, 1901, his companions being George Harding and the Vicomte de Clinchamp, and travelled by rail via Berlin and Moscow to Irkutsk, thence 2000 miles by horse sledge to Yakutsk, thence 2000 miles by reindeer sledge to Sredni-Kolymsk, thence 2000 miles to Behring Strait, thence via Cape Nome and San Francisco to New York, which he reached on August 25, 1902, having covered 18,484 miles in a little over eight months.

Mr. De Windt exhibited several views showing the wonderful development in six years of Cape Nome, where he attended an evening dress ball, and of the wonderful White Pass Railroad. He thought a railroad from Paris to New York a probability of the future. The expense, however, would be enormous, and for many years to come it would not pay. A bridge across Behring Strait he considers an engineering impossibility.

Joaquin Miller expressed his great admiration of Mr. De Windt's narrative; he liked the "room" of it. He thought the New Yorker needed more room in his life. "We are apt to think New York is all the world," he said. "But out West is the place! where we have the Pacific—the American—Ocean, the most unpacific of oceans, but oh, the room and the majesty of it all!"

He went on to say that we should learn to love the beautiful—as do the Japanese, for instance. He showed a Japanese book printed on silk paper and weighing an ounce or two, and compared it with an ordinary twelvemo, which would weigh perhaps two pounds. "I believe I have published a book," he said, "but I will never publish one in a coffin like that!"—pointing to the American-made book. "I never published a book with pictures in it; if I cannot make a picture of the book itself I will not write it. Put it in black and white and trust your reader to have some intelligence." In short, Mr. Miller commended to the League the Japanese book in his hand as a model of what a book should be. "The man who first gets the fine silken paper—" Here he declared that he, too, was now obliged, like the New Yorker, to run and catch trains, and cut short his remarks.

Votes of thanks were extended to both speakers, and the meeting broke up with the universal feeling that the evening had been one of exceptional interest.

A NEW METHOD OF MARKETING BOOKS.

OUR German friends are not quite so slow as they are usually supposed to be; at any rate there are some sharp ones in the book-trade, as the following will show. It certainly is a unique way of marketing books.

A bookseller in Göttingen received a call from a person representing himself to be a school teacher named Müller of a neighboring village. He looked at some books and finally ordered a work on decorative art which he claimed was published by Fr. Salis in Berlin. The Göttingen bookseller ordered the book, for which he was obliged to pay 6 marks C. O. D. Upon notifying Mr. Müller the bookseller received word that no such person could be found. On examining the book received from Berlin it was found to contain ten cheap lithographs.

The same swindle is reported from at least three other cities, and very likely the alleged Mr. Müller did not confine his operations to these only. In every case the book that was received contained worthless lithographs or color prints.

The amusing part of the story is that the booktrade is hot in chase after Müller. It would seem to us that the firm who did business under the aliases of Fr. Salis, F. Klinge & Salis, etc., and who gathered in the marks and pfennig, could be run to cover more easily.

DR. GILMAN HEAD OF THE BIBLE SOCIETY.

DR. DANIEL C. GILMAN, president of the Carnegie Institution, was on March 5 elected president of the American Bible Society, at a meeting of the board of managers of that institution, held in the Bible House, Fourth Avenue and East Eighth and Ninth Streets, New York. Since the death of ex-Judge Enoch L. Fancher, on February 9, 1900, the society has had no president. About a year ago John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, was elected, but declined to serve on account of his business affairs. The Rev. Dr. Edward W. Gilman, a brother of the new president, was a corresponding secretary of the society for over thirty years before his death two years ago. It is said by the friends of Dr. Gilman here that he will accept his election.

ENGLISH "AS SHE IS SPOKE" IN A SPANISH BOOKSTORE.

THE following has been circulated by an enterprising bookseller of Madrid: "Heraldo's Booksellery. It is the best assorted in Spain, particularly the expoot to foreign countries the books edited spanish, original or translated, against one very reasonable commission. —She admit subscriptions to all newspapers and reviews of the world.—She grives gratis all bibliographio references on demand.—She admets all commission concerning the book-sellery. Here is their device: To work much, right and cheeplly."

OBITUARY NOTES.

BERNARDO K. KNIGHT, for many years with the J. B. Lippincott Company, and later in charge of the book order department of Strawbridge & Clothier, died last week at the Pennsylvania Hospital. Mr. Knight's acquaintance in trade circles was very extensive.

NORMAN ARGO, said to have been the original "Uncle Tom," died on the 9th inst. at Paint Lick, Ky. He was said to be 111 years old. Argo was born a slave and belonged to General Samuel Kennedy, a wealthy planter of Garrard County and a former member of the Kentucky Legislature. Mrs. Stowe obtained most of the material for "Uncle Tom's Cabin" from the Kennedy plantation.

WILLIAM F. RIGBY, who for ten years was associated with his brother, George H. Rigby, the dealer in old and rare books, at 1113 Arch Street, Philadelphia, died in that city March 8, after an illness of fifteen days. Mr. Rigby was quite a young man, having been born in 1875, but he had remarkable aptitude and was well grounded in the knowledge of books, and passionately devoted to his business, which in time would have enabled him to hold a place in the front rank of his profession.

PROFESSOR GASTON BRUNO PAULIN PARIS, of the College de France, the celebrated French archivist and paleographer, died in Paris on the 6th inst. Professor Paris was born at Avenay, Marne, August 9, 1839. Among other interesting and curious works he published "Etude sur le rôle de Paccet latin dans la langue française," 1862; "De pseudo-Turpino," 1865; "Histoire poétique de Charlemagne," 1866; "La Petite Poucet et la Grande Ourse," 1879; "La Poésie du moyen âge," "Leçons et lectures," 1888; second edition 1889; "La Littérature française du moyen âge," 1888. He founded, together with Paul Meyer, the Revue Critique, 1866; the Romania, 1872, and the Revue Historique.

ANDREW CARPENTER WHEELER, ("Nym Crinkle,") newspaper writer, author and critic, died at Monsey, Rockland County, on March 10. Mr. Wheeler was born at 19 John Street, New York, June 4, 1835. He began his newspaper career as a reporter for the New York Times when Henry J. Raymond was editor. In the late fifties he went to Kansas and shortly before the war to Milwaukee, where he edited the Sentinel, leaving that paper to go through the war as correspondent. Returning to New York he wrote for the New York Leader over the name "Trinculo." His dramatic criticism, though often swayed by prejudice, attracted wide attention, and prompted Manton Marble to induce him to join the staff of the Sunday World, for which he wrote under the pseudonym of "Nym Crinkle." He was also connected with the New York Sun, and, later, with the Evening Post, for which he wrote under the pen name of "J. P. M." He wrote a comedy entitled "The Twins," one of the many adaptations of "A Tale of Two Cities," which was produced at Wallack's. He was the author of "The Chronicles of Milwaukee," "Easter in a Hospital Bed," "The Primrose Path of Dalliance," and "The Toltec Cup." He was also the author of "Tangled up in Beulah Land," recently published as by "J. P. M.," and he wrote besides this, in the last year of his life, three other books—"A Journey to Nature," "The Making of a Country Home" and the "Conquering of Kate"—all of which have been published serially over those initials. It is interesting to note in this connection that Messrs. Doubleday, Page & Co., who will publish within the month "J. P. M.'s" "The Conquering of Kate," knew the author only by the name of J. P. Mowbray. "Tangled Up in Beulah Land" is now being dramatized. He had a share in writing "The Still Alarm," "Blue Jeans," and "The Great Diamond Robbery." He wrote the words for several songs and was himself an accomplished musician. He had studied law, medicine and theology, and once went to Boston and delivered a lecture, which he called "Skylarks and Daisies," in reply to Ingersoll's attacks on Christianity. He amused himself by painting and collecting books and pictures.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ARTHUR UPSON, author of "Octaves in an Oxford Garden," just published by Edmund D. Brooks, Minneapolis, wrote the thirty octaves of which the book consists during residence at Oxford two years ago. He is also the author of a collection of lyrics called "Westwind Songs," which had the unusual compliment of being issued with an introduction by Carmen Sylva, the Queen of Roumania.

It will probably be a surprise to many to be told that Joseph Conrad, the author of "Youth," the three tales of the world's waterways, that McClure, Phillips & Co. have just brought out, is not writing in his native tongue when he writes in English. Mr. Conrad's power over English has been frequently referred to as "wizardry." He seems to have all the most incisive and suggestive words of the English language at his beck and call, and his masterful descriptions have a vividness and strength that few, if any, English born writers can match. Mr. Conrad is no Englishman but a Pole, and was born in a southern province of Poland. His father was a noted critic and poet, who edited a patriotic review at Warsaw. Conrad received his education at a school in Cracow, or at least such a beginning at an education as his natural roving spirit would let him make. He very early put himself in the path of adventures, and was only a slip of a chap, when he took to the sea.

COMMUNICATIONS.

WANTED—WORKS ON SANITARY SCIENCE, STATISTICS, ETC.

FEBRUARY 24, 1903

THE undersigned would be pleased to receive information of works on sanitary science and engineering, more particularly treatises dealing with statistics, life tables, etc.

A. E. MASCORT, M.D.

P. O. Box 91, Havana, Cuba.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Library will hereafter be published also in this country, with the imprint of the Scott-Thaw Company, New York.

THE Frankfurter Journal, one of the oldest newspapers in Germany, has suspended publication. It is supposed to have been founded in 1615 in Frankfort-on-the-Main.

A Century subscriber recently wrote to the publishers inquiring what the charge would be for a life subscription to The Century for a man thirty-three years of age. The question was submitted to one of the large life insurance companies, who report that by the American experience table of mortality, assuming money to earn three per cent. annual interest, a man thirty-three years of age should pay $81.64 for a life subscription to The Century. The publishers do not think that it is worth while to open a department for life subscriptions, but it is interesting to know that a man of thirty-three can look forward to the probable enjoyment of over eighty dollars' worth of future Century Magazines.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

GEORGE H. RICHMOND, 32 West Thirty-third Street, New York, has secured the entire edition of a privately printed catalogue of the English portion of the library of Robert Hoe, of New York, consisting of the works of British authors prior to the year seventeen hundred. Beginning with Caxton, all the early English printers, and nearly all the great masterpieces of English literature will be represented. There will be one hundred or more carefully executed facsimiles accompanying the text. The work will probably be complete in five twelvemo volumes (certainly not more than six,) of about four hundred pages each, issued at intervals of three months. The first volume is now ready. The price to first subscribers is $20 a volume. The edition is strictly limited to 100 copies.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish shortly "A Bibliography of the Separate and Collected Works of Philip Freneau," prepared by Victor Hugo Paltsits, assistant librarian in the New York Public Library, (Lenox Library Building.) Mr. Paltsits, whose work has always been marked by scholarly accuracy, has made what will undoubtedly be the authoritative bibliography of Freneau. In the preparation of this bibliography he has been able to make analytical collations of all the various editions of Freneau's works from a personal examination in many libraries. He records also several smaller pieces which have not, so far as known, survived the ravages of time. Seventeen facsimiles of the chief items mentioned are given, and there is a full index to the work. The edition will be limited to 115 copies on Van Gelder paper.

THE Börsenverein der deutschen Buchhändler zu Leipzig has published the second volume of the catalogue of its library, supplementing the first volume which was brought out in 1885. Though it contains many works printed long before 1885, the present work, to a considerable extent, is a reasonably complete—in many directions even a most comprehensive—bibliography of books, pamphlets, manuscript material, etc., on the subject of printing, bookbinding, paper making, type founding, etc., in fact, of all the materials and trades employed in the manufacture of books; bookselling, practically and historically considered; the legal aspects of bookselling, including copyright; bibliophilism and bibliomania; bibliography and library economy. The work of compiling this excellent catalogue was begun by F. Hermann Meyer, and continued until his death in November, 1892, since which time the present librarian, Konrad Burger, the well-known bibliographer, has had charge of the work. The contents of the catalogue of 1266 octavo pages are made easily accessible by a comprehensive index of 146 double column octavo pages.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A. C. BRIGHTMAN, formerly with the Burrows Brothers Company, has taken a position with Frederic Loeser of Brooklyn.

It is estimated that Mrs. Humphry Ward will receive over $150,000 as her share of the profits on the rights to "Lady Rose's Daughter."

THE collection of Valentine A. Blacque was privately sold to Henry W. Poor, on the 4th inst. The collection consisted of only one hundred books, but nearly every one was a gem.

RICHARD G. BADGER, Boston, announces Julius Wolf's metrical romance of "Tannhäuser," translated by Charles G. Kendall; also, "Vita," a drama, by Grace Denio Litchfield.

BRENTANO's have just brought out Mrs. Dorothea Gerard's latest novel, "The Eternal Woman." The story is of exceptional interest, dealing in part with the "New Woman" question.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY will publish in April a book entitled "How Paris Amuses Itself," by F. Berkeley Smith, author of "The Real Latin Quarter," that attracted considerable attention last year.

FRANKLIN A. HENDERSON, for fourteen years connected with the Pilgrim Press, of Boston, has been appointed manager of the New England Branch of the American Tract Society, at 54 Bromfield Street, Boston.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS, the original publishers of Cooper's works, are preparing a new edition. It will be comprised in sixteen volumes, half the number of the Prairie and Mohawk editions. The name of this new edition will be the Pathfinder.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish early next month a collection of short stories by Bret Harte, which have been found since his death by his literary executors. There are seven stories, the one that will give the book its title being called "Trent's Trust."

CASSELL & COMPANY have in preparation a book of impressions of America, by John Foster who paid a visit to this country last fall with the purpose of studying in detail the main things that account for American industrial progress. The book will be entitled "America at Work."

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK COMPANY will publish on the 25th inst. "The Trail of the Grand Seigneur," by Olin L. Lyman, a story of the northern counties of New York State and the opposite shore of Lake Erie in Canada. The volume will have seven colored plates by J. Steeple Davis and Clare Angell.

ALBERT BRANDT, Trenton, N. J., has just brought out a work entitled "The Gate Beautiful, being the Principles and Methods in Vital Art Education," by John Ward Stimson, formerly director of art education at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, etc. The work is a quarto and is sumptuously illustrated.

ELLEN M. STAPLES, 1024 Hudson Street, Hoboken, N. J., will shortly publish her account of the club-women's trip to the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Los Angeles in May, 1902, entitled "A Twentieth Century Pilgrim's Progress." The volume will have illustrations of places visited en route and a portrait of Mrs. Denison, President of the G. F. W. C.

THE ARTHUR H. CLARK COMPANY, Cleveland, have nearly ready, in The Historic Highways of America series, "Braddock's Road," to be followed by "The Old Glade Road" and "Boone's Wilderness Road;" also, the first of the compendious work on "The Philippine Islands, 1493-1803," edited by E. H. Blair and J. A. Robertson, with an introduction by Prof. E. G. Bourne.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY will issue early in April, Irving Bacheller's new novel, "Darrel of the Blessed Isles." This book the publishers believe will be recognized as Mr. Bacheller's strongest work in fiction, having a vital motive, strength of plot and interest of character, and being written with all the idyllic charm which is his when he tells of the North country before the war.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY have just published the new book on "Italy and the Italians," by Edward Hutton, whose "Studies in the Lives of the Saints" has already received favorable comment. Mr. Hutton combines a deep love for Italy with familiarity with her ways and her history. Thus the book begins with the starting on foot for Italy and the journey through France and over the mountains.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., has in preparation a new novel by Dr. James Bell Naylor, author of "Ralph Marlowe." It is a frontier story, with all the lights and shadows of the early settlements in the Northwest Territory, and has to do with Anthony Wayne's famous expedition against the redmen, as the title, "Under Mad Anthony's Banner," indicates. It will be illustrated by C. M. Coolidge.

HARDY, PRATT & Co., of Boston, will publish at once a popular edition of "The Letters of Mlle. Julie de Lespinasse," with notes upon her life and character by d'Alembert, Marmontel and de Guibert, and an introduction by C. A. Sainte Beuve, translated by Katherine Prescott Wormeley. This book has an interest just now because it is supposed to have served as a model for Mrs. Ward's latest story, "Lady Rose's Daughter."

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly "Red-Headed Gill," a story, by Rye Owen, a new author, that is said to be full of stirring incidents, and to hinge on the weird influence of a piece of Indian silk; "Princess of Hanover," by Margaret L. Wood, a drama, of which the London Times says, "it reminds us at every turn of some of the best of the Elizabeth dramatists;" also, a new edition of "The Lightning Conductor," which will have a new final chapter.

HARPER & BROTHERS have in hand a work entitled "New Conceptions of Science," which is designed to give the laymen a chance to keep pace with scientific progress. The author is Carl Snyder, a young American scientist, who stirred up much heated discussion by an article upon the inferiority of the American position in the world of science. Since then he has been much before the public, and always as the exponent of vigorous and somewhat aggressive theories.

CLARKE CONWELL, (The Elston Press,) New Rochelle, N. Y., has in press the third volume in his series of Shakesperean reprints, namely, Laurence Twine's "Patterne of Painfull Adventures," the original of Shakespeare's "Pericles, Prince of Tyre," the first edition of which was probably issued about 1576, although no copy of so early an edition has ever come to light. The present reprint is from an edition edited by Collier in 1844. The edition will be limited to 170 copies.

THERE is an unsupported rumor abroad that the Robert Clarke Company will not resume the business of retailing books, but will devote itself exclusively to publishing law books and works of a historical character. We trust this will not prove true. Not only Cincinnati, but the whole country would suffer a serious loss in the disappearance of that historic old place that was known from Boston to San Diego simply as "Robert Clarke's," and that was equally well known by that name in the British and European capitals.

WE inadvertently allowed the statement to be made in our last week's issue that the original publisher of James L. Ford's "The Literary Shop" had failed. This, as every one in the trade knows, is absolutely without foundation. The firm in question closed out its business, including its publishing interests, and that is how the plates of Mr. Ford's book came into the open market. The head of the concern in question immediately opened up, under his own name, a new business which he has conducted since, and is successfully carrying on at the present time.

CHARLES E. GOODSPEED, 5 Park Street, Boston, Mass., will publish this spring F. B. Sanborn's recollections of Emerson, together with his account of Emerson's individuality viewed after a long and intimate acquaintance. The book will be entitled "The Personality of Emerson," and will contain as illustrations, an etching by Sidney L. Smith, from the (standing) portrait of Emerson painted by David Scott, in Edinburgh, in 1848, and fac-similes of two letters. The edition will be 500 copies on French handmade paper and 75 copies on Japan paper.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will publish early in April "Lomai of Lenakel, a hero of the New Hebrides," by Frank H. L. Paton, the son of John G. Paton, well-known for his missionary work among the Cannibals of the South Seas. The son is the worthy successor of his father, and the pages of his book record the same daring, adventurous and intrepid spirit in his missionary work. The book has been edited by the Rev. Dr. James Paton, brother of the father and uncle of the son, whose editing of his brother's autobiography helped to make that work a landmark in the literature of Christian missions.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY will publish March 17 "His Friend the Enemy," a tale of the Northwest, by William Wallace Cook. They will publish at once a third edition of "The Room with the Little Door," by Roland B. Molineux; a third edition of "A Coin of Edward VII," by Fergus Hume; also, a second edition of 25,000 copies "Back to the Woods," by the author of "John Henry" etc. They will publish in May "Because of Power," by Ella Stryker Mapes, a handsome series of 50-cent paper covered popular works of fiction, to be issued monthly during the spring and summer.

FRANCIS P. HARPER, New York, will publish early in April a new work by Capt. Hiram Martin Chittenden, the author of the "American Fur Trade of the Far West." It is entitled "History of Early Steamboat Navigation on the Missouri River: life and adventures of Joseph La Barge, pioneer navigator and Indian trader, for fifty years identified with the commerce of the Missouri valley." The set will be illustrated with portraits and views from old photographs and will be in two octavo volumes. It forms No. 4 of the American Explorers Series. A second large edition of the "American Fur Trade of the Far West" has just been printed.

R. H. RUSSELL announces a new book by George Ade, entitled "People You Know," which contains, in the form of short stories, twenty-six studies of American character; "Marjorie," a romantic novel by Justin Huntly McCarthy, author of "If I Were King," etc., with a frontispiece in colors by C. Allan Gilbert; "Perverterd Proverbs," by "Col. D. Streamer," the author of "Ruthless Rhymes for Heartless Homes," etc.; "The Black Lion Inn," a new book by Alfred Henry Lewis the historian of "Wolfville;" also a portfolio of "Pierce's American Beauties," reproductions, in black and white photographs, of a number of studies of the types of the American girl.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY have just ready a history of American home missionary work, entitled "Leavening the Nation," by the Rev. Dr. J. B. Clark, secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary Society, who has had the assistance of the secretaries of the Boards of other denominations; "My Woodland Intimates," life histories of the little animals of the woods, by Effie Bignell, author of "Mr. Chupes and Miss Jenny;" also the first two volumes of The Story of the Churches series—"The Baptists," by Dr. Henry C. Vedder of Crozier Theological Seminary, and "The Presbyterians," by Dr. Charles Lemuel Thompson, secretary of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will bring out this spring a book entitled "Feathered Game," a handbook for sportsmen, by Dwight W. Huntington, which besides describing all the game birds in this country, will tell where they may be shot, and give information about guns, dogs, game clubs, preserves, etc., with illustrations and photographs of game birds. The letters of Mme. Waddington, which have lately been appearing in Scribner's Magazine, will be published about the middle of spring in an illustrated volume entitled "Letters of a Diplomat's Wife," by Mary King Waddington. The parts which have already appeared, although suggestive of the whole, form only one-quarter of the entire material, and by no means its most interesting episodes.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, has just issued a little book entitled "A Woman's Wanderings and Trials during the Anglo-Boer War," by Mrs. De La Rey, the wife of the famous Boer general. Mrs. De La Rey's story is a remarkable one. She must have risked and escaped capture as often as her countryman, De Wet, and her movements were so swift and so cunning that she frequently conversed with her husband and with a British general on one and the same day. She had a homely wit and a way of "getting round" the English officers, which is often amusing. There are some interesting descriptions of her interviews with Lord Methuen both before her farm was destroyed by his orders and after he was captured by her husband. Written without literary pretensions, yet full at times of simple eloquence, this little book will be found to be a human document of the most moving character.

THE fact that the Emperor of Germany has upheld the cause of orthodox theology against the opinions expressed by Professor F. Delitzsch, of Berlin, has caused surprise among many in this country, to whom the latter name has stood for all that was sound as well as scholarly in biblical criticism. The mystification arises from the confusion of Dr. Franz Delitzsch, the father, with Dr. Friedrich Delitzsch, the son. It is the latter with whom the emperor is in theological controversy, although in archaeological agreement. Delitzsch, the son, will shortly introduce himself to the American public by the series of lectures upon his recent Babylonian investigations, to which, when delivered in Berlin, the emperor lent his presence and approval, dissenting afterward from certain theological conclusions of the lecturer. Dr. Franz Delitzsch, the father, has long been known in this country through translations of his biblical commentaries, notably those upon the "Prophecies of Isaiah" and the "Book of Psalms," published by Funk & Wagnalls Company.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just published, by arrangement with Swan Sonnenschein & Co., "A Descriptive Guide to the Best Fiction, British and American," including translations from foreign languages, and containing about 4500 references, with exhaustive indexes and historical index, prepared by Ernest A. Baker, editor of "Half-forgotten Books." They have also brought out "Art in the Nineteenth Century," by Dr. Charles Waldstein, the basis of which is the author's lecture on the achievement of art in the nineteenth century, delivered at the University of Cambridge in August, 1902. They have in preparation a play by Percy Mackaye, entitled "The Canterbury Pilgrims," which E. H. Sothorn has accepted for production. The work is a comedy in verse, with a love affair between Chaucer and the Prioress for its chief motif. They also announce a story entitled "Ronald Carnaquay, a Commercial Clergyman," by Bradley Gilman, one of the chief interests of which lies in the development of the character of the rector, who has been a commercial traveller, and who goes into the church for what he can get out of it; also, "The Moral System of Shakespeare," by Richard G. Moulton, a popular illustration of fiction as the experimental side of philosophy.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just ready the American edition of the Duke of Abruzzi's account of his polar expedition entitled "On the Polar Star in the Arctic Sea," in two octavo volumes, with sixteen photogravures and about three hundred half-tone reproductions of photographs taken by the author: "The Gold Wolf," by Max Pemberton, a story of the curse that inherited wealth brings to one man; "Handicapped Among the Free," by Emma Rayner, author of "Free to Serve," etc., in which the author describes the disadvantages under which a Southern negro must make his way among the late masters and in company with his fellow freedmen; also, "The Story of an East-Side Family," by Lillian W. Betts, author of "The Leaven in a Great City," who relates the evolution of an east-side family of New York, which by clever management, industry and economy goes up the social ladder and becomes a power among its fellow men. They have just issued the seventh volume of their "New International Encyclopædia," which carries the work from Ethics to Fuller-Maitland. The subject of Ethics is very fully treated, occupying eleven of the volume's dignified pages. Other subjects treated with reasonable comprehensiveness from the lexicographer's point of view are Ethnology, Etymology, Europe, with four colored maps and a colored plate showing the white races of Europe; Evolution. Exegesis, Explosives, Eye, Factories, Feudalism, Finance, Fire Insurance, Fisheries, Flags, with two colored plates; Florida, with map; Flour, with two plates; Flowers, Food, Fortifications, France, with maps; Friends, and French literature. Nor are the numerous other items slighted; indeed, as the work grows in bulk it also grows in fulness of treatment. The illustrations of the present volume consist of eight colored plates, ten colored maps, twenty-three full-page plates, and numerous illustrations in the text.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Who publishes the reprint of "Excursions of an Irish M. P."?

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

[P] In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Those that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

[P] Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

105th Thousand

The Leopard's Spots

By THOMAS DIXON, Jr.

Is selling faster than ever.

The day we got in the last printing, making a hundred thousand, we had to order another five.

As we prophesied, the second hundred thousand is starting out strong.

There ought to be as many readers for the "only offset ever written to 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'" as there were for that remarkable book itself.

A New Book of New England Ghost Stories

By MARY E. WILKINS

The Wind in The Rose-Bush

Mrs. Freeman has won success in many literary fields, but this volume represents still a new achievement: a series of New England ghost stories whose reality and "creepiness" are remarkable. It is an absorbing book.

(Illustrated by PETER NEWELL. $1.50)

House Building and Furnishing

Being a combined new edition of "Model Houses for Little Money," by WILLIAM L. PRICE, and "Inside of 100 Homes," by W. M. JOHNSON.

These little volumes met with much success when published separately. Combined they form a very suggestive study of homemaking inside and out for those who are limited in expenditure. The building plans range in price from $1,000 to $4,500, and the many illustrations are full of ideas for those who are about to build.

A Literary Sensation!

THE DISCOVERY THAT

Mlle. Julie de Lespinasse

IS THE ORIGINAL OF

Lady Rose's Daughter

Has created an unprecedented sensation in the literary world. The facts have been verified by comparison, some of which are as follows:

Julie de Lespinasse

1. The natural daughter of a woman of rank, the Comtesse d'Albon.

2. At her mother's death she was left with no resources save those of her own character and a pittance of 100 crowns a year.

3. She was suffering humiliating treatment as a quasi-governess when discovered by Mme. du Deffand, who engaged her as companion on the promise that she would make no claim on her mother's family.

4. Mme. du Deffand, one of the brilliant women of her time, is now nearly blind, imperious, and tyrannical.

Julie Le Breton

1. The natural daughter of a woman of rank, Lady Rose.

2. At her mother's death she is left with no resources save those of her own character and a pittance of £100 a year.

3. She is serving as a quasi-holiday governess when discovered by Lady Henry, who engages her as a companion on the promise that she will make no claim on her mother's family.

4. Lady Henry, one of the brilliant women of her time, is now nearly blind, imperious, and tyrannical.

THE FOURTH AND POPULAR EDITION OF

The Letters of Mlle. Julie de Lespinasse

With notes upon her life and character by D'Alembert, Marmontel, and de Guibert, and an Introduction by C.-A. Sainte-Beuve, translated by Katharine Prescott Wormeley, will be ready shortly at all book-stores. One volume. 12mo. Portrait. Price, $1.25 net. Postage, 10c. additional.

THESE letters will stand forever among the most memorable monuments of passion, to which they have given, as Sainte-Beuve says, an "immortal testimony." Her letters fairly burn the pages upon which they are written, and many noted people are brought into prominence.

Dying at a comparatively early age of a broken heart, she left behind her, as a legacy to the world, letters that rival those left by Héloïse, or even the poetry of Sappho, being immortal pictures of passion. The record of her social triumphs hardly exceeds the romance of her own life. When these letters appeared, there was great emotion in society, several of the friends of Mlle. de Lespinasse being still alive at that date. They deplored the indiscreet publication; they blamed the conduct of the editors, who thus dishonored, they said, the memory of a woman until then respected, and betrayed her secret to all, without the right to do so. Nevertheless, they eagerly enjoyed the reading of the letters, which far surpassed in interest the most ardent romances.

Every reader of "Lady Rose's Daughter" should read the "Letters of Mlle. Julie de Lespinasse"

THE TRAIL OF THE GRAND SEIGNEUR

By OLIN L. LYMAN

With seven superb full-page colored illustrations by J. Steeple Davis and Clare Angell. ❧ ❧ ❧

THE Publishers are confident that this novel will be not only one of the most successful books of the year, but will also take place in the front rank among the acknowledged American masterworks of fiction. The scenes of the novel are laid in the northern counties of New York State and the opposite shore of Lake Erie, in Canada. The author lives in Watertown, and it was while wandering through the woods and thinking of the strange and dramatic sights that the old trees had witnessed, that the plot of the novel suggested itself to him. He has been three years gathering the material. Many of the incidents described are founded on fact. The manuscript was the most interesting that the publishers ever had the pleasure of reading. It is a charming tale, thoroughly healthy and of rare entertainment.

NEW BOOKS

SONGS AND STORIES OF TENNESSEE

By JOHN TROTWOOD MOORE, author of a "A Summer Hymnal." Illustrated by Howard Weeden and Robert Dickey. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

This volume contains the story of "Ole Mistis," which has attained a wide celebrity from its use by professional readers and reciters, and which first brought the author into notice; together with "Gray Gamma," "Miss Kitty's Funeral," and a number of others in Mr. Moore's inimitable view of mingled pathos and humor. The illustrations are notably excellent.

"Will probably renew the success of 'A Summer Hymnal.' The stories are most effective and the humor is of a first rate order."—Phila. Press.

KENT FORT MANOR

By WILLIAM HENRY BABCOCK, author of "The Tower of Wye." (Griffin Series.) Illustrated by W. Sherman Potts. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

The scene of Mr. Babcock's new novel is laid in the Chesapeake Bay, and several of the chief characters are descendants of the William Claiborne who figures in his former book, but the time is that of the Civil War. There is a curious psychological problem of inherited memory involved in the plot which is sure to attract attention and interest.

"The interest of this weird novel centers around a hypothesis tentatively broached by the author that there is such a thing as heredity of memory."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE ARCHIEREY OF SAMARA

A Russian novel. By HENRY ILIOWIZI, author of "The Weird Orient," "In the Pale," etc. (Griffin Series.) Illustrated by Stephen J. Ferris. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

This is a thrilling story of some very interesting phases of Russian life by one who knows his subject thoroughly, having been born and passed his early years in the Russian province of which he writes. It will be found of absorbing interest and of much sociological value.

"A romance, yet it is a great deal more than that. It is history, philosophy and romance combined."—Phila. Record.

"A powerful protest and an effective story."—Phila. Press.

LETTERS OF A DIPLOMAT'S WIFE

By Mary King Waddington

THE selections from Mme. Waddington's letters to her family which have appeared in Scribner's Magazine constitute not more than one-quarter of this book. The writer is the daughter of the late Charles King, President of Columbia College. M. Waddington, whom she married in 1874, was the Ambassador Extraordinary representing France at the Coronation of the Czar and the French Ambassador to England from 1883 to 1893. Mme. Waddington's letters give a remarkably interesting series of portraits and pen pictures of the personages and incidents of her official life during this period. Unconventional, intimate, personal, graphic and witty, these letters have an importance and a distinction which are unique in autobiographical literature.

THE purpose of Mr. Huntington's book is to describe all the game birds of the United States and to tell where and how they may be shot.

Chapters on Guns and Dogs and on Game Clubs and Preserves emphasize the thoroughness with which the subject is discussed. The author has shot nearly every one of the birds about which he writes and is a recognized authority in field sports. He draws upon his personal recollections for many interesting and instructive incidents.

His book consists of forty-seven chapters, and treats fully and entertainingly of every variety of feathered game.

SCRIBNER'S NEW PUBLICATIONS

The Principles of Money

By J. LAURENCE LAUGHLIN, Professor of Political Economy in the University of Chicago.

THIS important work is the first of a truly monumental series of books, planned by the author, perhaps the first American authority in this branch of economics, on the general subject of Money. In this volume he clears the field for discussion of practical details, such as Metallic Money and its history in the United States, Paper Money here and in foreign countries, and banking, by establishing the theory underlying them. The book is an elaborately organized treatment of principles, and constitutes an original and novel contribution to the science of political economy. $3.00 net (postage 22 cents).

Agnosticism

By ROBERT FLINT, D.D., LL.D., F.R.S.E., Corresponding Member of the Institute of France; Professor of Divinity in the University of Edinburgh; author of "Anti-Theistic Theories," "The Philosophy of History in Europe," "Theism," etc.

THE OUTLOOK SAYS

"DR. FLINT'S eminence among representative writers upon Theism commands attention to his treatment of Agnosticism. No writer that we are aware of has treated it so amply and thoroughly as here. Its history, erroneous views of it, its distinguished representatives, its various forms, its relations to various subjects, are successively discussed, both critically and constructively, so as to illuminate the validity of theistic belief."

THE WARD OF KING CANUTE

A ROMANCE OF THE DANISH CONQUEST.

By Otilie A. Liljencrantz, author of "The Thrall of Leif the Lucky."

Few young writers have been so exceptionally successful as Miss Liljencrantz in obtaining the elusive quality called "atmosphere." It is the one absolute essential in a romantic novel, and it was the presence of this quality that made her first book, "The Thrall of Leif the Lucky," so successful. This new book is a romance of the Danish Conquest of England, with pictures by the artists who made the famous illustrations for "The Thrall." ($1.50.)

FELICITAS

By Felix Dahn, author of "A Captive of the Roman Eagles." Translated by Mary J. Safford.

The second volume in the great German author's trio of historical romances, based on the early struggles between Germany and Rome. The third volume is in preparation. ($1.50.)

A SELECTION FROM THE BEST ENGLISH ESSAYS

WITH AN HISTORICAL AND CRITICAL STUDY OF ENGLISH PROSE STYLE.

By Sherwin Cody.

Uniform with Mr. Cody's "A Selection from the World's Greatest Short Stories."

What Mr. Cody did so successfully for the short story in his earlier book he aims to do in this volume for the masterpieces of English style. "The Greatest Short Stories" has now been adopted by twelve large universities and over twenty smaller institutions. ($1.00 net.)

THE SOULS OF BLACK FOLK

By William Burghardt DuBois.

An extraordinarily vital and interesting book by an able advocate of his race's spiritual rights. Mr. DuBois is a graduate of Harvard University and a professor in the University of Atlanta, and himself a man of great culture, he has always contended for the spiritual uplifting of the negro as opposed to Mr. Booker Washington's practical and material theories. He is for right and justice to his people: Mr. Washington for policy and expediency. Altogether the book is a human document quite unlike anything that has appeared in years. ($1.30 net.)

REFLECTIONS OF A LONELY MAN

By "A. C. M."

A delightfully entertaining and original little volume, in which humor and philosophy are judiciously mingled, and distinguished by an unusual lightness of touch. ($1.00 net.)

CARTOONS BY McCUTCHEON

With an Introduction by George Ade.

When Prince Henry was covering this country, the Chicago Record-Herald followed his movements with a series of cartoons that would have made the artist famous had he not been so already. The originals now hang in the Prince's palace at Kiel, but their reproductions, and seventy-five or eighty others, political, humorous, and always delightful, will be found in this portfolio. ($1.25 net.)

THE LAW OF MENTAL MEDICINE

By Thomson J. Hudson, LL.D., author of "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," etc.

Nearly sixty thousand copies of Dr. Hudson's previous book have now been sold, and his new book, which deals in a bold and original way with a subject which is attracting universal attention, will prove an even greater success. ($1.20 net.)

AN INDEX TO POETRY AND RECITATIONS

BEING A PRACTICAL REFERENCE MANUAL FOR THE LIBRARIAN, TEACHER, BOOKSELLER, ELOCUTIONIST, ETC.

Edited by Edith Granger, A. B.

This will undoubtedly prove to be one of the most useful reference books ever published. Over 300 standard and popular collections have been indexed, comprising nearly thirty thousand titles, arranged alphabetically under three heads—titles, authors, and first lines. ($5.00 net.)

Robert Nelson Stephens' New Book

The Mystery of Murray Davenport

Illustrated by H. C. EDWARDS

$1.50

In his latest novel, Mr. Stephens has made a radical departure from the themes of his previous successes. Turning from past days and distant scenes, he has taken up American life of to-day as his new field, therein proving himself equally capable. Original in its conception, striking in its psychological interest, perplexing in its love problem, "The Mystery of Murray Davenport" is the most vital and absorbing of all of Mr. Stephens' novels, and will add not a little to his reputation.

Mr. Stephens' work has attained a remarkable reputation, and his publishers take pride in announcing that they have sold over two hundred and fifty thousand copies of his six books, as follows:

THE ROAD TO PARIS, now 28th thousand
CAPTAIN RAVENSHAW, now 30th thousand
A GENTLEMAN PLAYER, now 37th thousand
AN ENEMY TO THE KING, now 45th thousand
A CONTINENTAL DRAGOON, now 50th thousand
PHILIP WINWOOD, now 73d thousand

The Spoilsmen

By ELLIOTT FLOWER

Author of "Policeman Flynn," etc.

$1.50

A story of municipal politics depicting conditions common to practically all large cities. The political methods employed, however, have in most instances been taken from the actual experiences of men who have served the public in some capacity or other while the stories told of some of the characters are literally true. The love interest centers around a beautiful society girl who inspires a wealthy young man to enter the local campaign, thus becoming involved in the thread of the story which relates to the troubles and complications which follow an effort to be both upright and successful in municipal politics.

A Daughter of Thespis

By JOHN D. BARRY,

Author of "The Intriguers," etc.

The author's experiences as a dramatic critic have enabled him to write with authority on the ever fascinating theme of stage life. From "the front," in the wings, and on the boards—from all these varying points of view is told this latest story of the player folk—an absorbing tale.

Earth's Enigmas

By CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS,

Author of "The Kindred of the Wild," "The Heart of the Ancient Wood," etc.

Illustrated by Charles Livingston Bull

$1.50

A new edition of Mr. Roberts' first work of fiction, published in 1898. It will have added matter, and is largely made up, as in the case of "The Kindred of the Wild," of stories of nature and animal life. These tales of the elemental problems of living, which occur to the primitive folk on the backwoods fringe of civilization are sure to arrest attention for their sincerity, their freshness and their superior craft.

From the Green Book of the Bards

No. 2, Pipes of Pan Series

By BLISS CARMAN

Price $1.00 net. Postage extra

This is the second of a series of volumes covering the work of one of our most gifted and cultured poets. It is the companion volume to his already famous "From the Book of Myths," and, like it, is of handy size, bound in green with white decorations, a beautiful setting for a book of beautiful poems.

The Book of the Rose

By CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS

Price $1.00. Postage extra

A book of love poems this, the author's latest and best output of verse. Fascinating and fragrant in every line, they well fulfil the promise of the title, with their delicate fancies and exquisite forms.

"The love of nature finds its proper voice in the song of the poet. From dawn to dusk, from daisy to star, the great All-Mother whispers her unutterable mysteries into the ear of this best-beloved son, and he translates her messages into words and melody. The close kinship between poet and nature-lover is seen in the verses of Professor Roberts."

The Redfields Succession

By

HENRY B. BOONE and KENNETH BROWN

Author of "Eastover Court House"

This is another Virginia story by the authors of "Eastover Court House," in which some of the characters in the latter novel reappear. Both in plot and love interest "The Redfields' Succession" is the more substantial and interesting story of the two. Truman Galt is an impecunious reporter in New York, and next heir to his uncle, General Galt, who owns the estate of Redfields in Virginia. Truman is in love with Virginia Sanford, a Virginia girl, whose father is a successful New York business man. There are many interesting scenes of Southern life and good stories of Virginians.

Post 8vo, ornamented cloth, $1.50

A story for boys, of the "Robinson Crusoe" kind. Two boys are wrecked on an island in the Indian Ocean. There they have experiences which tax their resources to the utmost—fights with Malay pirates, and with sharks, serpents, and tigers. The story is rich in capital accounts of the strange vegetable and animal life of the place, and is a book sure to fascinate boys.

Illustrated by Florence Scovel Shinn. Post 8vo, ornamented cloth, $1.25 net, postage extra

Pearl Island

By

ANDREW CASTER

This volume includes an estimate of the life and character of "Kaiser William" and all his most important speeches, particularly those touching upon American affairs. Also his most characteristic sayings both before and after he became Emperor of Germany.

Frontispiece portrait. 8vo, ornamented cloth, uncut edges, gilt top, $2.50 net, postage extra

The Kaiser's Speeches

Translated from the original German

A clear and concise exposition of the newest conceptions of science in various fields. Mr. Snyder is known as an able and scholarly writer in this department. His work is written for the layman rather than the technical expert, and will be found of great help to those who desire to be abreast of the wonderful scientific progress of our times.

Illustrated. 8vo, uncut edges, gilt top, $2.00 net, postage extra

CARL SNYDER

Household Accounts

By

CHARLES WALDO HASKINS

Late Dean and Professor of Auditing and of the History of Accountancy in the School of Commerce, Accounts, and Finance of New York University.

A handbook of family finance. Its object is to save housekeepers time, money, and worry, by showing them the practical, easy way of keeping simple accounts. It requires no previous knowledge of bookkeeping. Arranged with tables, etc., it makes a perfectly clear exposition of the best possible way of keeping family accounts, and will commend itself especially to women who do not like to be troubled with intricate calculations.

HARPER'S SPRING BOOKS

A story essentially of modern life. It tells of the struggles of a young writer, Enoch Lloyd, with what seems to be financial success at the price of moral failure. There are two women in the case, the two opposing influences. One is Céleste Moreau, the worldly, mocking daughter of a French hotel-keeper; the other is Marion Lee, daughter of Lloyd's publisher.

Post 8vo, ornamented cloth, $1.50

The Triumph of Life

By

WILLIAM FARQUHAR PAYSON

Author of "John Vytal"

The Love of Monsieur

By

GEORGE GIBBS

Author of "In Search of Mademoiselle"

A dashing romance of the seventeenth or eighteenth century, in which a man who is clever, heroic, magnanimous, and long-suffering falls in love with a perverse and capricious young lady, who leads him a long dance and falls in love with him at last because she cannot help herself. There are all sorts of lively adventures, on sea and land, in which fate throws the two together.

Frontispiece by the author. Post 8vo, ornamented cloth, $1.50

Stories of a militant unmarried bishop, whose work among the rough-and-ready men of Western camps, forts, and villages results in his sharing in many incidents of frontier life—comedy, tragedy, always drama. He has many experiences, some amusing, some thrilling, and these stories afford excellent pictures of life in the roughest parts of the West.

Illustrated. Post 8vo, ornamented cloth, $1.50

The Bishop

By

CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Sinful Peck

By

MORGAN ROBERTSON

Author of "Spun Yarn"

A very funny story of an unintentional sailing voyage to Singapore. "Sinful Peck" gave a dinner party to a number of old friends—respectable bankers, authors, etc.—and in order to win a bet he made them intoxicated and got them shanghaied on a sailing ship bound for Singapore. The joke at times bade fair to become a very serious matter.

Post 8vo, ornamented cloth, $1.50

In this volume of fiction Mr. Howells makes incursions into the unknown, and the episodes of the book deal chiefly with the psychological experiences of the people he writes about. The same idea runs throughout the book, connecting the three parts, which are entitled "The Apparition," "The Angel of the Lord," and "Though One Rose from the Dead."

Uniform with Mr. Howells' Novels. Post 8vo, ornamented cloth, $1.50

Questionable Shapes

By

WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS

Author of "The Kentons," etc.

Rejected of Men

By

HOWARD PYLE

Author of "Men of Iron"

Mr. Pyle has told a thoroughly modern story of intense human interest, into which he introduces Biblical characters who are made to speak and act as people do to-day, but who represent the same principles as they did when Christ came. With a reverence to which no exception can be taken, the story introduces a modern coming of Christ. His poverty. His betrayal, and a vivid portrayal of the way such events would be viewed by the people of to-day.

A Puritan Witch

By MARVIN DANA

A romantic love story woven about the working of witchcraft in Puritan New England. A warfare of good and evil moods, of tenderness and cruelty, of love and hate. The narrative throbs with human passions, and while there are passages of deep tragedy, a happy ending marks the vindication of innocence and the triumph of love.

The movement is rapid, the feeling is true, the characters are alive. The plot is ingenious and distinctive, while the literary quality of the work is admirable—all in all the novel is one of absorbing interest.

Illustrated with photogravures by P. R. Audibert.

Cloth, gilt top. Crown 8vo, $1.25.

Perkins the Fakeer

By EDWARD S. VAN ZILE

An amusing travesty on reincarnation carrying a vein of humor as captivating as it is original and interesting.

FASCINATING CLEVER MYSTERIOUS DROLL

Baltimore Sun.—"Extremely readable."

Philadelphia Record.—"Shockingly unique."

Troy Times.—"Deliciously extravagant."

N. Y. World.—"Fairly hilarious in its depiction."

Spirit of the Times, N. Y.—"Mr. Van Zile is to be congratulated on the most weird romance since Edgar Allan Poe."

Town Topics.—"Those who are tempted to believe there is nothing new in fiction under the sun should cultivate a reading acquaintance with Ed. S. Van Zile's story, 'Perkins the Fakeer.'"

Illustrated with photogravures by Hy Meyer.

The Fighting Chance

THE ROMANCE OF AN INGENUE

By GERTRUDE LYNCH

Utica Press.—"A cleverly written story and has some fine characters."

N. Y. Journal.—"The story is as interesting as it is valuable."

Salt Lake Tribune.—"A fine story."

Boston Transcript.—"There is enough excitement and love interest in 'The Fighting Chance' to entice anyone who is alert for a good story."

N. Y. World.—"The author's personal experience enables her to write luminously of department life in Washington."

Town Topics.—"One of those delightful comedies in which the fighting consists of wit combats and the story is told with a vividness that makes it possible to visualize all the scenes and characters amid natural surroundings. The action is cleverly dramatic and the denouement is skilfully held in suspense."

Illustrated with photogravures by Bayard Jones.

Cloth, gilt top. Crown 8vo, $1.25.

The Vulgarians

By EDGAR FAWCETT

An account of a trio from the west, become immensely wealthy, and their entry into New York is full of both humor and sentiment.

Boston Transcript.—"An excellent example of the author's skill."

Mail and Express.—"Typical of the author's talent in all its phases."

Willington News.—"An excellent story of American life."

Lebanon News.—"In this story the author has achieved the best expressions of his genius."

Town Topics.—"Mr. Fawcett has evidently lost none of his cunning as a novelist; this story is full of power and rigorous effects."

Illustrated with photogravures by Archie Gunn.

What Manner of Man

BY EDNA KENTON

"The novel, 'What Manner of Man,' is a study of what is commonly known as the 'artistic temperament,' and a novel so far above the average level of merit as to cause even tired reviewers to sit up and take hope once more."—New York Times.

"It will certainly stand out as one of the most notable novels of the year."—Philadelphia Press.

"It does not need a trained critical faculty to recognize that this book is something more than clever."—New York Commercial.

"Note should be made of the literary charm and value of the work, and likewise of its eminently readable quality, considered purely as a romance."

—Philadelphia Record.

"Literary distinction is stamped on every page, and the author's insight into the human heart gives promise of a brilliant future."

—Chicago Record-Herald.

"The whole book is full of dramatic force. The author is an unusual thinker and observer, and has a rare gift for creative literature."

—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

THE FILIGREE BALL

By ANNA KATHERINE GREEN

Author of "The Leavenworth Case."

Illustrated by C. M. RELYEA

12mo, cloth, $1.50

THIS is something more than a mere detective story; it is a thrilling romance—a romance of mystery and crime where a shrewd detective helps to solve the mystery.

Unlike many mystery stories, "The Filigree Ball" is not disappointing at the end. The characters most liked but longest suspected are proved not only guiltless, but above suspicion. It is a story to be read with a rush and at a sitting, for no one can put it down until the mystery is solved.

CHILDREN OF DESTINY

By MOLLY ELLIOTT SEAWELL

Author of "Franceska" and "The Sprightly Romance of Marsac."

Illustrated by A. B. WENZEL

12mo, cloth, $1.50

ONE of Miss Seawell's most brilliant and serious works is this novel of Old Virginia. One lives again the patrician elegance of those mannerly times with all their freedom and all their limitations.

Miss Seawell's charming presentation of the old days, her sprightly humor, playing on the foibles of these early nineteenth century aristocrats, the tenderness and beautiful love of her heroine, show her as a brilliant writer and deep thinker.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tl. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., var., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Baker, Ernest A. A descriptive guide to the best fiction, British and American; including translations from foreign languages; containing about 4500 references; with copious indexes and a historical appendix. N. Y., Macmillan, 1903. 5+610 p. O. cl., $2.50. A careful and very interesting selected catalogue of English prose fiction, in which the books of today find very full representation. Every title is followed by a note. While the annotator has not sought to appraise the literary value of all the books dealt with, the aim having been to subordinate criticism to description—still literary criticism does enter into the writer's selections and observations, a thoroughly helpful guide not being possible otherwise. Masterpieces and peculiarly representative works are indicated by an asterisk. The authors are given alphabetically by nationalities and periods of time; the books follow authors chronologically as to date of publication. The historical appendix, which embraces some children's books, is most useful, as are the carefully compiled "Authors and title index" and "Subjects index." Mr. Baker is editor of "Half-forgotten books" and Librarian of Midland Railway Institute, Derby, England.

Eleven short stories by the author of the "Delectable mountains" and "Debatable land," entitled Tioba; A man for a' that; The green grasshopper. The enemies; A night's lodging; On Edom Hill; Sons of R. Rand; Conlon; St. Catherine's; The spiral stone; The Musidora sonnet.

Crafts, Ja. Monroe. History of the town of Whately, Mass.; including a narrative of leading events from the first planting of Hatfield, 1661-1899, as rev. and enl. by Ja. M. Crafts, with family genealogies. 2d ed. Orange, Mass., D. L. Crandall, [1903.] c. '99. 628 p. il. por. maps, 8°, cl., $5. Revised and enlarged from J. H. Temple's "History of the town of Whately, Mass. . . 1660-1871."

Dudeney, Mrs. H: Robin Brilliant. N. Y. Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 1902. 1903. 3+398 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The heiress of Great Fanne had received a man's name, because the head of the house had always been called "Robin." The story opens with the return of Robin's cousin to Lesser Fanne, which he owns. The cousins have been betrothed since childhood, and the story deals with the course of their love—another woman coming between them. An early tragedy in the Brilliant family casts a shadow over many of the scenes. As a study of village life and character in Sussex county, England, the book is most elaborate and evidently taken from life.

Eldridge, F: W. A social cockatrice. Bost. Lothrop Pub. Co., 1903. [F.] c. 8-412 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Traces the career of a rich and unscrupulous young woman from New Orleans, who comes to New York bent upon the conquest of the exclusive "400." Her social aspirations lead her to crush every one—man or woman—in her path, who seems an obstacle to her progress. Her sister, good and beautiful, who in a moment of madness murders her, is one of her victims, the story ending with this tragedy.

Fielding, H: Complete works; with an essay on the life, genius and achievement of the author, by W: Ernest Henley. [Ed. de luxe.] N. Y., Croscup & Sterling Co., [1902.] c. 14 v., il. por. facsim., 8°, subs., ea., buckram, \$3.50; ea.,  $\frac{3}{4}$  levant, \$7.50.

Contents: v. 1, The history of the adventures of Joseph Andrews; v. 2, The history of the life of the late Mr. Jonathan Wild and A journey from this world to the next, etc.; v. 3-5, The history of Tom Jones a founding; v. 6-7, Amelia; v. 8-12, Plays and poems; v. 13, Legal writings; v. 14, Miscellaneous writings.

Flower, Elliott. The spoilsman. Bost., L. C. Page & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 3-324 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of municipal politics, depicting conditions common to practically all large cities, although the scene is located in Chicago. The political methods employed are in most instances taken from the actual experiences of men who have served the public in some capacity or other, and the stories told of some of the characters are literally true. The love interest centres around a girl of high ideals who inspires a wealthy young man to enter the local campaign.

Ford, Sewell. Horses nine: stories of harness and saddle. N. Y., Scribner, 1903. [Mr.] c. 5+270 p. D. cl., $1.25.

These tales portray, with rare sympathy, pathos, and humor, episodes in the careers of thoroughbreds of different stock—saddle horses, carriage horses, draught horses, fire-truck horses, circus horses, and horses of other breeds.

The Donner party was composed of rather well-to-do people, who left their homes in the States to emigrate to California in 1846, with the intention of settling there. The story of their journey is a most thrilling one. They were caught in a heavy snow storm in the Sierras early in the season, ran short of provisions, many dying of exposure and starvation.

Descriptions of animals; adapted to the use of children in the second and third years of progress in reading; they have in view a twofold object: to assist in nature study and to give aid in the natural and rational method of learning to read.

Norris, W: E: Lord Leonard the luckless. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1903. [Ja.] c. 4+291 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Lord Leonard had all his life "tried to speak the truth, to see it and to face it, feeling assured that nothing else is worth while." This devotion to truth does not work to the happiness of Lord Leonard, his life being a succession of unfortunate incidents, which wreck his whole career. At first, the son of a younger son, he is studying for the navy, a career he looks forward to with great delight. Several sudden deaths place him at the head of the family, making him a Lord, when he would rather have been a naval officer. Then the woman he loves is false to him—and so on to the end. This is told with the satirical humor of Norris's earlier works.

Pemberton, Max. The gold wolf; il. by Maurice Greiffenhagen. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 5+361 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Dudley Hatton, at thirty-five, was the fifth richest man in the world, with a beautiful but unsympathetic wife. After an interview with a famous specialist on brain troubles Hatton faces the alternative of immediate withdrawal from all financial schemes or a madhouse at the end of six months. His wife is found dead under suspicious circumstances, which are utilized by his enemies to hound him on to his destruction. His struggle for life is rich in interest and excitement.

Plato. Euthyphro; ed. by W: Arthur Heidel. Text ed. N. Y., Amer. Book Co., [1903.] [F28.] c. 26 p. D. (Greek ser. for colleges and schools.) pap., 30 c.

Rayner, Emma. Handicapped among the free. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903. c. 3+376 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of love and patience and victory in defeat. It aims to prove that there is such a thing as the black man's burden—the burden of other men's prejudices and the disabilities caused by long years of degradation. That this burden presses most heavily upon the more highly developed of the race the author has tried to show, in this story, which gives a simple picture of Southern life as it is to-day.

Townsend, C. The Mahoney million; il. by Clare Angell. N. Y., New Amsterdam Book Co., 1903. [F.] c. 215 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

The scene of the novel is laid in the old Greenwich section of the lower west side of New York City. Michael Mahoney, who strikes oil in his Pennsylvania land, his daughter Kitty, and Mrs. Mahoney, are the principal characters in a quaint little comedy. It turns chiefly on Mrs. Mahoney's aspirations towards a society life.

Townsend, E. W. A summer in New York: a love story told in letters. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 4+196 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A cheerful, breezy story of a number of the "smart set" who try staying in town for the summer, for variety's sake. Their many dinners at quaint places and picturesque expeditions are full of interest. The hero is a young artist, and the heroine the daughter of a genial Ironville millionaire.

Traill, H: Duff, and Mann, J. S., eds. Social England: a record of the progress of the people, in religion, laws, learning, arts, industry, commerce, science, literature and manners, from the earliest times to the present day. [New il. ed. King Edward ed.] In 6 v. v. 3. N. Y., Putnam, 1903. il. map, Q. **$5 net. (Sold only in sets.)

Vernon, H. M. Variation in animals and plants. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1903. c. 1902. c. 9+415 p. O. cl., $1.25.

Tells why animals and plants differ from each other in size, shape, color, and other characteristics. The subject is scientifically considered, and embraces considerable original research of the author. Divided into three parts: pt. 1, The facts of variation; pt. 2, The causes of variation; pt. 3, Variation in its relation to evolution.

Virgil [Lat. Virgilius] Maro, Publius. Æneid. Text ed., by H: S. Frieze; rev. by Walter Dennison. N. Y., Amer. Book Co., [1903.] [Mr.] c. 1902. 38+342 p. D. pap., 50 c.

Waldstein, C. Art in the nineteenth century. N. Y., Macmillan, 1903. [F.] c. 9+110 p. S. cl., 60 c.

A lecture which includes the 19th century expansion in literary arts, music, painting, sculpture, decorative art, etc.

Watkinson, Rev. W: L. Studies in Christian character, work and experience. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, 1903. 2 v., 260 p. 12°, cl., ea., **$1 net.

Watson, Rev. J: ["Ian Maclaren," pseud.] Our neighbors. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 1902, 1903. 4+341 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A collection of stories in which Scotchmen, Englishmen, and Americans display unmistakable characteristics.

Weidner, Revere Franklin, D.D. Theologia; or, the doctrine of God. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, 1903. 143 p. 12°, cl., **75 c. net.

West, Kenyon. Cliveden. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1903.] c. 4-473 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A historical romance. The action centres in the famous Chew House, in Germantown, during the Revolutionary war, at the times when the battles of Brandywine and Germantown were being fought and the British General Howe was threatening the native forces. Both sides of the struggle are represented, the American patriots and the British redcoats; and a charming love story is developed, in which the principals are a well-born American beauty and a British officer of noble character.

INDEX TO SPRING ANNOUNCEMENTS.

In this department the announcements of books to be published during the Spring season are indexed under author and title, with as much information as publishers were ready to give in advance of publication. Books which appeared before February 1 in our "Weekly Record of New Publications" are not included.

Where binding is not stated the books are generally understood to be in cloth binding; "bds.," particularly in the department of Juvenile fiction, generally means illuminated or fancy board covers.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 21, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE SPRING OUTLOOK.

FOLLOWING close upon a fall and holiday season of such phenomenal activity as that of last year, the season just opening gives promises and signs of accomplishment of many important undertakings.

Though figures are sometimes inclined to be mendacious, after due allowances are made the burden of proof, statistically as well as in fact, points to an increase in the productiveness of the country; and while speculators now and then indulge in gloomy forecasts of the country's business, the conservative manufacturer and merchant, very likely from actual observation and experience, are inclined to take a hopeful view of the future of commerce. Among this class seems to be the publisher who, as a rule, is most sensitive to changes in the trend of trade. The publisher, judging from the announcements already made of books in press and in preparation, for immediate publication or for publication before the summer is over, is inclined to find the outlook encouraging. It is not likely that this hopefulness is based on mere theory, because this optimism seems to prevail. It even extends to the English publisher, for whom the London Publishers' Circular, for the first time in many years, makes a most encouraging report.

This feeling should inspire the retail trade with confidence, and encourage it to take every possible advantage of the feeling among their constituents. Above all should every enterprising bookseller be equipped to stimulate and create a demand for his books quite as much as to be prepared to meet the demand after it has been created. It is as important to sell well as it is to buy well. That may be a self-evident truth. But there is a trick in doing both that many dealers have still to learn, and they should make it their special duty to learn it during the next three or four months.

The publishers are providing books of a high average of quality to aid the bookseller in his aggressive work among his special constituency. With the lazy summer in view fiction has been provided for in larger quantity than all other classes of books. Biography and history, illustrated descriptive works, and "nature books" come next in numbers.

We have reports from more publishers than ever before in the spring season, all of which confirms our confidence in a successful season for the producer and retailer and an unusually satisfactory supply of material for the consumer.

THE STATUS OF THE SECOND-CLASS MAIL CASES.

THE Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, under date of March 17, reviews the present standing of the suits brought against the Government by a number of publishing houses as follows:

The controversy between the Post-Office Department and a considerable body of publishers over the second-class rate question is just reaching a new and most important stage. Two-thirds of the bulk weight of all the mails now goes as second-class; this branch of the service returns, however, but one-twenty-fourth of the postal revenue. The second-class rate, therefore, constitutes a subsidy of which thousands of concerns and interests are constantly trying to take advantage. The Department, having postal deficits in mind, is steadily trying to hold them back, and the question at issue is how much should be included within the second-class privilege. Everybody recognizes the educational value of newspapers and periodicals, and accordingly there is general willingness that the terms of their transportation through the mails should be liberal. But how far can such liberality be safely carried?

Congress, at its recent session, appropriated $25,000 for the employment of special counsel by the Third Assistant Postmaster-General in the prosecution and defence of suits now pending, or which may hereafter arise, affecting the second-class mailing privileges. This means that the cases which will soon come before the Supreme Court of the United States are to be stubbornly fought. Thus far the Department has lost four out of five, and unless there is some reversal of these judgments it looks as if the Madden reforms would break down. The question would then go back to Congress, which has persistently refused to settle it. The Madden regulations are essentially equivalent to the Loud bill, which was before many Congresses but always failed to become law, in spite of the warm backing of the Post-Office Department under every Administration, and of most of the members of the Post-Office committees. When new legislation could not be obtained, it was decided to see what could be done with existing law. As soon as Mr. Madden began to make exclusions, the parties adversely affected naturally rushed to the courts for relief. The present status of the case is interesting.

What is known as the Houghton, Mifflin & Co. case arose over the right of the Department to exclude the Riverside Literature Series from the second-class rates. The objection raised by the Department was that these were merely books published in serial form. It was acknowledged that they were highly meritorious. The complaint could not be urged against them that applied to the blood-and-thunder novels which the taxpayers of the country formerly subsidized New York publishers to distribute through the mails. But the principle at issue the Department believed was the same; it held that it could not pass Shakspeare and Milton and reject the "Mysteries of Murder Gulch," but that it must decide each on the basis of whether it was a book within the intent of the law, or current matter, and so assign it to the book rate or the current publication rate.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia decided in this case against the Department, in effect practically that it cannot look beneath the covers, but must accept a publication's compliance with the outward conditions of second-class mail. "Masters and Musics" was held by the Department to be sheet music, which should go at third class instead of second-class rates. The law prescribes that a publication must be regularly issued at stated intervals, as frequently as four times a year, bearing a date of issue, and must be numbered consecutively. When the Government brought its case in the lower court only one issue of the publication had appeared. The court, however, took the ground that its future regular appearance might be assumed. These two Boston cases must go to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, and thence they will certainly go to the Supreme Court of the United States if the Department loses, and are likely to do so if the publishers lose.

The other two cases which the Government has lost are those of the "Official Railroad Guide" of New York, and the "Monthly List," of Chicago. These have already been tried by the Court of Appeals and lost; they now go to the Supreme Court. The "Monthly List" is a publication of railroad officers, which varies only as changes are made to keep it up to date. The Department rejected it on the ground that it was not a periodical publication within the limit of the law, as the matter carried in it was substantially a reference book in the nature of a directory. A like argument was made by the Department in the matter of "Railroad Guide."

The only case where the Government has won a victory is in what is known as the "Business College" case. The publications of business colleges, consisting largely of self-advertisement, and in many instances carrying general advertising besides, have been going through the mails as those of incorporated institutions of learning. The Department held that to receive this benefit the institutions must be organized for the public benefit and not for private gain. This case will doubtless be appealed by the business college people, and will not reach a settlement until the Supreme Court makes its decision. The Department hopes for early action in all these cases, in order that it may know what it is about and appeal to Congress for new legislation accordingly.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY'S WORK.

THE annual meeting of the American Tract Society was held in the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church at Washington March 15, Mr. Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court presiding. The report, presented by the Rev. Judson Swift Field, secretary at New York, sets forth that the society was organized in 1825 for the purpose of "diffusing the knowledge of Christ as the Redeemer of sinners by means of the printed page." Publications have been issued during the year in English, German, Italian, Bohemian, Polish, Hungarian, Spanish, Bengel, Bulu, Fang and Marshall Island, and the number of distinct publications has reached about 9000, of which 2000 are volumes. The whole number of publications for seventy-eight years, including volumes, tracts and periodicals, is 800,000,000, which does not mention the millions of tracts and volumes published at missionary stations in foreign countries. The number of periodicals circulated during twelve months amounts to 1,750,000 and the number of languages or dialects in which the society has published is now 155. . . .

The total distribution of Christian literature in Spanish for the year aggregates 2,000,000 pages, the greater part of which has been used in the mission stations in the islands. Excellent work has also been accomplished in the army and navy.

DENTON'S "BRIEF DESCRIPTION" FETCHES $625.

AT Bangs' auction rooms on the afternoon of March 16 a copy of Denton's "Brief Description of New York" was sold for $625. The book was bought by a dealer for a customer whose name was not made public. No copy of this book has been sold at auction in the United States in twelve years, and the book so rarely comes into the market that no price is quoted on it in the current price reports. There has been a report that a New York bookseller has been offering a copy of this book for $2000.

AN IRISH-ENGLISH DICTIONARY.

AN appeal has been made to the Irish-American priests of this country in behalf of the work of completing the Irish-English dictionary which is now being compiled in Dublin. The appeal is made by Archbishop Walsh of Dublin, who says:

For years I have thought it a disgrace to us all that Irish is the one language which our Irish students are left to study without having the elementary aid afforded by a dictionary. It were better to give up all talk of the revival of interest in the Irish language in Ireland if, for the want of a few hundred pounds, we leave the students of it without the help of a dictionary.

Archbishop Walsh has volunteered to assume personally one-tenth of the cost of compiling this dictionary. It is being edited by the Rev. Dr. P. S. Dinneen, under the auspices of the Irish Texts Society. It will incorporate the modern parts of existing dictionaries and every page of it will be carefully collated with Peter O'Connell's great manuscript dictionary, which took thirty years to compile.

A large part of the work is nearly done and a mass of the material for the other parts has been collected. It is expected that the work will be finished by the end of the year. A number of American colleges and universities with Gaelic in their curriculum have agreed to include the dictionary in their lists.

DOESN'T WANT TO BE DUNNED.

A WEEK or two before E. H. Loveless resigned his position as secretary of the Stationers' Board of Trade he was arrested on complaint of William H. England, a publisher of Temple Court, New York, who charged that on January 28 he received a written and printed circular from the Stationers' Board of Trade, signed by Mr. Loveless, in which he was notified that unless he paid a certain claim for $15, the members of the Board would be notified of his failure to do so.

The form, which was signed by Mr. Loveless, read in part as follows:

"It is desirable that a settlement of this claim should be made without it being placed in the hands of an attorney, as in that event it will become our duty under the by-laws of the board to notify members (per accompanying list) that such action has been taken."

The arrest was made under a portion of Section 559 of the Penal Code, which makes the sending of a letter "with intent thereby to cause annoyance to any person" a misdemeanor.

Magistrate Breen adjourned the case in order that briefs might be submitted by both sides, and a thorough search through records of cases under that section of the code failed to disclose one case in which any court had passed upon that portion of the section under which Mr. Loveless was arrested. Mr. Loveless stated at the time of his arrest that the Stationers' Board of Trade had been using the same form for the purpose of collecting debts for twenty years.

If the case should go against the Stationers' Board of Trade the decision might have the effect of putting out of business every collection agency who resort to similar means of reminding debtors of their obligations.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of The Booksellers' League, held at the office of the Baker & Taylor Company, on the evening of March 18, Mr. Francis Gilman was re-elected Secretary of the League and Mr. James B. Brigham, Treasurer.

It was decided to begin with the April dinner the "Roll Call." The question to come up for discussion will be "Which is the best salesman—the one who intelligently supplies a demand, or the one who creates a demand and then supplies it?" The dinner will be given a week later than usual, namely, April 15.

It was also proposed to make the meeting in May a "Ladies Night," at which members may introduce their relatives and friends of the gentler sex. Extra tickets will be $2 the plate, members, of course, being admitted on their yearly dues. The Entertainment Committee promise an enjoyable evening, and are making arrangements to have some leading women as well as men among the speakers and entertainers. As it is intended to provide special favors for the ladies, it is desirable that such members as may think well of the project and expect to be present, notify the chairman of the committee, Mr. Charles E. Butler, at Brentano's, 5 Union Square, New York, as far in advance as possible, of the number of guests for which they wish provisions made.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ERNEST GABRIEL JEAN BAPTISTE WILFRID LEGOUVÉ, dramatist, died on the 14th inst., in Paris, where he was born February 15, 1807. Most of his work was done in collaboration with Eugene Sue, notably "Adrienne Lecouvreur."

JAMES H. CONNELLY, a writer on theological subjects, died March 15 in New York City, aged sixty-three, having been born in Pittsburg, Pa., in 1840. He was the author of several novels, among them "My Casual Death," and "Neila Sen," and many works and magazine articles on theosophy. He was an intimate friend of Madame Blavatsky and William Q. Judge.

WILLIAM EDGAR SIMONDS, who, while in Congress, secured the passage through the House, after a vigorous fight, of an international copyright bill, died at Hartford, Conn., March 14. He was born at Canton, Conn., November 25, 1841, and was the author of "Digest of Patent Causes," "Digest of Patent Office Decisions," "Design Patents" and a small work known as a summary of patent laws; also, "Whither: a Study of Immortality." For his services in behalf of international copyright France made Mr. Simonds a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

JACOB SCHOENHOF, a writer on economic subjects, died March 14 in New York City. Mr. Schoenhof was born in Oppenheim on the Rhine in 1839, the son of a school teacher. He came to this country in 1861 and was then in the wholesale lace business until 1884 when he retired. He was United States Consul at Tunstall, England, during President Cleveland's administration; acting as confidential agent under Secretary Bayard he studied and reported on the industrial conditions in France, England, Germany and Ireland. In 1893 he was assistant appraiser at the port of New York having charge of the Sixth Division. He was the author of "Destructive Influence of the Tariff upon Manufacture and Commerce," "The Industrial Situation and the Question of Wages," "Technical Education in Europe," and "Money and Prices." He had just finished reading the last proof sheets of his new book, "Industrial France."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Harper's Magazine will shortly begin to publish serially a new collection of "Chester Tales," by Mrs. Margaret Deland.

A NEW periodical for librarians and book-lovers has been started in Holland, with offices in Antwerp and Ghent, entitled Tijdschrift voor Boek- & Bibliotheekwezen. The editors are Emm. de Bom, Va. de la Montagne and W. de Vreese. The first number is dated January, 1903.

The Revue des Bibliothèques et Archives de Belgique is the title of a new bi-monthly journal devoted to library interests published in Brussels under the editorial direction of L. Stainier, of the Bibliothèque Royale. The library department of the periodical will be edited by O. Grojean. The first issue is a double number and dated January-February, 1903.

MISS JOSEPHINE DODGE DASKAM, or as she hereafter prefers to be called, Josephine Daskam, has completed her "Memoirs of a Baby," which will be published serially in Harper's Bazar. The first instalment deals with the amusing perplexities of the prospective young mother. Miss Daskam's irresistible humor seems to have found its keenest play in the new story. In view of the fact that Miss Daskam is soon to be married to Mr. Selden Bacon, it hardly seems worth while to bother about her maiden name.

THE first number of the new issue of the Metropolitan Magazine, recently purchased by Colonel George Harvey and now edited by Mr. John Kendrick Bangs, will be that of April, and will be published to-day. The leading features of this initial number will be a serial story of New York City, by William Dean Howells, entitled "Letters Home," and an article by Mark Twain, illustrated by himself, in which he gives amusing instructions to would-be artists. President Jacob Cantor contributes an article entitled "The Future of Manhattan," and there are many other contributions of note.

THE UNIVERSITY PRESS, Cambridge, Mass., has just brought out the first number of a very handsome illustrated magazine of the art of printing and of the allied trades, entitled The Printing Art. Encouraged by the widespread interest which at present exists among printers, publishers, and all lovers of printing in the art of printing the publishers have undertaken to conduct the magazine upon the highest plane. They will present from time to time articles upon general subjects relating to the field which the magazine covers, written by the best-known authorities, and will demonstrate by actual examples the best work which is to-day being issued from the establishments of the foremost printers and their allied branches. The latter feature will be dominant, and with much reason, because an example of work, presented by actual work printed upon its own paper, is bound to give the reader a better idea of the art by which it has been accomplished than pages of explanation. In this direction The Printing Art will have the field to itself; and if the first number is a fair sample its directors are well qualified for the work. Dr. Garnett contributes an article on "Foreshadowings of Printing;" Carl Purrington Rollins has an article on "Modern 'Special' Types;" and Ross Turner writers of "The Printer as an Artist." The format of The Printing Art is folio, and the subscription price is $3 a year, or 35 cents a number.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

SIGNOR GIUSEPPE GIRARDI, 22 Crampton Road, London, Eng., is at work upon a "Bibliotheca Mormonica," and wishes to come into communication with persons interested in the subject.

COLONEL W. E. PRIDEAUX has about completed his long promised "Bibliography of Stevenson's Works in Prose and Verse," which will also contain, in an appendix, a list of the principal books and articles in periodicals relating to Stevenson. The book will be uniform with the Edinburgh edition of Stevenson's works.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just brought out "A Catalogue of a Collection of Books, Letters and Manuscripts written by Walt Whitman, in the Library of George M. Williamson." This account of Mr. Williamson's collection of manuscripts by Whitman is easily the best collector's bibliography so far issued. His collection includes several items apparently never before described in print. An early form of the "Leaves of Grass," 1855, in printed paper cover, may perhaps be unique. The facsimiles of manuscripts, letters and corrected proofs are of special interest, showing as they do Whitman's method of work. The volume has been printed at the Marion Press, and contains a number of portraits and facsimiles.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Everett B. Farnham, bookseller, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.

NASHVILLE, TENN.—On March 7 the Goodpasture Book Company, of this city, bought out the old and well-known firm of A. Setliff & Co., and went into immediate possession. Setliff & Co. was one of the oldest book houses in Nashville, having been established in 1867, and having done business at its present location, 511 Church Street, for thirty years. The Goodpasture Book Company will continue to run their second-hand book business at 608 Church Street as heretofore, and will, in addition, conduct the business heretofore run by Setliff & Co., at 511 Church Street, in which they expect to make many changes and improvements.

NEW YORK CITY.—S. B. Luyster, jr., dealer in old books, has removed to larger quarters at 35 John Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Isaac Pitman & Sons have removed to 31 Union Square. West, the new building of the Metropolis Bank.

PITTSFIELD, MASS.—Wilbur Steadman has bought the book business of G. J. Reuter.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

ELLEN THORNEycroft FOWLER, author of "Concerning Isabel Carnaby," is to be married next month to Alfred Laurence Felkin.

We are informed that while the A. Wessels Company will handle and catalogue the publications of Lentilhon & Co., they have not taken them over, as was stated in our issue for February 28.

JAMES MACLEHOSE & SONS, Glasgow, have in press a complete edition of Hakluyt's "Collection of Principal Navigations, Voyages, and Discoveries of the English Nation." The edition will be strictly limited and sold in complete sets only.

MR. KIPLING sails from Capetown, South Africa, for England in the latter part of this month and his publishers, Doubleday, Page & Co., are authorized to say that his new volume of poems will be ready for publication before the end of the year.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY will shortly bring out "The Pathway to Reality," by Richard Burton Haldane, which comprises the Gifford lectures for 1902, which are generally conceded to be among the most important contributions to modern philosophy.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish shortly in separate form those chapters of Lecky's "History of England in the Eighteenth Century" that deal with the French Revolution. A similar selection was made a few years ago of the chapters on the American Revolution that met with considerable favor.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has in press an anonymous novel, to be entitled "Until Seventy Times Seven," of which the keynote is forgiveness and the principal characters are a popular clergyman and his mysterious wife. The author is said to be the daughter of a well-known New York family.

BANROSE & SONS, Ltd., London, have just issued a novel entitled "Thorns That Choke," by Florence Moore, which deals with present-day evils, and, as its title indicates, shows how the cares of this life and the deceitfulness of riches are thorns which ensnare and choke the germs of good in all classes of society.

A. M. ROBERTSON, San Francisco, Cal., will issue shortly a novel by Charles Warren Stoddard, author of "In the Footprints of the Padres," "South Sea Idyls," etc. The title of the book will be "For the Sake of His Company: a Tale of the Misty City." Mr. Robertson will publish in April the poems of Herman Scheffauer.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just issued "The Bible and Modern Criticism," by Sir Robert Anderson. The author is a layman of legal training and acumen. Thus the strong point of the book is that the author is especially well equipped to judge between conflicting views, and at the same time is not hampered by any professional bias.

THE HOBART COMPANY, New York City, will issue shortly "A Daughter of the Sioux," by the late Gen. Charles King, with illustrations by Frederic Remington and Edward Willard Deming. It is a tale of the Indian frontier told by one who knew from experience the many facts and always had the knack of making them interesting in story form.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., will shortly have ready "Billy Whiskers' Kids," (Day and Night,) Mrs. Frances Trego Montgomery's sequel to her phenomenally successful "Billy Whiskers," the delight of the children during the last holiday season. The text is said to be just as humorous and the illustrations even more telling and more brilliantly colored.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY will shortly issue "A Daughter of Thespis," a novel of American stage life, by John D. Barry, the dramatic editor of Collier's Weekly. This is said to be a perfectly accurate story of American stage conditions. The author's general knowledge of theatrical life has been praised by many reviewers, and especially by William Archer, England's leading dramatic critic.

MCCLEURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will publish immediately "The Joyous Heart," in which Viola Roseboro places her heroine in a little Southern village during the Civil War, and in the midst of surrounding tragedy makes her an exponent of the real joy of life. For later issue they have secured a volume of short stories by George Ade, to be entitled "In Babel," under which name figures Chicago, the scene of the several clever and artistically told stories.

OTTO HARRASSOWITZ, Leipzig, has purchased the remainder of the works of Dr. J. Platzmann relating to the languages of the American Indians, formerly published by B. G. Teubner. Mr. Harrassowitz has just published the second volume of the "Materialien zur Kunde des älteren Englischen Dramas," edited by W. Bang, of the University of Louvain. The volume is entitled "The King and Queenes Entertainment at Richmond," edited by W. Bang and R. Brotanek.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued "Walda," by Mary Holland Kinkaid, the story of a religious community said to really exist in a Western State, in which love and marriage are frowned upon, but into which the fearless little god made his way in spite of laws and by-laws; also "The Substitute," by Will N. Harben, another excellent story of Northern Georgia. In April will be issued in de luxe form "The Poems of Charles Dickens," with bibliographical notes by the compiler and editor, Frederic George Kitton, the great authority on all pertaining to Dickens.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in press a work on "The Anglo-Saxon Century and the Unification of the English-Speaking People," by John R. Dos Passos, author of "Commercial Trusts," in which the author advocates the union of all English-speaking people; also, a work entitled "Arnold's March from Cambridge to Quebec," by Justin H. Smith, Professor of Modern History at Dartmouth College, which is supposed to be an elaborate and technical work—a sort of scientific rendering of the author's "Prologue of the American Revolution," now running in The Century Magazine.

JOHN LANE has planned for a series of Country Handbooks, under the general editorship of Harry Roberts, well known as editor of the more technical series of Handbooks on Practical Gardening. The series opens with "The Tramp's Handbook," by the general editor, a vade mecum for cyclists, tourists and lovers of the country. This will be followed at short intervals by "The Motor Book," "The Bird Book," "The Tree Book" and "The Woman Out of Doors." Mr. Lane also announces "The Letters and Memorials of Jane Carlyle," hitherto unpublished, edited by Sir James Crichton Browne and profusely illustrated.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. will add two new volumes to their Trent edition of Balzac's works, namely, "Analytical Studies," "Dramas," and the "Repertory of the Comédie Humaine," a species of biographical dictionary locating every character in his stories. All this material is newly translated from the French. A new edition of the complete works, including these added volumes, will soon be ready in eighteen volumes. The two new volumes will also be published separately. They will publish shortly "Light in Dark Places," a devotional booklet by Dr. Newman Smyth; the second volume in their "First Folio Shakespeare," being "Midsummer Night's Dreame," edited by Charlotte Porter and Helen A. Clarke; also, two volumes devoted to the "Life and Letters of Edgar Allan Poe," by James A. Harrison of the University of Virginia, whose Virginia edition of Poe's Works was published last year.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready "Spinners of Life," a new novel of New York society and club life, by Vance Thompson, who here offers his first novel, which is written with all the life of his very popular short stories. A strong esoteric element pervades the tale, which is illustrated by E. M. Ashe and Roland Kirby. W. J. Mills, whose "Historic Houses of New Jersey" was so well received during the fall, has prepared quite an original and interesting account of the early days of Princeton College in "Glimpses of Colonial Society and Life at Princeton College, 1766 to 1773, by one of the class of 1763." The writer is supposed to be William Patterson, wit, scientist and good fellow, who was once Governor of New Jersey. From the Lippincott press have also just come paper editions of Charles Bloomingdale's "Mr., Mrs. and Miss," and of John Strange Winter's "A Self-Made Countess." "A Tar-Heel Baron," Mrs. Mabel S. Clarke Pelton's story of North Carolina life, gives signs of being among the good sellers of the season.

DANA ESTES & COMPANY'S list of new books and new editions for the season of 1903 include the following titles: "The Intelligence of Wild Things; or, Eighteen Years in the Woods," by Mason A. Walton, the "Gloucester Hermit;" "Among the Great Masters of the Drama," by Walter Rowlands; "The Year's Festivals," by Helen Philbrook Patten; "Some Famous American Schools," by Oscar Fay Adams; "Poems and Verses," by Carol Norton; also, a revised edition of "American Fishes," by G. Browne Goode, and the fifth revised edition of Dr. Elliott Coues's "Key to North American Birds." In the department of Books for Young People they have in preparation the following: "The Little Owls of Redgates," by Ella Farman Pratt; "True Blue, a story of luck and pluck," by Edward S. Ellis; "Lord Dolphin," by Harriet A. Cheever; "Gipsy Jane," by Harriet A. Cheever; "Daddy Joe's Fiddle," by Faith Bickford; a new illustrated edition of "Six Girls," by Fanny Bell Irving; "Little Dick's Christmas," by Etheldred B. Barry; "The Story Book House," by Honor Walsh; "More Five Minute Stories" and "The Green Satin Gown," both by Laura E. Richards; "Three Hundred Things Which a Bright Girl Can Do," by Lilla Elizabeth Kelley; two new volumes in the Famous Children of Literature Series, edited by Frederic Lawrence Knowles; also, "Chatterbox for 1903."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

A SUMMER IN NEW YORK

By EDWARD W. TOWNSEND, Author of "Chimmie Fadden." With Illustrated Chapter Heads by HARRY EDWARDS 12mo, $1.25

Cheery humor strongly characterizes this new story, though its characters are largely of the "smart set," and far removed from "Chimmie." The heroine and some others who figure in the story come from the great spaces outside of the Metropolis, and increase the breeziness of the tale. The idea of these people making holiday in the city in the dog days is certainly a novel one. The characters and scenes are sketched in a few telling lines.

A Love Story Told in Letters

TIOBA

By ARTHUR W. COLTON. With a frontispiece by A. B. FROST 12mo, $1.25

Mr. Colton is already favorably known for "Delectable Mountains," and "Debatable Land," and his work in The Atlantic, The Century, and elsewhere. These eleven tales are said to contain considerable humor and to present a highly diversified gallery of Americans. Tioba is a mountain, which, paradoxical as it may seem, takes an active part in the opening story.

LORD LEONARD, THE LUCKLESS

By W. E. NORRIS 12mo, $1.50

A new novel by the author of those truly great novels "Matrimony" and "No New Thing." The book is in a more serious vein than even they, and impressively tells a story that a less able writer would have been liable to make sensational. Some of the episodes are decidedly tragic, but Mr. Norris's humor is used in effective contrast.

RED-HEADED GILL

By RYE OWEN 12mo, $1.50

A very original story. The characters and scenes are strong, interesting, and often beautiful; and there is withal a very saving sense of humor. Red-Headed Gill is a splendid young country gentlewoman of Cornwall. Under a weird East Indian influence she is forced to live over again part of the life of a court beauty of the days of Queen Bess—the famous Gill Red-Head.

THE TRIUMPH OF COUNT OSTERMANN

By GRAHAM HOPE

12mo, $1.50

The love story of Peter the Great's German prime minister. In the opening chapters a vivid picture is given of the semi-barbarous people that the great Czar was to mould into one of the leading nations of the earth. Peter, dissolute and violent, but glorified by his will and noble purpose, is strongly drawn. Along with Ostermann's experiences with his patrician wife is sketched his brave struggle to continue Peter's work in spite of the punier rulers that followed. The style is spirited and compact.

THE PRINCESS OF HANOVER

12mo, $1.75 net (postage 7c.)

By MARGARET L. WOODS, Author of "A Village Tragedy"

Thomas Hardy calls this play "the book I have read with most interest and pleasure in the year." The London Times said: "It reminds us at every turn of some of the best of Elizabethan dramatists." The "Princess" is the unhappy wife of George I.

3d Edition, with a New Final Chapter.

THE LIGHTNING CONDUCTOR

The Strange Adventures of a Motor Car.

Edited by C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON

12mo, $1.50

"Can hardly fail of a popular vote of approval."—Boston Transcript.

"One of the most delightful novels of the season."—Brooklyn Eagle.

"Wholly new and decidedly entertaining."—Springfield Republican.

Extra cloth, large 12mo, inlaid portrait of "Capt. Kettle" done in colors, on cover. Price, $1.25

The advance orders on the above book exhausted the first edition before publication, necessitating postponement of publication from date advertised, March 15th.

A second edition is now printing and the book will positively be published March 28th.

With the possible exception of "Sherlock Holmes," Capt. Kettle is the best known character in fiction; this volume contains his best and most thrilling adventures and final triumphs. Mr. Alden in the New York Times Book-Supplement says: "Mr. Cutcliffe Hyne long ago made a reputation as one of our best writers. 'Capt. Kettle' has hit the popular taste, he is a great as well as an amusing creation."

Second Edition Now Ready of Miss Francis's Remarkable Novel

A Son of Destiny

The Story of Andrew Jackson

This is Miss Francis's first book. Published late in December, 1902, or about three months ago, it has already run into a second edition. Over 250 prominent newspapers have reviewed the book, in nearly every case devoting columns of space praising Miss Francis's work. It is doubtful if any novel ever published anywhere has received so much praise from the critics as "A Son of Destiny." As the Nashville American says: "It is a splendid story, splendidly told."

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

FICTION

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Author of "The Blazed Trail," "The Westerners," etc.

Conjuror's House

A book that every lover of good romance, every lover of the woods, every lover of out-door air and freedom will delight in. The story tells of the fight of a "Free Trader" against the despotic power of the Hudson Bay Company. Mr. White in this book has even surpassed his successful "Blazed Trail."

Now Ready

Cloth, 12mo, $1.25

By DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

Author of "Her Serene Highness"

Golden Fleece

This novel is a vivid and faithful picture of one of the newest and strangest phases of American social life. It is a story of an English Earl who joins the mad rush to the American matrimonial bargain counter in search of a rich wife. His hunt carries him through nearly all the large American cities, and the social panorama of the United States is amusingly displayed.

Ready early in April

By FRANK L. NASON

Author of "To the End of the Trail"

The Blue Goose

A rattling novel of Western mining life by one who knows every inch of the ground. It is a love story with a most bewitching slip of a French girl as heroine. The lawlessness, the discontent of a mining town; the thievings, the strikes and riotings, furnish Mr. Nason his material, and he makes a powerful picture of conditions existing in mining communities.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

"The most artistic story of the year."

W. A. ALDEN, in N. Y. Times Saturday Review.

By ARNOLD BENNETT Anna of the Five Towns

The story of a sincere young girl's struggle for happiness amid the cant and hypocrisy of a straight-laced non-conformist community in Staffordshire, England. It has been the success of the London season, and has been crowned by the "Academy of Literature." The direct intensity of the story, and the almost pastoral simplicity of the heroine, suggest "Tess of the D'Urbervilles."

Now Ready

By M. IMLAY TAYLOR

The Rebellion of the Princess

Author of "On the Red Staircase," "The House of the Wizard," etc.

A capital romance of love, adventure and intrigue at the Russian court. The scene is laid in Moscow, at the time of the election of Peter the Great, and the pages are crowded with historic figures, all interesting and romantic.

Now Ready

By PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE (Hopkins)

Author of "The Washingtonians" The Voice in the Desert

A distinctly original story of the Arizona desert, depicting the peculiar influence exerted by the desert upon people of different temperaments. The characters are drawn with unusual power and the story is strong and interesting.

Ready early in April

By VIOLA ROSEBORO

The Joyous Heart

A novel that embodies and radiates the joy of living. The scene is in the South at the time of the war, and in this setting Miss Roseboro has woven a charming story, full of romantic interest, around a number of typical Southern characters.

Ready early in April

By S. R. CROCKETT

Flower o' the Corn

Author of "The Firebrand," "The Banner of Blue," etc.

A brisk and exciting romance, full of the true and inimitable Crockett flavor. The scene is laid in a little Protestant town of the Cevennes.

Ready late in April

Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

By SEUMAS MacMANUS

A Lad o' the O'Friel's

Author of "Irish Pastorals," "Through the Turf Smoke," etc.

A charming idyllic story of Donegal ways and customs that shows, in the light of imagination and romance, the best traits of Irish character.

FICTION PUBLISHED IN FEBRUARY

By EDITH WYATT True Love: A COMEDY OF THE AFFECTIONS

Author of "Everyone His Own Way" 12mo, $1.50

A study of affinities, and a satire upon modern so-called culture. The author fulfils in "True Love" the promise that Mr. Howells declared she gave in her earlier work.

By JOSEPH CONRAD Youth: THREE TALES OF THE WORLD'S WATERWAYS

Author of "Lord Jim," "Typhoon," etc. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

"Sufficient to place Conrad with the foremost writers of fiction in any language." N. Y. Times Saturday Review.

By EDWARD W. TOWNSEND Lees and Leaven

Author of "Chimmie Fadden," etc. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

A clever portrayal of the rushing turmoil of New York life to-day.

By JAMES WEBER LINN The Chameleon

Author of "The Second Generation" Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

By SHAN F. BULLOCK The Squirrel

Author of "The Barrys" Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

A remarkable presentation of the Irish character in a novel of unusual interest.

IMPORTANT MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS

By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN and NORA ARCHIBALD SMITH

Authors of "Golden Numbers"

The Posy Ring

A book of verses to read to a child, suitable for children still younger than those for whom "Golden Numbers" was edited. The type is large and the binding simple and beautiful.

Cloth, 12mo, net, $1.25

By IDA M. BENNETT The Flower Garden

This is a book of ways and means for the average man and woman who wishes to maintain the best garden for the least money. Other books pay chief attention to landscape effects in gardening, and presuppose an expert knowledge of common gardening. This book presupposes nothing. Its aim is to lay the basis of a complete garden education.

HOW PARIS AMUSES ITSELF

By F. BERKELEY SMITH

Author of "The Real Latin Quarter."

Profusely Illustrated with Sketches, Half-tones, and Drawings in Color by the Author and by Prominent French Artists Including Sancha, Galaniz, Michael, Perinet, and Others.

F. Berkeley Smith, who made such a success last year with his book, "The Real Latin Quarter," is preparing to follow it with another still more attractive volume. In this new work he will tell, with the assistance of several celebrated French artists, including Sancha, Galaniz, Michael, Perinet, and others, "How Paris Amuses Itself." A more seductive title and a more fascinating subject could scarcely be chosen, and when we remember that the author has lived in Paris for more than ten years, and has intimate personal knowledge of this great playground of the world, and that to the pictures drawn and painted by his artist friends he will add many of his own original drawings and photographs from life, it is easy to believe that the new book will be a graphic vitalization of the gay capital of France. He writes of what he has seen and known from personal experiences which rarely, if ever, come to a stranger.

Mr. Smith describes the quaint, out-of-the-way places of amusement; the picturesque side of the light theaters and the serious ones, together with the inner life of the theatrical celebrities; the Bohemian cabarets and the life of Montmartre; the day and night life of the bars, restaurants, and cafés; the life of the boulevards; types and characteristics of Parisians; the pleasures of the bourgeois; fete days and Sundays; the balls, carnivals, circuses, fetes foraines, etc. He unites in this portrayal the graphic skill of the artist and the infectious enthusiasm of the lover of fun and gaiety. His racy book will be published in April by Funk & Wagnalls Company, and the advance orders already indicate something of the wide interest and eager impatience with which the book is awaited.

A New Novel by the Author of "The Silence of Dean Maitland"

RICHARD ROSNY

By MAXWELL GRAY, Author of "The Silence of Dean Maitland," "The Reproach of Annesley," "The House of Hidden Treasure," etc. Photogravure frontispiece. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

Maxwell Gray in her new story has taken an interesting psychological problem and worked it out with that skill in secrecy of motive for which she is noted. The reader, although given several sufficient reasons for the change in the character of the hero after a certain momentous incident in his life, has no suspicion of the true reason until near the end of the story. The disclosure then comes with all the shock of surprise, following upon the frustrated though almost successful wrecking of Rosny's domestic happiness through the disloyalty of his closest friend and the disappointed affections of his wife. Here is the culminating episode in a married life of misunderstanding.

MORE LETTERS OF CHARLES DARWIN

Edited by FRANCIS DARWIN. Two vols, 500 pages each. Eight photogravures and eight half-tones. Cloth, gilt top, deckle edges, boxed, $5.00 net. Uniform with "The Life and Letters of Huxley."

Everything that Darwin wrote bore the impress of his sincere and gentle spirit. Even his most learned treatises disclosed the man as very charming. In these letters readers are sure to meet with that attractive personality which no one that ever came under its spell can forget. They are almost exclusively the letters of Darwin himself. Many were addressed to Asa Gray. Other American scientific men are also represented.

THE STAR DREAMER

By Agnes and Egerton Castle

"It bears on every page the touch of true romance.

* * * Here is a novel that cannot be too heartily recommended. It stands alone, in an atmosphere of its own, in a garden where flower romance and poetry and the old tale of human love, in a light that is mellow and golden."—New York Mail and Express.

LIPPINCOTT BOOKS FOR THE SPRING

By Prof. Angelo Heilprin, F. R. G. S.

MONT PELEE AND THE TRAGEDY OF MARTINIQUE

The first complete account of the catastrophic events of the island. There are nearly forty full-page plates, made up in greater part of reproductions from photographs taken by Prof. Heilprin himself. Many of these reveal the volcano in its climax of eruption.

Seventy illustrations. Large 8vo, 370 pages, cloth, $3.00 net. Postpaid $3.27.

MACBETH. Revised Edition.

The first volume to bear the name of Horace Howard Furness, Jr., in collaboration with that of Horace Howard Furness, his father. The most recent addition to the Variorum Edition of Shakespeare's plays. The notes have been revised. A collation of texts is included in the volume.

Frontispiece. 8vo, cloth, $4.00 net. Postpaid $4.29.

By W. Jay Mills, Author of "Historic Houses of New Jersey."

THROUGH THE GATES OF OLD ROMANCE

Covers the early life of all the colonies. Collected from many out-of-the-way sources, facts and figures of real life charmingly interwoven in a web of romance. Lavishly illustrated by John Rae.

Illustrated. 8vo, decorated cloth, $1.50 net. Postage extra.

GLIMPSES OF COLONIAL SOCIETY AND LIFE AT PRINCETON COLLEGE, 1766-1773

By one of the Class of 1768.

Notes and observations by a contemporary, a member of the class of 1763—William Patterson, one-time Governor of New Jersey. Arranged with a view to explaining and supplementing each other.

Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, $2.00 net. Postage extra.

THE UNTILLED FIELD

Mr. Moore in his most matured and in many respects most brilliant imaginative writing. Mr. Moore has been as widely discussed as any writer of English fiction in many years.

12mo, decorated cloth, $1.50.

A TAR-HEEL BARON

In the figure of the Baron himself, Mrs. Pelton has come very close to creating a new character. The Baron—tender, courteous, without fear, and proud to his finger tips—makes a strange figure in the North Carolina country, where he wins his way.

Illustrated by E. S. Holloway. 12mo, decorated cloth, $1.50.

By Louis Becke

Author of "By Reef and Palm," "Yorke the Adventurer," "Breachley—Black Sheep," etc.

THE STRANGE ADVENTURES OF JAMES SHERVINTON

Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

LIPPINCOTT BOOKS FOR THE SPRING

By William Eleroy Curtis, Author of "The True Thomas Jefferson."

THE TRUE ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The most recent addition to the "True Biographies" which have won such wide popularity and distinct success for their presentation of great Americans in an intimate and at the same time dignified form. His picture of Lincoln is singularly interesting and suggestive.

24 illustrations. 8vo, decorated cloth, $2.00 net. Postpaid $2.14.

By Marcus R. P. Dorman, M. A.

A HISTORY OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE IN THE NINETEENTH CENTURY

The first of four volumes which deals authoritatively with that period of English history between the outbreak of the war with France and the death of Pitt (1793-1806). The remaining volumes will be issued as rapidly as possible. To be complete in four volumes.

Volume I. Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, $4.00 net.

By Clarence M. Weed and Ned Dearborn.

BIRDS IN THEIR RELATIONS TO MAN

A manual of economic ornithology for the United States and Canada. Intended to cover the ground comprehensively and to furnish the most recent data. A book for the non-technical as well as the technical reader.

Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, $2.50. Postage extra.

By G. G. Chisholm.

EUROPE—Volume II.

The concluding volume of perhaps the most widely known and successful library of its kind—"Stanford's Compendium of Geography and Travel." It deals with the Northwestern part of the continent of Europe.

Illustrated. Large crown 8vo, cloth, $5.50 net.

AT THE TIME APPOINTED

A story of mystery which promises to exceed in popularity the clever detective story, "That Mainwaring Affair," by the same author, which has passed through eight editions. The writer piques interest with a situation at once novel and apparently simple of explanation, but which baffles every effort to solve until the story draws to a close.

Illustrated. 12mo, decorated cloth, $1.50.

By Vance Thompson.

SPINNERS OF LIFE

Will surprise and appeal to the appetite for the esoteric. A modern novel of New York club and society life in the very best sense of the word. Mr. Thompson's short stories are widely known.

Illustrated by E. M. Ashe and Roland Kirby. 12mo, decorated cloth, $1.50.

By John Strange Winter

Author of "The Peacemakers," "Heart and Sword," "Blaze of Glory."

MARTY

12mo, decorated cloth, $1.25.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO.'S Spring Books

THE DOMINANT STRAIN

By ANNA CHAPIN RAY. Illustrated in color
by HARRY C. EDWARDS 12mo, $1.50.

THE story of a woman who married a man to reform him, with a hero who may be described as a Puritan with a musical temperament.

MISS RAY has already achieved success as a writer of books for older girls. "Teddy: Her Book" and its successors have challenged instant comparisons with Miss Alcott's stories. This is her second novel and it shows a marked advance over her previous work.

A Detached Pirate

By HELEN MILECETE. With four illustrations by I. A. CALGA, in color.
12mo, $1.50.

A MISUNDERSTANDING, a divorce, and a reconciliation furnish the theme of this breezy society novel.

The Spoils of Empire

By FRANCIS NEWTON THORPE, author of "A Constitutional History of the United States."

A ROMANCE of Mexico in the time of Montezuma and the Spanish Inquisition. A story of intense interest.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON. Illustrated by
CH. GRUNWALD. 12mo, $1.50.

A FASCINATING story of love and adventure with its scenes in France during the reign of Louis XIV., and in Canada during the days of La Salle's explorations.

THE hero of this book is Henri de Tonti, known in history as the faithful lieutenant of Sieur La Salle, the great explorer.

Wars of Peace

By A. F. WILSON. Illustrated by H. C. IRELAND. 12mo, $1.50.

A STIRRING industrial novel showing the consequences in one family of the formation of a big "trust."

Sarah Tuldon

By ORME AGNUS, author of "Love in Our Village," "Jan Oxber," etc.
Illustrated, $1.50.

A REMARKABLE study of an English peasant girl which rivals Thomas Hardy's best efforts.

TRUTH DEXTER

By SIDNEY MCCALL. Popular Edition.

Wholesale price, 40 cents; in lots of 25 at 37½ cents

LITTLE, BROWN & CO., 254 Washington St., Boston

LITTLE, BROWN & CO.'S Spring Books

The Siege of Youth

By FRANCES CHARLES, author of "In the Country God Forgot."

A BRIGHT epigrammatic story dealing with art, journalism, and human nature, with its scene laid in San Francisco, the author's home.

Miss Charles's first novel "In the Country God Forgot," now in its 4th Edition, disclosed an author of uncommon power.

Illustrated, 12mo, $1.50.

Love Thrives in War

By MARY CATHERINE CROWLEY, author of "A Daughter of New France" (7th Edition), "The Heroine of the Strait" (9th thousand).

THE surrender of General Howe and his American army to the British and their Indian allies under Tecumseh, and other stirring events of the War of 1812 form the historical background of Miss Crowley's latest romance which is told with skill and grace.

Illustrated, 12mo, $1.50.

BARBARA

A Woman of the West

By JOHN H. WHITSON. Illustrated, $1.50.

A DISTINCTIVELY American novel, dealing with life in the far West, and in many ways remarkable, with a novel plot and unusual situations. The scenes of the story are a Western ranch, Cripple Creek, and the City of San Diego.

THE search of the heroine, Barbara, for her missing husband, Roger Timberly, and the difficulties she encounters is in a nutshell the plot of this virile novel of the great West.

THIS standard authority has hitherto been made only in two volumes, and the price has been $7.50 net. In its new and handier form, published at a low price, it will be in great demand.

NUTTALL'S BIRDS

Popular Edition

A NEW single volume Edition of THOMAS NUTTALL'S Handbook of the Birds of the United States and Canada. Comprising: I., The Land Birds; II., Game and Water Birds. Revised and annotated, with additions by Montague Chamberlain. Superbly illustrated, including drawings made especially for the work by Ernest E. Thompson, and 20 colored plates containing 110 full-length figures of the most important land and water birds.

In and Around the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River in Arizona

By GEORGE WHARTON JAMES, author of "The Indians of the Painted Desert Region," "Indian Basketry," etc. Tourist's Edition. With 23 full-page plates, and 77 pictures in the text. Crown 8vo, cloth, $2.50.

Written in Florence

The last verses of HUGH McCULLOCH, author of "The Quest of Heracles." With photogravure portrait. 12mo, decorated cloth, gilt top, $1.25 net.

Salads, Sandwiches, and Chafing-Dish Dainties

A favorite book by JANET MACKENZIE HILL, editor of "The Boston Cooking School Magazine." New Edition. With additions, and nearly 50 illustrations, from photographs. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Kennel Diseases

An important new book on the care and management of dogs in disease. By "ASHMONT," author of "Kennel Secrets." Illustrated, 8vo, $3.00 net.

THE LIBRARY OF NOBLE AUTHORS

Ancient and Modern Bookmaking contrasted

William Morris and Modern Book-Making

BOOK-MAKING has of late years obtained an attention that has produced many and diverse results. While it is undoubted that the development of printing has been in the direction of producing books cheaply and rapidly, it is also true that, side by side with this development, there has always existed a feeling of reverence for the work of those early craftsmen, who dealt with type and paper as did the earnest artists in the scriptoria with pen, pigments, and parchment. Men like Barbou and Didot in France, and Foulis, Baskerville, and Whittingham in Great Britain, preserved the traditions in spite of the inevitable tendency towards the machine-made article.

WHEN the late Mr. William Morris established the Kelmscott Press, he was impelled by a desire to produce books which should evince those qualities of individuality and distinction which affect us so happily in viewing the labours of the craftsmen of the days of the Revival of Learning. Morris accomplished much; his work amounted almost to a movement. But, like most enthusiastic leaders of movements, his attitude was so far uncompromising, that he found little that was available in modern methods and modern growths. His admiration for the past somewhat blinded him to what was valuable in the present, with the result that his work is largely imitative. His type, ornaments, and general character of craftsmanship, if they have distinction, are yet too close an imitation of what the early printers accomplished to possess individuality. That Morris was not just to his age is, of course, indubitable. His immediate successors, the founders of the Doves' Press—Mr. T. J. Cobden-Sanderson and Mr. Emery Walker—have fairly proved that type to be beautiful need not necessarily be after mediæval models and unreadable; and the movement originated by Morris is now being carried on to more legitimate ends, because fulfilled of the individuality characteristic of the present age.

THE aim of the projectors of the LIBRARY OF NOBLE AUTHORS is to continue this movement by an attempt to embody the best literature in such form as shall possess distinction as examples of craftsmanship, and, at the same time, be endowed with the individuality of the modern spirit of the printer's and book-maker's arts.

A PRINTER, adequately to present an author's work in the form of a book, should be in sympathy with the author's thought and language. The success achieved by Aldus, Giunta, Froben, Jenson, Plantin and others, was due as much to the fact that these printers were also scholars as to the fact they were master-craftsmen. This which was true of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries is also true of the twentieth century, and the printer must either be himself a lover of literature, or he must have the advantage of assistance from those who are ; otherwise, his work will be but the mechanical result of the application of rules and not the product of individual thought. That kind of personal attention which the early printers gave to their work will be given to this series—publisher, editor, and printer will work in harmony to bring about the happy result.

Printer to Author

FOR these ends, a type has been chosen (and other type will be designed) which is both readable and beautiful. Hand-made paper of the finest quality has been specially made by Messrs. Arnold and Foster, and the press-work—a most important factor—will be attended to by the most skilled workmen. The volumes will be printed in folio.

Essentials of the Library of Noble Authors

WITH regard to the books to be included in this series the title suggests somewhat the intention. By NOBLE AUTHORS is meant those writers whose works have nobly and joyously influenced the life of their own and succeeding ages.

Definition of

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEVOLDT, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consumer is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

Mr. Friedman's new book contains all of the chapters published serially in the Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia, together with several new chapters now published for the first time. Although full of irresistibly humorous incidents, this is not a book of short stories, but a thoroughly consistent volume which the publishers offer as a worthy addition to their distinguished list of American humor—a list which began with the masterpieces of "Mr. Dooley" and which has recently included the "Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to His Son." Although the book is in no sense Sociological, the author shows a rare insight into the character of a curious class in American life and an intimate acquaintance with their amusing types. The drawings are in Mr. Glackens' best style, and add greatly to the charm of the volume.

GENERAL CHARLES KING'S LATEST NOVEL
A DAUGHTER OF THE SIOUX
 A TALE OF THE INDIAN FRONTIER

Illustrations by FREDERIC REMINGTON and EDWARD WILLARD DEMING

It is now several years since General King has written a book based on the stirring scenes of the Far Western Plains, among which he passed so many years of his active military life. Critics who have read the advance sheets hail this new story with great interest and enthusiasm, claiming for it the true ring and action of his earlier books and comparing more than favorably with them. It is certain that his host of oldtime readers are still thoroughly appreciative, as witnessed by the large number of copies already sold before publication. Its literary merit is greatly enhanced by the talent employed in its artistic embellishment, and we submit that seldom is found on one title-page such a trio of illustrious names as

 SLOPE

—BY—

Celia Parker Woolley.

A book of charmingly optimistic and thoroughly helpful essays. The afternoon of life (The Western Slope) with its enlarged sympathies and softened beliefs is shown to be the most delightful period of life. The writer reviews the general progress of ideas in matters of education, religion and social activity during the quarter century just passed with a notable sanity and comprehensiveness of view.

Bound in boards, pasted label, beautifully printed, size 5 by 7, 250 pp. Price $1.25.

The Annual American Catalogue

1900-1902

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1902, is now in preparation, and will include in one alphabet the short-title lists of the books of 1900, 1901 and 1902, giving information of the books recorded by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. This form of catalogue has been generally accepted as a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

HIS FRIEND THE ENEMY

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK.

Six Illustrations by Frederick Lowenheim.

A stirring tale of the Northwest wherein the old, old story becomes entangled in the plots and counterplots of a county seat contest. It has all the elements of a genuine romance, and is an unusually fascinating novel. The action is rapid, there is plenty of humor, the local color is true, the romance is holding, the ending is happy, and the story is vigorously told.

12 mo, Cloth bound. Price, $1.50

BECAUSE OF POWER

By ELLA STRYKER MAPES.

Illustrations by Latimer J. Wilson.

It is a novel attractively presenting the counterpoise of character and fate. Broad in conception and true in tone, the story is handled with distinct style. The spark of life glows on every page, the atmosphere is vital—electrified by the quickening currents of humanity.

Hamilton W. Mable says of it: "There is a great deal of vitality in it—an amount of passion that gives it color, movement and go, quite unusual in stories from the pen of American women."

12mo, Cloth bound. Price, $1.50

THE VICTIM'S TRIUMPH

A PANORAMA OF MODERN SOCIETY

By JOSEPHINE ZEMAN.

With the spirit of modern, progressive femininity, the way that one woman is made to stand by another who falls on her upward climbing towards place and respectability, is more true to present day life and the new attitude of woman to woman, than many people know of. This story clearly and forcibly portrays it. It will appeal to many readers and will be talked about among women especially.

Three Notable Books

Wee Macgreegor

By J. J. BELL

Mr. Bell has admirably told the humorous and realistic story of a little Scottish boy, Wee Macgreegor, of his father, who slyly pets and spoils him, and of his mother who adores and disciplines him—three unforgettable people who live actually before us in the author's exquisite and sincere work.

In this story of little Macgreegor, and in his relations to his humble but lovable family and friends, there is a suggestion of "A Window in Thrums," which made J. M. Barrie's reputation; and, on the other hand, its humor and fun are as entertaining as "Helen's Babies." It is a unique contribution to modern literature, and comes as a real surprise to the Scotch, English, and American public. The book has taken England by storm in spite of its Scotch dialect.

16mo, ornamented cloth, $1.00

The Bishop

BRADY

Stories of a militant, married, bishop, whose work among the rough-and-ready men of Western camps, forts, and villages results in his sharing in many incidents of frontier life—comedy, tragedy, always drama. He is a distinct American product, planted by the Church and grown in Western soil. His life is full of activity of the best kind, and he is a man you have to respect. He has many experiences, some amusing, some thrilling, and these stories afford excellent pictures of life in the roughest parts of the West.

Illustrated by W. T. Smedley,
E. M. Ashe, and Others

Ornamented cloth, $1.50

The Triumph of Life

By WILLIAM FARQUHAR
PAYSON

Author of "John Vytal"

A story of modern American life. It tells of the struggles of a young writer, Enoch Lloyd, with what seems to be financial success at the price of moral failure. There are two women in the case, the two opposing influences. One is Céleste Moreau, the worldly, mocking daughter of a French hotel-keeper in New York; the other is Marion Lee, daughter of Lloyd's publisher. His struggle between these two influences—the one demoralizing, the other ennobling—is worked out through many intricacies of plot, and only after a series of intense dramatic situations, such as are found in stories of vivid strength, does he emerge triumphant from the final crisis.

Ornamented cloth, $1.50

ONE of the many attractions to the trade in the new edition of "Children of Destiny," by Molly Elliot Seawell, is the wonderful illustrations by A. B. Wenzell, and there are six in all, similar to the above. The text is Miss Seawell's most brilliant and serious work. A novel of the hot-blooded sons and daughters of the South, full of fire and passion of their romantic region. 12mo, $1.50.

THE HOUSE ON THE HUDSON

By Frances Powell. $1.50.

A very remarkable first novel, by a new writer who tells a strikingly unconventional story. From the moment Miss Athena Derohan arrives at Highgrove Hall, young, beautiful and unprotected, the chivalrous interest of the reader is awakened, only to be still more potently stimulated by the mysterious developments which follow. The whole romance, blending the characteristics of a detective story with those of a passionate and forceful drama of love, is one of peculiar originality.

A GIRL OF IDEAS

By Annie Flint. $1.50.

This very unusual novel details the business career of a girl whose imagination is her only capital. Publisher after publisher rejects Elinor Day's manuscripts. Her money runs low. Refusing to accept defeat, she opens an office for the selling of ideas to established writers. The scheme meets with instant success. She becomes a distinguished author—by proxy. Many complex situations develop, the solution of the most embarrassing of which constitutes the climax of the book.

THE JULIA MARLOWE EDITION OF THE CAVALIER

By George W. Cable. Illustrated with many photographs of scenes in the stage version of the novel, reproduced in color. $1.50.

This edition of Mr. Cable's celebrated novel is rendered especially interesting and beautiful by the charming photographs picturing Miss Marlowe in the role of Charlotte Oliver, the heroine of both novel and play.

LITERARY LANDMARKS OF OXFORD

By Laurence Hutton. Exquisitely illustrated by Herbert Railton. 12mo, $1.20 net (postage 12 cents).

A worthy companion to the entertaining and most useful books by Mr. Hutton which have made the "Literary Landmarks" title a recognized voucher, like Augustus Hare's "Walks." The rooms of Oxford Colleges are crowded with literary associations which he has so grouped, in sections following the alphabetical order of the colleges, that the Oxford visitor may make his pilgrimage with the utmost convenience.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HENRY T. COATES & Co. will shortly publish "The Tu-Tze's Tower," a story of the uprising against the foreigners in China in 1900, by Miss Louise Betts Edwards, a well-known Philadelphia newspaper woman and contributor to magazines.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will bring out directly Seumas MacManus's new book, "A Lad o' the O'Fries," a pastoral and idyllic novel of Irish "cottager" life. They will publish on the 6th of April a new novel by David Graham Phillips, entitled "Golden Fleece," a picture of American high life, the central figure of which is an impecunious British Earl who has come to America in search of a rich wife. The volume will have sixteen illustrations by Harrison Fisher.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce a novel by Alice Duer Miller, entitled "The Modern Obstacle," which is said to be a story of more or less problematical nature, showing that the most formidable obstruction to the course of true love from a socialistic point of view is the lack of money. They will bring out at once the sixth volume of the new edition of Byron's Poetical Works, which will contain the fragment of the xviii Canto of "Don Juan" that has never been published. In May they will bring out Thomas Nelson Page's new novel, "Gordon Keith," the first he has written since his "Red Rock" appeared. The scene of the new story includes New York City and Virginia, and the period extends from the close of the war to within ten years ago. The hero is a Southerner and the heroine a New York girl.

THE CENTURY COMPANY have just published a readable and attractive volume entitled "Winter India," by Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore, a book that will appeal to the traveller as well as to those who are interested in India, written by one whose "Jinrikisha Days in Japan," and her works on Java and China are standards on their respective countries; "A Comedy of Conscience," by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, who evolves a very clever story out of the experiences of a spinster who unwittingly, as she is robbed of a purse, becomes owner of a valuable diamond ring, and is troubled with the problem of what she should do with it; also, "When Patty Went to College," by Jean Webster, describing the humorous experiences of a college girl with a penchant for getting into scrapes and possessed of unlimited resources in getting out of them.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish to-day "The Mannerings," a new story of country life, by Miss Alice Brown, author of "Margaret Warrenner," etc., the plot of which involves a double love story which is said to be ingenious; "The Legatee," by Alice Prescott Smith, a story of life in a Wisconsin lumber town, its labor antagonisms, and the catastrophe of a forest fire; "Young People's History of Holland," by Dr. William Elliot Griffis, author of "Brave Little Holland," etc.; "The Enjoyment of Art," by Carleton Noyes, whose purpose is to set forth the nature and the meaning of a work of art; the second and concluding volume of "Correspondence of the Colonial Government of Rhode Island, 1723-1775," edited by Gertrude S. Kimball; also, revised editions of "Charles Eliot, Landscape Architect," and of Professor James M. Hopkin's "Great Epochs in Art History."

- Chadwick, J. White. William Ellery Channing, minister of religion. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 17+463 p. por. D. cl., **$1.75 net.
 The treatment of Mr. Chadwick's "Channing" is similar to his biography of "Theodore Parker," and will engage the attention of readers and students of the anti-slavery conflict, for Channing's relation to this subject abounded in dramatic interest and had an individuality which is carefully brought out. Of more immediate importance is his prophetic attitude with reference to the liberality of the sects and the problems of sociology and philanthropy. The main intention is to exhibit Channing's vital criticism of our present tendencies and his encouragement to our higher aspirations.

 Mr. Cooke has collected, for the first time, the best verse produced during the most extraordinary period of American literature—that which saw the rise of the transcendental movement. It was a movement of inquiry and revolt, of the assertion of the worth and dignity of man. It included figures like Emerson, Thoreau, Alcott, Margaret Fuller, Ellery Channing, Jones Very, Higginson, Christopher Cranch, and a host of lesser known writers. The verse of the forty-two authors represented in this volume is distinctively American.

Dr. Freeman is emphatically in favor of substitutes for the saloon which shall furnish men the opportunities for pleasure, but not for sin, which are to be found in saloons. In his book, Dr. Freeman describes the great Hollywood Inn of Yonkers, of which he is the head. This workman's club has been a great success, and, Dr. Freeman believes, embodies the solution of the temperance question.

Freeman, Mrs. Mary Eleanor Wilkins. The wind in the rose-bush, and other stories of the supernatural; il. by P. Newell. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 1902, 1903. 5+237 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

Harben, Will N. The substitute. N. Y., Harper, 1903. c. 4+330 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A story that deals with the fortunes of George Buckley, an inhabitant of Northern Georgia. Although of humble birth, he has a natively fine character. He is adopted by an old man who desires to atone for a past sin by so educating and training George that he may become his moral substitute in the eyes of Providence. Hence the name. Finally, interest centres in a love affair that has a noteworthy effect on the young man's character, and the end is a happy one.

Harrison, Eliz., and Woodson, Belle. The kindergarten building gifts. St. Louis, Mo., Sigma Publishing Co., [1903.] c. 226 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

An explanation and study of eight of Froebel's play-gifts.

Herrick, H: Martyn. The Kingdom of God in the writings of the Fathers. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1903. c. 3+93-117 p. O. (University of Chicago historical and linguistic studies in literature related to the New Testament; second ser., Linguistic and exegetical ser., v. 1.) pap., *50 c. net.

This treatise is based upon the Christian writings of the patristic age, from Clement of Rome to John of Damascus. These writings have been studied exegetically and historically in the standard English translations, with reference, when necessary, to the original text.

Hatfield, Marcus Patten. A compend of diseases of children; especially adapted for the use of medical students. 3d ed., rev. Phil., P. Blakiston's Son & Co., 1903. c. 8+9-241 p. 16°, (Quiz-compend, no. 14.) cl., 80 c.

Helps, Sir Arthur. Thoughts in the cloister and the crowd and Companions of my solitude; ed. by A. R. Waller. [N. Y., Tennant & Ward,] 1902, [1903.] 7+309 p. por. S. (Cloister lib.; ed. by A. R. Waller.) cl., $1.

Henderson, C: Hanford. John Percyfield the anatomy of cheerfulness. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 5+382 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Presents a love story in a setting of discursive prose. The scene is laid partly in Switzerland and partly in America. At a chateau upon the shore of Lake Geneva the reader meets a group of interesting and attractive people, and his sympathies are presently engaged by an idyllic love affair. The chief interest of the book, however, lies deeper.

Herbert, G: The temple and a priest to the temple; ed. by A. R. Waller. [N. Y., Tennant & Ward,] 1902, [1903.] 7+309 p. por. S. (Cloister lib.; ed. by A. R. Waller.) cl., $1.

Hope, Graham. The triumph of Count Ostermann. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 8+333 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The love story of Peter the Great's German prime minister. In the opening chapter a vivid picture is given of the semi-barbarous people that the great Czar was to mold into one of the leading nations of the earth. Peter, dissolute and violent, but glorified by his will and noble purpose, is strongly drawn. Along with Ostermann's experiences with his patrician wife is sketched his brave struggle to continue Peter's work in spite of the weaker rulers that followed.

Hulbert, Archer Butler. Braddock's road and Three relative papers. Cleveland, O., Arthur H. Clark Co., 1903. c. 9-213 p. il. D. (Historic highways of America, v. 4.) cl., *$2.50 net.

This volume carries on the story of the Old French War from Washington's capitulation at Fort Necessity through the famous campaign of Braddock in 1755. The hewing of Braddock's Road from the Potomac to the Monongahela was the first great step of material progress made in the West. The story of the campaign as retold from this standpoint is of appealing interest; but of greater interest is the story of the half-century succeeding, in which Braddock's Road was the only highway into the upper Ohio valley—the most important thoroughfare into the West.

Ingalls, J: Ja. A collection of the writings, essays, addresses, and orations. Kansas City, Mo., Hudson-Kimberly Publishing Co., 1903. c. 536 p. incl. facsim., por. 8°, cl., $2.50; buckram, $3; hf. mor., $3.25; mor., $4.50.

Keller, Helen. The story of my life, by Helen Keller; with her letters, (1887-1901,) and a supplementary account of her education; including passages from the reports and letters of her teacher, Anne Mansfield Sullivan, by J: Albert Macy. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 1902, 1903. 10+441 p. pors. D. cl., **$1.50 net.

"This book is in three parts. The first two, Miss Keller's story and the extracts from her letters, form a complete account of her life as far as she can give it. Much of her education she cannot explain herself, and since a knowledge of that is necessary to an understanding of what she has written, it was thought best to supplement her autobiography with the reports and letters of her teacher, Miss Anne Mansfield Sullivan."—Editor's Preface. Miss Keller was born in 1880 in northern Alabama, and became deaf and blind through scarlet fever. Her education is one of the marvels of modern science.

Kieffer, Rev. H: Martyn, tr. First Reformed Church of Easton, Pa.: some of the first

- La Tour, H. Boy de. The induction motor; its theory and design, set forth by a practical method of calculation; from the French by C. O. Mailloux. N. Y., McGraw Publishing Co., [1903.] c. 27+200 p. diagrams, O. cl., $2.50.
Intended to elucidate the theory of the induction motor, and to facilitate its design by a practical method of calculation which is at once simple, ingenious and effective. The object of the book is stated by the author in his preface as follows: "We have wished to come to the assistance of those who have not had occasion to take special courses, and who, owing to the lack of sufficiently extended knowledge, have not derived very much profit from all that has appeared in the scientific papers. We have, therefore, endeavored to give a complete study of the induction motor, and to explain, at length, all the peculiarities of its operation, while remaining within the bounds of elementary mathematics."
- Laughlin, J. Laurence. The principles of money. N. Y., Scribner, 1903. [Mr.] c. 14+550 p. O. cl., **$3 net.

The chief topics of this work are: The functions of money; Coinage: The standard question; Credit; Deposit currency; Tables of prices; History and literature of the quantity theory of money; A critical examination of the quantity theory; The true theory of prices; Prices and the international movement of specie; Amount of money needed by a country; Gresham's law; Origin and history of legal tender in Great Britain and the United States; Economic effects of legal-tender enactments; Laws of token money.
- Lawrence, W.; D.D. Phillips Brooks: a study. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1903. [Mr.] c. 6+51 p. D. cl., **50 c. net.
This little volume brings out the great preacher's more permanent contributions to the religious thought and life of the time. It is a sketch of his theological position, of his attitude towards the intellectual and spiritual movements of the nineteenth century, of the leading features of his own thought, and of his relations to the church. It was delivered as an address from the pulpit of Phillips Brooks in Trinity Church, Boston, January 23, 1903, at a commemorative service, on the tenth anniversary of his death.
- Lespinas, Julie Eleonore de. Letters of Mlle. de Lespinasse; with notes on her life and character by D'Alembert. Marmon- tel, De Guibert, etc., and an introd. by C. A. Sainte-Beuve; tr. by Katharine Prescott Wormeley. [4th ed.] Bost., Hardy, Pratt & Co., 1903. c. 1901. 3+342 p. D. cl., *$1.25 net.
The writer of these letters Mlle. Julie de Lespinasse, has been acknowledged by Mrs. Ward as the original of the leading character in "Lady Rose's Daughter"—Julie Le Breton. The parallel between their lives is unmistakable. Julie de Lespinasse lived in France in the 18th century, and was a protégée of the celebrated Mme. Du Deffand, and the natural daughter of a woman of rank. She loved and was loved by two different men, finally dying broken hearted. Her letters are the history of her life, told with much frankness and feeling.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 28, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

KEEPING STOCK CLEAN.

THE soft-coal nuisance with which storekeepers have been plagued in regions that had hitherto burned only anthracite coal failed after all to teach booksellers a needed lesson—namely, to guard against soiled goods by carefully wrapping them up. While it is not practicable nor even desirable to wrap up every book kept in stock, it is both practicable and desirable to wrap up the "leaders" and the books that move rapidly. These are ordinarily stacked in pyramids up near the entrance of the store, to make a show. In some cases storekeepers are even paid a bonus by publishers to advertise their stock in this manner. But whatever small pecuniary gain they may enjoy in this way they lose in reputation for keeping clean, fresh stock. Let the publisher supply the book with ever so stout a wrapper, the edges will be exposed to the soot that drifts in through doors and windows, and to the inevitable dust that rises from sweeping and that finds its way up under the cloth, though it be the intention of the sweeper to fit it as snugly as possible over the books. Then, on rainy days, even the most careful customers are likely to brush against the exposed books with their damp clothing, helping to make the books untidy. All this might be avoided if each book were enveloped in a close-fitting wrapper, leaving one or two copies exposed for inspection.

"But," it may be objected, "we are in danger of losing a valuable advertising feature." Not necessarily. The wrapped-up pile may be ornamented with posters advertising the books so protected—by posters, that, if the facts were known, are now in many cases hidden away where they do little good either to the publisher who has been at great expense in getting them up, or to the bookseller whom they are intended to benefit. Besides, as we said at the start, any slight loss that may be incurred by covering up such books will be amply compensated by the satisfaction given to a fastidious customer who may possibly rather do without a book than to have a soiled one. Indeed, one serious objection many bookbuyers have to lending libraries, such as the Booklovers and Tabard Inn, is that, while the copies may not be so worn as those in use in the ordinary free or circulating library, the books are not absolutely fresh. Whenever possible, books should be completely wrapped, whether kept in the store or in the stock room. The handing out of absolutely fresh books may easily become as strong an advertising feature for a bookseller, as the handing out of bright new coins and crisp new bills was made in certain cities during the past holiday season by a number of booksellers and other merchants.

The cost of wrapping is an almost insignificant item, as the paper need not be of a high quality nor heavy in weight, and the labor may be performed by any intelligent boy at odd times during the day.

THE coalition of the firm of Harper & Brothers and R. H. Russell, noted elsewhere in this issue, has been variously construed by the daily press, and several writers have indulged in wild prophecies foreshadowing the extinction of the small publisher, and the final "round-up" of the remaining large publishing houses in a combination similar—as one writer thinks—to the so-called Steel Trust. In these days of combinations such an idea would naturally occur to a writer of "snap" opinions; we doubt, however, whether the publishing of the future will be done on the department-store plan, or on the lines of the pork-packing or steel industries. Natural or manufactured products can be "cornered;" but what enterprising promoter, or band of promoters, could be found enterprising enough, or foolhardy enough, to attempt to bring the products of the mind of a nation together under one publisher's roof for generations to come! There are some, we know, who think that the hope of the future of the publishing business lies in specialization rather than in centralization. This might bring together related branches and strengthen by combination of experience and capital the firms that may be already in existence. But so long as Longfellow, Hawthorne, Bancrofts and other geniuses still remain to be born and discovered, and paper will be made and printing presses built, the small publisher will continue to have his day and the advent of a publishing trust will be at least delayed.

WOOD PULP CASE DECIDED.

THE Board of Classification of the United States General Appraisers, on March 23, decided the famous Canadian wood pulp case, which has been pending before it for some months past. The case has attracted a great deal of attention, not only from manufacturers of both pulp and paper, but from newspaper publishers as well, and the general question at issue has also been discussed widely by forestry experts. Two distinct questions were presented to the Board. One related to pulp imported from Quebec and the other to pulp from Ontario. In each case the pulp is made from wood cut on what are called "crown lands." A tariff provides that licensees shall pay a tax of sixty-five cents per cord for pulp wood cut, but a rebate is allowed of twenty-five cents per cord on "timber manufactured into paper pulp in the Dominion of Canada."

The United States customs authorities levied an additional duty equal to the twenty-five cents rebate allowed. The Board of Classification now overrules the protest relating to the pulp from Quebec, and the action of the collector in that particular is sustained.

Judge Somerville, of Alabama, writes the opinion of the Board. He says: "An export duty is a duty or tax imposed upon merchandise on its exportation from any country, and this is necessarily true in whatever form or disguise this tax may be concealed."

John G. Milburn, of Buffalo, was the counsel for the importers, and Albert H. Washburn for the government.

It is expected that the case will be appealed to the federal courts.

R. H. RUSSELL AND HARPER &amp; BROTHERS COMBINE.

R. H. RUSSELL has formed a combination with Harper & Brothers by which his whole business will be transferred to them. This move has been made by Mr. Russell for the purpose of facilitating and enlarging the conduct of his business; the particular line of books which he has published will be continued under his own imprint as heretofore, with the added facilities of advertising and distributing afforded by the house of Harper & Brothers.

A BOGUS DIRECTORY SWINDLE.

THE New York Herald for March 23 describes a clever swindle by means of which a number of business men in the United States, and, presumably, in other countries, have been fleeced to an amount estimated to be above a million dollars. Briefly, according to the Herald, "the plan, which is known to the police of every city as 'the bogus directory swindle,' consists in obtaining the official signature of a bank, a corporation or a business man to an apparently innocent question and then have it reappear in the hands of a third person as a contract for advertising space in a hitherto unheard of business directory. These directories are always shown, and it is here that the Association of Business Directory Men are interested.

"They allege that the directory shown is only one of their publications, with substituted binding, title-page and one page containing the advertisement. Never one of these leaves the possession of the band, and an attempt to receive it only results in the victim getting deeper in the mire of swindle. So sharply has the scheme been worked that there are records where the same firm has been victimized five times within a year and a half.

"Out of New Britain, Conn., it is asserted, $10,000 was taken in one visit, extending over a period of several months. Portland, Me., contributed $5000, and from Waterbury and Ansonia, Conn., Boston and other Massachusetts cities, and the cities of Ohio and Pennsylvania as much more each was taken.

"By the arrest of Arthur P. Hubbard in Washington, D. C., a month ago, it was learned that he had collected $2500 alone by the plan since January 1. The arrest of one Finnimore, who is known to the police of New York City, in North Attleboro, Mass., disclosed a similar case for him, and other arrests throughout the East only confirmed the magnitude of the operations. These men, it is said, do not fear conviction. Backed by the money of one of the syndicates, they will face their trial without fear.

"According to a member of one of the principal bands who has lately fallen out with his chiefs, the business of directory swindling is in the hands of about four different organizations in this country. All produce the same results, with slightly different methods. The one with which he is familiar is said to be conducted by two brothers and a third man as a partner. He is an expert printer.

"These men have operated under many names—the Webster Press, Sandford & Co., the Chatham Press, Mason, Robbins & Co.; the Central Book Company of Philadelphia, Winslow & Co., of Chicago, and a host of other titles. Their offices for the most part have been in New York—sometimes in Fifth Avenue, sometimes in East and West Fourteenth Street, and of late in lower Broadway, where the landlords are not particular about references. The 'offices' are never more than one room, retained only until, as they express it, 'a firm is closed out.' Their printing offices and book bindery were until recently in East Fourteenth Street. They have been moved lately to Jersey City.

"They have not worked in New York for two years. Inspector McClusky, at that time Captain McClusky, in charge of the Detective Bureau, placed Detective Flahy on their case, with the result that there was an arrest and suspension of operations in the city."

FORTY BIBLES A MINUTE.

THE Carton Magazine prints the following extraordinary facts concerning the capacity of the Oxford University Press: "The Bible publications of the Oxford University Press have been issued for three hundred years and can be published in 150 languages and dialects. Every year fully 600 tons of paper are used for this purpose alone. Orders for 100,000 Bibles are quite common, and the supply of printed sheets is so great that an order for half a million copies can be readily filled. On an average, from 30 to 40 Bibles are furnished every minute, and this number can readily be doubled. There are no fewer than 110 different editions of the Oxford Bibles in English, varying from the magnificent folio edition for pulpit use to the "brilliant" Bible, the smallest edition of the Scriptures in the world. Of the Revised Version, fourteen editions are published. More than a million copies of the revised New Testament has been ordered before the day of publication in May of 1881, and it is claimed that the workmen of the establishment refused a bribe of some four thousand pounds to furnish a copy of the book before the day of issue. At the banquet held at the four hundredth celebration of the beginning of the art of printing in England by Caxton, Gladstone took into his hands and exhibited to those present a copy of the Bible which had been printed and bound entirely since midnight of the preceding day. The preparation of the "India paper" used by the Oxford University Press is a business secret of great value. Although frequently imitated it has never been equalled. The largest folio Bible printed in Oxford measures 19 by 12 inches, and no erratum has as yet been found in it. The "Brilliant Text Bible" measures 3¾ by 2½ inches and is ¾ of an inch thick, and bound weighs less than three ounces. In the seventeen years since the Press has been under the management of Horace Hart, the number of employees has increased from 278 to 650."

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

REPRINTS OF ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA BARRED IN CANADA.

A. & C. BLACK, the publishers of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," have secured a perpetual injunction restraining the Imperial Book Company from importing into Canada any copies of the encyclopedia or any part of it printed in any country outside of the British Dominions. The judgment orders the defendants to deliver up any copies so printed now in their possession, to pay the cost of the action, and, if the plaintiffs require it, render an accounting of their profits.

COMMUNICATIONS.

WHAT IS A CHAP BOOK?

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: I have just seen Mr. John Svensk's remarks on my article on this subject. My sole object in writing it was to be of some service—not to display any "pride of accuracy" for that has been "knocked out" of me long ago if ever I had any; nor was it the outcome of the "disease known as writing to the Times." If the point I made therein is of no use to Mr. Svensk I am not without hope that it may be helpful to those who are aiming at accuracy. CHARLES WELSH.

MARCH 20, 1903.

OBITUARY NOTES.

CONRAD JAMES WHITE for three years in the book department of A. M. Rothschild & Co., of Chicago, and for a year buyer for the book department of "The Emporium" of San Francisco, Cal., died, February 9, at Peru, Ind., aged twenty-six.

THE REV. GEORGE LEWIS PRENTISS died March 19 in New York City aged eighty-seven, having been born in Gorham, Me., May 12, 1816. Dr. Prentiss wrote "The Problem of the Veto Power," "Our National Bane," "The Agreement Between Union Seminary and the General Assembly," "Fifty Years of Union Seminary," and "Memoirs of Sargent S. Prentiss and Harvey Skinner, D.D."

THE VERY REV. FREDERIC WILLIAM FARRAR, Dean of Canterbury since 1895, died March 22. Dr. Farrar was born in Bombay, where his father was chaplain, August 7, 1831. After leaving Cambridge he became assistant master at Harrow, and afterwards head master of Marlborough College. In 1876 he became Canon of Westminster, and nineteen years later he became Dean of Canterbury. He was active as a writer and produced upwards of fifty works the best-known among which are his "Life of Christ," "Life of St. Paul," and "Early Days of Christianity," which have had a wide and steady sale. Dr. Farrar came to this country in 1885, remaining from August to December, travelling and lecturing.

CHARLES GODFREY LELAND, died, March 20, in Florence, Italy, where he had resided since 1886. Mr. Leland was born in Philadelphia, August 15, 1824. He was graduated from Princeton in 1846, and afterward studied at Heidelberg, Munich and Paris. He was in Paris in 1848 and took part in the revolutionary uprising in that year. He returned to Philadelphia in 1848 and was admitted to the bar, but gave up the profession to devote himself to literary pursuits. He was at one time editor of the New York Illustrated News and of Vanity Fair, and was connected with the editorial staff of Frank Leslie's publications and of the New York Times. In 1861 he established the Continental Magazine in Boston. Two years later he enlisted in Biddle's Artillery Company, an "emergency regiment," and went to Gettysburg with Smith's Reserves. In 1866 he became editor of the Philadelphia Press, which he left in 1869 to go to London where he lived until 1880. In that year he returned to Philadelphia, to devote himself to the introduction of industrial education in the public schools. When the Civil War broke out, Leland published, through his old friend, Frederick Leypoldt, then a bookseller in Philadelphia, a political satire entitled "The Book of Copperheads," which had an enormous sale. Mr. Leypoldt also published, in sumptuous style, Mr. Leland's "Legends of the Birds." While connected with the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, in 1858, he wrote for Graham's Magazine "Hans Breitmann's Party," which did not attract much attention until years afterward when he gathered it and its successor together, and 50,000 copies sold in one year. Mr. Leland made an intimate study of the gypsies and the North American Indians on which subjects he became a recognized authority. He was one of the originators of the Folk-Lore Congress at Paris in 1889, and discovered the Shelta (Celtic tinker) language. Among his books are "Meister Karl's Sketch Book," "Pictures of Travel," and other translations from Heinrich Heine; "Sunshine in Thought," "The Music-Lesson of Confucius," "Johnnykin and the Goblins," "Pidgin-English Sing Song," "France, Alsace and Lorraine," "Gypsies," "Egyptian Sketch Book," "Life of Lincoln," "Gypsy Sorcery," "Legends of Florence," "Songs of the Sea and Lays of the Land," "Etruscan Roman Remains," "The Poetry and Mystery of Dreams," "Gaudeamus," "English Gypsy Songs," in which he was aided by Professor E. H. Palmer and Miss Janet Tuckey; "The Algonquin Legends of New England," "Kuloscaph, the Master," and a series of "Art Work Manuals."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE late Dr. Birbeck Hill had happily completed before his untimely death his edition of Johnson's "Lives of the Poets."

RUDYARD KIPLING has written two stories—"The Bonds of Discipline" and "Their Lawful Occasions"—for Collier's Weekly which has also made arrangements for the exclusive right to publish Mr. Kipling's poems on political and social topics.

ADOLF WILBRANDT, a German novelist of some reputation has discovered a new light in German literature in a German artisan named Hugo Bertsch, who lives in Williamsburg in Greater New York. The Cottas of Stuttgart, on Mr. Wilbrandt's recommendation, will publish a novel by Bertsch entitled "Brother and Sister" ("Die Geschwister,") which describes the career and misfortunes of an American workingman who has been disabled by an accident and who struggles courageously against poverty. The work, according to Wilbrandt, in its portrayal of character, shows some of the strength of the Russian novelist, Gorki.

MISS MARTHA W. AUSTIN, the author of "Veronica," is a Southern woman, the daughter of the Commander of Austin's Battalion of Sharpshooters in the Confederate Army. Her grandfather, Dr. Austin of New Orleans, was one of the most noted and beloved physicians in the South. Although Miss Austin has lived much of her life in New Orleans and at a country place on the Gulf Coast, she has travelled considerably. She has studied at Sophie Newcomb College (Tulane University, New Orleans) and at Radcliffe, and all her life her library has been her playground. Her writing before this novel, "Veronica," took the form of charming descriptions of nature and essays, and of stray bits of dainty fanciful verse.

THE truth concerning the authorship of "An Englishwoman's Love Letters," according to a report from London, is about to be revealed. The preface to the new English edition, shortly to be brought out, will be signed with the name of the alleged real author, Ester Marion Foley, though, it is explained, the preface discloses very little more about the tragedy which the last letters obscure. "A trace of the tragedy, however," according to our informant, "may perhaps be found in the 'Englishwoman's' story of her kinswoman, Doris Foley, playfellow and aunt to 'The Modern Antæus,' the hero of the story of the same name published in the fall of 1901." This may or may not settle the question of the authorship of that much talked of book of which well over a quarter of a million of copies have been sold.

HENRYK IBSEN celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday on March 20. Fifty-three years ago Ibsen, then an unknown pharmacist, went to Christiania to offer his first play "Catiline" for publication. No one would have it. At last one of his friends scraped together enough money to have the play printed; but not a copy was sold. One day, hungrier than usual, Ibsen and his friend put the "remainder" of the edition of 250 copies on a handcart and sold it to a grocer for wrapping paper. The play had however attracted the attention of Ole Bull, who made Ibsen stage manager of the Bergen Theatre. Later he became stage manager of the Christiania Theatre. In 1864 he left Norway disgusted because it would not assist Denmark in its hopeless struggle against Prussia and Austria. Never in easy circumstances before his self-imposed exile, after that he actually suffered at times for want of food. The tide turned in his favor in 1866, when he published "Brand" of which 1250 copies were sold within a month. In 1879 his reputation spread beyond the Scandinavian countries with the publication of "A Doll's House" and since then his works have never wanted for readers, admirers and detractors.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The assets of the Jamieson-Higgins Company were sold on the 10th inst, the Western News Company buying most of the books and plates. It is expected that the affairs of the concern will be wound up speedily and that the creditors will receive about 25 per cent. of the amount of their claims.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Samuel Klein, bookseller, has filed a petition in bankruptcy.

EMPORIA, KANSAS.—Joseph Samuels, for seven years with A. C. McClurg & Co., has bought an interest in Miss Plumb's bookstore.

FOND DU LAC, WIS.—W. T. Warwick, of Mankato, Minn., will shortly open a bookstore here. He will continue his Mankato business but will reside in Fond du Lac.

LEOMINSTER, MASS.—Charles Farnsworth has bought W. F. Howe's book store.

MEMPHIS, TENN.—The Kremer Book Company has made an assignment.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—H. G. Campbell denies the report that he is selling out.

NEW YORK CITY.—S. F. McLean & Co., dealers in old and new books will remove before May 1 to 430 Sixth Avenue at Twenty-sixth Street. The removal is made necessary because their old quarters in the Young Men's Christian Association, where they have been for the past nine years, will be taken down to make room for a modern building. In their new quarters McLean & Co. will have almost double the floor and shelf space they had in the old store, and have better light and ventilation.

NEW YORK CITY.—The partnership firm of Doubleday, Page & Company has been transformed into a corporation of the same name. Mr. J. L. Thompson, formerly a member of the firm, is no longer connected with the business. The officers of the new corporation are: Frank N. Doubleday, President; Walter H. Page, Vice-President; Henry W. Lanier, Secretary, and Samuel A. Everitt, Treasurer. Mr. Herbert S. Houston is also a stockholder and director of the company. The business itself undergoes no change in management.

RUSHVILLE, IND.—Mrs. B. A. Irvin has bought the book business of Miss A. L. Walker.

ST. ALBANS, VT.—The bankrupt estate of the St. Albans Book Store has declared a dividend of one hundred cents on the dollar. The settlement of the estate was through the Hon. Silas W. Flinn, as trustee, and is without doubt the first estate that has declared one hundred cents under the new law.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

MR. RANDOLPH R. BEAM is now associated with the Scott-Thaw Company, 542 Fifth Avenue, New York.

THE OUTLOOK COMPANY will publish to-day a series of essays by Dr. Lyman Abbott on the subject of death and immortality, entitled "The Other Room."

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish at once a novel entitled "Mr. Claghorn's Daughter," by Hilary Trent, a story of the deterioration and development of character.

KIPLING'S new volume of poems, which Doubleday, Page & Co. expect to bring out in October, will contain, besides a number of new poems, all the author's important work since "The Seven Seas" volume was published, including "The Recessional" and "The Rowers."

J. M. DENT is making as complete a collection of the letters of Charles Lamb as possible for publication, and will be grateful to collectors in America who will allow him to have transcripts of their possessions made and forwarded. Communications may be addressed to J. M. Dent & Co., 29 and 30 Bedford St., Covent Garden, London.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have in press for immediate issue Santine's "Picciola," edited with notes and vocabulary by Professor O. B. Super, of Dickinson College. The text is written in pure and elegant French, yet so simple that it is suitable for pupils who have had but little practice in reading French. It is a story of perennial interest.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce that General Wallace's novel "Ben Hur" is now going to press with its one hundred and eleventh edition. The statements regarding the number of editions through which a novel has passed convey various shades of meaning, as the total amount depends on the number of books contained in each edition. But in the case of "Ben Hur" the output has included the largest reprints ever ordered by this house, not excepting "Trilby" or "Lady Rose's Daughter."

THE failure of Alexander Denham & Co., of London, is reported. The indebtedness of the concern is said to be between $70,000 and $80,000, and the assets to less than one-third of that amount. The senior Mr. Denham, it will be remembered, died last October at which time his business was considered to be solvent. The failure we understand does not affect the American branch conducted in this city by Edwin A. Denham, at 28 West Thirty-third Street, who was the American agent for the firm.

ANOTHER popular edition of the Works of Charles Dickens is announced. Chapman & Hall and Henry Froude, of the Oxford University Press, the joint publishers of the Oxford India Paper Dickens, are co-operating in the production of a new, complete, and fully illustrated edition, to be known as The Fireside Dickens. There will be twenty-two volumes in all, printed in large type, on good opaque paper, with fairly wide margins, and published at a low price. The first three volumes will be issued at once.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just published Professor James Albert Woodburn's work on "Political Parties and Party Problems in the United States," a sketch of American party history and of the development and operation of party machinery, together with a consideration of certain party problems in their relations to political morality. They have also just brought out the second part of Professor Leo Wiener's "Anthology of Russian Literature from the earliest period to the present time." This volume gives a comprehensive sketch of Russian literature in the nineteenth century.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have made arrangements with Mr. Dent, to bring out early in the fall an edition of the works of Charles Lamb in twelve volumes, with illustrations by C. E. Brock, Miss Winifred Green, Herbert Railton, and reproductions from Hogarth and a number of old prints and portraits. The edition is being prepared under the editorship of William Macdonald who will contribute a biographical and critical essay. The type to be used is of a face found by Mr. Dent in an old Edinburgh printing shop, which in other sizes was used at the time of the first publication of the "Essays."

VALUABLE books have been disappearing for some time from the store of George H. Richmond, at No. 32 West Thirty-third Street, New York. Suspicion fell upon a man on March 25 who gave his name as Thomas Williams, twenty-one years old, of No. 226 Lexington Avenue, New York, and he was arrested. In his possession were found three of the stolen books, of the value of which the man seemed ignorant. Other books had been hidden by Williams behind a picture, probably to be taken away later. The detectives say that they have been looking some time for a man who answers to a description of Williams, and that there have been many complaints of thefts from bookstores.

LEMCKE & BUECHNER, 812 Broadway, New York, have just brought out in the Mono-graphs on Artists series a volume on "Leonardo da Vinci," by Adolf Rosenberg, translated by J. Lohse. The volume contains 128 illustrations and, like its predecessors, is handsomely printed. The author has followed closely the general scheme of the series, namely, while endeavoring to maintain a scientific thoroughness of treatment also to avoid over-elaboration of detail which would make the work unintelligible if not distasteful to the general reader; hence the series has interest for the professional artist as well as value for the layman, a combination that is rarely found combined in popular treatises on art.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY will publish early next month a volume of poems by Israel Zangwill, entitled "Blind Children," which, as the title indicates, attempt to teach the actual meaning of human existence; "The Keswick Movement," by Arthur T. Pierson, with an introduction by the Rev. Evan Hopkins the leader of the movement in England which the book describes; "The Pulpit Bible," by Dr. Joseph Parker, which gives the entire text of the Bible with suggestive and illustrative notes; "On the Trail of Moses," by the Rev. Dr. Louis Albert Banks, being thirty-one revival sermons on the incidents in the life of the Hebrew lawgiver; volume iv. of "The Jewish Encyclopædia;" also, "Washington: Its Sights and Insights," being a personally conducted trip to the National Capitol by Mrs. Harriet E. Monroe.

SCOTT-THAW COMPANY, of New York, have made arrangements with The Monadnock Press to handle the publications about to be published by the Press. These will be chiefly reprints of the prose romances and tales that were current in Elizabethan England and from which Shakespeare obtained the plots for many of his comedies and tragedies. The volumes now in hand are: "The Goodly History of the True and Constant Love Between Rhomeo and Julietta," translated by William Painter in 1569; "The History of Hamlet;" "The Shepardsess Felismena, from the 'Diana' of George de Montemayor," translated by Bartholomew Yonge in 1598, from which Shakespeare obtained the plot for "The Two Gentlemen of Verona;" also, "Appolonius & Silla," translated in 1581 by Barnabe Rich. from Clithio's "Heccatomonithi," on which Shakespeare founded the plot for "Twelfth Night." The reprints will be faithful except that the orthography will be modernized, and the arrangement of the text altered by means of a revised punctuation and a new disposition into paragraphs. The editions will be limited to 115 copies printed on paper and 10 copies on real vellum.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish early next month a volume under the suggestive title of "More Money for the Public Schools," in which the author, President Eliot, of Harvard, sums up in a large way the results of public education—its benefits and its shortcomings. The book is said to set forth a definitely constructive plan for producing better results; to explain in detail what most needs to be done for the improvement of our public schools; to urge greatly increased expenditure, and to show how more money could advantageously be spent. It may be expected to contain the matured conclusions of one of our most eminent educational authorities on the large practical needs of the public schools. They will shortly bring out "The Toilers of the Home," by Lillian Pettengill, a frank statement of the experiences of a college girl as a domestic servant, which is now running as a serial in Everybody's Magazine. This is to form one of their series of books which they designate as a "library of achievement," which already includes such books as Booker T. Washington's autobiography, "The Woman Who Toils," and Helen Keller's "Story of My Life."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just published two stories of more than ordinary interest. The one is entitled "The Pagan at the Shrine," a story of Southern Spain in the time of the Carlist and anti-Jesuit agitation, by Paul Gwynne, who is as familiar with village and town life in Spain as Miss Wilkins, for instance, is with New England village life. In this volume the author brings to his reader's attention all that is typical, racial and characteristic of the Spaniard. It is a true study of the native individual. The description of the conclaves at the barber shop where the barber, priest, alcalde and school-master meet to discuss public affairs, exchange racy Spanish proverbs, and squabble in the most amusing and social way is a unique characterization of the Spanish type. The other is George Cram Cook's "Roderick Taliaferro," (pronounced Tulliver,) the hero of which is an unreconstructed Confederate gentleman who after the Civil War throws in his lot with the party of the Mexican Empire, joins the army of Maximilian and after the Emperor's execution barely escapes with his life. The book is full of exciting scenes. They have also just ready "The Canterbury Pilgrims," Percy Mackaye's comedy, already fully described by us; and "Greater Russia, the Continental Empire of the Old World," by Wirt Gerrare, who describes the present conditions and the commercial and industrial development of the great Northern empire, and incidentally, also, the best openings for foreign enterprise and investment.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amounts should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line, for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

THE MANNERINGS

By Alice Brown

This double love story, whose scene is laid at a charming country-house, is the most vital and dramatic work that Miss Brown has yet produced. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

THE LEGATEE

By Alice Prescott Smith

A vivid picture of life in a Wisconsin lumber town and the terrors of a forest fire. The love affair which runs through the story is a singularly attractive one. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HISTORY OF HOLLAND

By William Elliot Griffis

How a very little country overcame great obstacles and became so influential in the world, told in a vivid and interesting manner, and enlivened by many anecdotes and illustrations. Crown 8vo, $1.50 net. Postpaid $1.64.

THE ENJOYMENT OF ART

By Carleton Noyes

A book setting forth in simple, untechnical fashion, the nature and the meaning of a work of art. It is a book for all lovers of pictures, music and books. Crown 8vo, $1.00 net. Postpaid $1.09.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE COLONIAL GOVERNORS OF RHODE ISLAND, 1729-1775

Edited by Gertrude S. Kimball

These letters, the second volume of which is now ready, cover the period of Rhode Island history from 1729 to 1775. Collected from the state archives and elsewhere, they present the official relations of the colony to England, and shed much light on the drift of public opinion and the gossip of international affairs. Volume II. 8vo, $5.00 net, postpaid.

GREAT EPOCHS IN ART HISTORY

By James M. Hoppin

New and Revised Edition

Professor Hoppin has just revised this popular and attractive book in which he treats with keen appreciation and criticism four important periods of art—Italian Religious Painting, Greek Sculpture, French Gothic Architecture, and English Pre-Raphaelitism. With illustrations. Crown 8vo, $1.75 net. Postpaid $1.94.

CHARLES ELIOT, LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT

By Charles W. Eliot

New Edition in New Style

This important work is now brought out in a more convenient two-volume form as well as in one volume. It has been accepted as a most unusual and valuable contribution to the new art of landscape architecture as well as an interesting autobiography of a remarkable man. With many illustrations. In I. vol., $3.50 net. Postpaid, $3.79. In II. vols., $4.00 net. Postpaid $4.33.

READY APRIL 15

The Annual
American Catalogue
1900-1902

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1902, will be ready April 15, and will include in one alphabet the short-title lists of the books of 1900, 1901 and 1902, giving information of the books recorded by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. This form of catalogue has been generally accepted as a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

 THE ANNUAL ENGLISH CATALOGUE, for which we have the American market, will be furnished at $1.50 in cloth, or bound with the ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, in cloth, at $4.50 if ordered and paid for in advance.

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902 and the Index thereto.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, 10 cents, postpaid. Special Numbers: Educational Number, in leatherette, 50 cents; Christmas Number, 25 cents; the numbers containing the three, six and nine months' Cumulated Lists, 25 cents each. Extra copies of the Annual Summary Number, to subscribers only, $1.00.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, see a year; single numbers, 25. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEVROLD, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 is also out of print.

—, 1890-95, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, containing yearly the monthly lists in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, cumulated, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by the latest volume. It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1902, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $3.00.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with index, s. v., 8°, net, $7.00.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 1 v., 8°, cl., net $5.00.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the cooperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°, cloth, $3.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] Giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, cloth, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE bound in one volume, cloth, $4.50.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. Pt. 2: Middle Atlantic and Central States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. 4°. (For complete work, $5.00.)

THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING: a handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWELL, managing editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Book-trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," etc. Pts. 1 and 2. 8° bds., each, $2.00. The Annual Literary Index, 1902

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc.; with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology, and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

A Useful Work of Reference for Bookseller, Librarian, and the General Reader

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX contains: (1) The index to periodical literature for the year 1902, making the sixth annual supplement to "Poole's Index to Periodical Literature," 1892-1896; (2) An index to essays and book-chapters in composite books of 1902, making the second annual supplement to the new edition of Fletcher's "A. L. A. Index to General Literature," published in 1902; (3) An author-index, both to periodical articles and to book-chapters; (4) A list of bibliographies issued in 1902; (5) A necrology of authors for 1902, extremely useful to catalogers; (6) An index of dates of events in 1902, furnishing a useful guide to the daily press.

One vol., cloth, similar to "Poole's Index" and the "A. L. A. Index," $3.50, net

A Word to the Bookseller

*NOTE.—It isn't our business to teach you your business.
But we may be able to give you some pointers on selling our books. From time to time we

IF there's anything about which the public is more eager, than about its own kind on parade we don't know what it is.

Every woman, from the millionaire's wife to the laundress—and pretty nearly every man—is keenly concerned in the doings of that circle which calls itself Society, with a big S. As a great, universal, ten-ringed public exhibition, it has got Barnum & Bailey's reduced to the proportions of a Punch and Judy show.

It is with Society (the big S kind) that David Graham Phillip's new novel, "Golden Fleece," deals; and it deals straight from the shoulder. It isn't a satire, it's a picture—a series of pictures—in fact, a panorama. Here is real American high life; good, bad, and unendurable. Gibson, Christy, and all the rest of the social cartoonists put together, haven't given us such a gallery of types.

The story is simple enough. An impecunious British Earl comes to America seeking, quite frankly, a rich wife. Quite as frankly, society accepts him and his mission. Of his adventures in New York, Chicago, Boston and Washington the plot is built. Perhaps because of its very simplicity it has the prime quality of fiction. It is interesting all the time.

"Golden Fleece" is a book you can sell to any woman who will read one page of it. We've kept the best thing till the last. It's a story that nobody will be sorry or ashamed to have enjoyed. There isn't a line in it that isn't as clean and honest as it is bright and clever. (Out April 6.)

P. S.—The editors of the Saturday Evening Post, which published "Golden Fleece" serially, tell us that never has any other piece of fiction brought them so many letters of comment.

The Annual American Catalogue

1900-1902

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1902, is now in preparation, and will include in one alphabet the short-title lists of the books of 1900, 1901 and 1902, giving information of the books recorded by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. This form of catalogue has been generally accepted as a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

As the edition is necessarily limited, orders, with remittance, should reach us promptly, addressed

THE OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY

298 BROADWAY (P. O. Box 943), NEW YORK

 THE ANNUAL ENGLISH CATALOGUE, for which we have the American market, will be furnished at $1.50 in cloth, or bound with the ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, in cloth, at $4.50 if ordered and paid for in advance.

A Word to the Bookseller

NOTE.—It isn't our business to teach you your business.

*But we may be able to give you some pointers
on selling our books. From time to time we

IT HAS always been a theory of ours that masterly style will sell a book; that there are enough readers keenly appreciative of the highest art of fiction to give success on this ground alone. (Reference—"The House With the Green Shutters.") For this reason—and others—we look for a large sale of Youth, Joseph Conrad's new book, which has set the British critics agasp with admiration.

But there is something more than style to "Youth." The three stories are tremendous narratives, full of the magic of adventure, and power and mystery, the qualities that have the universal appeal. It is already in a second edition. $1.50

Every college graduate, everyone who has a son or a relative or a friend in college, will want to read The Chameleon, by James Weber Linn. It is, we believe, the first novel to show the college in its relations to the outer world. Murdoch, the picklemaker, who endows Colfax University with $10,000,000 and thereby assumes the right to run the institution, is a character new to fiction, though familiar enough in real life. The "Chameleon" himself, type of the egoist and poseur, is an extraordinary study. The novel is keenly alive by virtue of the vitality of its characters. Second edition. $1.50
